Resolution No. 2255-P., of 17th May 1899.

1. In a case which recently came before them, the Government of India observed some misconception regarding the conditions upon which a Government officer may transfer his services to another Government office or department. It seems desirable therefore to affirm and in some measure to amplify the principles embodied in the existing orders on the subject. The Resolutions cited in the preamble are accordingly cancelled, and the Governor-General in Council is pleased to convey the following instructions for general observance.

2. It is the duty of a Government officer, who wishes to transfer his services to a different Government office or department, to obtain the consent of the authority which appoints to his existing post before taking up the new employment. If he takes up the new employment without such consent, he commits a breach of discipline and is liable to be punished, in the last resource, by dismissal from his former post and consequent loss of pensionable service. Resignation of his former appointment will not, it should be noted, protect him from this penalty.

3. In granting or withholding consent to the acceptance by a subordinate of other Government employment, the head of an office or department, must consider whether the transfer will be consistent with the interests of the public service. Permission should not be refused, however, without strong reason, which should be recorded in writing.

4. The head of an office or department shall not employ, either temporarily or permanently, an officer whom he knows, or has reason to believe, to belong to another establishment without the previous consent of the head of the office or department in which he is employed. In the rare cases in which, for reasons which appear satisfactory to the new employer, an officer cannot obtain the required consent before taking up the new appointment, the employment may be made conditional on consent being obtained at the earliest opportunity.

5. The foregoing instructions apply equally to officers on leave, whether with or without allowances. All leave allowances must ipso facto cease on the taking up of new employment, other than work of a purely casual nature.

Ordered, that this Resolution be published in the Gazette of India.

RESOLUTION—By the Government of India, Department of Commerce and Industry.

In the Resolution of the Government of India in this Department No. 509, dated the 11th March 1905, it was decided that, with effect from the 1st July 1905, the rate of interest allowed on cash deposits at call in the Post Office Savings Bank which had previously been $3\frac{1}{2}$ per cent should be reduced to 3 per cent, while an increased rate of $3\frac{1}{4}$ per cent should be allowed on deposits held subject to six months notice of withdrawal. Experience has proved that the system of deposits held subject to six months notice of withdrawal has failed to find favour with the public, while it has thrown a great deal of additional work on Post Offices and Audit Offices and has led to the introduction of a complicated accounts procedure which is not readily understood and observed at the smaller Post Offices.

2. It has now been decided to abolish the system of deposits subject to six months notice of withdrawal. The rate of interest on deposits at call will remain at 3 per cent, but the maximum limit of annual cash deposits will be raised from Rs. 200 to Rs. 500.

3. The Governor-General in Council is therefore pleased to direct that the following rules shall be substituted for those published in the Resolution of the Government of India in this Department, No. 509, dated the 11th March 1905, and that they shall come into force from the 1st January 1911.

2. The object of Government in establishing Post Office Savings Banks is to provide a ready means for the deposit of savings, and so to encourage thrift, Savings Banks are not to be used for the purpose of keeping a current account, and the Accountant-General is empowered to close accounts, or, in the case of accounts opened on behalf of minors, to stop the receipt of further deposits, should he have reason to believe that the accounts are being used for a purpose for which the Savings Bank was not intended.

Business Hours.

3. Post Office Savings Banks will be open for the transaction of business between the hours of noon and 4 P.M. every day, with the exception of Sundays, Christmas Day, New Year's Day, Good Friday and the King's Birthday. These hours may, under the authority of the Postmaster-General, be altered to suit local circumstances.

Postal Officials bound to Secrecy.

4. The officers of the Post Office engaged in the receipt or payment of deposits are not allowed to disclose the name of any depositor, or the amount deposited or withdrawn by him, except to the Postmaster-General or other officers of the Department engaged in carrying out the provisions of these rules.

Persons who may deposit money.

5. Any person may deposit money in a Post Office Savings Bank (a) on his own behalf, or (b) on behalf of any minor relative, or (c) on behalf of any minor of whom he is the guardian.

Exception.—A Government official may not open an account on behalf of a minor of whom he is the official guardian.

Explanation.—Minors are allowed to deposit money in their own names, and women, whether married or single, are allowed to deposit money in their own names, but subject, in the case of married women, to the limitation laid down in rule 6 (3).

Limitations as to opening Accounts and Deposits.

6. (1) Any person may open an account in his own name, but may not have more than one such account open.

(2) In addition to the account which a person may open in his own name, he may open any number of separate accounts on behalf of any minors who are related to him or of whom he is the guardian, provided that he shall not open more than one account on behalf of each such minor.

(3) The fact that an account has been opened on behalf of a minor shall not prevent such minor from opening an account in his own name; nor shall the fact that a married man has an account in his own name prevent his wife from opening a separate account in her own name, provided the money to be deposited by her is her own property or earning.

NOTE.—If, through any cause, an account has been opened in contravention of the provisions of this rule the depositor shall not be entitled to claim interest on the account and the Accountant-General may require him to close it at once.

7. Deposits in trust are not allowed, and cannot be recognised.

8. Money cannot be deposited in the name of two or more persons jointly, provided that nothing in this rule shall prevent the deposit of money in the name of a known firm.

9. The smallest sum of money that can be deposited at any time is four annas; and no sum can be deposited that includes a fraction of an anna.

10. The total amount which may be deposited in any one official year—from the 1st April to the 31st of March inclusive—may not exceed Rs. 1,500, of which not more than Rs. 500 may remain at call. The excess above Rs. 500, together with any further sum at the depositor's credit, which he may wish to invest (being a sum in whole rupees and not less than Rs. 10 in all), will be invested for him in Government securities under rule 46.

Example.—A depositor has deposited Rs. 500 from April 1st to November 10th, and on November 20th brings Rs. 5 as. 3 to the post office to be deposited. The Rs 5 as. 3 will be accepted as a deposit provided that the depositor at the same time signs a form of application requesting that out of the Rs. 505 as. 3 any specified sum in whole rupees, not being less than Rs. 10 (e.g., Rs. 10 or Rs. 11) may be invested for him. In this way the depositor may continue to make deposits up to Rs. 1,500 in all during the year.

NOTE 1.—The annual limit of Rs. 500 for deposits remaining at call will be reckoned, irrespective of withdrawals, that is, withdrawals will not be deducted in applying the limit. But amounts deposited for purposes of immediate investment, will be deducted in applying the limit. The proceeds of the sale of Government securities credited to a depositor's account under rule 47 (3) will also be deducted in applying the limit in all cases in which such proceeds are withdrawn before interest becomes due on them under rule 20.

NOTE 2.—When an account is transferred from one Post Office Savings Bank to another, only such portion of it as was deposited in the current official year shall be included in calculating the limit of Rs. 500.

11. The total amount which a depositor may have at any time, whether at call, or invested, exclusive of interest for the current year, is Rs. 5,000 in the case of an adult and Rs. 4,000 in the case of an account opened on behalf of a minor by his relative or guardian, provided that, out of these total amounts of Rs. 5,000 and Rs. 4,000, not more than Rs. 2,000 in the case of an adult and Rs. 1,000 in the case of a minor may remain at call and that the balance in excess of these sums (i.e., in excess of Rs. 2,000 or Rs. 1,000 as the case may be) is invested on behalf of the depositor under rule 46. Provided also that only sums in whole rupees and not less than Rs. 10 can be invested at any time.

Example.—A depositor has Rs. 1,050 at his credit in the Savings Bank and brings Rs. 58 as. 5 to be deposited. The Rs. 58 as. 5 will be accepted as a deposit provided that the depositor at the same time signs a form of application requesting that out of the Rs. 2,008 as. 5 any specified sum in whole rupees not being less than Rs. 10 may be invested for him. In this way the depositor may continue to make deposits up to Rs. 1,500 each year until his deposit at call and his investments amount together to Rs. 5,000.

NOTE.—The maximum balance of Rs. 2,000 (or Rs. 1,000 if the account was opened on behalf of a minor) which may remain at call may be increased by the addition from year to year of interest calculated on the maximum limit of Rs. 2,000, or Rs. 1,000, as the case may be, and also by interest on investments, credited under rule 49.

✓ Powers to withdraw money and limitations as to withdrawals.

12. A depositor may withdraw money from his account only once a week. By the term "week" is meant the period from Monday to Saturday, both days inclusive. A depositor may, therefore, withdraw money from his account on Saturday and again on the following Monday.

13. A minor may only withdraw money deposited by him in his own name. Money deposited on behalf of a minor may only be withdrawn during his minority by his guardian.

14. Women, whether married or single, may withdraw money deposited by them in their own names; and married women may also withdraw money deposited by them as single women, in their own names, their marriage notwithstanding. The fact that a female minor, on whose behalf money has been deposited, is married, or becomes married after the account has been opened on her own behalf, shall not prevent her from withdrawing the money so deposited on attaining majority.

15. A depositor may not withdraw a smaller sum than four annas, and he may not withdraw any sum which includes a fraction of an anna unless it be to close his account, in which case he may withdraw the whole balance at his credit.

How to open an Account.

16. Any person wishing to open an account should apply to the nearest post office that is a Savings Bank. Application need not necessarily be made in person; but the applicant must state his name, his occupation or profession, and his place of residence. If he be a Native, he must also state his father's name and caste.

17. The intending depositor must sign a declaration, in the following form, that he has read and accepted the Post Office Savings Bank rules. If he be unable to write, he must attend personally, and, in the presence of a witness, affix his mark or seal to the declaration, to be attested by the signature of the witness. If he should apply in person, a copy of these rules will be given to him to read, or they will be read and explained to him, should he be unable to read. If he should not apply in person, a copy of these rules with the form of declaration will be sent to him and he must present the declaration duly signed, with the first deposit.

Form of declaration to be signed by depositor on making first deposit.

"I hereby declare that the Post Office Savings Bank Rules have been read { by me }
{ to me } and that I accept them as binding upon me.

"I further declare that I have no account opened by me on my own behalf at any Post Office Savings Bank." *

* NOTE.—The latter sentence is to be scored through in the case of an account opened on behalf of a minor, in which case the person opening the account must make the following further declaration:—

"I declare that I have no account on behalf of the minor at any Post Office Savings Bank."

"I declare that the minor was born on (date by—Christian era as nearly as can be ascertained)."

18. Women may open accounts in their own names through their agents or, if they are married women, through their husbands or agents. The agent or husband will be required to produce a letter of authority in the prescribed form from the depositor and to sign the declaration that the depositor understands and accepts the rules. No postal official may under this rule be the agent of any woman, except his own wife, in respect of an account held in the post office in which he is employed.

19. When the declaration is presented, duly signed, with the amount of the first deposit, or when it has been signed by a depositor attending in person to make a deposit, the amount of the deposit will be entered in a pass-book which will be supplied to the depositor, and the entry will be initialled by the postmaster and stamped with the office stamp. The depositor will be required to sign a receipt for the pass-book.

20. If the account be opened at a sub or branch post office, the pass-book for the depositor will have to be obtained from the head office. A preliminary receipt for the amount of the first deposit will, therefore, be given to the depositor, who will be informed of the date on which he should call to receive the pass-book. When the pass-book is handed over to the depositor, he will be required to return this preliminary receipt and to sign a receipt for the pass-book. The amount of the original deposit will be entered in the pass-book by the head office, and the depositor will therefore have a guarantee that the sum has been received in that office. He should be careful to see that the entry in the pass-book corresponds with the amount entered in the preliminary receipt before giving up the latter.

Pass-book and its importance.

21. The pass-book will show, in the vernacular of the district or in English, as the depositor may wish, the number of his account, with the name of the office from which the book is issued, his own name, occupation or profession, and address. No deposit can be made and no money can be withdrawn from an account without its production, and the Post Office will not be responsible for any sum not acknowledged in the pass-book. Depositors should carefully examine their books before leaving the office, and ascertain that the entries are correct. They should also be careful to keep their pass-books in their own possession, as the Post Office does not accept responsibility for any loss caused to a depositor, if, through his negligence, any person shall obtain possession of the book and fraudulently obtain the payment of any sum belonging to the depositor.

NOTE.—In the case of an account opened at a sub or branch post office, the pass-book will be sent to the head office as soon as possible after the 15th June, when the pass-book is presented for entry of interest under rule 30. The depositor will obtain a receipt in exchange for his pass-book, and he must give up this receipt when his pass-book is returned to him.

Loss of Pass-book.

22. No charge will be made for the pass-book at first supplied to a depositor, or for any book issued to him in continuation of the original book which will be retained by the post office. But if a pass-book be lost or spoiled (except under circumstances over which the depositor has no control), or if any account be reopened with the permission of the Accountant-General (under rule 35), before the expiration of three months from the date of closure, the depositor will have to pay one rupee for a fresh book.

Mode of depositing money after an Account has been opened.

23. (1) A depositor may deposit money at the post office at which his account stands as often as he wishes, so long as the prescribed yearly and maximum limits are not exceeded. All that he is required to do is to take or send the amount to be deposited, with his pass-book, to the post office. The amount of his deposit will be entered in the pass-book, and the balance struck as shown below. The entry will then be initialled by the postmaster and stamped with the date stamp of the office, and the pass-book will be returned to the depositor or his messenger :—

Date.	Date stamp of the post office.	Amount of each deposit or withdrawal (to be entered in words).	Amount deposited.	Amount withdrawn.	Balance at credit of the depositor.	Initials of the postmaster.
12th May	Withdrawn three rupees	...	3 0 0	32 0 0	A.B.C.

(2) A depositor whose account stands at a head office may deposit money at any of the sub-offices under that head office which are Savings Banks, and a depositor whose account stands at a sub-office may deposit money at the head office of the sub-office or at any of the sub-offices of that head office which are Savings Banks. Similarly, a depositor at a branch office may deposit money at the office to which it is subordinate and if such office is a sub-office, he may also deposit money at the head office of such sub-office. With these exceptions a depositor may deposit money only at the post office at which his account stands.

NOTE 1.—No deposit may be made to an account which has been ordered to be closed.

NOTE 2.—No deposit may be made to an account opened on behalf of a minor after he has attained the age of 18 years.

24. If the amount be deposited at a sub or branch post office, the depositor will receive in addition to the receipt in his pass-book, an acknowledgement from the head office, which will generally be the office at the head-quarters station of the district. This acknowledgement will be delivered to him in ordinary course through the Post Office. If it should not reach the depositor in proper time, or if, when it reaches him, it should show any signs of erasure, or should not agree with the entry in the pass-book, the depositor should immediately apply to the postmaster of the head office, the name of which is in the pass-book, and renew his application again and again until he receives a satisfactory reply.

Mode of withdrawing money.

25. When a depositor wishes to withdraw money he must present his pass-book personally or by agent at the post office at which his account stands, with a printed form of application for withdrawal, which can be obtained at the post office, signed by himself, and showing the balance at his credit and the amount which he wishes to withdraw. If the pass-book and application for withdrawal are presented by an agent, the name and signature of the agent should be entered in the application for withdrawal before it leaves the depositor's custody, and in any case the entries must be made before the application is presented at the post office. If the depositor is unable to write, he must attend personally and affix his mark or seal to the application. Should he be absolutely unable to attend personally, he must have his mark or seal affixed to the application and attested by some respectable witness, and the postmaster will make payment to the person presenting this application with the pass-book, after satisfying himself, by such enquiry as he may think proper, of the inability of the depositor to attend and of the genuine character of the application. The mark or seal of a depositor or messenger who cannot write must, at the time he receives payment of a withdrawal, be attested by the signature of a respectable witness (other than the paying officer) who is personally acquainted with the depositor or messenger (as the case may be) and also known to the postmaster or some member of the post office establishment.

NOTE 1.—If a depositor desires to withdraw the whole of the balance shown to his credit in his pass-book he will be required to close his account.

NOTE 2.—In the case of withdrawals made from the accounts of female depositors by their authorised agents under rule 18, the agent must sign the following certificate on the application for withdrawal :—
'Certified that the depositor is on this day alive and sane.'

26. Should any person other than the father, or if the father is dead, the mother, wish to withdraw money from an account opened on behalf of a minor and claim to do so as guardian of such minor, he will be required to fill in, on a form prescribed by the Director-General, answers to the following questions and such other questions as may be considered necessary, and will only be allowed to withdraw money on the order of the Postmaster-General in accordance with rule 41 :—

- (a) What is your relationship to the minor ?
- (b) Is the father or mother of the minor dead, or are both parents dead ? What near relatives of the minor are alive ?
- (c) Have you been appointed guardian of the minor by will or deed or under any enactment in force in British India ? (If the reply to this question is in the affirmative, the applicant should produce the documents on which he relies to support his claim.)
- (d) Are you an adult relative of the minor, and does he reside with you or is he maintained by you ?

NOTE.—In the case of withdrawal made from accounts opened on behalf of male minors, the father or other guardian of the minor must sign the following certificate on the application for withdrawal :—

"Certified that the amount sought to be withdrawn is required for the use of the minor"

In the case of withdrawals made from accounts opened on behalf of female minors, the father, or the husband or other guardian of the minor must sign the following certificate on the application for withdrawal :—

 who is ^{the} ~~the~~ ^{single} ~~married~~ ^{unmarried} ~~widow~~ ^{widow}."

27. The amount to be withdrawn will be entered in the pass-book and a fresh balance struck, as in the case of a deposit, against the initials of the postmaster and an impression of the date-stamp of the office. The amount will then be paid to the depositor or to the person presenting the pass-book and application, and his receipt taken, in all cases free of stamp duty, on the warrant of payment.

28. (1) The payment of a withdrawal at a sub-post office is subject to the condition that funds are available in the office. If funds are not available, they will be obtained as soon as possible. In such a case the depositor will be informed of the date on which he should come to the post office to receive payment, and he will retain his pass-book. The amount will be paid on presentation of the pass book on the date mentioned or any subsequent date within one week from that date.

(2) Every application for a withdrawal at a branch post office will be sent to the head or sub-office to which the branch office is subordinate, for a warrant of payment. The depositor will be informed of the date on which he should come to the branch office to receive payment and he will retain his pass-book. The amount will be paid on presentation of the pass-book on the date mentioned or any subsequent date within one week from that date.

(3) Payment at sub and branch offices will be made to the depositor or other person presenting the pass-book under the conditions laid down in rule 25, and his receipt will be taken, in all cases free of stamp duty, on the warrant of payment. The transaction will be entered in the pass-book against the initials of the sub or branch postmaster and an impression of the date-stamp of the office.

NOTE.—In the case of an application to withdraw from (a) a minor's account (b) a security deposit account, (c) any of the conjoint accounts specified in rule 41 payment cannot, in any circumstances, be made until a warrant of payment is received from the head office.

Interest.

29 Interest will be allowed, until further orders, at the rate of 3 per cent per annum on all deposits, subject to the condition stated in this rule. This interest will be allowed for each calendar month on the lowest balance at credit of an account between the close of the fourth day and the end of the month : provided that interest shall be allowed only on sums of complete rupees, and that it shall be calculated to the nearest pie : provided also that interest shall not be allowed on any sum in excess of Rs. 2,000 (or of Rs. 1,000, if the account was opened on behalf of a minor).

* To be scored through in the case of the husband.

† To be scored through in the case of a person other than the husband.

NOTE 1.—When an order has been issued to close an account, interest ceases to accrue from the first day of the month in which the order is issued (see end of rule 33).

NOTE 2.—Interest on the account of a deceased depositor ceases to accrue from the first day of the month in which notice is issued to the person or persons recognised by the Postmaster-General as entitled to receive the balance of the account. No interest will be allowed on money deposited after his death in the account of a deceased depositor.

30. The interest calculated as above for each month will be added each year to the balance of each account. Depositors should present their pass-books as soon as possible after the 15th June, in order that the necessary entries may be made in them. If the pass-book be not presented for this purpose, the entry will be made on the next occasion when a deposit is made or when money is withdrawn.

NOTE 1.—Pass-books of depositors in sub and branch post offices will be sent to the head office for the entry of interest under this rule.

NOTE 2.—No balance will be struck in the pass-book after the 31st March until interest has been added for the past year.

Transfer of Accounts.

31. A depositor may have his account transferred, free of charge, to any post office that is a Savings Bank, provided that the account shall have been in existence for three months previous to the transfer. If he should wish to transfer his account, he must present his pass-book personally, or send it to the post office, and must in either case make a written application for transfer. The pass-book will be returned to the depositor, who should present it as soon as possible at the post office to which his account has been transferred, with a specimen of his signature.

NOTE 1.—Accounts cannot be transferred from one head post office to another between the 16th and 31st March, both days inclusive.

NOTE 2.—Accounts ordered to be closed cannot be transferred.

NOTE 3.—The pass-book of a depositor in a sub or branch post office will first be sent to the head office to have the orders authorising the transfer entered in it.

Closing an Account.

32. When a depositor wishes to close his account, he must present his pass-book with a form of application for withdrawal of the amount shown at his credit in the pass-book. The amount of interest due on his account up to the end of the calendar month preceding the date of presentation will be entered in the pass-book, and a final balance struck. The amount will then be paid to the depositor, and his receipt taken on the warrant of payment. The pass-book will be retained in the post office. If the application to close an account be presented at a sub or branch office, the same procedure will be followed as in the case of an ordinary withdrawal, except that the pass-book will be retained, and that the application and pass-book will, when interest is due, be in all cases sent to the head office for the warrant of payment.

NOTE.—The rule (see rule 12) which prevents a depositor from withdrawing money from his account more than once a week does not apply to the closing of an account, that is to say, an account may be closed within the week in which a withdrawal has been made.

33. If an order to close an account be issued by the Postmaster-General or the Accountant-General under these rules, notice in writing will be sent to the depositor requiring him to present his pass-book and receive payment of the balance at his credit as soon as convenient. After the date of such notice, no deposit will be accepted on the account, and no interest will be allowed upon the balance after the end of the calendar month preceding such date.

34. An account opened on behalf of a minor must, if still open, be closed by the person on whose behalf it was opened, on his attaining the age of 18 years. When the late minor is not in India and delay would cause substantial hardship, the Postmaster General may allow the late guardian to close the account (on behalf of the late minor) on his indemnifying the Post Office against loss from any future claim. If a minor after attaining the age of 18 years still remains a minor by law or order of a court of justice, his guardian must close the account on the minor completing 18 years of age. Interest on an account opened on behalf of a minor ceases to accrue from the first day of the month in which the minor attains the age of 18 years.

Re-opening an Account.

35. A depositor who has once closed an account cannot open another account until after the expiration of three months from the date of closure without the permission of the Accountant-General; and a depositor whose account has been closed by order cannot open a fresh account in any case without the permission of the authority which ordered it to be closed.

Dead Accounts.

36. Accounts in respect of which no transactions have taken place for the period specified below will be treated as "dead" and no subsequent deposit or withdrawal will be allowed in the case of such accounts without the previous orders of the Accountant-General:—

When the balance of the account		And when no sum has been deposited or withdrawn and no interest added for does not exceed	Rs. 10	...	3 complete years.

NOTE 1.—By "transaction" in this rule is meant not only a deposit or withdrawal but also the presentation of the pass-book for the entry of interest.

NOTE 2.—A dead account does not lapse to Government, but may be re-opened at any time on the application of the depositor, and the interest that has accumulated will be added to the principal when the account is revived.

Procedure to be followed in cases of Succession and Guardianship.

37. If a depositor should die, leaving in a Post Office Savings Bank a balance, whether in cash or in Government securities, or both, not exceeding one thousand rupees, and if probate of his will, or letters of administration of his estate, or a certificate granted under Act VII of 1889, be not produced to the Postmaster-General within three months of the death of the said depositor, the Postmaster-General may pay the said sum of money to any person appearing to him to be entitled to receive it or to administer the estate of the deceased.

NOTE.—If the deceased depositor was a minor in whose name more accounts than one stand open, the balances at credit of all these accounts will be added together for the purpose of applying this rule.

38. Balances, whether in cash or Government securities, or both, in excess of Rs. 1,000 may only be paid on production of probate, letters of administration, or a certificate under Act VII of 1889, unless otherwise ordered by the Director-General, who has discretionary power to dispense with such evidence in cases where he is of opinion that to require it would cause hardship, and that to dispense with it would involve no appreciable risk. If the balance in excess of Rs. 1,000 be that of a cash deposit account opened on behalf of a deceased minor—the balance of which, excluding interest, cannot under these rules exceed Rs. 1,000—the discretionary power may be exercised even if the condition of hardship be not established.

NOTE.—In the case of a deceased minor on whose behalf more accounts than one have been opened, and the total balance (excluding interest for the current year) at credit of these accounts exceeds Rs. 1,000 the first sentence of this rule will apply.

39. If any depositor becomes insane or otherwise incapable of managing his affairs, and if such insanity or incapacity be proved to the satisfaction of the Postmaster-General, then the Postmaster-General may, from time to time, make payment out of the deposits to any proper person. Where a committee or manager has been duly appointed to administer the depositor's estate, nothing in this rule authorises payments to any person other than such committee or manager.

40. The deposits of non-commissioned officers and soldiers of the British Army who die intestate, desert, or become insane or otherwise incapable of managing their affairs, will be made over, on application to the President of the Committee of Adjustment.

41. When any person other than the father, or, if the father is dead, the mother claims to withdraw money from an account opened on behalf of a minor as being the guardian of such minor, the Postmaster-General may authorise the applicant to withdraw money from the account for the minor's use, in accordance with the following rules:—

(a) Where the applicant claims to be guardian under the law, on production of proof of the claim to the satisfaction of the Postmaster-General.

- (b) Where the applicant claims as guardian duly appointed by will or deed, on production of the documents supporting the claim.
- (c) Where the amount of the account does not exceed Rs. 250 and the applicant does not claim to be guardian under clause (a) or clause (b), upon his giving evidence to the satisfaction of the Postmaster-General that he (the applicant) is the guardian of the minor.
- (d) Where the amount of the account exceeds Rs. 250 and the applicant does not claim to be guardian under clause (a) or clause (b), upon the applicant producing a certificate of administration granted under Act VIII of 1890.
- (e) In any case of doubt the applicant (not being the father or mother of the minor) may be required to produce a certificate of administration, under Act VIII of 1890, before payment is made to him.

NOTE.—An authority given by the Postmaster-General under (e) will not hold good for a subsequent withdrawal if the balance of the account then exceeds Rs. 250.

Public Accounts.

42. The following special conditions govern the opening of "Public Accounts" and their transactions:—

- (a) Accounts may be opened by secretaries, treasurers, or managers of the funds of any dispensary, church or other religious institution, school, orphanage, asylum or library, or of any other funds contributed, for purposes other than the private or personal advantage or amusement of the contributors. Race, racquet, billiard, mess and similar funds, the objects of which are of a private or personal nature, cannot be allowed accounts.

Illustration.—The funds of regimental and public bands, which are maintained for purposes other than private advantage or amusement, are admissible.

Explanation (1).—A library fund is admissible, even though the library is open only to subscribers.

" (2) —If an institution has two or more distinct funds which cannot, under their constitution and in accordance with the conditions imposed by the donors, be amalgamated, an account is admissible for each such fund.

" (3) —The prohibition of current accounts when applied to a public account extends only to the use of the account for full details of the income and expenditure of the fund and does not prevent the periodical credit of subscriptions or other receipts, or the periodical withdrawal of money for expenditure, e.g., a building fund raised for the erection of a church or charitable institution is admissible.

- (b) Secretaries, treasurers, or managers of societies registered under the Co-operative Credit Societies Act, 1904 (X of 1904), or under similar enactments in force in Native States, may be allowed accounts.

- (c) Secretaries and managers of benevolent funds (that is, funds formed by mutual subscription as an insurance against domestic misfortune) may be allowed accounts.

- (d) Officers of Government or of public institutions, such as railway and steamer companies, and the like, who collect subscriptions, voluntary or departmental, from their subordinates for departmental purposes, may be allowed accounts.

Explanation.—For the purpose of this rule, the term "Officers of Government" includes any officer of the Government of a Native State the Posts of which have been amalgamated with the Imperial Post.

- (e) Public accounts of the kind specified above must be designated by names indicating the objects to which the money is devoted, as A—pore Dispensary Fund, Workmen's Sick Fund, etc., and information must be given in writing regarding the object and source of income of the fund.

- (f) Each new public account must be authorised by the Postmaster-General before it is opened. The Postmaster-General is empowered to direct that a public account be closed should its object at any time be such that the account could not, under the rules, be opened as a public account.

- (g) In every case in which the holder of a public account, other than a public account held by an officer of Government in his official capacity, is changed, a fresh declaration (see rule 17) must be filled up.

- (A) The limitations laid down in rule 6 are not meant to prevent any person from opening more than one ex-officio or public account.
- (i) The prohibition against deposits in the name of two or more persons jointly (see rule 8) does not apply to public accounts.
- (j) The annual limit of Rs. 500 and the maximum limit of Rs. 2,000 for deposits (see rules 10 and 11), as well as the maximum limit of Rs. 2,000 for calculation of interest (see rule 29), do not apply to public accounts. But no public account may have at any time more than Rs. 10,000 at its credit, exclusive of interest for the current year, and no interest will be credited on any sum in excess of Rs. 10,000.
- (k) The amount of withdrawals within a calendar month from a public account is limited to Rs. 1,000, unless the person who holds the account gives notice to the post office at which the account stands of his intention to make additional withdrawals. The notice must specify the amount to be withdrawn and be given one month in advance by means of an ordinary letter addressed to the postmaster which should specify the date on which it is intended to make the withdrawal, and if it is intended to withdraw the amount in two or more instalments, specific information must be given in the notice as to the number of instalments and the amount and date of withdrawal of each instalment.
- (l) In the form of declaration (see rule 17), which every intending depositor is required to sign, the words "I further declare that I have no account opened by me on my own behalf at any Post Office Savings Bank" should be scored through in the case of a public account.

43. No account may be allowed for money—

- (a) which is the property of Government, or
- (b) which has been received for credit of Government, or
- (c) which has been drawn from the Treasury for expenditure on account of Government, or
- (d) which is raised by taxation, either local or municipal, or
- (e) which is collected or received or held in trust by any public officer or court in accordance with any law, provided that the money is the property of Government.

NOTE 1.—Nothing in this rule prevents the opening of a public account for money which is not the property of Government by the Managers of funds held in trust for the relief of the poor, for the provision of education or medical relief, or for the advancement of any other object of general public utility, irrespective of whether such Managers are public officers or not.

NOTE 2.—Nothing in this rule prevents the opening of an account for a judicial deposit in accordance with a special order passed by a court of law in a particular case directing the investment of the money in the Post Office Savings Bank. Such an account, when admitted, is subject in every respect to the rules and limitations which govern ordinary private accounts.

Regimental, Police, and other Conjoint Accounts.

- (a) The Commanding Officer of a Native Regiment may open a single account with the Post Office Savings Bank on account of the men of his regiment making his own arrangements about the separate accounts of the individuals, and about the distribution to them of the interest credited upon the conjoint account. In other respects the account shall, except when the contrary is stated, be subject to the general rules for other accounts. The Commanding Officer must, when opening the account, sign a certificate, that, to the best of his belief, the money is the property of the men of the regiment.
- (b) District Superintendents of Police, and officers in command or charge of any Police Force, may open similar accounts on account of the men of the Police Force under their command or charge.

- (c) Chairmen of District Boards and Municipalities are also allowed to have similar accounts on account of servants of such Boards and Municipalities, in accordance with rules which may be sanctioned from time to time by Local Governments.
- (d) Secretaries of Cantonment Committees are also allowed to open similar accounts on behalf of non-pensionable employes paid from cantonment funds, in accordance with rules which may from time to time be sanctioned by the Government of India.

NOTE.—Nothing in this rule shall be held to prevent any member of any of the above mentioned classes of persons, for whom a conjoint account has been opened, from opening an account of his own, in his individual capacity.

- (e) The annual limit of Rs. 500 and the maximum limit of Rs. 2,000 for deposits (see rules 10 and 11), as well as the maximum limit of Rs. 2,000 for calculation of interest (see rule 29), do not apply to accounts opened under this rule.
- (f) Except with the special sanction of the Director-General, the amount of withdrawals within a calendar month from an account opened under this rule is limited to Rs. 1,000, unless the person who holds the account gives notice to the post office at which the account stands of his intention to make additional withdrawals. The notice must specify the amount to be withdrawn and be given one month in advance, by means of an ordinary letter addressed to the postmaster which should specify the date on which it is intended to make the withdrawal, and if it is intended to withdraw the amount in two or more instalments, specific information must be given in the notice as to the number of instalments and the amount and date of withdrawal of each instalment.
- (g) In the form of declaration (see rule 17), which every intending depositor is required to sign, the words "I further declare that I have no account opened by me on my own behalf at any Post Office Savings Bank" should be scored through in the case of accounts opened under this rule.

Security Deposit Accounts.

45. The following special conditions govern the opening of security deposit accounts and their transactions:—

- (a) Government servants, servants of railway companies, of local authorities and of courts of wards who are required by their employers to deposit security, contractors who are required by Government or local authorities to deposit security, and persons who are authorised under section 202 of the Sea Customs Act, VIII of 1878, to act as agents for the transaction of business in any custom house on behalf of the public, and are required under that section to deposit security, may be allowed separate accounts for the security deposit only.

Explanation.—For the purpose of this rule, the term "Government servants" includes any servant of the Government of a Native State the Posts of which have been amalgamated with the imperial Post.

NOTE.—Local authority means any body corporate, municipal committee, or other persons legally entitled to the control or management of any local or municipal fund or legally entitled to impose any cess, rate, duty or tax upon any persons within any local area.

- (b) A person undertaking more than one work or contract at the same time may be allowed a separate account in respect of each.
- (c) The maximum limit for each separate account is Rs. 500, and the amount may be deposited in a single sum or by instalments.
- (d) A person may open a security deposit account either in his own behalf or on behalf of another person. More than one account, however, may not be opened as security for the same person in respect of the same work or contract.
- (e) A security deposit account may be opened in the joint names of the persons undertaking the same work or contract.

- (f) The depositor will be required to sign a letter (in a form prescribed by the Director-General) addressed to the postmaster, undertaking not to make any claim on the Savings Bank for the principal of the sum deposited, except with the express written sanction of the person referred to in the letter to whom the security is pledged; not to object to the payment by the Bank of the whole or part of the principal to such person on his claiming it and not to make any claim for interest from the date on which interest has ceased to accrue owing to the payment of the principal to such person or from the date on which such person has sanctioned the repayment of the deposit.
- (g) The officer to whom the security is pledged as above may, with the consent of the person pledging the security, open an account for such security in his own name, e.g., "Executive Engineer, A—pore, on account of security of A. B." In this case the deposit will be received from the officer to whom the security is pledged and the pass-book will be issued to him.
- (h) Interest on security deposits will accrue and be paid in the usual manner, subject to the conditions specified in the letter mentioned in clause (f) of this rule. No interest, however, will be allowed on any sum in excess of Rs. 500 that may be at credit of a security deposit account.
- (i) The prohibition against the transfer of an account until it has been in existence for three months (see rule 31) does not apply to security deposit accounts.
- (j) In the form of declaration (see rule 17), which every intending depositor is required to sign, the words "I further declare that I have no account opened by me on my own behalf at any Post Office Savings Bank" should be scored through in the case of a security deposit account.

INVESTMENTS.

Purchase of Government Securities.

46. (1) Any person whether previously a depositor in the Post Office Savings Bank or not may invest through the Post Office in Government securities, in one of the $3\frac{1}{2}$ per cent loans, specifying in his application either the sum to be invested or the nominal value of the securities to be purchased: provided that the sum to be invested or the nominal value of securities to be purchased shall be in whole rupees, and not less than Rs. 10: provided also that the total amount invested in any one official year from the 1st of April to the 31st of March shall not exceed Rs. 1,000 and that the total amount invested through the Post Office, after deducting any sum sold through the Post Office, shall not exceed Rs. 5,000 in the case of an adult or Rs. 4,000 in the case of a minor.

(2) If the nominal value of securities purchased is less than Rs. 100, an Investment Certificate will be issued. If the nominal value of the securities is Rs. 100, the investor may have either an Investment Certificate or a whole piece of Government paper for the amount, and if the nominal value of the securities is above Rs. 100, he may have either (i) an Investment Certificate for the entire amount, or (ii) whole pieces of Government paper of Rs. 100 or any multiple of Rs. 100, and an Investment Certificate for the remainder, provided that the remainder is not less than Rs. 10.

NOTE.—In the case of all applications for the purchase of Government securities, either the whole or a portion, of the balance standing at the credit of the depositor's Savings Bank account may be made available, or a special deposit made, for the purpose of providing the amount required.

(3) When whole pieces of Government paper are required, the investor has the option of requesting, in his application, that the paper should remain in the custody of the Accountant-General, or be delivered to him. In the former case, a receipt from the Accountant-General for the paper will be delivered to the investor. When paper is to be delivered to the investor, it will be encased for payment of interest at the district treasury and be forwarded to the post office for delivery to the investor. In the case of Government securities represented by an Investment Certificate, the securities will remain in the custody of the Accountant-General, and no paper can be delivered to the investor or enfaced for payment of interest at the treasury.

(4) Applications for Investment Certificates and Government Promissory Notes must be made on separate forms of application prescribed by the Director-General. If the applicant is already a depositor in the Post Office Savings Bank, he should present his pass-book with his application; if he is not already a depositor, a pass-book will be prepared and delivered to him.

(5) When an application for an Investment Certificate is presented at a head or a sub-post office, an Investment Certificate, signed by the head or sub-postmaster as the case may be, will be handed to the investor across the counter of the post office. When the application is presented at a branch post office, an Investment Certificate will be obtained for the investor from the head office or the sub-office to which the branch office is subordinate. The Accountant-General will fix the rate at which Government securities represented by Investment Certificates can be purchased. This rate will be communicated to head and sub-postmasters and will remain in force until it is changed by the Accountant-General.

(6) Two or more Investment Certificates may, at any time, be exchanged for a single certificate of their aggregate value. Also, one or more Investment Certificates of the nominal value of not less than Rs. 100 may at any time be exchanged for a whole piece of Government paper of Rs. 100 or any multiple of Rs. 100. The certificates to be exchanged must be presented at the local post office, entered in the appropriate form of application prescribed for the purpose by the Director-General. Separate forms are provided for exchanging—

(a) two or more certificates for a single one, and

(b) one or more certificates for a whole piece of Government paper.

(7) In each case in which an Investment Certificate is issued by a sub-office, the depositor will receive a confirmation by post from the head office showing the No., date and nominal value of the Investment Certificate and the cash balance left at credit of the account after the transaction. If the confirmation does not reach the depositor in proper time, or if, when it reaches him, it shows any signs of erasure, or does not agree with the entries in the Investment Certificate or the pass-book, the depositor should immediately apply to the postmaster of the head office and renew his application until he receives a satisfactory reply.

(8) Applications for Government Promissory Notes presented at any post office will be forwarded to the Accountant-General, at Calcutta, who will take the necessary steps for the purchase. The investor will be charged with the actual price paid for the Government promissory notes. The entries in connection with the investment will be noted in the pass-book by the head office.

NOTE.—The annual limit of Rs. 1,000 and the maximum limit of Rs. 5,000 for investments through the Post Office do not apply to investments in connection with public accounts, with regimental, police, and other conjoint accounts, or with security deposit accounts.

Sale of Government Securities.

47. (1) Any depositor may apply for sale through the Post Office of the whole, or of any portion, of any Government securities which may have been purchased for him through the Post Office, whether held by himself or held for him by the Accountant-General provided that, if only a portion of the Government securities is specified for sale, the nominal value of this portion must not be (a) less than Rs. 10 or (b) such a sum as would leave a balance of securities of the nominal value of less than Rs. 10.

(2) Applications for the sale of (a) Investment Certificates, and (b) Government Promissory Notes, must be made on separate forms of application prescribed by the Director-General of the Post Office. In the former case, the application must be accompanied by the Investment Certificates, and the securities will be sold at the same rate as that fixed by the Accountant-General for the purchase of securities represented by Investment Certificates. In the latter case, such of the Government Promissory Notes to be sold as are not held by the Accountant-General must be presented with the application endorsed in favour of the Accountant-General, and these, together with any Government Promissory Notes in the custody of that officer which are specified for sale, will be sold at the current market rate.

(3) The results of sale will be intimated to the depositor by the Accountant-General through the postmaster concerned with the least possible delay after the receipt of the application. The proceeds of sale, together with any interest that may be due, will be credited to the depositor's Savings Bank account in the first instance and, if the annual or total cash limit of his account is thereby exceeded, the excess will not bear interest and must be withdrawn by the depositor. When, however, such sale-proceeds are withdrawn by the depositor before interest becomes due on them under rule 29, they will not be taken into account in calculating the annual and total cash limits of the account.

NOTE.—Securities purchased in the name and on behalf of a minor cannot be sold during the minority except by the minor's legally constituted guardian, and the definition of guardian in rule 1 of these rules does not apply to the sale of such securities.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

HOME DEPARTMENT.

CENSUS.

Simla, the 28th June 1910.

RESOLUTION.

The general and household schedules sanctioned for adoption throughout British India in connection with the decennial census of 1911 were annexed to the Home Department resolution nos. 67-81, dated the 31st March 1910. The returns attached to the present resolution, which comply with the requirements of international statistics and contain all the information that is necessary for administrative purposes, are, with the exception of tables XV, parts C and D, and XVI, which may be prepared or not at the option of local Governments, prescribed for general adoption. The principles on which they have been drawn up are stated in the annexed memorandum, which explains their relation to the tables attached to the Home Department resolution nos. 137-149, dated the 3rd August 1900. In determining the form of these returns the Government of India have taken into consideration the suggestions which have been made by the Registrar General of the United Kingdom.

2. At the last census a distinction was drawn between Imperial Statistics or tables of general interest, and Provincial Statistics, or the additional tables required in each province for local administrative purposes. The unit of the former was the district, while that of the latter was the tahsil, taluk, thana or township. The Provincial Tables were printed in separate volumes, but they formed part of the Imperial series of census volumes and were numbered and distributed accordingly. The Government of India consider it unnecessary that the Provincial Statistics, which are compiled for local purposes, should be circulated outside the limits of the province to which they refer; and they have accordingly decided that, on this occasion, they will not form part of the Imperial series, but will be printed in entirely separate publications. Local Governments will decide for themselves what Provincial Statistics are required. Attention is, however, invited to the observations contained in the Home Department resolution nos. 137-49 (Census), dated the 3rd August 1900, where it was pointed out that there is a tendency to multiply statistics out of all proportion to the use that will ever be made of them. Without wishing to interfere unduly with the discretion of local Governments in a matter of this kind, the Government of India desire that more care may be taken than was done in some cases at the last census to include in the Provincial Statistics only such tables as are likely to be of real use.

3. While adhering to the definition of Imperial Statistics laid down in 1900, and recognizing that their unit should ordinarily be the district, the Government of India consider that it would be desirable to include in the Imperial series of tables a few of the main statistics for smaller administrative units (thanas, taluks or tahsils) such as total population, density, variation since 1901, distribution by religion and the number of literate persons. Such figures are of more than local interest; and even when the Provincial Tables are available, it is inconvenient to have to turn to another volume to find them. Drafts of two tables containing the above information are appended to this resolution, but local Governments are at liberty to modify the forms, should it appear desirable to do so, provided that the space occupied by them is not materially increased.

4. The cost of preparing and printing the statistics referred to above, and also of preparing in manuscript a simple table showing the population of each village by sex and religion, will be an imperial charge, but that of preparing any other tables, and of printing the village tables, should this be thought necessary locally, will be met from provincial revenues.

5. The Government of India desire to emphasise the orders of 1900 that the Provincial Census reports should be completed and sent in within a year from the date of taking the census.

ORDER.—Ordered that a copy of this resolution be forwarded to all local

Offg. Secretary to the Government of India.

Explanatory memorandum,

(i) Table I (Area, houses and population).—This is identical with the corresponding table of the last census.

(ii) Table II (Variation in the population since 1872).—This is identical with the corresponding table of the last census, except that five censuses have now to be dealt with instead of four. The columns have been rearranged slightly, as the additional columns will cause the table to run into three pages. The figures for persons, males and females, will occupy the first two pages, and those for variations the third.

(iii) Table III (Towns and villages classified by population).—Unchanged.

(iv) Table IV (Towns classified by population with variation since 1872).—To save space the columns for sex totals for 1872 and 1881 have been omitted. These figures can always be obtained (if required) by reference to the tables of the last census. The sex proportional figures for all five censuses will be quoted in a subsidiary table in the body of the reports, which is all that is ever likely to be needed.

(v) Table V (Towns arranged territorially with population by religion).—No change.

(vi) Table VI (Religion).—No change. Provinces which show non-Christian sects will subdivide the headings Hindus and Muhammadans according to requirements.

(vii) Table VII (Age, sex and civil condition).—Two new quinquennial periods have been added in accordance with the recommendations of the Census Committee of the Royal Statistical Society. For individual districts, the age grouping will be less elaborate, following the practice introduced in 1901.

(viii) Table VIII (Education by age).—The columns relating to literacy in the provincial vernaculars have been omitted, but they will be retained in provinces where this information is collected.

(ix) Table IX (Education by selected castes, tribes and races).—This table, though optional in 1901, was prepared for all the main provinces except the Punjab. For the coming census it has been made compulsory, as it has been found to be most valuable, on account of the light which it throws on the condition as regards literacy of the different sections of the population, and the progress which each section has made during the decade.

The object of column 2 is to give details by locality where local conditions vary (e.g., in Bengal it is important to distinguish Bengal Proper from Bihar). In one or two cases at the last census, details were given for each district, which greatly increased the bulk of the table, while in several others provincial totals only were given, thereby obliterating local differences. The number of castes selected for the table varied enormously. On the present occasion the Census Commissioner will arrange beforehand with the Provincial Superintendents which castes should be taken for this and similar tables, and the localities for which separate figures will be given. The statistics of education, marriage, etc., by caste should make it possible to bring out clearly, not only the differences within a province between castes of different social status, but also the differences which exist in different parts of India amongst the same or corresponding castes.

(x) Table X (Language).—The same as in 1891 and 1901. There was some misunderstanding at the last census, regarding Dr. Grierson's note providing a classification of Indian languages and dialects; and in two provinces the languages returned in the schedules were split up into dialects, for the purpose of Table X, according to considerations of birth-place or locality of enumeration. The language should be entered in Table X as actually returned, subject to the classification of entries that do not indicate true languages. All estimates of dialect, etc., should be relegated to the Report Volume.

(xi) Table XI (Birth-place).—The same as in 1901. As on previous occasions Provincial Superintendents will tabulate certain extra-provincial birth districts for communication to the other Superintendents concerned. These detailed figures are often of great interest in connection with inter-provincial migration (e.g., in 1901 out of 157,000 emigrants from Bengal to Burma 79,000 went from the contiguous district of Chittagong); but they need not ordinarily be printed in the Imperial Tables. In special cases, where the immigration is of considerable magnitude, this can be done, as indicated in the footnote to the table.

Much light can be thrown on big streams of migration (e.g., the 146,000 emigrants of 1901 from the Ratnagiri district to Bombay City) by combining birth-place with age, caste and occupation. Such statistics however are needed only in special cases, and no general table is prescribed.

(xii) Table XII (Infirmities).—The table should show (a) distribution by districts and (b) distribution by age. Two additional quinquennial age periods have been provided corresponding with those of Table VII.

(xiii) Table XII-A. (Infirmities by selected castes).—The only change from 1901 is that "Population dealt with" have been substituted for "Population afflicted" in the main heading to columns 2 to 4. It is essential to know the number of persons amongst whom the infirmities were recorded. This table was optional at the last census.

(xiv) Table XIII (Caste, Tribe, Race or Nationality).—This table should give statistics only for the more important castes and for any others which local Governments for special reasons wish to include. Any local Government may, if it wishes, order a complete table to be prepared.

(xv) Table XIV (Civil condition by age for selected castes).—The age periods taken for this table are the same as those which were finally sanctioned at the last census.

(xvi) Table XV (Occupation or means of livelihood).—The information exhibited in Part A is the same as in 1901, but the occupations are given in the heading and the districts down the side. This is the arrangement which was found most convenient in 1901. The district details should be preceded by a general summary giving totals for (a) Province; (b) British Territory; (c) Feudatory States; and (d) Cities.

Parts B, C and D of this table are new. At the last census the agricultural occupation of all persons who returned agriculture as (a) their principal or (b) their subsidiary occupation was tabulated, but not the non-agricultural subsidiary occupations of the former. In order to obtain a complete view of the extent to which the people of India are dependent on agriculture it is necessary to know also what subsidiary occupations are returned by persons whose main occupation is agriculture. Table XV, Part B, is designed to show this.

Parts C and D of this table need not be compiled unless the local Governments think this desirable.

(xvii) Table XVI (Occupation by selected Castes, Tribes, or Races).—The plan of this table, which need not be compiled unless local Governments desire to do so, is the same as in 1901, but a few additions have been made. Columns 6 to 9 have been added to throw light on the extent to which castes still practise their traditional occupations. This information was given for Bengal at the last census (so far as the principal occupation was concerned) by means of foot-notes. Columns 10 and 11 are designed to make it possible to discount the tendency of the functional groups to return their traditional occupations as their means of livelihood (paragraph 312 of the last India Census Report). The sex detail (which was not prescribed in 1901) is important as it shows for various castes and localities the extent to which women work either at their traditional or some other occupation.

In all provinces Europeans, Eurasians and Armenians should be included in this table.

In addition to Table XVI, which shows the distribution of castes by occupation, some supplementary statistics (similar to those at pages 502-506 of the Bengal Tables for 1901) may, if desired, be prepared showing the distribution of certain occupations by caste.

(xviii) Table XVII (Christians by sect and race).—The same as in 1901, except for a minor detail of printing. The districts will be arranged down the side of the tables and the sects in the heading.

(xix) Table XVIII (Europeans, etc., by age).—The same as in 1901.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Rainfall summary for the seven days ending at 8 hrs. on Thursday, the 30th June 1910, based on the Indian Daily Weather Reports of the period.

The Bay monsoon has been of late comparatively inactive, and Upper Burma is the only part of its usual field where the rainfall of the past week was in excess, while a more or less marked defect is shown in northeast India and the Gangetic plain: the Bay monsoon however contributed some of the abnormal rainfall recorded in the Punjab.

2. The Arabian Sea monsoon was at the beginning of the week prevented by an area of low pressure off Bombay from penetrating freely into the interior, but the depression moved northwestwards and by the morning of the 27th had disappeared; this branch of the monsoon accordingly gave abundant rainfall over the central parts of the country and in northwest India, some heavy falls of rain being reported on the 29th and 30th in the extreme north. The week's rainfall was in large excess in the east of the Central Provinces, east Rajputana, Gujarat, Sind, the Punjab, the North-West Frontier Province and over the whole of the peninsula except the Madras Deccan and southeast Madras.

3. Burma.—Rainfall was on the whole only light and local. Skies were moderately clouded. In parts of Lower Burma temperature was somewhat higher than usual.

Northeast India, including Orissa.—Rain fell chiefly in the northern and southwestern districts. Cloud was moderate to heavy; and maximum temperature was in defect in the areas of rainfall.

The United Provinces, Central India and the Central Provinces.—In the United Provinces falls of rain were reported on the 24th from all parts, but after this very little rain fell except at the close of the week in the western districts. Rainfall was of daily occurrence in the Central Provinces and Central India West. After the 24th cloud was light in the United Provinces but it continued moderate to heavy in the Central Provinces. Temperature at the end of the week was in defect in the latter area and in excess in the former.

Northwest India.—All parts of the division received rain. During the last few days cloud was present everywhere and temperature was in general defect.

The Peninsula.—Rainfall was fairly general except in southeast Madras and the Madras Deccan. Skies were moderately to heavily clouded. Temperature was normal or in defect, the deficiency occurring chiefly in the daytime.

June 24th.	Jalpaiguri 2·13", Veraval 2·06", Hanumkonda 2·40" and Gopalpur 4·08".

5. The rainfall of the whole period from 29th April to date is either normal or in excess over by far the greater part of country: the only divisions where it is more than 20 per cent in defect are Bay Islands, Orissa, United Provinces West, Kashmir, Baluchistan, Mysore, Madras Southeast and Madras Deccan.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Season and Crop Prospects for the week ending Saturday,
25th June 1910.

Burma.—The rainfall was lighter during the week except in the Tenasserim division and in the hills but practically general. Harvesting of summer rice and sowing of hill side rice are approaching completion. Ploughing for winter rice is well advanced and sowing has commenced under favourable conditions. Cultivation of autumn crops in dry uplands is progressing satisfactorily and standing crops are in good condition. The price of unhusked rice has risen at the ports of Akyab and Moulmein but has fallen slightly in Rangoon. In the interior prices show little change except in Bhamo where they have risen considerably. Except in Kyaukpyu and Bhamo where prices are high and in the irrigation districts where they are low, prices are generally slightly above normal.

Eastern Bengal and Assam.—The rainfall was heavy almost everywhere in the Rajshahi, Surma Valley and Assam Valley divisions. The heaviest fall recorded was 18 inches at Alipur Duars. Light to moderate rain fell elsewhere. Slight damage to summer rice and jute on low lands by excessive rain is reported from some districts. Harvesting of summer rice continues while that of jute on low land has commenced in Eastern Bengal. Transplantation of winter rice is going on. Prospects of tea are fair while those of other standing crops are good on the whole. The average price of common rice is almost stationary. Cattle disease prevails in Mymensingh, the Naga Hills, Goalpara, Kamrup, Darrang, Nowgong, Sibsagar and Lakhimpur.

Bengal.—The rainfall was general all over the Province, the fall being heavy in Murshidabad, Purnea, Cuttack, Angul, Cooch Behar and in parts of Midnapore and the Sonthal Parganas; moderate in Burdwan, Khulna, Champaran, Puri and Manbhum and light elsewhere. The recent rainfall has been beneficial in Bihar for standing crops and for agricultural operations. Excessive rain has damaged standing crops to some extent in parts of Bhagalpur and the Sonthal Parganas. Weeding of jute and sowing of autumn crops continues. Transplantation of winter paddy has commenced in some districts. The sugarcane crop is doing well. The price of common rice has risen in Burdwan, Midnapore, Patna, Shahabad and Manbhum and has fallen in Jessore, Gaya, Saran, Champaran, Angul and Ranchi. Cattle disease is reported from Burdwan, Nadia, Murshidabad, Gaya, Muzaffarpur, Darbhanga, the Sonthal Parganas, Cuttack, Angul, Sambalpur and Hazaribagh. The supply of fodder and water is sufficient throughout the Province.

United Provinces.—The rainfall is adequate in the hills and submontane areas but light in the Doab, Southern Oudh, Bundelkhand and some other districts. Eight districts report need of more rain for autumn operations. Ploughing, manuring and sowing of fields are in full swing. Early sown autumn crops have germinated well. Twenty-two districts report sporadic cattle disease but the general condition of cattle is satisfactory. Fodder and supplies are ample. Prices are generally stationary.

Punjab.—Moderate to light rain has fallen in Hissar, Rohtak, Gurgaon, Delhi, Ambala, parts of Jullundur, Lahore, Sialkot and Lyallpur and slight rain in parts of Amritsar and Rawalpindi. The condition of extra spring crops is generally good. Extra spring crops are being reaped in Mianwali. Sowings of autumn crops and ploughing for autumn and spring crops continue. Standing crops have been damaged slightly by drought and river flood in parts of Mianwali. Prices have risen slightly in some districts. The condition of cattle is generally good. Fodder is sufficient except in parts of Mianwali. The canal water-supply is insufficient in parts of Rohtak and Lyallpur and water in parts of Ambala and Shahpur.

North-West Frontier Province.—Slight rain fell during the week averaging 12 cents in Swabi to 23 cents at Bannu. The condition of standing crops is average except in Dera Ismail Khan where it is a little below the average on unirrigated areas. Wheat is being threshed and stacked. The outturn is average. The fodder and water-supply is sufficient except in the Shigga circle of the Marwat tahsil. There were floods in the Kurram and Tochi rivers. Irrigation from the Paharpur canal continues. The condition of cattle is good but disease prevails in one village of the Swabi tahsil and in one village of the Mardan tahsil. The public health is good. Prices of food grains are falling slightly. Prices.—wheat $13\frac{1}{2}$ to $18\frac{1}{2}$; maize $16\frac{1}{2}$ to $23\frac{1}{2}$; gram $17\frac{1}{2}$ to 26 and bajra $16\frac{1}{2}$ to $17\frac{1}{2}$ seers per rupee.

Jammu.—There was slight rain during the week. Prices are fluctuating. Wheat sold from 12 to 20 and maize from 18 to 32 seers per rupee. The condition of standing crops is fair. Cattle disease of mild type prevails in some parts of the Province. Fodder is sufficient.

Kashmir.—Slight rain fell once during the week. Extra spring crops are being gathered. The condition of spring crops is good. Sowing of autumn crops is going on. Fodder is sufficient. Prices are stationary.

Rajputana.—There was general rain except in the Hill Tracts, Kishangarh and Merwara. The maximum fall was 263 cents in the Banswara district and the minimum 6 cents in Jaipur. Land is being prepared for autumn crops and sowings have also commenced in some States. A few cattle are dying from disease in Merwar but cattle disease is gradually subsiding in Banswara. Fodder is sufficient. Prices are rising in Bikaner and Jaisalmer by $\frac{1}{2}$ seer, in Tonk by 1 seer 7 chattaks and in Kishangarh by 1 seer. Prices are falling or steady elsewhere.

Central India.—The rainfall during the week was general and sufficient for the present except in Gwalior. Sowing of autumn crops is in progress. Agricultural stock is in good condition except for some cattle disease in Baghelkhand, Bundelkhand and Bhopawar. Prices are fluctuating in Indore and are steady elsewhere.

Central Provinces.—Light to heavy rain fell during the week all over the Provinces. The principal falls in inches were:—Bhandara 8, Buldana 5 and Chhindwara, Balaghat, Wardha and Amraoti 5 each. In the remaining districts the falls ranged from 28 cents in Saugor to 4 inches in Nagpur. The rainfall was generally well distributed and greatly facilitated ploughing and sowing operations. More rain is however required in Saugor and Jubbulpore. Germination of autumn crops is so far satisfactory. Fodder and water are sufficient everywhere and the condition of cattle is good. Prices:—the price of wheat remained stationary in seventeen districts, gram in eighteen and rice in twenty-one. The price of juar remained steady throughout the Provinces. Prices generally indicate a tendency to fall.

Feudatory States.—During the week ten States had rain ranging from 1 inch in Kawardha to 6 inches in Sarangarh. Ploughing of land and sowing of autumn crops are in progress. The supply of fodder and water is adequate. Prices.—Wheat became dearer by 2 seers per rupee in Sarangarh.

Bombay.—The rain during the week was heavy in parts of Colaba, Ratnagiri, Kanara, East Khandesh, Poona, Satara, Kathiawar, Savantvadi and Kolhapur; good in parts of the Panch Mahals, Surat, Thana, West Khandesh, Nasik, Ahmednagar, Belgaum and Cutch; moderate in parts of Kaira, Broach, Sholapur, Bijapur, Dharwar, Baroda, Palanpur and Rewa Kantha and slight in parts of Karachi, Thar and Parkar, Ahmeda-bad and Mahi Kantha. The rainfall was generally sufficient for sowing operations but more rain is needed in parts of Thar and Parkar, Poona, Sholapur, Belgaum, Dharwar and Kolhapur. Preparation of lands for autumn cultivation continues in parts of Sind, Ahmedabad, Broach, Thana, Kanara, West Khandesh, Ahmednagar, Belgaum and Kathiawar. Autumn sowings are progressing in parts of Karachi, Sukkur, Larkana, Gujarat, Thana, Kanara, the Deccan, Bijapur, Belgaum, the Gujarat Native States, Savantvadi and Kolhapur. Transplantation has commenced in parts of Karachi, Larkana, the Konkan and Savantvadi. The fodder supply is adequate except in parts of Larkana and Hyderabad. Agricultural stock are sufficient except in parts of the Deccan and are generally in good condition. Drinking water is generally sufficient except in parts of Nasik, Sholapur, Bijapur and Dharwar. Irrigation water is adequate except in parts of Nasik, Poona, Sholapur, Bijapur and Dharwar. Grain stocks are sufficient. Prices have fallen in the Upper Sind Frontier and Broach; have risen in Kanara and are stationary elsewhere. The quantity purchasable per rupee is in Sind 24 to 40 per cent; in Gujarat 20 to 34 per cent; in the Konkan 2 to 26 per cent; in the Deccan 14 to 40 per cent and in the Karnatak 34 to 41 per cent less than the normal.

- (c) each tender is for not less than Rs. 10,000 ;
- (d) the deposit is either a Promissory Note or a Treasury Receipt from the local office of the Presidency Bank, or a cheque on a local Bank in favour of the Accountant General ;
- (e) the amount of the tender is made payable at the place of tender, viz., Madras, Bombay or Rangoon (as the case may be) or in Calcutta ;

* Noon, standard time, corresponds to 12-24 P.M. Calcutta time.

"Tender for the Three-and-a-half Per Cent Loan." If the tenderer is not resident in India, he must name an Agent resident in India, to whom an allotment-certificate may be issued, if any part of the loan is allotted to such tenderer.

5. The rate at which each tender is made must be specified in rupees or rupees and annas : a tender in which no rate is thus specified, but a subscription is offered in some other terms—as, for example, at the recorded minimum, or at some specified percentage in addition to the recorded minimum, or at the average of the accepted tenders—will be rejected as null and void.

6. The rate at which a tender is made must not contain a fraction of an anna : if a rate containing a fraction of an anna is inserted in any tender, such fraction will be struck out and the tender treated as if the rate did not contain such fraction of an anna.

Deposits.

7. Each tender must be accompanied by a deposit of not less than one-hundredth or, if the tender be for less than Five Lakhs of Rupees, then for not less than one-fiftieth part of the tender. The deposit must be in one of the following forms : (a) a receipt for the amount from the Head Office of the Bank of Bengal, or Madras, or Bombay or one of their Branches, or from an officer in charge of some Public Treasury, or (b) a cheque drawn in favour of the Comptroller General on a Bank in Calcutta, Madras, Bombay or Rangoon, or (c) Government Promissory Notes standing in the name of, or endorsed to, the tenderer or the person making the deposit.

1. It is particularly requested that such Promissory Notes may NOT be endorsed to the Comptroller General

8. (a) Deposits, not being Promissory Notes, will, in the case of accepted tenders, be credited proportionately in part payment of the allotment-certificates issued in respect of the tender, and will bear interest for the purpose of clause 16 below from the date of the opening of tenders. When a tender is not accepted in full, the deposits, when they are not in the form of Promissory Notes, will be credited as far as possible proportionately in part payment of the allotment-certificates issued in respect of it. If any allotment-certificate is not fully taken up, the deposit credited in respect of it will be forfeited.

(b) Promissory Notes deposited in respect of any accepted tender will be held until all the allotment-certificates issued in respect of the tender are paid up, and will, if the allotment-certificates are not fully taken up, be appropriated by the Government and cancelled.

Opening of Tenders.

9. The minimum rate at which tenders will be accepted will be recorded under the signature of the Comptroller General, and, before the tenders are opened, placed upon the table in a sealed envelope, but will not be declared unless some tender is rejected only because it is below the recorded minimum.

10. Tenders will be opened publicly by the Comptroller General at the Treasury Buildings, Calcutta, at noon, standard time,* on Wednesday, the 20th July next, and those received under the terms of note (1) to clause 4 will be similarly opened by the Accountants-General at Madras, Bombay and Rangoon at noon, standard time,* on the same day ; but the contents of the tenders will not be disclosed otherwise than as provided in clause 12.

11. Tenders at rates not below the minimum rate will be accepted in the order of the rates tendered, beginning with the highest rate. The amount allotted at the lowest rate at which tenders are accepted will be divided amongst those who have tendered at this rate in proportion, as nearly as may be found convenient, to the amounts of their tenders, provided that no allotment will be issued if the amount distributable on any tender is less than Rs. 100 : preference will however be given to small tenders, not exceeding Rs. 2,000, at the lowest accepted rate, such tenders receiving allotments in full as far as possible.

* Noon, standard time, corresponds to 12-24 P.M. Calcutta time.

Allotment-Certificates.

12. To each tenderer (or to his agent) whose tender is accepted in whole or in part, such number of allotment-certificates as may be necessary to make up the aggregate amount allotted to him will be issued by the Comptroller General¹ as soon as possible after the 20th July and an alphabetical list of the names of those to whom such allotment-certificates are issued will be posted for general information at the Head Offices of the Banks of Bengal, Madras, and Bombay, and at the Branch Office of the Bank of Bengal at Rangoon.

13. If the allotment made on any tender is less than Rs. 3,000, then the whole of the allotment-certificates [after credit of the deposit under clause 8 (a)] will be made payable upon the 6th September.

Otherwise the whole amount of each allotment will be divided into two instalments as follows :—

Instalment I.—As near as convenient to 50 per cent, but not less than 50 per cent, payable upon the 8th August

Instalment II.—The balance payable upon the 6th September and allotment-certificates will be issued for each instalment separately.

But the whole or any part of any accepted tender may be paid at any time after receipt of the allotment-certificates.

The words "as near as convenient" refer to the necessity for making each instalment an exact multiple of Rs. 100.

14. Any allotment-certificates will, on application to the Comptroller General, be exchanged for an equivalent amount of allotment-certificates of smaller denominations; provided that if any payment (beyond the deposit) is recorded upon the cancelled certificate, it can be taken against, and recorded upon, only one of the certificates issued in exchange.

15. Payment of any allotment-certificate may be made to the account of the Government in the Head Office of the Bank of Bengal, or Madras, or Bombay, or in any Branch of these Banks or into any Public Treasury or Treasuries in India which may be named in the tender in respect of which it was issued. Receipts for such payments will be given by the Banks of Bengal, Madras and Bombay, or their Branches, or by the officers in charge of the Government Treasuries at which payment is made, by encasement upon the relative certificate.

Issue of Promissory Notes.

16. (a) When any allotment-certificate is fully paid up, the holder will, on presenting it duly receipted at the place where it was paid, obtain from the Public Debt Office, Calcutta, Promissory Notes of such values as he may desire (each note being in even hundreds and not less than Rs. 100) bearing interest from the 31st December 1910, and he will also receive interest at 3½ per cent per annum from the dates on which he may have made payment till the 30th December 1910.

(b) Or he may, at his option, by paying interest at the said rate from the 30th June 1910 to the dates on which he may have made payment, obtain Promissory Notes as above, bearing interest from the 30th June 1910.

PUBLIC DEBT.

THREE-AND-A-HALF PER CENT LOAN.

No. 3472-A.—His Excellency the Right Honourable the Governor General in Council has resolved to borrow one hundred and fifty lakhs of rupees for the public service in the following manner :

2. Promissory Notes will be issued for the said amount in the Form annexed to this Notification, being the form of the notes of the Three-and-a-half Per Cent Loan of 1900-01, of which loan the notes to be now issued will form a part. All the conditions which apply to notes of the Three-and-a-half Per Cent Loan of 1900-01, will apply to the notes to be now issued. The interest on the notes of that loan is payable half-yearly on the 30th day of June and the 31st day of December; and the notes are not liable to discharge before the 31st day of December 1920.

Tenders.

3. Tenders for the whole or any part of the said amount of Rs. 1,50,00,000 will be received by the Comptroller General from this date to noon, standard time,* of Wednesday, the 20th July 1910. Tenders must be for sums of 100 Rupees or multiples of that sum.

4. Each tender must be addressed in the form annexed to this Notification, to the Comptroller General, Calcutta, and enclosed in a closed cover, superscribed "Tender for the Three-and-a-half Per Cent Loan." If the tenderer is not resident in India, he must name an Agent resident in India, to whom an allotment-certificate may be issued, if any part of the loan is allotted to such tenderer.

NOTE (1).—Tenders made in accordance with these instructions will also be received by the Accountants General at Madras, Bombay and Rangoon on account of the Comptroller General, Calcutta, on the 19th July and up to noon, standard time,* on the 20th July, provided that—

- (a) they are delivered personally or by clerk or messenger at the Accountant General's Office (where a receipt will be given for them);
 - (b) they are made on printed forms, to be obtained at the same office or at the local Presidency Bank;
 - (c) each tender is for not less than Rs. 10,000;
 - (d) the deposit is either a Promissory Note or a Treasury Receipt from the local office of the Presidency Bank, or a cheque on a local Bank in favour of the Accountant General;
 - (e) the amount of the tender is made payable at the place of tender, viz., Madras, Bombay or Rangoon (as the case may be) or in Calcutta,
- and the Accountant General will return deposits on non-accepted tenders and will issue allotment-certificates so far as the tenders are payable in Madras, Bombay or Rangoon.

5. The rate at which each tender is made must be specified in rupees or rupees and annas: a tender in which no rate is thus specified, but a subscription is offered in some other terms—as, for example, at the recorded minimum, or at some specified percentage in addition to the recorded minimum, or at the average of the accepted tenders—will be rejected as null and void.

6. The rate at which a tender is made must not contain a fraction of an anna: if a rate containing a fraction of an anna is inserted in any tender, such fraction will be struck out and the tender treated as if the rate did not contain such fraction of an anna.

Deposits.

7. Each tender must be accompanied by a deposit of not less than one-hundredth or, if the tender be for less than Five Lakhs of Rupees, then for not less than one-fiftieth part of the tender. The deposit must be in one of the following forms: (a) a receipt for the amount from the Head Office of the Bank of Bengal, or Madras, or Bombay or one of their Branches, or from an officer in charge of some Public Treasury, or (b) a cheque drawn in favour of the Comptroller General on a Bank in Calcutta, Madras, Bombay or Rangoon, or (c) Government Promissory Notes¹ standing in the name of, or endorsed to, the tenderer or the person making the deposit.

* Noon, standard time, corresponds to 12-24 P.M. Calcutta time.

8. (a) Deposits, not being Promissory Notes, will, in the case of accepted tenders, be credited proportionately in part payment of the allotment-certificates issued in respect of the tender, and will bear interest for the purpose of clause 16 below from the date of the opening of tenders. When a tender is not accepted in full, the deposits, when they are not in the form of Promissory Notes, will be credited as far as possible proportionately in part payment of the allotment-certificates issued in respect of it. If any allotment-certificate is not fully taken up, the deposit credited in respect of it will be forfeited.

(b) Promissory Notes deposited in respect of any accepted tender will be held until all the allotment-certificates issued in respect of the tender are paid up, and will, if the allotment-certificates are not fully taken up, be appropriated by the Government and cancelled.

9. The minimum rate at which tenders will be accepted will be recorded under the signature of the Comptroller General, and, before the tenders are opened, placed upon the table in a sealed envelope, but will not be declared unless some tender is rejected only because it is below the recorded minimum.

10. Tenders will be opened publicly by the Comptroller General at the Treasury Buildings, Calcutta, at noon, standard time,* on Wednesday, the 20th July next, and those received under the terms of note (1) to clause 4 will be similarly opened by the Accountants General at Madras, Bombay and Rangoon at noon, standard time,* on the same day; but the contents of the tenders will not be disclosed otherwise than as provided in clause 12.

11. Tenders at rates not below the minimum rate will be accepted in the order of the rates tendered, beginning with the highest rate. The amount allotted at the lowest rate at which tenders are accepted will be divided amongst those who have tendered at this rate in proportion, as nearly as may be found convenient, to the amounts of their tenders, provided that no allotment will be issued if the amount distributable on any tender is less than Rs. 100: preference will however be given to small tenders, not exceeding Rs. 2,000, at the lowest accepted rate, such tenders receiving allotments in full as far as possible.

Allotment-Certificates.

12. To each tenderer (or to his agent) whose tender is accepted in whole or in part, such number of allotment-certificates as may be necessary to make up the aggregate amount allotted to him will be issued by the Comptroller General¹ as soon as possible after the 20th July and an alphabetical list of the names of those to whom such allotment-certificates are issued will be posted for general information at the Head Offices of the Banks of Bengal, Madras, and Bombay, and at the Branch Office of the Bank of Bengal at Rangoon.

13. If the allotment made on any tender is less than Rs. 3,000, then the whole of the allotment-certificates [after credit of the deposit under clause 8 (a)] will be made payable upon the 6th September.

Otherwise the whole amount of each allotment will be divided into two instalments as follows:—

Instalment I.—As near as convenient to 50 per cent, but not less than 50 per cent, payable upon the 8th August.

Instalment II.—The balance payable upon the 6th September and allotment-certificates will be issued for each instalment separately.

* Noon, standard time, corresponds to 12-24 P.M. Calcutta time.

But the whole or any part of any accepted tender may be paid at any time after receipt of the allotment-certificates.

The words "as near as convenient" refer to the necessity for making each instalment an exact multiple of Rs. 100.

14. Any allotment-certificates will, on application to the Comptroller General, be exchanged for an equivalent amount of allotment-certificates of smaller denominations; provided that if any payment (beyond the deposit) is recorded upon the cancelled certificate, it can be taken against, and recorded upon, only one of the certificates issued in exchange.

15. Payment of any allotment-certificate may be made to the account of the Government in the Head Office of the Bank of Bengal, or Madras, or Bombay, or in any Branch of these Banks or into any Public Treasury or Treasuries in India which may be named in the tender in respect of which it was issued. Receipts for such payments will be given by the Banks of Bengal, Madras and Bombay, or their Branches, or by the officers in charge of the Government Treasuries at which payment is made, by endorsement upon the relative certificate.

Issue of Promissory Notes.

16. (a) When any allotment-certificate is fully paid up, the holder will, on presenting it duly receipted at the place where it was paid, obtain from the Public Debt Office, Calcutta, Promissory Notes of such values as he may desire (each note being in even hundreds and not less than Rs. 100) bearing interest from the 31st December 1910, and he will also receive interest at $3\frac{1}{2}$ per cent per annum from the dates on which he may have made payment till the 30th December 1910.

(b) Or he may, at his option, by paying interest at the said rate from the 30th June 1910 to the dates on which he may have made payment, obtain Promissory Notes as above, bearing interest from the 30th June 1910.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Season and Crop Prospects for the week ending Saturday,
2nd July 1910.

Burma.—The rainfall was very heavy in the maritime districts of Tenasserim and moderate in other maritime and in the northern districts but no rain or very light showers fell in the central region. Ploughing and sowing of nurseries for the autumn rice crop and for winter crops continue. More rain is wanted in the dry zone, particularly in Pakokku. The price of unhusked rice has risen slightly at Akyab and fallen at Rangoon and Bassein where it is below normal. The price at Moulmein has fallen slightly but remains above normal. Elsewhere there are no important changes and prices are not far from normal except in irrigation districts where they are low.

Eastern Bengal and Assam.—Good rain has fallen in the Surma Valley, Assam Valley and Rajshahi division. Elsewhere the rainfall has been light. Slight damage to jute and autumn rice on low land is reported from some districts. Harvesting of jute has commenced while that of autumn rice and transplantation of winter rice continue. Plucking of tea is progressing. Prospects of standing crops are good. The average price of common rice has risen by about one per cent. Cattle disease is reported in Mymensingh, Rajshahi, Sylhet, the Khasi, Jaintia and Naga Hills, Goalpara, Kamrup, Darrang, Nowgong and Sibsagar.

Bengal.—Rain was general all over the Province, the fall being heavy in Gaya, Balasore, Angul, Puri, Darjeeling, Cooch Behar and also in parts of Champaran and Purnea, moderate in Midnapore, Muzaffarpur, the Sonthal Parganas, Manbhum and Singhbhum and light elsewhere. Transplantation of paddy has commenced in some districts. More rain is wanted for the purpose in Burdwan, Bankura, Hooghly, the 24 Parganas and Jessore. Excessive rain has done some damage to makai (Indian corn) in parts of Bhagalpur and the Sonthal Parganas. Standing crops are doing well. The price of common rice has risen in Burdwan, Hooghly, Jessore, Khulna, Gaya, Saran, Monghyr, Cuttack and Hazaribagh and has fallen in Midnapore, Nadia, Shahabad, Champaran and Manbhum. Cattle disease is reported from Burdwan, Midnapore, Murshidabad, Jessore, Gaya, Muzaffarpur, Darbhanga, Bhagalpur, Purnea, the Sonthal Parganas, Cuttack, Angul, Hazaribagh and Ranchi. The fodder and water-supply is sufficient throughout the Province.

United Provinces.—The rainfall was adequate in the hills and submontane area but more rain is needed in parts of the Doab and South Oudh. Operations for autumn crops are being vigorously pushed forward. Sugarcane is flourishing and germination of early autumn crops is good. Sporadic cattle disease is reported from twenty-five districts but the general condition of agricultural stock is satisfactory. Fodder and supplies are sufficient everywhere. Prices are rising in ten districts mainly owing to the demand for seed. Elsewhere prices are generally stationary.

Punjab.—The rainfall during the week was general throughout the Province. It was heavy in parts of Ambala and Jullundur. The heaviest fall being over 13 inches at Naraingarh in the Ambala district. It was good to moderate elsewhere ranging generally from 5 inches to 11½ inches in quantity. The rain has benefited standing crops which are generally in good condition and was useful for ploughings for the autumn and spring crops. Harvesting of extra spring crops and sowings of autumn crops continue. Prices have risen slightly in some districts. The condition of cattle is generally good. Fodder is sufficient. Complaints of a short canal water-supply are being received from the Samundri tahsil of the Lyallpur district.

North-West Frontier Province.—Good rain averaging a little over an inch fell all over the Province and was beneficial to standing crops and future sowings. Maize and chari are being sown. The condition of standing crops is average except in Dera Ismail Khan where it is a little below average on unirrigated areas. The fodder and water-supply is sufficient. Floods have occurred in the Kurram and Tochi rivers. Irrigation from the Paharpur canal continues. The condition of cattle is good except in Swabi and in one village each of the Charsadda and Mardan tahsils. The public health is good. Prices of food grains are falling slightly. Prices are—wheat 14 to 19, maize 16½ to 23½; gram 17½ to 25 and barja 16½ to 17½ seers per rupee.

Jammu.—Good rain fell during the week. Prices are stationary. Wheat sells from 12 to 18 and maize from 19 to 32 seers per rupee. The condition of standing crops is fair. Cattle disease of mild type prevails in some parts of the Province. Fodder is sufficient.

Kashmir.—It rained twice during the week which did good to autumn sowings. Spring crops have been gathered. Fodder is sufficient. Prices are stationary.

Rajputana.—General rain fell during the week except in Bikaner and the Hilly Tracts. The maximum fall was 5.58 cents in Binsvra and the minimum 32 cents in Jupur. Ploughing and sowing for autumn crops are in progress. There was an outbreak of disease among cattle in the Jaisalmer district. Cattle disease is still raging in Banswara. Fodder is sufficient. Prices have risen in Bundi by 5 chhattaks, in Kishangarh by 1 seer, in Alwar by 7 chhattaks and in Bharatpur by 8 chhattaks. Prices are falling or are steady elsewhere.

Central India.—The rainfall was general and sufficient. Sowing of autumn crops is in progress. Agricultural stock are good except for some disease in Bundelkhand and Bhopawar. Prices are fluctuating in Indore, and slightly falling in Bhopawar and are steady elsewhere.

Central Provinces.—During the week moderate to heavy rain fell throughout the Provinces. The quantity registered at headquarters in the districts of the Jubbulpore, Nerbudda and Chhattisgarh divisions ranged from 2 to 9 inches, in Betul from 2 to 6 inches and in the Nagpur division from 6 to 13 inches. Nagpur and Bhandara had the heaviest rain amounting to 13 and 11 inches respectively. Continuous rain has retarded sowings in nine districts and a break would now be welcome in Nagpur. Germination of autumn crops is reported to be somewhat defective but elsewhere germination is generally good. The supply of fodder and water is adequate and cattle are doing well. Prices—the price of wheat remained stationary in fourteen districts, rose in seventeen, guar in nineteen and gram in twenty. Variations are unimportant elsewhere.

Feudatory States.—The rainfall during the week measured (in inches) was—Raigarh 7, Sakti 6, Sarangarh 4, Chhuikhadan and Nandgaon each 3, Sirguja 2½, Kanker 1½ and Korea 1½. Sowing of autumn crops continues. Fodder and water are sufficient everywhere. Prices show no marked fluctuations.

Bombay.—The rain during the week was heavy in parts of Broach, Surat, the Konkan, West Khanesh, Nasik, Satara, Belgaum, Kathiawar, Baroda, Mahi Kantha, Rewa Kantha, Savantvadi and Kolhapur; good in parts of Ahmedabad, the Panch Mahals, Kaira, Ahmednagar, Poona, Palanpur and Cutch, moderate in parts of Karachi, Sukkur, Hyderabad, East Khandesh and Dharwar and slight in parts of Larkana, the Upper Sindh Frontier, Thar and Parkar, Sholapur and Bijapur. The rainfall was beneficial and generally sufficient but more rain is needed in parts of Karachi, Poona, Sholapur and Belgaum. A break in the rains is needed in parts of Broach, Surat and West Khandesh. Preparation of lands for autumn cultivation continues in parts of Sind, Broach, Kanara, West Khandesh and Belgaum. Autumn sowings are generally progressing but are retarded in parts of Kanara, the Deccan and Dharwar owing to excessive rain. Transplantation has commenced in parts of Sind, Kaira, Surat, the Konkan, Nisik, Poona and Savantvadi. The fodder supply is adequate except in parts of Larkana and Hyderabad. Agricultural stock are sufficient except in parts of the Deccan and generally in good condition. Drinking water is generally sufficient except in parts of the Karnatak. Irrigation water is adequate except in parts of Poona, Bijapur and Dharwar. Grain stocks are sufficient. Prices are generally stationary. The quantity purchasable per rupee is in Sind 24 to 40 per cent; in Gujarat 10 to 26 per cent; in the Konkan 2 to 26 per cent, in the Deccan 11 to 32 per cent and in the Karnatak 26 to 37 per cent less than the normal.

Hyderabad—The average rainfall during the week was 3 inches 5 cents. Satisfactory rain fell during the week. Seven districts received on an average more than 4 inches and others between 4 inches and 1 inch except Raichur which received 11 cents only. Rain is needed in this district. The heaviest falls occurred in Aurangabad, Parbhani, Nizamabad and Adilabad. Autumn sowings are proceeding but are suspended temporarily owing to continuous rain in parts of the Aurangabad, Bir and Nander districts. Early rice sowings began in parts of Felingana. Gratuitous relief will continue for a week or two longer in the Karimnagar district. Water scarcity is reported in two districts and cattle disease in eight. Fodder scarcity prevails in fifteen talukas. Prices—wheat and coarse rice 6½ and juar 12½ seers per rupee. White juar is selling in Hyderabad City at 11 seers while yellow juar is not available. The highest price in districts is 8 seers in Karimnagar and the lowest 20 seers in Bidar.

Coorg—The rainfall during the week was 15 inches 10 cents. Ploughing for rice continues. Transplanting of rice has commenced. Prices of food grains are stationary. The public health is fair. Water and fodder for cattle are sufficient.

Madras—The rainfall was very heavy in South Canara and Malabar; heavy in the Vizagapatam Agency and Godavari, good in Kistna, Guntur, the Nilgiris, Ganjam and the Vizagapatam littoral; nil in South Arcot and light to fair elsewhere. Irrigation supplies are sufficient in Vizagapatam, Kistna, Coimbatore, Trichinopoly, Malabar, South Canara and the Nilgiris and insufficient in parts of other districts. RESOLUTION—By the Government of India, Finance Department (Military Finance).

Simla, the 21st July, 1910.

With the approval of His Majesty's Secretary of State for India; His Excellency the Governor-General in Council has decided that the system of recruitment of officers of the Indian Army for the Military Accounts Department shall be discontinued, and that in future civilians only will be recruited for the Department, who will be appointed by the Secretary of State for India under the rules and conditions notified below.

2. The appointments in the Military Accounts Department and the rates of pay at present sanctioned for future entrants are stated below :—

No.	Grade.	Pay per mensem.	REMARKS.
		Rs.
	Military Accountant General	2,500	} Exchange compensation allowance is not admissible.
	Controllers of Military Accounts	2,200
	Military Accountants, 1st class	1,650
48	Military Accountants, 2nd class	$\left\{ \begin{array}{l} 300-50-1,250 \\ 1,250-50-1,500 \end{array} \right\}$

The arrangements and salaries described in this Resolution are, however, subject to revision according to the requirements of the service.

3. The initial pay of probationers will be Rs. 300, to be raised to Rs. 350 on passing one of the two departmental examinations and to Rs. 400 on passing both. Thereafter their pay will be fixed according to the general time scale, Rs. 300 being taken as the starting point. Thus if an officer should succeed in passing both his departmental examinations after a year he would draw Rs. 400, but would not rise to Rs. 450 till he had completed 3 years' service. Repeated failure to pass the departmental examinations within a period considered reasonable will involve loss of appointment.

4. The pay of the Military Accountants, 2nd class, on the new scale will, subject to the conditions prescribed in paragraph 3 above, rise from Rs. 300 to Rs. 1,250 a month by annual increments of Rs. 50 during their first 20 years of service; and thereafter by a biennial increment of Rs. 50 to a maximum of Rs. 1,500. All time spent on leave with allowances, on foreign service, on deputation or on special duty, will, in the absence of special orders to the contrary, count as service towards increments. The Government of India, however, reserve to themselves the right of withholding or withdrawing such increments on account of misconduct or inefficiency.

5. No officer on the time scale will be allowed any acting allowances unless appointed to officiate in the grade of Military Accountant, 1st class, or in any higher appointment, when acting allowances will be regulated by the Civil Service Regulations; nor will an officer be allowed to officiate in the grade of Military Accountant, 1st class, unless he is considered fit, in every respect, to be a Controller of Military Accounts.

6. Promotion to the appointments of Military Accountant General and Controllers of Military Accounts and to the grade of Military Accountant, 1st class, will be made by strict selection.

7. A local allowance of Rs. 250 a month is given to the officer holding the appointment of Military Deputy Accountant General.

8. The grant of leave and leave allowances, travelling allowances and pension, to civil officers, will be regulated by the Civil Service Regulations.

9. If a sufficient number of military officers now serving in the Department desire to elect the new scale of pay and promotion, the option of doing so will be allowed them (to be exercised within a year from the date of this Resolution). The choice once made, will be final. Military officers electing the new conditions will be brought on to the time scale of the new List, and will, for the purpose of increments on that scale, be credited with all their service in the Department and be allowed to count their increments starting from the initial salary of Rs. 500 on which they joined the department, e.g., an officer with five years' service will on transfer to the new scale begin on the stage of Rs. 750, i.e., Rs. 500 initial salary plus Rs. 50 for each completed year's service. Their names would, however, be returned on the old list for the purpose of regulating the promotion of officers who choose to remain under the existing conditions. Leave, pension, travelling and other allowances, now admissible to military officers will continue to be regulated by military rules.

ORDERED that this Resolution be communicated to the Military Secretary to His Excellency the Viceroy, the Military Secretary to His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief, the Comptroller and Auditor General, the Military Accountant General, the several Controllers of Military Accounts and Deputy Controllers of Military Accounts in Independent Charge, and to each military officer of the Military Accounts Department.

ORDERED also that the Resolution be published in the Gazette of India for general information.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

Simla, the 15th July, 1910.

No. 42.—The Governor General has been pleased, under rule 23 of the Rules for the Conduct of the Legislative Business of the Council of the Governor General, to order the publication of the following Bill, together with the Statement of Objects and Reasons which accompanies it, in the Gazette of India in English, and the Bill and Statement of Objects and Reasons are accordingly hereby published for general information. It is proposed to introduce the Bill at a meeting of the Legislative Council of the Governor General to be held on Friday, the 5th August, 1910:

NO. 11 OF 1910.

A Bill to provide for the continuance of the Prevention of Seditious Meetings Act, 1907.

WHEREAS it is expedient to provide for the continuance of the Prevention of Seditious Meetings Act, 1907; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

1. This Act may be called the Continuing Short title. Act, 1910.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

IN May 1907 the Governor General in Council was constrained, in the interests of law and order, to make and promulgate, under section 23 of the Indian Councils Act, 1861, Ordinance No. 1 of 1907 with the object of regulating the holding of meetings in the Punjab and Eastern Bengal and Assam. It was subsequently necessary, for the preservation of the peace and for the protection of the law-abiding members of the community, to incorporate in the general law a measure for the prevention of seditious meetings and to take power to bring its provisions into operation in any part of India as occasion might require. This measure was passed into law as Act VI of 1907 which received the assent of the Governor General in Council on the 1st November 1907, and as by section 9 its duration was limited to three years from the date of passing, it will cease to have operation after the 31st October 1910.

2. In November 1907 the Act was extended to the province of Eastern Bengal and Assam where it was enforced in the district of Bakarganj. In January 1910 it was extended to Madras, Bombay, Bengal, the United Provinces, the Punjab and the Central Provinces and was enforced in March 1910 in three districts in Eastern Bengal and Assam and in June 1910 in one district in the Punjab. Where put into actual operation it has been effective in stopping several meetings, which, it was feared, if held, would have given rise to disturbances, and, even where it has not been enforced, its moral effect as a preventive measure has been invaluable. On the unanimous advice of Local Governments, the Government of India are convinced that the continuance of the Act for the present is essential to the preservation of the peace, and they propose that it should be continued in force up to the 31st March 1911.

3. The Bill now published has accordingly been prepared with the object of giving effect to this proposal.

Rainfall summary for the seven days ending at 8 hrs. on Thursday, the 14th July 1910, based on the Indian Daily Weather Reports of the period.

1. The cyclonic storm which was in Lower Sind on the 7th July moved westwards into Baluchistan and disappeared after giving heavy rain in Sind, moderate rain in Gujarat and probably local rain in Baluchistan its disappearance was followed by a break in the rains over a large tract of country. The Bay monsoon gave very little precipitation outside Eastern Bengal and Assam, while the Bombay current produced no rain of importance in the northern half of the peninsula and in the central parts of the country, but occasioned fairly general rain in the United Provinces and the Punjab. The rainfall of the week was thus on the whole below the average it was in excess in Eastern Bengal, Assam, the North-West Frontier Province, Sind, Baluchistan, the Madras Deccan and Madras Southeast; normal in the Punjab, Hyderabad South and Mysore, and in defect in all the other divisions.

2. Unusually low day temperatures have prevailed in Sind, the North-West Frontier Province and the Punjab.

3. Burma.—Rainfall was fairly general in Lower Burma and in the northern districts, but the central parts of the province were almost rainless. Skies were lightly to moderately clouded. Temperature was in excess at some places in Lower Burma.

Northeast India, including Orissa—Widespread rain fell in Eastern Bengal and Assam and local rain in Bengal. Cloud was moderate to heavy.

The United Provinces, Central India and the Central Provinces—Rainfall was fairly general in the United Provinces, but only a few falls occurred in Central India and the Central Provinces. Skies were heavily clouded in the extreme northwest of the United Provinces and lightly to moderately clouded elsewhere.

Northwest India—Heavy rain was reported from lower Sind on the 8th and 9th, and light to moderate rain from the North-West Frontier Province and Gujarat, but during the remainder of the week rainfall was confined to the Punjab and Kashmir. Dense cloud covered the west of the division at the beginning of the week, and on most days skies were moderately to heavily clouded in the southern and eastern districts and in the west Himalayas. Maximum temperature was in defect over a large area, especially in Sind and the North-West Frontier Province.

The Peninsula.—There was very little rain even on the west coast, and skies were only lightly clouded over the greater part of the peninsula. Temperature was in excess in parts of Madras.

4. The following summarises the chief rainfall amounts as reported at 8 hrs. each day:—

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Season and Crop Prospects for the week ending Saturday, 9th July 1910.

Burma.—Moderate or heavy rain fell in the maritime districts, the northern districts and the Shan States. No rain or only slight showers fell in the dry zone and adjacent districts where more rain is wanted for sowing of winter crops especially in Lower Chindwin and Pakokku. Fodder is reported to be becoming scarce. Ploughing and sowing for rice crops are progressing favourably in Lower Burma and in the northern districts. There are no important changes in prices of unhusked rice which remain generally near normal in local markets but low in irrigation districts. The price of cleaned rice in the Southern Shan States has fallen but is still high.

Eastern Bengal and Assam.—The rainfall was comparatively light but fairly well distributed. More rain is wanted in parts of Chittagong for winter rice while more sun is required in Lakhimpur for tea. Transplantation of winter rice and harvesting of autumn rice and jute are progressing. Plucking of tea continues. Prospects of jute, autumn rice, winter rice and sugarcane are good. Red spider and green fly are still prevalent in some tea gardens. The average price of common rice has risen by one per cent. Cattle disease prevails in Mymensingh, Chittagong, Noakhali, the Khasi, Jaintia and Naga Hills, Goalpara, Kamrup, Darrang, Nowgong and Sibsagar.

Bengal.—Rain was general all over the Province, the fall being heavy in Cuttack, Angul, Puri, Ranchi and Cooch Behar and also in Darjeeling and Sambalpur; moderate in Bankura, Champaran, Muzaffarpur and Darbhanga and light elsewhere. Transplantation of winter rice has commenced and is going on in some districts but more rain is wanted for the purpose in the Sonthal Parganas, Balasore and in the districts of the Burdwan and Presidency divisions and for paddy seedlings in Shahabad. Sowing of autumn crops still continues. Sugarcane and jute are doing well. The price of common rice has risen in Nadia, Murshidabad, Patna, Shahabad, Saran, Darbhanga, Manbhum and Singhbhum and has fallen in Burdwan, Birbhum, Hooghly, Gaya, Bhagalpur, Cuttack, Hazaribagh and Palamau. Cattle disease is reported from Midnapore, Murshidabad, Jessore, Gaya, Saran, Muzaffarpur, Darbhanga, Monghyr, Bhagalpur, Purnea, the Sonthal Parganas, Cuttack, Angul, Sambalpur, Hazaribagh and Ranchi. The fodder and water-supply is sufficient throughout the Province.

United Provinces.—The rainfall was very irregular during the week and generally inadequate. Two-thirds of the districts report the need for rain. Agricultural operations in them are being retarded, especially in rice growing districts. The situation does not yet justify cause for alarm but cultivators in some districts are becoming apprehensive and traders in a few places are holding up stocks in anticipation of high prices. Standing crops so far are good and provided adequate rain falls shortly prospects of the autumn crops will be satisfactory. Food and fodder supplies are ample everywhere. There is a brisk demand for field labour and the general condition of the agricultural population is good. Twenty-four districts report sporadic cattle disease but the general state of agricultural stock is satisfactory. Prices do not show any marked tendency to rise.

Punjab.—Good to moderate rain has been received in all districts except Lyallpur. Standing crops are generally in good condition. The sugarcane crop in Lyallpur is below average. Sowings of autumn crops continue. Prices are settled. There is a noticeable fall in the price of wheat in Sialkot where it has fallen from 14½ to 16 seers per rupee. The condition of cattle is generally good. Fodder is sufficient. Complaints of a short canal water-supply, on account of rotational closures, are received from the Samundri tahsil of the Lyallpur district.

North-West Frontier Province.—Copious rain fell during the week all over the Province ranging from 2 inches in the Peshawar district to 5·46 inches at Bannu. Rain and hill torrents did immense damage to bridges and roads in Dera Ismail Khan where almost all irrigation dams have been swept away, water channels destroyed and several villages inundated. The floods in Dera Ismail Khan have also breached the Paharpur canal in several places. The Tochi and Kurram rivers in the Bannu district have also flooded. Crops on the river bank in the Nowshera tahsil of Peshawar are also somewhat damaged by floods. The condition of standing crops is generally average. Autumn sowings are in progress. The fodder and water-supply is sufficient. The condition of cattle is good except in one village of the Charsadda tahsil and in two villages of the Nowshera tahsil. The public health is good. Prices of food grains are fluctuating. Prices are:—wheat 14 to 17½, maize 17 to 23½, gram 17½ to 27 and bajra 16½ to 18 seers per rupee.

Jammu.—The rain during the week was good. Prices are fluctuating. Wheat sells from 12 to 20 and maize from 14 to 32 seers per rupee. The condition of standing crops is fair. Cattle disease of mild type prevails in some parts of the Province. Fodder is sufficient.

Kashmir.—It rained twice during the week which did good to autumn crops. The rain also did good to the alsi crop. There is no disease among cattle. Fodder is sufficient. The autumn crop is in good condition. Prices are stationary.

Rajputana.—General rain fell during the week. The maximum fall was 583 cents in Banswara and the minimum 31 cents in Jodhpur. Operations in connection with autumn crops continue. Cattle disease is still reported from places in Banswara. Prices have risen in Tonk by 13 chattaks, in Kishangarh by 1 seer, in Alwar and Bharatpur by 4 chattaks and in Dholpur by 12 chattaks. Prices are steady or falling elsewhere.

Central India.—The rainfall was partial and insufficient in Baghelkhand and general and sufficient elsewhere. Agricultural stock are good except for some disease in Indore, Bundelkhand and Bhopawar. Prices are steady.

Central Provinces.—Heavy rain fell in Bhandara and Balaghat during the week amounting to 6 and 10 inches respectively. In the remaining districts the rainfall was light to moderate ranging from 40 cents in Buldana to 4½ inches in Drug. More rain is needed in Saugor and Jabulpore. Sowings of autumn crops continue but operations were delayed owing to incessant and heavy rain in Bhandara and Balaghat. Germination is generally satisfactory. Fodder and water are sufficient. Agricultural stock are in good condition. Prices.—The price of juar remained steady in twenty-one districts, gram in nineteen, wheat in eighteen and rice in fifteen. Rice fell in Mandla and juar rose in Yeotmal by 2 seers per rupee.

Feudatory States.—During the week heavy rain was received in Khairagarh, Nandgaon, Kanker, Raigarh and Sirguja amounting to between 6 and 13 inches. Six other States also had rain ranging from 67 cents to 4 inches. Sowing of autumn crops is in progress but a break is necessary. The supply of fodder and water is adequate. Fluctuation in prices is unimportant.

Bombay.—The rain during the week was heavy in parts of Karachi, Hyderabad, Thar and Parkar, the Panch Mahals, Kaira, Broach, Colaba, Ratnagiri, Kanara, West Khandesh, Poona, Belgaum, Dharwar, Kathiawar, Cutch, Mahi Kantha, Savantvadi and Kolhapur, good in parts of Larkana, the Upper Sind Frontier, Ahmedabad, Surat, Thana, East Khandesh, Nasik and Palanpur, moderate in parts of Sukkur, Ahmednagar, Bijapur and Baroda and slight in parts of Sholapur and Satara. The rainfall was general and beneficial but more rain is needed in parts of Sukkur, Thaná, Colaba, Ratnagiri, Poona, Sholapur, Belgaum and Kolhapur. A break is needed in parts of Ahmedabad, Broach and West Khandesh. Sowing of autumn crops is generally progressing but is retarded in parts of Kanara and West Khandesh owing to excessive rain and in parts of Belgaum for want of rain. Transplantation is in progress in parts of Sind, Gujarat, Kanara, Poona, Satara and Savantvadi but is retarded in parts of Thaná and Ratnagiri for want of sufficient rain. Sowing of cotton is in progress in parts of Ahmedabad, Broach, Surat, East Khandesh, Nasik, Ahmednagar and Baroda. The fodder-supply is adequate except in parts of Sukkur and Hyderabad. Agricultural stock are sufficient except in parts of the Deccan and generally in good condition. Drinking water is generally sufficient except in parts of Dharwar. Irrigation water is adequate except in parts of Poona, Bijapur and Dharwar. Grain stocks are sufficient. Prices have fallen in Ahmedabad, West Khandesh and Bijapur, have risen in Karachi and the Upper Sind Frontier and are stationary elsewhere. The quantity purchasable per rupee is in Sind 27 to 40 per cent; in Gujarat 7 to 26 per cent; in the Konkan 2 to 26 per cent; in the Deccan 10 to 30 per cent and in the Karnatak 26 to 37 per cent less than the normal.

Hyderabad.—The average rainfall during the week was 92 cents. Most districts received, on an average more than 1 inch except Raichur and Gulbarga which received 2 and 23 cents respectively. The heaviest falls occurred in Warangal, Karimnagar and Adilabad. Autumn sowings are proceeding generally except in parts of Raichur. The sprouts of autumn crops are generally in good condition but have been damaged by insects in parts of Gulbarga and Warangal. Lands are being prepared for spring crops in parts. Water scarcity is reported in three talukas and cattle disease in eight. Fodder scarcity prevails in five talukas. Prices:—wheat and coarse rice 6½ and juar 12½ seers per rupee. White juar is selling in Hyderabad City at 11 seers while yellow juar is not available. The highest price in districts is 8 seers in Karimnagar and Warangal and the lowest 22 seers in Bidar.

Mysore.—The rainfall was good in Mysore, Hassan, Kadur and Shimoga and slight elsewhere. Prices of food grains are steady. Standing crops are in good condition. More rain is needed in parts of Bangalore, Tumkur and Chitaldrug. Prospects of the season are generally good. Cattle are healthy. Water and fodder are available.

Coorg.—Rainfall 6 inches 49 cents. Ploughing for and transplanting of rice continue. Prices of food grains are stationary. The public health is fair. Water and fodder for cattle are sufficient.

Madras.—The rainfall was very heavy in the Vizagapatam Agency, Malabar, South Canara, the Nilgiris, and Ganjam; heavy in the Vizagapatam littoral; good in Godavari, Kistna, Cuddapah and Trichinopoly and light to fair elsewhere. Irrigation supplies are sufficient in Ganjam, Vizagapatam, Godavari, Kistna, Malabar, South Canara and the Nilgiris and insufficient in parts of other districts. Ploughing, sowing, weeding and transplanting are in progress in parts. Standing crops are generally fair and have been benefited by recent rains, but some in parts of Bellary require rain and some in parts of Coimbatore are withering. Harvests continue in parts with output poor to normal. Pasture is insufficient in parts of Guntur, the Deccan, Nellore, South Arcot, Coimbatore, Trichinopoly and Tinnevely. Fodder is scanty in parts of Godavari, Guntur and Nellore. The condition of cattle is generally good. The price of rice is stationary in fourteen districts; has fallen in one and has risen in seven. The prices of millets have fluctuated as follows:—Ragi is stationary in five districts; has fallen in three and has risen in eleven. Cholam is stationary in six districts, has fallen in three and has risen in five. Cumbu is stationary in four districts; has fallen in four and has risen in seven. The public health is generally good. Prospects are generally fair. The condition of the labouring classes is satisfactory everywhere and employment is readily available. Grain stocks are generally sufficient.

36. A licensee shall be responsible that all electric supply-lines, fittings and apparatus belonging to him, or under his control, which may be on a consumer's premises, are maintained in a safe condition, and shall take all due precautions to avoid risk of causing fire on such premises.

37. A licensee shall insert a suitable cut-out in each service line (other than an earthed neutral conductor or the earthed external conductor of a concentric cable) within a consumer's premises, in an accessible position as close as possible to the point of entry. Such cut-out shall be contained within an adequately enclosed fire proof receptacle:

Cut-out on consumer's premises

Provided that, where more than one consumer is supplied through a common service line, each individual consumer (if he so requires) shall be given an independent cut-out at the point of junction to the common service.

38. All portions of a service line on a consumer's premises, shall, unless inaccessible without the aid of a ladder or other special appliance, be continuously covered with insulating material and thoroughly protected against injury to the insulation or access of moisture, and any metal forming part of the electric circuit shall not, unless connected with earth, be exposed so that it can be touched.

Precautions when pressure exceeds 125 volts.

39. When an owner generates or uses energy—

Provided that, where the electric supply-line was laid or erected previous to such metallic substance, the cost incurred in taking such precautions shall be refunded to the licensee or owner, as the case may be, by the person to whom the metallic substance belongs.

43. Every electric supply-line (other than the earthed neutral conductor of any system or the earthed external conductor of a concentric cable) shall be protected by a suitable cut-out.

44. All metallic casings containing or protecting any electric supply-line shall be connected with earth, and shall be so joined and connected across all junction boxes and other openings as to make good electrical connection throughout their whole length.

Provided that this rule shall not apply to brackets, electroliers, standards, switch covers or other fittings, where the supply is of low pressure.

45. The covers or doors of all junction boxes or pillars in any street shall be so secured that they cannot be opened except by means of a special appliance.

7. The prices to be charged by the licensee for energy supplied by him shall not exceed the following maxima, namely:—

or, in the case of a method of charge approved by the Government in accordance with clause X of the Schedule to the Act, such maxima as the Government may fix on approving the matter.

Breaking up of streets, railways and tramways¹¹

8. The licensee is specially authorised to open and break up the soil and pavement of the following streets or parts of streets which are not repairable by the Government or by a local authority, and of the following railways and tramways or parts of railways and tramways, viz.:—

- (a) Streets.
- (b) Railways.¹²
- (c) Tramways.¹²

Purchase of undertaking.

9. (1) The option of purchase given by section 7, sub-section (1), of the Act shall first be exercisable on the expiration of 50 years¹³ from the date of the publication in the Gazette of the notification of this license and on the expiration of every subsequent period of 20 years,¹³ (and the terms¹⁴ of such purchase shall be ————). The percentage of the value to be determined in accordance with and for the purpose of section 7 (1) of the Act of the lands, buildings, works, materials and plant of the licensee therein mentioned to be added under the second proviso of that sub-section to such value on account of compulsory purchase shall be ———— per cent.

⁸ See section 3 (2) (d) of the Act.

⁹ It is open to the licensee to propose a "compulsory area" or to the Local Government to make provision for such an area. Ordinarily it will be sufficient to enter here the names of "compulsory streets" in which the licensee will lay distributing mains. If no compulsory works are specified in the license, the Local Government may subsequently direct what works are to be executed, see clause IV of Schedule

¹⁰ See note to sub-clause (1) of this clause.

¹² In ordinary cases the level crossings or points at which interference is proposed must be specified.

¹⁴ The terms must not differ from those laid down in the Act unless the powers of section 10 are invoked to modify or cancel them.

(2) In accordance with section 3, sub-section (2), clause (d) (ii), of the Act, it is hereby declared that the generating station to be used in connection with the undertaking ^{shall}~~shall not~~ form part of the undertaking for the purpose of purchase under section 5 or section 7.¹⁵

Additions to, variations from, and exceptions from the schedule to the Act.¹⁶

10. (1) In pursuance of section 3, sub-section (2), clause (f), of the Act, it is hereby expressly declared that clause _____ of the Schedule to the Act shall for the purpose of incorporation in this license be ^{varied}~~added to~~ by the substitution of the following clause, namely:—¹⁷

(2) In pursuance of section 3, sub-section (2), clause (f), of the Act, it is hereby expressly declared that clause(s) _____ of the Schedule to the Act shall be excepted from incorporation in this license.

NOTE.—In the preparation of a draft license the above model form may be varied, or added to, by the applicant so far as the Act and rules admit.

Rules Nos. 9 to 13 inclusive, as to applications for licenses, should be consulted. In drawing up a draft license the attention of the applicant is more particularly directed to the following sections of the Act, viz., 3, 4, 7, 10, 11, 12, 21, 22, 23, 27, 51 and 57; the powers under section 51 can only be conferred after the grant of the license.

In the case of licenses for bulk supply, see clause IX of the Schedule and the proviso to section 3 (2), clause (f), of the Act; also section 10 (b) of the Act.

¹⁷ The latter part of the clause may require modification according to the circumstances.

5. The year opened with a very low Treasury balance, 3.92 lakhs less than that of the previous year, but closed with 3.09 lakhs more. This improvement of 7 crores may generally be attributed to a recovery from the agricultural and trade depressions which characterised the year 1908-09. With the single exception of Opium, every important head of account contributed to the improvement. The net Treasury receipts from Railways exceeded those of the preceding year by 3.65 lakhs. Land Revenue collections were larger by 2.38 lakhs, and Loans and Advances showed a net improvement of 2.06 lakhs owing mainly to the recovery of loans granted to cultivators in the United Provinces and Bengal in relief of agricultural distress in the two preceding years. Among other causes which contributed to the increased Treasury receipts may be mentioned the larger rupee loan of the year (50 lakhs), higher receipts from the Post Office and Telegraph Departments (73 lakhs), due chiefly to increased deposits in Post Office Savings Banks, and the absence of outlay on famine relief which resulted in smaller issues for Civil Expenditure (83 lakhs) and to the ordinary branch of the Public Works Department (99 lakhs). Debt and Deposit transactions and the minor heads of Civil Revenue also accounted for an improvement of 2 crores. Against these gains to the balances, the only heads which showed a worseness as compared with the preceding year were (1) Opium and (2) Home remittances. The remittances to the Secretary of State from Treasury balances, after allowing for transfers of funds through Currency and for specie remittances were 6.71 lakhs more than in the preceding year. The net revenue from Opium was less by 34 lakhs than in the year 1908-09; the sale-proceeds of Bengal Opium were higher by 46 lakhs and the expenditure in the Bengal Agencies was less by 18 lakhs; but the duty from Malwa Opium showed a falling off of 1.02 lakhs from the specially heavy receipts of the previous year.

6. There was a brisk demand for Council Bills during the greater part of the year and the demand was particularly heavy towards its close, the total amount of telegraphic transfers paid in India in March having reached the record figure of 7.95 lakhs in addition to 1.12 lakhs on account of Bills. Advantage was taken of these demands to restore to the Sterling branch of the Gold Standard Reserve the withdrawals made in the preceding year to meet Demand Drafts sold on London. A sum of £8,090,000 in all out of the total drawings of the year was thus treated as relating to the Gold Standard Reserve, and in view of the heavy drawings in March, further assistance to the Indian Treasury balances was afforded in that month by the addition of £1,000,000 to the Currency Chest in England.

7. The effect of the low balance with which the year under report opened as a consequence of the unfavourable trade and agricultural conditions of the year 1908-09 was felt throughout the year. This was particularly the case in the opening months of the year when the balances had to be economised at a considerable pressure to meet the drawings of the Secretary of State, owing especially to the fact that Treasuries are generally accustomed to work with easy balances during these months. Thus the closing balance in April was less by 64 lakhs than the declared minimum of 12 crores, and that in May amounted only to 13 crores, after assistance had been obtained to the extent of 3,30 lakhs in May from the Gold Standard Reserve, against transfers made to it in England. These low balances have not been approximated to since the year 1900. The demand for Council Bills declined from July, but, by the time it revived, the period of our lowest balances had been reached, and the Treasury balance at the end of October was less by 1,17 lakhs than the abnormally low figure of the preceding year. It was therefore necessary to obtain a temporary advance of 3 crores of rupees from the Gold Standard Reserve in December, besides continuing a rigorous economy of the balances; the loan was repaid before the close of the year. As usual, the pressure for funds was not allowed to appreciably effect those kept with Presidency Banks.

9. During the year under report rupees and half rupees were passed into circulation to the extent of 13,22 lakhs. During the two preceding years, trade conditions were abnormal, and there was consequently an absorption of 3,92 lakhs only in 1907-08, while, in the year 1908-09, there was a return of 14,88 from circulation. The last year of favourable trade conditions was 1906-07 and the value of rupees and half rupees absorbed in that year amounted to 18,00 lakhs. The bulk of the demand for coin in the year under report was in connection with the cotton trade in Bombay. There was no coinage from purchased silver during the year and the coinage of these denominations shown in the above table represented entirely the re-coinage of withdrawn coin. The stock of rupees in the Treasuries on the 31st March 1910 was three.

quarters of a crore more than on 31st March 1909, but the stock in the Currency Reserve was a crore and three quarters less. The balances in the Currency Reserve and Treasuries together thus showed a decrease of one crore during the year, and the rest of the absorption, vis., twelve crores was met from the silver coin held in the Gold Standard Reserve which fell from 15,88 lakhs at the beginning of the year to 3,80 lakhs at its close. The restoration through Council Bill drawings as explained above of the sterling branch of the Gold Standard Reserve in London permitted the release of an equivalent value from the silver coin held on account of the Reserve in India, from which the demand for coin during the year was almost entirely met.

11. The stock of gold at the beginning of the year in Treasuries and Currency Offices amounted to about £86,000, while that at its end stood at £6,425,100. The amount of imported sovereigns received at the Currency Offices during the period was about £7,139,000 against over £5 millions received in 1907-08 and £75,000 only in 1908-09. The net issues of gold to the public from Currency Offices and Treasuries in the twelve months, therefore, amounted to about £800,000 of which about a fourth was issued from Treasuries and the rest from Currency. There was no gold available for issue during the first eight months of the year, and the issues when a supply became available did not proceed for some time at the same rate as before the exhaustion of the gold stock. This was probably due to some of the Treasuries and Currency Offices having imposed restrictions on issue; they have since been told that no such restrictions should be imposed.

12. The total net treasury issue of £205,200 was less than that of the previous year by about £1,155,000 and was distributed among the Provinces as shown below :

16. It will be seen from the above table that, in the net result of Treasury transactions, the most important variations occurred in India and Bombay. Neglecting the variations caused by the difference between the value of demand bills on London received at each of the Presidency towns and the payments made to the Gold Standard Reserve in respect of them during the year 1908-09, India showed an increase of 7.08 lakhs in the net Treasury receipts which was entirely due to smaller Home remittances. In Bombay, on the other hand, the local transactions resulted in a deficit of 7.18 lakhs. Home remittances were larger by 10.82 lakhs, and receipts from Malwa Opium were less by 1.02 lakhs. Against these worsenings, the net receipts from Railways improved by 2.88 lakhs, land revenue collections were higher by 66 lakhs and the receipts from the rupee loan were more by 47 lakhs. There was an improvement of 2.52 lakhs in Bengal, the bulk of which was due to larger net Opium revenue (62 lakhs), recoveries of loans to cultivators (42 lakhs) and the absence of a special loan payment of 50 lakhs, included in the account for 1908-09. The cessation of outlay on Famine Relief (1.35 lakhs), larger land revenue collections (39 lakhs), and recoveries of takavi loans granted in previous years (92 lakhs) made the treasury transactions in the United Provinces better by 3.54 lakhs, while the Punjab showed a betterness of 1.30 lakhs chiefly under land revenue collections. In Madras, on the other hand, there was a deterioration of 2.33 lakhs, owing to larger payments of Council Bills (2.99 lakhs), partly counterbalanced by improvement in Railway receipts (71 lakhs). The variations in the other Provinces were not important.

17. Details of the Inter-Provincial Remittances shown in the table under paragraph 13 are given in Statement C annexed to this report. As compared with the previous year, there was a decrease in the total amount of remittances by specie, Currency Notes and Bills, while transfers through Banks and through the Currency Department and transfers between the India and Bengal accounts at the Bank of Bengal showed increases. The decreases in the amounts of specie and Note Remittances were due to prompter transfers of surpluses to Currency Chests, in consequence of which the remittances were treated as on behalf of the Currency Department, and, in the case of specie, partly also to the absence of gold remittances during the greater part of the year. The fall under Bills occurred in the bills issued at Calcutta on Treasuries in Eastern Bengal and Assam and was only nominal, a larger number of bills having been taken for small amounts which resulted in a decrease in the amounts of bills for Rs. 50,000 and more which alone are adjusted as Foreign remittance transactions. The increase under transfers through Currency was due to the pressure for funds during the greater part of the year as explained above. The amounts transferred from Bengal to India through the Bank of Bengal were more than in the previous year in consequence chiefly of larger receipts on account of Opium and Customs Revenue.

18. The following are the principal variations in the remittances by means of Supply Bills in the two years :—

- (i) No bills were issued by the Central Provinces on other Provinces; but bills to the value of Rs. 6 lakhs issued at Calcutta were paid by Treasuries in the Central Provinces.
- (ii) The Foreign Bill receipts in Eastern Bengal and Assam were 15 lakhs more than in the previous year on account of larger drawings at Sylhet and Tippera and the payments were higher by 22 lakhs. Of the latter, an increase of 8 lakhs only is real, the rest being counterbalanced by a falling off in the amounts of bills for Rs. 50,000 and over adjusted under "Foreign Remittances". The increase of 8 lakhs is attributed to a stricter application of the terms under which arrangements were made for the supply of funds to firms, in consequence of which they preferred to draw the funds contracted for rather than pay a penalty for the failure to draw them.
- (iii) The large falling off in the receipts in the Punjab was due to smaller issues of bills on Bombay and Karachi, which explains also the decrease in the payments against Bombay.

19. The following statement gives in lakhs of rupees the particulars of the more important Local and Foreign Remittances including Supply Bills :—

21. The following points in the Resource operations of each province may be specially noticed :—

22. In India, there was a net transfer of 9,52 lakhs from the Reserve Treasury to the Bank of Bengal during the year against one of 2,88 lakhs from the Bank to the Reserve Treasury during the previous year. This variation is due partly to larger payments of Council Bills and partly to the absence of credits on account of Demand Drafts on London, which largely swelled the receipts into the Bank in the preceding year. The surplus accumulations at Ajmer and Sambhar amounted to 1,66 lakhs, of which 1,60 lakhs were withdrawn to Calcutta through the Currency Department, 2 lakhs in whole rupees were supplied to Sambhar, 1 lakh was remitted to the Central Provinces and 3 lakhs to Bombay. The Indore Treasury which is in charge of the Bank of Bombay was supplied with coin and Currency Notes to the value of 26 lakhs from Bombay, 1 lakh of coin from the Punjab and 5 lakhs from Sehore in addition to Bank transfers from Bombay to the extent of 4 lakhs. 79 lakhs were transferred in aid of the Treasury balances from the Currency chests at Quetta and its sub-treasuries against opposite payments at Calcutta, the remittances to the chests amounting to 58 lakhs worth of notes and 42 lakhs in coin from Karachi. The Political treasury at Hyderabad was supplied with help to the extent of 21 lakhs in coin and notes from Bombay, and 7 lakhs were transferred from Calcutta by Bank transfers. Coorg was supplied with 6 lakhs and Nowgong with 4 lakhs from Madras and the United Provinces respectively.

23. In the Central Provinces and Berar, the amount transferred from Akola and Amraoti to Bombay was 78 lakhs against 91 lakhs in the previous year. Of the former, 16 lakhs represented the surplus of Buldana and Yeotmal treasuries drawn off to Akola and Amraoti by actual remittance amounting to 4 lakhs and by supply bills amounting to 12 lakhs. In addition to these remittances to Akola and Amraoti, 27 lakhs were remitted from these two treasuries to Nagpur and 4 lakhs to Jubbulpore. The other local remittances to Jubbulpore to meet treasury requirements amounted to 14 lakhs, and no bills were issued during the year either on Bombay or on Calcutta. Nagpur received remittances of 146 lakhs in specie from non-central treasuries in the Central Provinces.

24. In Burma, the amount of treasury surplus withdrawn to Rangoon showed a net decrease of 31 lakhs, owing chiefly to a falling off in the demand for supply bills from Mandalay on Rangoon. The aggregate amount of supply bills and telegraphic transfers sold on Bassein at a premium of 2 annas per cent was 1,16 lakhs, which was less than that sold in 1908-09 by 13 lakhs. The decrease is stated to be due to the low price of paddy as compared with the prices during the preceding season. Telegraphic transfers and bills, for 10 lakhs were sold on Henzada at a premium of $1\frac{1}{2}$ annas per cent against 9 lakhs in the previous year. Transfers on Myingyan amounted to 26 lakhs against 24 in the previous year; it is reported that the sale would have been larger but for the failure of rains in the Myingyan District.

25. In Eastern Bengal and Assam, the important feature of the year was the large demand for Currency Notes which is attributed to the absence of a supply of sovereigns during the greater part of the year. The demand for notes was met partly by remittances from Calcutta which amounted to 29 lakhs against 26 in the previous year and partly by the transfer of surplus Currency Notes in Treasuries to Currency chests and their supply later on to other Treasuries requiring them. In consequence of this arrangement, remittances of Currency Notes to Calcutta fell from 49 lakhs (in the preceding year) to 10 lakhs. 92 lakhs in coin were sent from several Currency chests to Dacca to meet the demands of the Bank of Bengal and for other requirements. The Bank took the same amount as in the preceding year, vis., 58 lakhs.

26. In Bengal, the specie remittances to the opium paying treasuries of the Behar Agency amounted to 94 lakhs against 66 in the previous year, the whole of which was given through Currency. The increase in the supply to the opium treasuries was not however due to larger demands, but to the fact that, owing to heavy pressure for funds at head quarters, all available surpluses were transferred to the Currency chests, thus necessitating re-transfers when funds were required for expenditure. Local remittances to deficit treasuries showed a decrease of 22 lakhs owing chiefly to the cessation of the large demand for funds at Cuttack and Nadia owing to scarcity. Remittances from Calcutta to District Treasuries also showed a net decrease of 58 lakhs; the falling off was chiefly due to the sale of supply bills having been suspended at some treasuries during a part of the year owing to an accumulation of coin.

27. In the United Provinces, the treasury remittances of rupees were 12 lakhs more than in the previous year on account of better revenue collections, while local currency remittances fell from 5,64 to 4,76 lakhs owing to the cessation of famine outlay and of the grant of loans on a large scale which necessitated large movements of coin in the two preceding years. There was an increase of 36 lakhs in the treasury remittances of Foreign Circle notes owing to their having been sent to the Remittance Treasury, Cawnpore, without being transferred to currency chests throughout the year, while in the previous year they were so dealt with during a part of the year only. Remittances of Home Notes showed a decrease of 61 lakhs owing mainly to the discontinuance of the special arrangements mentioned in the last year's report to supply them to banks and firms through temporary Currency chests.

28. In the Punjab, the net amount of aid granted from Calcutta and Bombay amounted to 3,80 lakhs against 4,03 in the previous year. This decrease was due to better collections of revenue and smaller net departmental issues.

29. In Madras, the transactions at the head office of the Bank of Madras resulted in a net receipt of 57 lakhs against a net disbursement of 1,20 lakhs in the previous year, chiefly owing to larger receipts from the Madras and Southern Mahratta Railway. There was a net transfer of 25 lakhs during the year from Calcutta and Bombay through Currency against one of 3,20 lakhs in the opposite direction in the preceding year. The withdrawals of District surpluses to Madras by Bank and Currency transfers rose by 88 and 54 lakhs respectively, and those by means of supply bills by 69. The increase in Bank transfers and supply bills was generally due to larger trade demands during the year under report. The surpluses at some places are now taken by the Bank of Madras locally instead of their being withdrawn by bills. The increase in Currency transfers was the result of the pressure for funds at head quarters during the beginning and close of the year.

30. In Bombay, the transfers between the Reserve Treasury and the Presidency Bank resulted in a net payment of 7,46 lakhs by the Reserve Treasury against a net receipt of 4,00 lakhs in 1908-09; the difference was due to larger payments of Council Bills. The supplies from Bombay to District Treasuries were more than the previous year by 13 lakhs in spite of an improvement in Railway earnings. The district surpluses withdrawn to head quarters were more than in the preceding year by 2,44 lakhs owing to better collections of Land Revenue and larger credits of net earnings by the North-Western Railway.

31. The table below gives the details of the more important movements of specie in the Currency Department during the year.—

32. The gold remittances were sent to supply local demands, and, as observed in paragraph 11 above, they were made in the last quarter of the year, no gold having been available for supply until December. The silver remittances were connected with the usual seasonal demands of coin in the different provinces. The remittances would have been larger but for the facts that, as a result of the accumulation of coin owing to bad trade conditions in the two previous years, there was a large stock of coin in most of the provinces and that the release of the rupees held in the Gold Standard Reserve against transfers to its sterling branch by the Secretary of State reduced the amount of remittances that would otherwise have been required to be sent to the Presidency towns. A sum of 2.35 lakhs was supplied to the Punjab during the months April to June in connection with the wheat trade. Bombay was supplied with 2.00 lakhs in the months of February and March to meet an unprecedentedly large demand in connection with the cotton trade. Karachi had to be supplied from time to time with over 75 lakhs to meet the demands of the export trade from that port. No remittances were sent during the year under report to the United Provinces for Opium payments, to Calcutta for jute or to Rangoon for the rice trade.

Small silver, nickel, copper and bronze.

33. Statement D annexed to this report shows the absorption of these coins in the different provinces during the twelve months under review and in the two preceding years. With the revival of trade demands and a decrease in the return of coins issued for famine expenditure in previous years, there was a net absorption of small coin in general during the year under report, but not to the same extent as in a normal year. Quarter and eighth rupees were absorbed to the value of 8½ and 7½ lakhs respectively, the former chiefly in Burma and Eastern Bengal and Assam and the latter in Burma and the Punjab. The popularity of the nickel anna pieces continues to be maintained, the net issues during the year having amounted to 16½ lakhs worth, 5 lakhs more than those of the preceding year. The increased issues were chiefly in the Central and United Provinces. The coin is popular in every province except Burma, where there was an issue of Rs. 9,000 worth only during the whole year. Single pice worth 7½ lakhs were absorbed during the year, the bulk of the issues having been in the Central Provinces and Eastern Bengal and Assam. As mentioned in paragraph 36 of the last report, double pice are being gradually withdrawn from circulation; the transactions with the public resulted in a net receipt of 1½ lakhs worth, and coins to the value of 2½ lakhs worth were remitted to the Mints during the year. The special features of each province in regard to the circulation of small coin are noted below.

34. In India, quarter and eighth rupees and single pice were received from the public to the value of 21 lakhs during the year 1908-09, while, in the year under report, there was not a net receipt but a small issue of about a lakh worth. In the Central Provinces, there was a large increase of 1½ lakhs over the previous year in the value of nickel coins issued; owing to the prevalence of normal conditions, the issue of single pice also amounted to 4½ lakhs worth. The figures for Burma do not call for remarks. In Eastern Bengal and Assam, the issues of quarter rupees and nickels were 1½ and ½ lakhs more respectively than in the preceding year, while the absorption of single pice fell by 1½ lakhs. In Bengal and the United Provinces, the only denomination which showed a net issue was the nickel anna piece, there having been a return of the famine issues of previous years in the case of the other denominations, though, in the United Provinces, the net receipts from the public were not so heavy as in the preceding year. In the Punjab and Bombay, there was an appreciable revival in the demand for all coins except pice. In Madras, quarter and eighth rupees were received from the public to a total value of 7½ lakhs owing apparently to a falling off in the ground-nut trade.

Shroff-marked and other Coins.

35. The following statement shows the withdrawal of these coins and their remittance to the Mints for recoinage during the period under review, as compared with the previous four years:—

36. The withdrawal of 1840 rupees was 41 lakhs less than in the previous year. The total withdrawal of these coins to end of March 1910 amounted to about 27.07 lakhs and that of 1835 coins to about 3.32 lakhs. The receipts of shroff-marked coins continue to be insignificant; but there was an increase of 7 lakhs in the amount of defective and light-weight coins withdrawn from circulation.

13. The Local Government may at any time by a like notification vary the terms of any notification published by it under section 12 by specifying another area to which the movements of the criminal tribe shall be restricted, or another place of residence in which it shall be settled.

14. Every registered member of a criminal tribe, whose movements have been restricted or which has been settled in a place of residence, shall attend at such place and at such time and before such person as may be prescribed in this behalf.

When the area to which the movements of a criminal tribe or any members thereof are restricted, or the place of residence in which a criminal tribe is settled, is situated in a district other than that in which the register mentioned in section 4 was prepared, the register shall be transferred to the District Superintendent of Police of the district in which the said area is situated, and the District Magistrate of the said district shall thereupon be empowered to exercise the powers provided in sections 7, 8 and 9.

Explanation.—For the purposes of this section the term “children” includes all persons under the age of eighteen and above the age of four years.

18. The Local Government may at any time, by general or special order, direct any person who may be in any reformatory settlement or school in the Province,—

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

ACT XXVII of 1871, which contains the existing law on the subject of criminal tribes, does not allow of such tribes being proclaimed and registered unless they are first settled and provided with means of living by Government. The application of the Act is thus greatly restricted, and the majority of these tribes are left free to wander and commit crimes without any adequate check on their movements and depredations. Useful control can be exercised without restricting unduly the movements of the members of these tribes and without, therefore, the need for providing means of livelihood which is properly made a condition of settlement. The object of this Bill is to enlarge the power of control by enabling Local Governments to proclaim criminal tribes, and provide for the registration of their members, without reference to the possibility of settlement or of the provision of means of living. The provisions regarding settlement, however, are retained, with such modifications as are necessary, for application, if required, after the proclamation of a tribe; but before the movements of a tribe can be restricted to a specified area the Local Government must satisfy the Governor General in Council that the means by which it is proposed that the tribe shall earn its living within that area are adequate.

2. The details of the new provisions, and of all amendments of importance, are explained in the Notes on clauses.

Notes on clauses.

The Bill proposes to repeal the Criminal Tribes Act, 1871. The provisions of Part II of the Act relating to eunuchs are in force only in the United Provinces, and it is proposed with the assent of the Local Government not to reproduce them in the Bill. It is proposed to extend the new Act, which corresponds to Part I of the present Act, to the whole of British India. Its provisions are permissive only and are applicable throughout.

Definitions.—These call for no special remarks.

Clause 3.—The intention is to give power to Local Governments to declare a tribe to be criminal, and thereafter to register members, to take finger-prints and generally put the tribe under observation. The power of subsequently restricting them or confining them to a settlement will remain guarded in the same way as it now is by sections 2 to 4 and sections 17 and 17A of the present Act, vide clauses 11 and 12 and 16 and 17.

Clause 4 follows section 7 of the Act. It may be necessary to register part of the tribe in one district and part in another or others, especially in the case of wandering tribes and those which reside in scattered groups. Such registration will always be a matter of great difficulty, and the power to register should therefore be made as wide as possible.

Clause 6 follows section 10 of the Act.

Clause 7 follows section 11 of the Act, but dispenses with, as unnecessary, the provision requiring the Magistrate's initials and his order for every addition of information regarding persons already registered.

Alterations in register.

Clause 8 follows section 12 of the Act, but omits the second paragraph requiring reasons to be recorded for an order for erasure from the register. The recording of reasons in such a case is not required for the protection of the subject and, on the other hand, no Magistrate is likely to order an erasure unless there are clear reasons for doing so.

The third paragraph of the existing section 12, which gives the Commissioner power to review the Magistrate's order, also is omitted as, in practice, the Magistrate's order is seldom modified by the Commissioner, and it is in accordance with tendencies to decentralize authority as far as possible. It is, however, recognised that an order of registration does impose heavy disabilities on the subject of it, and an appeal to the Commissioner as regards such orders will be allowed if the Local Governments desire it.

Clause 9 provides specific power to take fresh finger-impressions which will often be necessary, although first impressions can be taken under sections 5 and 7.

Clause 10 is a new provision to empower the Local Government without a previous reference to the Government of India to direct a registered member of a criminal tribe to notify his residence, and any absence from or change of residence.

Clause 11 prescribes the procedure to be followed when it is desired (a) to restrict the movements of a criminal tribe to a specified area, or (b) to settle it in any place of residence. The clause follows closely sections 3 and 4 of the Act.

Clause 12 is based on sections 5 and 13 to 15 of the Act, and gives authority to the Governor General in Council to sanction the restriction or settlement referred to in the preceding clause.

Clause 13.—It is considered that the movements of a tribe should be restricted to an area which should be large enough to enable them to earn a living while small enough to insure their being kept under efficient observation; that this area should not be larger than a district, but that it should be permissible to allow the district to which movement is restricted to be changed from time to time.

Clause 14.—The provisions of this clause, which require every registered member of a criminal tribe whose movements have been restricted to report himself in order that it may be ascertained whether he is present within the prescribed area, are embodied by implication in clause (7) of section 18 of the Act, but it is considered desirable to have a substantive provision on the subject instead of leaving it to the rule-making clause.

tralisising authority (vide the remarks on clause 8).

Clause 16 follows section 17 of the Act; concurrent power being given to the Governor

Power to place tribe in reformatory settlement.

General in Council in order to enable provision to be made for extra-provincial settlements.

Clause 17 follows section 17A of the Act. In sub-clause (1) the words "or guardians" have been added after "parents" as it is considered that it might be desirable to remove children whose parents are dead or absent. In sub-clause (3) the Reformatory Schools Act, VIII of 1897, has been followed, as the power of employing inmates of reformatory schools under license which is given by section 18 of the Reformatory Schools Act is found in practice to be more useful than the power to apprentice. The latter power is, however, given in section 22 of the Reformatory Schools Act and has been included. The Bill makes the section applicable to the children of such tribes only as have, under the authority of the Governor General in Council, been restricted to a specified area or settled in a place of residence.

Clause 18 follows section 14 of the Reformatory Schools Act, but an addition has been made by which the order for removal or discharge may be general or special.

Transfer to a reformatory school or settlement in any part of British India.

Clause 19 follows section 15 of the Reformatory Schools Act.

Clause 20 is in the main identical with section 18 of the Act and such changes as have been made explain themselves. Clause (10) of section 18 has been omitted as it seemed unnecessary, the ground being covered by sub-clauses (e) and (f) of this clause. It is considered desirable to make provision for the grant of passes to persons settled in places of residence and placed in reformatory settlements, and this has been done by clause 20 (f).

Clause 21 follows section 9 of the Act, but a specific penalty has been provided for the offences instead of bringing them under sections 174, 176 and 177 of the Indian Penal Code. It is proposed that the amount of fine should be reduced to Rs. 200 as more proportionate to the class of offence to be dealt with and also to the powers of the class of Magistrate competent to deal with the case. The offences have been made cognizable, as it is most important that the police should have power to arrest without warrant. Refusal to allow finger-marks to be taken has also been made an offence.

Clauses 22 to 27 follow sections 19 to 22 of the Act.

The amount of fine is not specified in the Act. It is now the universal practice when fines are provided for to specify the amount and not leave the matter to the discretion of Courts. It is accordingly proposed that Rs. 200 should be fixed for clause 22 (2) (a), Rs. 500 for clause 22 (2) (b), and Rs. 1,000 for clause 24 of the Bill as proportionate to the class of offence to be dealt with and to some extent to the power of the Magistrate competent to deal with the case. Sections 19 and 19A of the Act provide that the imprisonment shall be rigorous, and section 19 renders the offender also liable to whipping. It is thought desirable to omit the liability to whipping and to leave the Court free to impose imprisonment of either description. Clauses 22 and 23 embody these views.

Clause 28 follows section 6 of the Act. It has been revised in accordance with the alteration in clause 3 of the Bill and placed at the end of the Act where it is considered most appropriate.

Schedule.—The schedule to the present Act enumerates the offences for which, under section 19A, the minimum punishment to a member of a criminal tribe committing them is prescribed. Offences against the coinage and house-breaking by night are omitted from the schedule. As certain criminal tribes are specially addicted to these crimes, they have been included in the schedule attached to the Bill.

Under the present Act the sanction of the Governor General in Council is required for nearly every act of the Local Government. This involves an unnecessary and undesirable centralization of powers, and accordingly the Bill gives Local Governments full powers except in respect of action to be taken under clause 12.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

The following Bill was introduced in the Council of the Governor General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 22nd July, 1910:

NO. 13 OF 1910.

A Bill further to amend the Indian Tramways Act, 1886.

WHEREAS it is expedient further to amend the Indian Tramways Act, 1886, It is hereby enacted as follows:—

1. This Act may be called the Indian Tramways (Amendment) Act, 1910.

2. For section 3, clause (5), of the Indian Tramways Act, 1886, the following shall be substituted, namely:—

“(5) ‘tramway’ means a tramway having one or two or more rails, and includes—

- (a) any part of a tramway, or any siding, turn-out, connection, line or track belonging to a tramway;
- (b) any electrical equipment of a tramway; and
- (c) any electric supply-line transmitting power from a generating station or sub-station to a tramway or between any such generating station and a sub-station.”

3. In section 3, clause (9), of the said Act, after the words “steam-power” the words “electrical power” and after the word “producing” the words “or utilising” shall be inserted.

4. For section 7, sub-section (2), clause (e), of the said Act, the following shall be substituted, namely:—

“(e) the space which shall ordinarily intervene between the outside of the carriage way on either side of a road whereon the tramway is to be constructed, and—

- (i) in the case of a tramway having one rail, the rail of the tramway, or
- (ii) in the case of a tramway having two or more rails, the nearest rail of the tramway, and the conditions on which a smaller space may be permitted.”

5. In section 7, sub-section (2), clause (m), of the said Act, after the word “steam-power” the words “electrical power” shall be inserted.

6. In section 24, sub-section (1), clause (e), of the said Act, after the word “steam-power” the words “electrical power” shall be inserted.

7. In section 44 of the said Act, after the word “engine-sheds” the words “electrical generating stations or sub-stations” shall be inserted.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

THIS Bill has two objects; the application of the Indian Tramways Act, 1886, to monorails, and the inclusion within the provisions of that Act of tramways worked by electricity.

2. Under existing law a monorail may be either a railway or a tramway, according to the circumstances in which it may have been constructed. It is not considered desirable that monorails, which are usually designed for the local transit of goods over very short distances, should be subject to all the limitations imposed by the Indian Railways Act, 1890, until the necessity for their being so subject has been fully demonstrated. It is therefore proposed to free them from those limitations and to treat them as tramways.

3. The Indian Tramways Act, 1886, was passed before the introduction into India of electric traction, and it is desirable that it should now be so amended as to bring electric tramways within its scope.

B. ROBERTSON.

Notes on Clauses.

Clause 2.—This clause substitutes for the existing definition of “tramway” a definition—

- (a) making it clear that the term includes a monorail, and
- (b) bringing within the definition the electric appliances necessary to a line worked by electric traction.

Clause 4 makes an amendment in the existing law consequential on the application of the Act to monorails.

Clauses 3, 5, 6 and 7 make such amendments in the sections to which they relate as are necessary to subject lines worked by electric traction to the provisions of the Act.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

The following Bill was introduced in the Council of the Governor General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 22nd July, 1910 :

NO. 14 OF 1910.

A Bill further to amend the Cantonments Act, 1889.

1889. WHEREAS it is expedient further to amend the Cantonments Act, 1889; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

1. This Act may be called the Cantonments (Amendment) Act, 1910.

Amendment of section 17, sub-section (2), Act XIII, 1889.

“(2) When any tax is leviable in a cantonment in pursuance of a notification under sub-section

(1), the Local Government, subject to the like sanction, may, by a like notification, apply or adapt to the cantonment the provisions of any enactment or rules in force at the date of the notification in any municipality within the territories administered by such Government relating to—

- (a) the assessment, collection or recovery of any tax ;
- (b) the refund or revision of, or exemption from, any such tax ; and
- (c) the punishment of any breach of such enactment or rules.”

3. In section 26, clause (17), of the said Act, after the words “traffic on roads” the words “and across unenclosed spaces under the control of the Cantonment-authority” shall be inserted.
Amendment of section 26, Act XIII, 1889.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

In applying or adapting to a cantonment, under section 17, sub-section (2), of the Cantonments Act, 1889, enactments or rules in force in a municipality for the assessment and recovery of a tax, provisions for the punishment of a breach thereof cannot, however, be similarly applied or adapted. Such a provision has now to be separately notified under section 25 of the Act. It has therefore been considered desirable to expand the provisions of the above sub-section so as to cover the application or adaptation of a penal rule or enactment

Further, it has been found necessary to provide against the creation of short cuts and the establishment of rights of way across parade-grounds, regimental recreation-grounds, ornamental plots and other grass lands, as also unenclosed spaces near barracks in cantonments.
Section 26, sub-section (17).

It has been found that no sufficient power at present exists to prevent these unenclosed spaces being cut up by cart-wheels and fouled with the droppings of oxen and ponies, to the detriment of the appearance of the cantonment, loss to the funds and, occasionally, some danger to health and the general safety. It is therefore necessary to regulate traffic across unenclosed spaces under the control of the Cantonment-authority.

It is intended that a notification of prohibition of thoroughfare, where it is found necessary to restrict traffic, shall be conspicuously placed by the Cantonment-authority so that persons found disregarding the warning might be dealt with under the power now sought.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Rainfall summary for the seven days ending at 8 hrs. on Thursday, the 21st July 1910, based on the Indian Daily Weather Reports of the period.

1. The break in the rains due to the Bombay monsoon continued throughout the week, and only a little rain was given by this current, chiefly along the Himalayas and in the south of the peninsula. The Bay current showed signs of strengthening, but the position of the trough of low pressure in northern India confined it almost entirely to Burma, Eastern Bengal and Assam and Bengal, it was not until the close of the week that a change in the pressure distribution permitted winds from the Bay to penetrate into the submontane districts of the United Provinces. The rainfall of the week was accordingly in defect over the greater part of the country, and was in excess only in the divisions of Assam, Eastern Bengal, Bihar, the North-West Frontier Province and Madras Southeast.

2. Burma.—Very little rain fell in the central districts, but elsewhere rainfall though light was fairly general. Skies were moderately to heavily clouded.

Northeast India, including Orissa—Nearly general rain fell in Eastern Bengal and fairly general rain in Assam and Bengal. Cloud was moderate to heavy. Maximum temperature was in excess in Chota Nagpur and the surrounding districts up to the 18th, when rainfall introduced cooler weather.

The United Provinces, Central India and the Central Provinces.—Rainfall was confined almost entirely to the hills and submontane districts of the United Provinces. Skies were lightly to moderately clouded, and day temperature was in general excess.

Northwest India—A few falls of rain occurred along the hills and at Mount Abu. Moderate to heavy cloud was present in the southern half of the division and in the west Himalayas, but in the rest of northwest India skies were generally either clear or only lightly clouded. Temperature was in defect in the North-West Frontier Province and the Punjab on the 14th and 15th, and in the former area on the 20th and 21st.

The Peninsula.—Only a few falls of rain were recorded, chiefly in southeast Madras. Skies were lightly to moderately clouded. Temperature was higher than usual in the Deccan.

3. The following are the chief rainfall amounts as reported at 8 hrs. each day:—

July 15th.	Kyaukpau 3.56", Bhamo 2.08", Narayanganj 2.79", Mymensingh 2.33" and Dehra Dun 2.29".

„ 21st.	Gauhati 2.65", Cherra Poonjee 9.62", Sambalpur 2.00" and Chakrata 2.30".

4. The rainfall of the whole period from the 29th April to the 21st July is 20 per cent or more in excess in the North-West Frontier Province, Sind and the Madras Coast North, and in defect by the same amount in Orissa, the United Provinces, Central India East, Kashmir, Baluchistan, the Madras Deccan, Mysore and Malabar; over the rest of the country it is nearly normal.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.
DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Season and Crop Prospects for the week ending Saturday, 16th July 1910.

Burma—The rainfall during the week was generally short. It was moderate along the littoral down to Tavoy and also in the extreme northern districts and was mostly light elsewhere. More rain is wanted in Mergui and in several dry zone districts. Ploughing and sowing for the main rice crops are in progress and transplanting of autumn rice has begun in places. Cultivation of sesamum, cotton, maize and groundnut continues in Upper Burma. Standing crops on the whole are in good condition but want of rain is being felt in parts of Upper Burma for sowing of late crops. The price of unhusked rice is practically stationary.

Eastern Bengal and Assam—The weather was seasonable with heavy rain particularly in Sylhet, Cachar and Chittagong. Some damage to standing crops by floods is reported from Kamrup. More rain is required for tea in Lakhimpur and Jalpaiguri. Harvesting of jute is in progress and steeping has commenced in low lands. Reaping of autumn rice, transplanting of winter rice and plucking of tea continue. Prospects of autumn rice and jute are fair while those of winter rice and sugarcane are good. The average price of common rice has fallen by one per cent. Cattle disease prevails in Rajshahi, Malda, the Khairi, Jutia and Naga Hills, Goulpara, Kamrup, Darrang, Nowgong, Sibsagan and Lakhimpur.

Bengal—Rain fell in all districts excepting Cuttack and Singhbhum. The fall was heavy in Cooch Behar, Dujehat, Nadia and also in Patna, moderate in parts of Birbhum, Murshidabad, Jessore, Khulna, Purnea and the Sonthal Parganas and light elsewhere. Transplantation of paddy is going on but is being retarded in some districts for want of sufficient moisture. More rain is urgently wanted in most districts of Lower Bengal and also in Gaya, Shahabad, the Sonthal Parganas, Balasore, Puri, Sambalpur, Palamu, Manbhum and Singhbhum. Standing crops are generally doing well. The jute crop is reported to be suffering from want of sufficient moisture in parts of the 24-Parganas, it has also been damaged to some extent in Cooch Behar by the excessive rainfall. The price of common rice has risen in Burdwan, Bankura, the 24-Parganas, Gaya, Shahabad, Darbhanga, Ranchi and Palamau and has fallen in Nadia, Murshidabad, Champaran, Monghyr, Angul, Manbhum and Singhbhum. Cattle disease is reported from Midnapore, Murshidabad, Jessore, Gaya, Saran, Muzaffarpur, Darbhanga, Monghyr, Bhagalpur, Purnea, Cuttack, Angul, Puri, Sambalpur, Hazaribagh and Ranchi. The fodder and water supply is sufficient throughout the Province.

United Provinces—The rainfall was satisfactory in nearly all the Himalayan and Submontane districts. Elsewhere it was quite insufficient, particularly in the Agra, Allahabad and Benares divisions. More rain is now wanted in four-fifths of the Provinces and in many districts the need is urgent as crops are withering and sowings have been retarded. The damage up to date is small but anxiety prevails over large areas and the situation will become very serious if good rain is not received soon. The general condition of cattle is good though sporadic disease is reported from twenty-eight districts. Fodder and supplies are sufficient. Prices have risen in nearly half the districts of the Provinces.

Punjab—Good to light rain has fallen in all districts except Mianwali. Tobacco is being harvested in Sialkot and the yield is good. Harvesting of extra spring crops is almost completed in Mianwali and the outturn is average. Standing crops are generally in good condition. The sugarcane crop has been damaged by insect pest and on account of want of water in parts of Lyallpur. Sowings of autumn crops continue. Prices are generally rising. The condition of cattle is generally good. Fodder is sufficient. Complaints of a short supply of canal water are still received from the Samundri tahsil of the Lyallpur district.

North-West Frontier Province.—Rain averaging a little over an inch fell in the Peshawar district. No rain fell in Bannu and Dera Ismail Khan except 11 cents in the Tank tahsil. The condition of standing crops is generally average. Autumn sowings are in progress. Hill torrents have damaged extra spring crops to a small extent in Dera Ismail Khan. The fodder and water-supply is sufficient. Water in rivers is rising. The Paharpur canal has been stopped owing to damage done by floods. The condition of cattle is good except in one village of the Nowshera tahsil, in two villages of the Charsadda tahsil and in one village of the Mardan tahsil. The public health is good. Prices of food grains are fluctuating. Prices are:—wheat 14 to 19½, maize 16 to 22½, gram 18½ to 27 and bajra 15 to 18 seers per rupee.

Jammu.—The rain during the week was fair. Prices are fluctuating. Wheat sells from 12 to 20 and maize from 14 to 32 seers per rupee. The condition of standing crops is fair except in Jasmirgarh. Cattle disease of mild type prevails in some parts of the Province. Fodder is sufficient.

Kashmir.—The weather was bright. Spring crops are in good condition. There is no disease among cattle. Fodder is sufficient. Autumn crops are in good condition. Prices are stationary.

Rajputana.—The rainfall during the week was in cents:—Hilly Tracts and Mewar 93, Banswara 92, Alwar 46, Bikaner 32, Udaipur 30, Shahpur 24 and Merwara 21. No rain or practically nothing was received elsewhere. Sowings are in progress except in Karauli and Dholpur where more rain is needed. Damage from grass-hoppers is reported from one district in Mewar. Cattle disease is prevalent in parts of Mewar, Banswara, Jhalawar and the Hilly Tracts. Fodder is sufficient. Prices have risen by 1 to 2½ seers in Shahpura, Alwar, Karauli and Dholpur and slightly in Bikaner, Marwar, Bharatpur and Merwara. They have fallen by 1 seer in Jaisalmer and slightly in Mewar, Banswara, Kotah and Tonk.

Central India.—The rainfall was nil in Bundelkhand. It is urgently wanted in Bundelkhand and Bagelkhand. There was partial rain in Malwa and Bhopawar and general and sufficient rain elsewhere. Agricultural stock are good except for some disease in Indore, Bundelkhand and Bhopawar. Prices are generally steady but are rising in Bundelkhand.

Central Provinces.—During the week Balaghat received 3½ inches of rain and Damoh, Jubbulpore and Akola had a sprinkling not exceeding 12 cents. The break in the rains has benefited the seedlings of autumn crops and has greatly facilitated sowing which was pushed on. More rain is required now in most districts especially in Saugor and Akola. Incessant and heavy rain in the first fortnight of the month necessitated resowing of crops in parts of Wardha, Nagpur, Chanda, Bhandara and Chhindwara. Elsewhere germination is generally good. The supply of fodder and water is adequate. Cattle are doing well. Prices:—the price of wheat and rice remained stationary in eighteen districts, juar in twenty-one and gram throughout the Provinces. Juar fell by 3½ seers per rupee in Chhindwara. There were no marked variations elsewhere.

Feudatory States.—Jashpur had heavy rain amounting to 5½ inches during the week. Light to moderate showers ranging from 23 cents to 3 inches were also received in Kawardha, Khairagarh, Nandgaon, Kanker, Sarangarh, Sakti, Sirguja and Korea. More rain is needed in Khairagarh, Raigarh, Sarangarh and Sakti. Sowing of autumn crops is in full swing and germination is reported to be satisfactory. Fodder and water are sufficient. Prices:—rice became cheaper by two seers per rupee in Sarangarh.

Bombay.—The rain during the week was good in Kanara, Kathiawar, Savantvadi and Kolhapur; moderate in Ratnagiri, Nasik, Bijapur and Mahi Kantha and slight in other districts except Larkana and Hyderabad. The rainfall was beneficial for cultivation of autumn crops but more rain is needed in parts of Surat, the Konkan, the Deccan, Belgaum, Savantvadi and Kolhapur. Sowing of autumn crops generally continues but has been retarded in parts of Sholapur and Belgaum for want of rain and in Karachi owing to floods. Transplantation is progressing in parts of Sind, Ahmedabad, Kaira, Broach, Kanara, Satara, Belgaum and Savantvadi but has been retarded in parts of Surat, Thana, Colaba, Ratnagiri, Nasik and Poona for want of sufficient rain and in Karachi owing to floods. Seedlings are withering in parts of Thana, Ratnagiri, Poona and Savantvadi. Sowing of cotton is in progress in parts of Ahmedabad, Broach, Surat, East Khandesh and Baroda. The fodder-supply is adequate except in parts of Sukkur and Hyderabad. Agricultural stock are sufficient except in parts of Ahmednagar, Poona, Sholapur and Satara and are generally in good condition. Drinking water is generally sufficient except in parts of Dharwar. Irrigation water is adequate except in parts of Poona and Dharwar. Grain stocks are sufficient. Prices have risen in Sukkur, Colaba, East Khandesh and Belgaum and are stationary elsewhere. The quantity purchasable per rupee is in Sind 27 to 41 per cent; in Gujarat 7 to 26 per cent; in the Konkan 2 to 30 per cent; in the Deccan 10 to 30 per cent and in the Karnatak 28 to 37 per cent less than the normal.

Hyderabad.—The average rainfall during the week was 58 cents. Rain was general in the districts of Nander, Gulbarga, Raichur, Nalgonda and Warangal, averaging from 61 cents in Nander to 1 inch 29 cents in Raichur. More rain is needed in all districts. Prospects of early crops depend much on the weather of the next ten or twelve days. The heaviest falls occurred in Warangal, Raichur, Gulbarga, Adilabad and Nalgonda. Weeding of autumn crops has begun in parts and autumn sprouts are generally very fair but have been damaged by insects in parts of Gulbarga, Medak, Nalgonda and Warangal. Early rice sowings are proceeding in many parts of Telingana. Water scarcity is reported in three talukas and cattle disease in eight. Fodder scarcity prevails in seven talukas. Prices:—wheat and coarse rice 6½ and juar 12½ seers per rupee. White juar is selling in Hyderabad City at 11 and yellow juar at 13 seers. The highest price in districts is 8 seers in Karimnagar and the lowest 22 seers in Bidar.

Mysore.—The rainfall was good in Bangalore and Kolar and slight elsewhere. Prices of food grains have risen slightly in Bangalore, Tumkur and Chitaldrug. Standing crops are in good condition. More rain is needed in parts of Tumkur, Mysore, Hassan, Kadur and Chitaldrug. Prospects of the season are generally good. Cattle are healthy. Water and fodder are available.

Coorg.—Rainfall 37 cents. Ploughing for and transplanting of rice continue. Prices of food grains are stationary. The public health is fair. Water and fodder for cattle are sufficient.

Madras.—The rainfall was good in the Vizagapatam Agency, South Canara, North Arcot, Ramnad, Ganjam, Bellary, South Arcot, Salem, Kurnool, Coimbatore and the Nilgiris and light to fair elsewhere. Irrigation supplies are sufficient in Ganjam, Vizagapatam, Godavari, Kistna, Tanjore, Malabar and the Nilgiris and insufficient in parts of other districts. Ploughing, sowing, weeding and transplanting are in progress in parts. Standing crops are generally fair but some in parts of Guntur and Bellary require more rain and some in parts of South Canara are withering. Harvests continue in parts with outturn poor to normal. Pasture is insufficient in parts of Guntur, the Deccan, the Carnatic, North Arcot, Coimbatore, Ramnad and Tinnevely. Fodder is scanty in parts of Godavari, Guntur and Nellore. The condition of cattle is generally good. The price of rice is stationary in thirteen districts; has fallen in five and has risen in six. The prices of millets have fluctuated as follows:—Ragi is stationary in eleven districts; has fallen in one and has risen in ten. Cholam is stationary in six districts; has fallen in three and has risen in six. Cumbu is stationary in seven districts; has fallen in two and has risen in seven. The public health is generally good. Prospects are generally fair. The condition of the labouring classes is satisfactory everywhere and employment is readily available. Grain stocks are generally sufficient.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT.

ESTABLISHMENTS.

RESOLUTION.

Under the rules laid down in paragraph 185 et seq. of the Public Works Department Code, Volume I, soldiers are eligible for appointment in the Public Works and Railway Departments from two sources, viz.:

(i) by direct appointment from the Army under paragraphs 185 to 187 and 195.

(ii) after a theoretical course at a civil engineering college under paragraph 201.

In the matter of emoluments they are entitled to the staff salaries of their grades in addition to the pay and allowances of their military rank (Public Works Department Code, Volume I, paragraph 14 and notes)

2. It has been observed that in recent years very few military subordinates have entered the Public Works Department, and there would moreover not appear to be any justification for the extra expense entailed by their employment on account of the value of their military training to the Department. For these reasons, the Government of India have had under consideration, for some time past, the question whether the employment of soldiers in the Public Works and Railway Departments as Upper Subordinates should be continued. Before however arriving at a final decision they considered it desirable to obtain the views of local Governments and Administrations on the subject.

3. The general consensus of opinion is in favour of the discontinuance of the employment of soldiers; and the Government of India while averse to closing an avenue of employment to soldiers of the British Army in India, see no reason to continue a higher scale of emoluments to military subordinates than that admissible to civil subordinates. They are accordingly pleased to decide that soldiers entering the Public Works and Railway Departments after the date of this order, either through the civil engineering colleges, or direct from the Army, under the Public Works Department code rules quoted above, shall in future draw the civil pay of the grades to which they may be appointed, appointment through the colleges being as at present to the first grade of overseer. Soldiers, who are at present undergoing a theoretical course in a civil engineering college, will, in the event of their passing the final examination, be permitted to enter the Public Works and Railway Departments under the rules in force at the time they joined the college. ●

ORDER.—Ordered that this resolution be forwarded to the local Governments and Administrations,

To the Governments of Madras, Bombay, Bengal, the United Provinces of Agra and Oudh, the Punjab, Burma, and Eastern Bengal and Assam, Public Works Department.

The Honourable the Chief Commissioner of the Central Provinces.

The Honourable the Resident at Hyderabad.

ACTS OF BANKRUPTCY.

What constitutes an act of bankruptcy.

6.—A debtor commits an act of bankruptcy in each of the following cases, vis.

- (a) If, in Mauritius or elsewhere, he makes a conveyance or assignment of his property to any person for the benefit of his creditors generally ;
- (b) If, in Mauritius or elsewhere, he makes a fraudulent conveyance, gift, delivery or transfer of his property or of any part thereof ;
- (c) If, in Mauritius or elsewhere, he conceals or removes any part of his property or creates any charge thereon, which, if he were made bankrupt, would amount to an offence punishable under this Ordinance ;

- (d) If, in Mauritius or elsewhere, he makes a conveyance or transfer of his property or of any part thereof, or creates any charge thereon which, if he were adjudged bankrupt, would constitute a fraudulent preference under this Ordinance ;
- (e) If, with intent to defeat or delay his creditors, he does any of the following things, namely :
- (1) departs, or makes preparation for departing, out of Mauritius, or, being out of Mauritius, remains out of Mauritius ;
- or (2) departs from his dwelling house or otherwise absents himself ;
- or (3) begins to keep house ;
- or (4) suffers himself to be outlawed or a sequestration to be issued against his property under Ordinance no. 29 of 1853 ;
- (f) If he files in the Court a declaration admitting his inability to pay his debts, or presents a bankruptcy petition against himself ;
- (g) If he suffers any seizure of his moveable or immoveable property to be made, or if he suffers a provisional seizure or attachment of his moveable property to be made, and fails within 8 days from such seizure or attachment either to obtain the removal thereof or to give security for payment of the claim of the seizing or attaching creditor ;
- (h) If imprisonment has been decreed against him for the recovery of any final judgment debt ;
- (i) If a creditor has obtained a final judgment against him for any amount, and, execution thereon not having been stayed, has served on him in Mauritius, or, by leave of Court, elsewhere, a notice, herein called "bankruptcy notice," requiring payment of such judgment debt, and such debt remains due and payable after the expiration of seven days after service of the said notice in case the service has been effected in Mauritius, or, if service has been effected elsewhere, then after the expiration of such time as shall have been fixed by the Court : provided that, under special circumstances, the Court shall have power to shorten the said delay of seven days ;
- (j) If, being indebted to a creditor in virtue of a debt provable in bankruptcy he fails to pay, or secure, or compound for, such debt, within such time as shall be allowed by an order made by the Court upon the application of the creditor. Provided no such application shall be entertained by the Court, unless a notice, herein called "bankruptcy notice," requiring payment of such debt, has first been served upon such trader, and such trader has had notice of such application and has been called upon to show cause against the same ;
- (k) If he has admitted to any of his creditors that he is unable to meet his engagements or that he has suspended or is about to suspend the payment of his debts.

RECEIVING ORDER.

7.—Subject to the conditions hereinafter specified, if a debtor commits an act of bankruptcy, the Court may, on a bankruptcy petition being presented either by a creditor or by the debtor, make an order, in this Ordinance called a "receiving order," for the protection of the debtor's estate.

Jurisdiction to make receiving order.

Conditions on which creditor may petition.

8.—(1) A creditor shall not be entitled to present a bankruptcy petition against a debtor unless—

- (a) The debt owing by the debtor to the petitioning creditor, or, if two or more creditors join in the petition, the aggregate amount of debts owing to the several petitioning creditors, exceed Rs. 200,
- (b) The debt is a liquidated sum, payable either immediately or at some certain future time,
- (c) The act of bankruptcy on which the petition is grounded has occurred within three months before the presentation of the petition, and
- (d) The debtor is domiciled in Mauritius or, within a year before the date of the presentation of the petition, has ordinarily resided or had a dwelling house or place of business in Mauritius.

(2) If the petitioning creditor is a secured creditor, he must in his petition either state that he is willing to give up his security for the benefit of the creditors in the event of the debtor being adjudged bankrupt, or give an estimate of the value of his security. In the latter case, he may be admitted as a petitioning creditor to the extent of the balance of the debt due to him, after deducting the value so estimated in the same manner as if he were an unsecured creditor.

9.—A creditor's petition shall be verified by affidavit of the creditor, or of some other person having knowledge of the fact, and shall be served in the prescribed manner.

10.—(1) At the hearing of the petition, the Court shall require proof of the debt of the petitioning creditor, of the service of the petition, of the trading of the debtor, and of the act of bankruptcy, or, if more than one act of bankruptcy is alleged in the petition, of some one of the alleged acts of bankruptcy, and, if satisfied with such proof, shall make a receiving order for the protection of the debtor's estate.

(2) The Court may adjourn the hearing of the petition, either conditionally or unconditionally, for the procurement of further evidence, or for any other just cause, or may dismiss the petition with or without costs, as the Court thinks just.

(3) If there are more respondents than one to the petition, the Court may dismiss the petition as to one or more of them, and may order the case to be proceeded with against the other or others of them.

(4) Where the debtor appears on the petition and denies that he is indebted to the petitioner, or that he is indebted to such amount as would justify the petitioner in presenting a bankruptcy petition against him, the Court shall have jurisdiction for the trial of the question relating to such debt, subject to an appeal before the Supreme Court as herein provided.

11.—A creditor's petition shall not, after presentation, be withdrawn without the leave of the Court.

12.—A debtor's petition shall allege that the debtor is unable to pay his debts, and the presentation thereof shall be deemed an act of bankruptcy without the previous filing by the debtor of any declaration of inability to pay his debts, and the Court shall thereupon make a receiving order.

A debtor's petition shall not after presentment be withdrawn without the leave of the Court.

13.—(1) On the making of a receiving order, the Accountant shall be thereby instituted receiver of the property of the debtor, and thereafter, except as directed by this Ordinance, no creditor to whom the debtor is indebted in respect of any debt provable in bankruptcy shall have any remedy against the property or person of the debtor in respect of the debt, or shall commence any action or other legal proceedings unless with leave of the Court and on such terms as the Court shall impose.

(2) But this article shall not affect the power of any secured creditor to realize or otherwise deal with his security in the same manner as he would have been entitled to realize or deal with it, if this article had not been passed.

14.—(1) The Court may, if it is shown to be necessary for the protection of the debtor's estate, at any time after the presentation of a bankruptcy petition, and before a receiving order is made, appoint the Accountant to be interim receiver of the property of the debtor or of any part thereof, and direct him to take immediate possession of the same or of any part thereof.

(2) The Court may, at any time after the presentation of a bankruptcy petition, stay any action, execution or other legal process against the property or person of the debtor; and any Court, in which proceedings are pending against a debtor, may, on proof that a bankruptcy petition has been presented by or against the debtor, either stay the proceedings or allow them to continue on such terms as it may think just.

15.—The Accountant may, on the application of any creditor, and if satisfied that the nature of the debtor's business or the interests of the creditors generally require the appointment of a special manager of the estate or business, appoint a manager thereof to act until a trustee is appointed. Such person or persons shall give such security as may be directed by the Court, and shall receive such remuneration as shall be fixed by the creditors by resolution at an ordinary meeting subject to the approval of the Court.

16. Notice of every receiving order stating the name, address and description of the debtor, the date of the order and the date of the petition, shall be gazetted and advertised in two local papers in the manner prescribed.

PROCEEDINGS CONSEQUENT ON ORDER.

17.—As soon as may be after the making of a receiving order, a general meeting of creditors shall be held for the purpose of considering whether a proposal for a composition or scheme of arrangement shall be entertained or whether it is expedient that the debtor be adjudged bankrupt.

With respect to the summoning of and proceedings at the meetings of creditors, the rules in the second schedule shall be observed.

18.—(1) Where a receiving order is made against a debtor, he shall make out and submit to the Accountant a statement of and in relation to his affairs in the prescribed form, verified by affidavit, and showing the particulars of the debtor's assets, debts, and liabilities, the names, residences and occupations of his creditors, the securities held by them respectively, the dates when the securities were respectively given, and such further or other information as may be prescribed or as the Accountant may require.

(2) The statement shall be so submitted within the following times, namely:

(a) If the order is made on the petition of the debtor, within three days from the date of the order.

(b) If the order is made on the petition of a creditor, within seven days from the date of the order.

But the Court may, in either case, for special reasons, extend the time.

(3) If the debtor fails without reasonable excuse to comply with the requirements of this article, the Court may, on the application of the Accountant or of any creditor, adjudge him bankrupt.

(4) Any person stating himself in writing to be a creditor of the bankrupt may, personally or by agent, inspect this statement at all reasonable times, and take any copy thereof or extract therefrom, but any person untruthfully so stating himself to be a creditor shall be guilty of a contempt of Court, and shall be punishable accordingly on the application of the trustee, Accountant or the debtor.

PUBLIC EXAMINATION OF DEBTOR.

19.—(1) Where the Court makes a receiving order, it shall hold a public sitting, on a day to be appointed by the Court, for the examination of the debtor, and the debtor shall attend thereat, and shall be examined as to his conduct, dealings and property.

Public examination of debtor.

(2) The examination shall be held as soon as conveniently may be after the expiration of the time for the submission of the debtor's statement of affairs.

(3) The Court may adjourn the examination from time to time.

(4) Any creditor who has tendered a proof, or his representative authorized in writing, may question the debtor concerning his affairs and the causes of his failure.

(5) The Accountant shall take part in the examination of the debtor; and for the purpose thereof, if specially authorized by the Court, may employ a solicitor with or without counsel.

(6) If a trustee is appointed before the conclusion of the examination, he may take part therein.

(7) The Court may put such questions to the debtor as it may think expedient.

(8) The debtor shall be examined upon oath, and it shall be his duty to answer all such questions as the Court may put or allow to be put to him. Such notes of the examination as the Court thinks proper shall be taken down in writing, and shall be read over to and signed by the debtor, and may thereafter be used in evidence against him; they shall also be open to the inspection of any creditor at all reasonable times.

(9) When the Court is of opinion that the affairs of the debtor have been sufficiently investigated, it shall, by order, declare that his examination is concluded; but such order shall not be made until after the day appointed for the first meeting of creditors.

COMPOSITION OR SCHEME OF ARRANGEMENT.

20.—(1) The creditors may at the first meeting or any adjournment thereof, by special resolutions, resolve to entertain a proposal for a composition in satisfaction of the debts due to them from the debtor, or a proposal for a scheme of arrangement of the debtor's affairs.

Power for creditors to accept and Court to approve composition or arrangement.

(2) The composition or scheme shall not be binding on the creditors unless it is confirmed by a resolution passed (by a majority in number representing three-fourths in value of all the creditors who have proved) at a subsequent meeting of the creditors, and is approved by the Court.

(3) Any creditor who has proved his debt may assent to or dissent from such composition or scheme by a letter addressed to the Accountant in the prescribed form, and attested by a witness, so as to be received by such Accountant not later than the day preceding such subsequent meeting, and such creditor shall be taken as being present and voting at such meeting.

(4) The subsequent meeting shall be summoned by the Accountant by not less than seven days' notice, and shall not be held until after the public examination of the debtor is concluded. The notice shall state generally the terms of the proposal.

(5) The debtor or the Accountant may, after the composition or scheme is accepted by the creditors, apply to the Court to approve it, and notice of the time appointed for hearing the application shall be given to each creditor who has proved.

(6) The Court shall, before approving a composition or scheme, hear a report of the Accountant as to the terms of the composition or scheme and as to the conduct of the debtor, and any objections which may be made by or on behalf of any creditor.

(7) If the Court is of opinion that the terms of the composition or scheme are not reasonable or are not calculated to benefit the general body of creditors, or in any case in which the Court is required under this Ordinance where the debtor is adjudged bankrupt to refuse his discharge, the Court shall, or if any such facts are proved as would under this Ordinance justify the Court in refusing, qualifying or suspending the debtor's discharge, the Court may, in its discretion, refuse to approve the composition or scheme.

(8) If the Court approves the composition or scheme, the approval may be testified by the seal of the Court being attached to the instrument containing the terms of the composition or scheme, or by the terms being embodied in an order of the Court.

(9) A composition or scheme accepted and approved in pursuance of this section shall be binding on all the creditors so far as relates to any debts due to them from the debtor and provable in bankruptcy.

(10) A certificate of the Accountant that a composition or scheme has been duly accepted and approved shall, in the absence of fraud, be conclusive as to its validity.

(11) The provisions of a composition or scheme under this section may be enforced by the Court on application by any person interested, and any disobedience of an order of the Court made on the application shall be deemed a contempt of Court.

(12) If default is made in payment of any instalment due in pursuance of the composition or scheme, or if it appears to the Court on satisfactory evidence that the composition or scheme cannot in consequence of legal difficulties, or for any sufficient cause, proceed without injustice or undue delay to the creditors or to the debtors, or that the approval of the Court was obtained by fraud, the Court may, if it thinks fit, on application by any creditor, adjudge the debtor bankrupt, and annul the composition or scheme, but without prejudice to the validity of any sale, disposition, or payment duly made, or thing duly done under or in pursuance of the composition or scheme—

Where the debtor is adjudged bankrupt under this clause, any debt provable in other respects, which has been contracted before the date of the adjudication, shall be provable in the bankruptcy.

(13) If, under or in pursuance of a composition or scheme, a trustee is appointed to administer the debtor's property or manage his business, part V of this Ordinance shall apply to the trustee as if he were a trustee in a bankruptcy, and as if the terms "bankruptcy," "bankrupt," and "order of adjudication" included respectively a composition or scheme of arrangement, a compounding or arranging debtor, and order approving the composition or scheme.

(14) Part III of this Ordinance shall, so far as the nature of the case and the terms of the composition or scheme admit, apply thereto, the same interpretation being given to the words "trustee," "bankruptcy," "bankrupt," and "order of adjudication," as in the last preceding sub-section.

(15) No composition or scheme shall be approved by the Court which does not provide for the payment, in priority to other debts, of all debts directed to be so paid in the distribution of the property of a bankrupt.

(16) The acceptance by a creditor of a composition or scheme shall not release any person who under this Ordinance would not be released by an order of discharge if the debtor had been adjudged bankrupt.

21.—Notwithstanding the acceptance and approval of a composition or scheme, such composition or scheme shall not be binding on any creditor as far as regards a debt or liability from which, under the provisions of this Ordinance, the debtor would not be discharged by an order of discharge in bankruptcy, unless the creditor assents to the composition or scheme.

ADJUDICATION OF BANKRUPTCY.

22.—(1) Where a receiving order is made against a debtor, then, if the creditors at the first meeting or any adjournment thereof by ordinary resolution resolve that the debtor be adjudged bankrupt, or pass no resolution, or if the creditors do not meet, or if a composition or scheme is not accepted or approved in pursuance of this Ordinance within fourteen days after the conclusion of the examination of the debtor, or such further time as the Court may allow, the Court shall adjudge the debtor bankrupt; and thereupon the property of the bankrupt shall become divisible among his creditors and shall vest in a trustee.

(2) Notice of every order adjudging a debtor bankrupt, stating the name, address, and description of the bankrupt, the date of the adjudication, shall be gazetted and advertised in two local papers in the prescribed manner, and the date of the order shall, for the purposes of this Ordinance, be the date of the adjudication.

23.—(1) Where a debtor is adjudged bankrupt or the creditors have resolved that he be adjudged, the creditors may, by ordinary resolution, appoint some fit person, whether a creditor or not, to fill the office of trustee of the property of the bankrupt; or they may resolve to leave his appointment to the committee of inspection hereinafter mentioned.

(2) The person so appointed shall give security in such amount as shall be fixed by the Court, and the Court, if satisfied with the security, shall certify that his appointment has been duly made, unless the debtor or a creditor object to the appointment, and the Court shall be satisfied that such appointment has not been made in good faith by a majority in value of the creditors voting, or that the person appointed is not fit to act as trustee or that his connexion with or relation to the bankrupt or his estate or any particular creditor makes it difficult for him to act with impartiality in the interests of the creditors generally.

(3) The appointment of a trustee shall take effect as from the date of the certificate.

(4) If a trustee is not appointed by the creditors within four weeks from the date of the adjudication, or, in the event of negotiations for a composition or scheme being pending at the expiration of those four weeks, then within seven days from the close of those negotiations by the refusal of the creditors to accept, or of the Court to approve the composition or scheme, the Accountant shall report the matter to the Court, and thereupon the Court may appoint some fit person to be trustee of the bankrupt's property or may order the Accountant to act as trustee:

Provided that the creditors or the committee of inspection (if so authorized by resolution of the creditors) may, at any subsequent time, if they think fit, appoint a trustee, and, on the appointment being made and certified, the person appointed shall become trustee in the place of the person appointed by the Court.

(5) When a debtor is adjudged bankrupt after the first meeting of creditors has been held and a trustee has not been appointed prior to the adjudication, the Accountant shall forthwith summon a meeting of creditors for the purpose of appointing a trustee.

24.—(1) The creditors qualified to vote may, at their first or any subsequent meeting, by resolution, appoint from among the creditors qualified to vote, or the holders of general proxies or general powers-of-attorney from such creditors, a committee of inspection for the purpose of superintending the administration of the bankrupt's property by the trustee. The committee of inspection shall consist of not more than five nor less than three persons.

(2) The committee of inspection shall meet at such times as they shall from time to time appoint, and, failing such appointment, at least once a month; and the trustee or any member of the committee may also call a meeting of the committee as and when he thinks necessary.

(3) The committee may act by a majority of their members present at a meeting, but shall not act unless a majority of the committee are present at the meeting.

(4) Any member of the committee may resign his office by notice in writing signed by him and delivered to the trustee.

(5) If a member of the committee becomes bankrupt, or compounds or arranges with his creditors, or is absent from five consecutive meetings of the committee, his office shall thereupon become vacant.

(6) Any member of the committee may be removed by an ordinary resolution at any meeting of creditors of which seven days' notice has been given stating the object of the meeting.

(7) On a vacancy occurring in the office of a member of the committee, the trustee shall forthwith summon a meeting of creditors for the purpose of filling the vacancy, and the meeting may, by resolution, appoint another creditor or other person eligible as above to fill the vacancy.

(8) The continuing members of the committee, provided there be not less than two such continuing members, may act notwithstanding any vacancy in their body: and where the number of members of the committee of inspection is for the time being less than five, the creditors may increase that number so that it do not exceed five.

(9) If there be no committee of inspection, any act or thing or any direction or permission by this Ordinance authorized or required to be done or given by the committee may be done or given by the Court on the application of the trustee.

COMPOSITION AFTER ADJUDICATION.

25.—(1) Where a debtor is adjudged bankrupt, the creditors may, if they think fit, at any time after the adjudication, by special resolution, resolve to entertain a proposal for a composition in satisfaction of the debts due to them under the bankruptcy, or for a scheme of arrangement of the bankrupt's affairs; and thereupon the same proceedings shall be taken and the same consequences shall ensue as in the case of a composition or scheme accepted before adjudication.

(2) If the Court approves the composition or scheme, it may make an order annulling the bankruptcy and vesting the property of the bankrupt in him or in such other person as the Court may appoint, on such terms, and subject to such conditions if any, as the Court may declare.

(3) If default is made in payment of any instalment due in pursuance of the composition or scheme, or if it appears to the Court that the composition or scheme cannot proceed without injustice or undue delay, or that the approval of the Court was obtained by fraud, the Court may, if it thinks fit, on application by any person interested, adjudge the debtor bankrupt and annul the composition or scheme, but without prejudice to the validity of any sale, disposition, or payment duly made, or thing duly done, under or in pursuance of the composition or scheme. Where a debtor is adjudged bankrupt under this provision, all debts, provable in other respects, which have been contracted before the date of such adjudication shall be provable in the bankruptcy.

CONTROL OVER PERSON AND PROPERTY OF DEBTOR.

26.—(1) Every debtor against whom a receiving order is made shall, unless prevented by sickness or other sufficient cause, attend the first meeting of his creditors, and shall submit to such examination and give such information as the meeting may require.

Duties of debtor as to discovery and realization of property.

(2) He shall give such inventory of his property, such list of his creditors and debtors, and of the debts due to and from them respectively, submit to such examination in respect of his property or his creditors, attend such other meetings of his creditors, wait at such times on the Accountant, special manager or trustee, execute such powers-of-attorney, conveyances, deeds, and instruments, and generally do all such acts and things in relation to his property and the distribution of the proceeds amongst his creditors as may be reasonably required by the Accountant, special manager, or trustee, or may be prescribed by general rules, or be directed by the Court by any special order or orders made in reference to any particular case, or made on the occasion of any special application by the Accountant, special manager, trustee, or any creditor or persons interested.

(3) He shall, if adjudged bankrupt, aid to the utmost of his power in the realization of his property and the distribution of the proceeds among his creditors.

(4) If a debtor wilfully fails to perform the duties imposed on him by this section, or to deliver up possession of any part of his property which is divisible amongst his creditors under this Ordinance, and which is for the time being in his possession or under his control, to the Accountant or to the trustee, or to any person authorized by the Court to take possession of it, he shall, in addition to any other punishment to which he may be subject, be guilty of a contempt of Court, and may be punished accordingly.

27.—(1) The Court may, by warrant addressed to any constable or prescribed officer of the Court, cause a debtor to be arrested, and any books, papers, money, and goods in his possession to be seized, and him and them to be safely kept in such places and until such time as the Court may order under the following circumstances :—

Arrest of debtor under certain circumstances

(a) If, after a bankruptcy notice has been issued under this Ordinance or after presentation of a bankruptcy petition by or against him, it appears to the Court that there is probable reason for believing that he has been guilty of any offence punishable under this Ordinance or that he is about to abscond with a view of avoiding payment of the debt in respect of which the bankruptcy notice was issued, or of avoiding service of a bankruptcy petition or of avoiding appearance to any such petition, or of avoiding examination in respect of his affairs, or if otherwise avoiding, delaying, or embarrassing proceedings in bankruptcy against him.

(b) If, after presentation of a bankruptcy petition by or against him, it appears to the Court that there is probable cause for believing that he is about to remove his goods with a view of preventing or delaying possession being taken of them by the Accountant or trustee, or that there is probable ground for believing that he has concealed or is about to conceal or destroy any of his goods or any books, documents, or writings which might be of use to his creditors in the course of his bankruptcy.

(c) If, after service of a bankruptcy petition on him, or after a receiving order is made against him, he removes any goods in his possession above the value of fifty rupees, without the leave of the Accountant or trustee.

(d) If, without good cause shown, he fails to attend any examination ordered by the Court :

Provided that no arrest upon a bankruptcy notice shall be valid and protected unless the debtor before or at the time of his arrest shall be served with such bankruptcy notice.

(2) The Court may, at any time after the arrest of the debtor, order his release on his furnishing security to the satisfaction of the Court not to quit the Colony without the leave of the Court.

(3) No payment or composition made or security given after arrest made under this section shall be exempt from the provisions of this Ordinance relating to fraudulent preferences.

28.—Where a receiving order is made against a debtor, the Court, on the application of the Accountant or trustee, may from time to time order that for such time, not exceeding three months, as the Court thinks fit, post letters, post-cards and post office money orders addressed to the debtor at any place or places mentioned in the order for re-direction, shall be redirected, sent or delivered by the Colonial Postmaster or the officers acting under him, to the Accountant or the trustee, or otherwise as the Court directs, and the same shall be done accordingly. The signature of the Accountant or the trustee on any money order payable to such debtor shall be a sufficient acquittance thereof.

Re-direction of debtor's letters, etc.

29.—(1) The Court may, on the application of the Accountant or trustee, at any time, after a receiving order has been made against a debtor, summon before it the debtor or his wife, or any person known or suspected to have in his possession any part of the estate or any effects belonging to the debtor, or supposed to be indebted to the debtor, or any person whom the Court may deem capable of giving information respecting the debtor, his dealings or property, and the Court may require any such person to produce any documents in his custody or power relating to the debtor, his dealings or property.

Discovery of debtor's property.

(2) If any person so summoned, after having been tendered a reasonable sum refuses to come before the Court at the time appointed, or refuses to produce any such document, having no lawful impediment made known to the Court at the time of its sitting and allowed by it, the Court may, by warrant, cause him to be apprehended and brought up for examination.

(3) The Court may examine on oath, either by word of mouth or by written interrogatories, any person so brought before it concerning the debtor, his dealings or property.

(4) If any person on examination before the Court admits that he is indebted to the debtor, the Court may, on the application of the Accountant or trustee, order him to pay to the Accountant or trustee, at such time and in such manner as the Court deems expedient, the amount admitted or any part thereof, either in full discharge of the whole amount in question or not, as the Court thinks fit, with or without costs of the examination.

(5) If any person on examination before the Court admits that he has in his possession any property belonging to the debtor, the Court may, on the application of the Accountant or trustee, order him to deliver to the Accountant or trustee such property or any part thereof, at such time, and in such manner, and on such terms, as to the Court may seem just.

DISCHARGE OF BANKRUPT.

30.—(1) A bankrupt may, at any time after being adjudged bankrupt, apply to the Court for an order of discharge. Such application shall be heard in open Court on such day as shall be appointed by the Court.

Application for order of discharge.

(2) Notice of such application and of the day appointed for hearing the same shall be given and published in the prescribed manner, and the trustee or any creditor who has proved may appear and object to such application.

(3) At the hearing of the application the Court shall take into consideration a report of the Accountant, as to the bankrupt's conduct and affairs, which report shall be prima facie evidence of the statements therein contained.

31.—The Court may either grant or refuse an absolute order of discharge or suspend the operation of the order for a specified time, or grant an order of discharge, subject to such conditions as may be fixed by the Court in respect of any earnings, salary or income which may afterwards accrue to, or be paid to, the bankrupt, or in respect of his after-acquired property :

Provided that the Court shall refuse the discharge in all cases where the bankrupt has been convicted for any offence punishable under this Ordinance, or where, in the opinion of the Court, he has been guilty of any such offence ;

And provided that the Court shall, on proof of any of the facts hereinafter mentioned, either refuse the order of discharge or suspend the operation thereof for a specified time, or grant the order, subject to such conditions as aforesaid.

In what cases can the discharge be refused or suspended.

32.—The facts referred to in the last proviso of the foregoing article are the following, namely :—

10. That the bankrupt has continued to trade after knowing himself to be insolvent.
20. That the bankrupt has contracted any debt provable in the bankruptcy, without having, at the time of contracting it, any reasonable or probable ground of expectation (proof whereof shall lie on him) of being able to pay it.
30. That the bankrupt has begun business with a fictitious capital or has brought on his bankruptcy by rash and hazardous speculations or unjustifiable extravagance in living.
40. That the bankrupt has put any of his creditors to unnecessary expense by a frivolous or vexatious defence to any action properly brought against him.
50. That the bankrupt has, within three months preceding the date of the presentation of the bankruptcy petition, when unable to pay his debts as they became due, given an undue preference to any of his creditors.
60. That the bankrupt has been guilty of any fraud or fraudulent breach of trust.

33.—A discharged bankrupt shall, notwithstanding his discharge, give such assistance as the Accountant or the trustee may require in the realization and distribution of his property, and, if he fails to do so, he shall be guilty of a contempt of Court, and the Court may also, if it thinks fit, revoke his discharge, but without prejudice to the validity of any sale, disposition or payment duly made or thing duly done subsequently to the discharge, but before its revocation.

34.—(1) An order of discharge shall not release the bankrupt from any debt on a recognizance nor from any fine or debt with which the bankrupt may be chargeable at the suit of the Crown (or of any person) for any offence against any Ordinance, or on a bail bond entered into for the appearance of any person prosecuted for any offence ; and he shall not be discharged from such excepted debts unless the Governor certify in writing his consent to his being discharged therefrom.

(2) An order of discharge shall not release the bankrupt from any debt or liability incurred by means of any fraud or fraudulent breach of trust to which he was a party, nor from any debt or liability whereof he has obtained forbearance by any fraud to which he was a party.

(3) An order of discharge shall not release any person who at the date of the receiving order was a partner or co-trustee with the bankrupt or was jointly bound or had made any joint contract with him, or any person who was surety or in the nature of a surety for him.

(4) An order of discharge shall release the bankrupt from all other debts provable in bankruptcy.

(5) An order of discharge shall be conclusive evidence of the bankruptcy and of the validity of the proceedings therein, and in any proceedings that may be instituted against a bankrupt who has obtained an order of discharge in respect of any debt from which he is released by the order, the bankrupt may plead that the cause of action occurred before his discharge, and may give the special matter in evidence.

DISQUALIFICATIONS OF BANKRUPT.

35.—Where a debtor is adjudged bankrupt, he shall, subject to the provisions of this Ordinance, be disqualified for being elected to or holding or exercising the office of Mayor or Municipal Councillor.

Such disqualifications shall be removed and shall cease when the adjudication in bankruptcy is annulled, or when the debtor obtains his discharge with a certificate from the Court to the effect that his bankruptcy was caused by misfortune without any misconduct on his part.

The Court may grant or withhold such certificate as it thinks fit, but any refusal of such certificate shall be subject to appeal.

PART III.

PROVABLE DEBTS.

37.—(1) Demands in the nature of unliquidated damages arising otherwise than by reason of a contract, promise, or breach of trust, shall not be provable in bankruptcy.

(2) A person having notice of any act of bankruptcy available against the debtor shall not prove under the order for any debt or liability contracted by the debtor subsequently to the date of his so having notice.

(3) Save as aforesaid, all debts and liabilities, present or future, certain or contingent, to which the debtor is subject at the date of the receiving order or to which he may become subject before his discharge by reason of any obligation incurred before the date of the receiving orders, shall be deemed to be debts provable in bankruptcy.

(4) An estimate shall be made by the Accountant of the value of any debt or liability provable as aforesaid, which, by reason of its being subject to any contingency or contingencies, or for any other reason, does not bear a certain value.

(5) Any person aggrieved by any estimate made by the Accountant as aforesaid may appeal to the Court.

(6) If, in the opinion of the Court, the value of the debt or liability is incapable of being fairly estimated, the Court may make an order to that effect, and thereupon the debt or liability shall, for the purposes of this Ordinance, be deemed to be a debt not provable in bankruptcy.

(7) If, in the opinion of the Court, the value of the debt or liability is capable of being fairly estimated, the Court may direct the value to be assessed before the Court itself, and may give all necessary directions for this purpose, and the amount of the value when assessed shall be deemed to be a debt provable in bankruptcy.

(8) "Liability" shall for the purposes of this Ordinance include any compensation for work or labour done, any obligation or possibility of an obligation to pay money or money's worth on the breach of any express or implied covenant; contract, agreement, or undertaking, whether the breach does or does not occur, or is or is not likely to occur or capable of occurring before the discharge of the debtor, and generally it shall include any express or implied engagement, agreement or undertaking to pay, or capable of resulting in the payment of money, or money's worth, whether the payment is, as respects amount, fixed or unliquidated; as respects time, present or future, certain or dependent on any one contingency, or on two or more contingencies; as to mode of valuation, capable of being ascertained by fixed rules, or as matter of opinion.

38.—Where there have been mutual credits, mutual debts, or other mutual dealings between a debtor against whom

a receiving order shall be made under this

Ordinance, and any other person proving or claiming to prove a debt under such receiving order, an account shall be taken of what is due from the one party to the other in respect of such mutual dealings, and the sum due from the one party shall be set off against any sum due from the other party, and the balance of the account, and no more, shall be claimed or paid on either side respectively; but a person shall not be entitled under this section to claim the benefit of any set-off against the property of a debtor in any case where he had, at the time of giving credit to the debtor, notice of an act of bankruptcy committed by the debtor and available against him.

PREFERENTIAL DEBTS.

39.—The debts of the bankrupt shall be paid according to the laws in force in the Colony with regard to privileges and priority of claims, except as in this

Ordinance otherwise expressly enacted.

40.—The privilege and right of resumption (revendication) enacted in paragraph 4 of article 2102 of the Civil Code, and the right of resolution of the unpaid vendor of moveables shall not be allowed in bankruptcy, except as provided in article 49 of this Ordinance.

41.—All preferential debts due by the bankrupt must, in the first instance, be presented to the Accountant, and costs concerning them will only be allowed out of the bankrupt's estate, in case the Accountant has refused to admit the same.

Preferential debts to be submitted to Accountant.

On receiving notice of any such claim, the Accountant shall verify the same, and, if satisfied that it is well founded, shall move the Court for an order authorizing payment of the same.

But the trustee shall have the right to apply to the Court in order that any claim wrongly admitted by the Accountant as aforesaid be set aside.

42.—The costs in bankruptcy incurred prior to the appointment of the trustee shall be paid out of the debtor's estate by preference to all other creditors

1. The costs and charges of the Accountant;
2. The costs incurred in securing or realizing any of the property or assets of the debtor;
3. The costs of the petitioning creditor to obtain the adjudication of bankruptcy.

43.—The claim of the landlord for rent shall be paid on the price of the moveables, goods or chattels placed on the premises leased, in priority to all other claims, but after payment of the costs mentioned in the preceding article :

Claim of the landlord.

Provided that, if prior to the receiving order the landlord has seized such moveables, goods or chattels, his claim shall be paid on the net value of the property seized in priority to all the costs aforesaid.

44.—The landlord's privilege for rent shall not exceed four months' rent due prior to the adjudication of bankruptcy, and such privilege shall continue for all the time during which the Accountant or trustee shall remain in possession of the premises leased.

Landlord's privilege.

The same privilege shall extend to sums due for four months' use and occupation under article 6 of Ordinance no. 15 of 1881 and to a landlord's claim to indemnity for injury under article 68 of this Ordinance :

Provided that, if such rent, or sum claimable for use and occupation falls due at stated periods, and the order of adjudication is made at any time other than one of such periods, the landlord shall be entitled to his privilege for rent or for use and occupation up to the day of the adjudication of bankruptcy, as if such rent or sum grew due from day to day.

45.—When, at the time of the presentation of the bankruptcy petition, the debtor shall be indebted to any of his clerks, servants or workmen in respect of the salary or wages of such clerk, servant or workman, whether payable for time or piece-work, it shall be lawful for the Court, upon proof thereof, to order so much as shall be so due not exceeding three months' salary or wages and not exceeding three hundred rupees in the case of clerks, and not exceeding sixty rupees in the case of servants or workmen, to be paid to each such clerk, servant or workman, out of the bankrupt's estate by privilege after the preferential claims mentioned in the preceding articles.

The claims of the clerks, servants and workmen under this article shall rank equally between themselves and shall be paid pari passu.

46.—In the case of partners, the joint estate shall be applicable in the first instance in payment of their joint debts, and the separate estate of each partner shall be applicable in the first instance in payment of his separate debts.

Joint and separate debts.

If there is a surplus of the separate estates, it shall be dealt with as part of the joint estate. If there is a surplus of the joint estate, it shall be dealt with as part of the respective separate estates in proportion to the right and interest of each partner in the joint estate.

PROPERTY AVAILABLE FOR PAYMENT OF DEBTS.

47.—The bankruptcy of a debtor, whether the same takes place on the debtor's own petition or upon that of a creditor or creditors, shall be deemed to have relation back to, and to commence at, the time of the act of bankruptcy being committed on which a receiving order is made against him, or, if the bankrupt is proved to have committed more acts of bankruptcy than one, to have relation back to, and to commence at, the time of the first of the acts of bankruptcy proved to have been committed by the bankrupt within three months next preceding the date of the presentation of the bankruptcy petition ; but no bankruptcy petition, receiving order, or adjudication shall be rendered invalid by reason of any act of bankruptcy anterior to the debt of the petitioning creditor.

Description of bankrupt's property divisible among creditors

1. All such property as may belong to or be vested in the bankrupt at the commencement of the bankruptcy or may be acquired by or devolve on him during its continuance.
2. The capacity to exercise and to take proceedings for exercising all such powers in and over or in respect of property as might have been exercised by the bankrupt for his own benefit at the commencement of his bankruptcy or during its continuance.
3. All moveable property being, at the commencement of the bankruptcy, in the possession, order, or disposition of the bankrupt, by the consent and permission of the true owner, of which moveable property the bankrupt is reputed owner, or of which he has taken upon himself the sale or disposition as owner : provided that things in action other than debts due to him in the course of his trade or business shall not be deemed moveable property within the meaning of this clause.

1. Property held by the bankrupt on trust or as a deposit for any other person,
2. The necessary wearing apparel and bedding of himself, his wife and children, the whole to a value not exceeding Rs. 500 to be fixed by the Court according to circumstances, and the tools if any of his trade ;
3. Property existing in kind among the debtor's assets, and which he obtained by means of fraud when he was in actual contemplation of bankruptcy and for which he has not paid : provided that such property be claimed within eight days from the date of the publication in the Government Gazette of the order of adjudication ;
4. All negotiable instruments or other unpaid titles existing in kind among the bankrupt's assets and which shall have been sent or delivered by the owner thereof for the mere purpose of the bankrupt obtaining payment thereof and keeping the amount at the owner's disposal or which shall have been by the owner applied to or destined for specified debts ;
5. All goods and merchandize consigned to the bankrupt to be sold for the account of the owner and existing in kind among the bankrupt's assets, and also the price or portion of the price due to the bankrupt by a purchaser of the said goods and merchandize ;

Provided that the party claiming the instruments, titles or goods and merchandize mentioned in paragraphs 4 and 5 shall pay to the Accountant or trustee all sums spent by the bankrupt on account of or for the said instruments, titles or goods and merchandize, and all advances made thereon for freight or carriage, commission, insurance and other costs.

6. All goods and merchandize sold to the bankrupt, the price of which is wholly or partly due and which have not been delivered to the bankrupt or his agent. The vendor of such goods or his agent may retain them, or, if they have been sent to the bankrupt, may stop them in transitu before they are delivered to the bankrupt or his agent : provided that, on payment of any sum or balance due, the said goods or merchandize shall form part of the bankrupt's property.

EFFECT OF BANKRUPTCY ON ANTECEDENT TRANSACTION.

50.—(1) Where a creditor has issued execution against moveable effects or goods of a debtor, or has attached any debt due to him, he shall not be entitled to retain the benefit of the execution or attachment against the trustee in bankruptcy of the debtor, unless he has completed the execution or attachment before the date of the receiving order, and before notice of the presentation of any bankruptcy petition by or against the debtor, or of the commission of any available act of bankruptcy by the debtor.

(2) For the purposes of this Ordinance, an execution against goods is completed by seizure and sale; an attachment of a debt is completed by receipt of the debt.

51.—(1) Where moveable effects or goods of a debtor are taken in execution, and before the sale thereof notice is served on the usher that a receiving order has been made against the debtor, the usher shall, on request, deliver the goods to the Accountant or trustee under the order, but the costs of execution shall be a charge on the goods delivered and the Accountant or trustee may sell the goods or an adequate part thereof for the purpose of satisfying the charge.

(2) Where moveable effects or goods of a debtor are sold under an execution in respect of a judgment for a sum exceeding Rs. 200, the usher shall deduct the costs of the execution from the proceeds of the sale and pay the balance to the cashier of the Court to which he is attached, and such cashier shall retain the same for eight days; and if within that time notice is served on him of a bankruptcy petition having been presented against or by the debtor, the cashier shall hold the proceeds on trust to pay to the trustee. If no such notice be served within such delay, or if, such notice having been served, the debtor is not adjudged bankrupt on such petition or on any other petition of which the cashier has notice, the cashier may deal with the proceeds as if no notice had been served on him.

(3) An execution levied by seizure and sale of the goods of a debtor is not invalid by reason only of its being an act of bankruptcy, and a person who purchases the goods in good faith under a sale by the usher shall in all cases acquire a good title against the trustee in bankruptcy.

52.—Any settlement of property made by a trader not being a settlement made before and in consideration of marriage, of property actually vested in him at the time of such marriage, or not being a settlement made in favour of a purchaser or incumbrancer in good faith and for valuable consideration, shall, if the settler becomes bankrupt within two years after the date of such settlement, be void as against the trustee under this Ordinance, and shall, if the settler becomes bankrupt at any subsequent time within ten years after the date of such settlement,—unless the parties claiming under such settlement can prove that the settler was, at the time of making the settlement, able to pay all his debts without the aid of the property comprised in such settlement,—be void as against such trustee.

“Settlement” shall, for the purposes of this article, include any conveyance or mortgaging of property.

53.—(1) Every conveyance or transfer of property, or charge thereon made, every payment made, every obligation incurred, and every judicial proceeding taken or suffered by any person unable to pay his debts as they become due from his own money in favour of any creditor, or any person in trust for any creditor, with a view of giving such creditor a preference over the other creditor, shall, if the person making, taking, praying, or suffering the same is adjudged bankrupt on a bankruptcy petition presented within three months after the date of making, taking, praying or suffering the same, be deemed fraudulent and void against the trustee in the bankruptcy.

(2) This article shall not affect the rights of any person making title in good faith and for valuable consideration through or under a creditor of the bankrupt.

54.—Subject to the foregoing provisions of this Ordinance with respect to Protection of bona fide transactions without the effect of bankruptcy on an execution notice, or attachment, and with respect to the avoidance of certain settlements and preferences, nothing in this Ordinance shall invalidate in the case of a bankruptcy—

- (a) Any payment by the bankrupt to any of his creditors :
- (b) Any payment or delivery to the bankrupt :
- (c) Any conveyance or assignment by the bankrupt for valuable consideration :
- (d) Any contract, dealing, or transaction by or with the bankrupt for valuable consideration :

Provided that both the following conditions are complied with, namely :—

- 1. The payment, delivery, conveyance, assignment, contract, dealing, or transaction as the case may be, takes place before the date of the receiving order ; and
- 2. The person (other than the debtor) to, by, or with whom the payment, delivery, conveyance, assignment, contract, dealing, or transaction was made, executed, or entered into, has not at the time of the payment, delivery, conveyance, assignment, contract dealing or transaction, notice of any available act of bankruptcy committed by the bankrupt before that time.

PROPERTY AND RIGHTS OF THE BANKRUPT'S WIFE.

55.—(1) The legal mortgage of a bankrupt's wife, when duly inscribed before the adjudication of bankruptcy, shall secure—

Legal mortgage

- (a) Any moveable property brought as dower or accruing to her since the marriage by inheritance, donation or legacy whereof the payment or delivery can be proved by a deed having a certain date.
- (b) Any claim she may have against her husband by reason of the sale or other transfer of property belonging to her personally.

(2) If at the time of the marriage the husband was a trader or became a trader within the year following the marriage, the mortgage will affect only such immoveable property as belonged to him at the time of the marriage or accrued to him by succession, donation or legacy.

(3) If at the time of the marriage the husband was a trader, or if he became a trader within the year following the marriage, the wife shall have no claim against the estate for any advantages (avantages) settled on her by the marriage contract. In such a case the trustee shall not be entitled to claim any advantage secured to the husband in such contract.

56.—(1) Under this Ordinance, a bankrupt's wife who shall not have brought her immoveable property into community shall have the right to resume in kind the said immoveable property and such immoveable property as shall accrue to her by inheritance, legacy or donation.

(2) She shall likewise have the right to resume the immoveable property purchased by her in her own name with moneys arising from inheritance, legacy or donation and declared to be her exclusive property by the marriage contract, or from the proceeds of the immoveables mentioned in the preceding paragraph, provided that the origin of such moneys be expressly proved by a deed of inventory or other authentic deed, that a declaration be expressly made in the deed of purchase that the immoveables purchased shall be in lieu of the aforesaid immoveables or moneys, and also that such purchase be made within one year from the date of such money accruing to her 57.—(1) Under what condition soever the marriage may have been contracted, and in case of judicial separation, the legal presumption shall be, except in the case specified in the preceding article, that all property acquired by the bankrupt's wife is the property of her husband, that it was paid for with his moneys and must form part of his assets, saving to the wife the right to prove the contrary by authentic deeds.

(2) When the wife has paid debts for the husband, the presumption shall be that she did so with his own moneys, saving her right to prove the contrary by authentic deeds.

58.—(1) The wife may resume in kind such moveable property as shall have been reserved for herself by the marriage contract or which shall have accrued to her by inheritance, legacy or donation, and which do not form part of the community, provided that their identity be proved by a deed of inventory or other authentic document.

(2) The wife failing to make such proof, all the moveable property whatever used by the husband or by the wife under whatever condition the marriage may have been contracted, shall form part of the bankrupt's property, and the wife shall not be entitled to receive therefrom anything save her own wearing apparel.

59.—Such immovable property as shall be resumed by the wife pursuant to article 56 hereof shall be subject to the debts and mortgages affecting the same, whether she shall have bound herself or been judicially declared liable thereto.

REALIZATION OF PROPERTY.

60.—(1) Immediately on a debtor being adjudged bankrupt, the property of the bankrupt shall vest in the trustee. Until a trustee is appointed, the Accountant shall be the trustee for the purposes of this Ordinance.

(2) On the appointment of a trustee, the property shall forthwith pass to and vest in the trustee appointed.

(3) The property of the bankrupt shall pass from trustee to trustee, including under that term the Accountant when he fills the office of trustee for the time being during his continuance in office, without any conveyance, assignment, or transfer whatever.

61.—(1) The trustee shall, as soon as may be, take possession of the deeds, books and documents of the bankrupt, and all other parts of his property capable of manual delivery.

(2) The certificate of appointment of the trustee shall for all purposes be deemed to effect a conveyance or assignment to him of all the bankrupt's property.

(3) Where any part of the property of the bankrupt consists of stock, shares in ships, shares or any other property transferable in the books of any company, office, or person, the trustee may exercise the right to transfer the property to the same extent as the bankrupt might have exercised it if he had not become bankrupt.

(4) Where any part of the property of the bankrupt consists of things in action, such things shall be deemed to have been duly assigned to the trustee.

(5) Any treasurer, or other officer, or any banker, attorney, or agent of a bankrupt, shall pay and deliver to the trustee all money and securities in his possession or power, as such officer, banker, attorney, or agent, which he is not by law entitled to retain as against the bankrupt or the trustee. If he does not, he shall be guilty of a contempt of Court, and may be punished accordingly on the application of the trustee.

62.—(1) Any person acting under warrant of the Court may seize any part of the property of a bankrupt in the custody or possession of the bankrupt, or of any other person, and with a view to such seizure may break open any house, building or room of the bankrupt where the bankrupt is supposed to be, or any building or receptacle of the bankrupt where any of his property is supposed to be; and where the Court is satisfied that there is reason to believe that books, papers or other property of the bankrupt is concealed in a house or place not belonging to him, the Court may, if it thinks fit, grant a search warrant to any constable or officer of the Court, who may execute it according to its tenor.

(2) Where a bankrupt is in the receipt of a salary, the Court, on the application of the trustee, shall from time to time make such order as it thinks just for the payment of any portion not exceeding one-third of the salary to the trustee to be applied by him in such manner as the Court may direct.

63.—(1) The trustee may, by notice in writing signed by him and served on the interested party within three months after the adjudication of bankruptcy, disclaim the following property:—

What property may be disclaimed.

(a) Any part of the property of the bankrupt consisting of land, of any tenure burdened with onerous covenants, of shares or stock in companies, or of unprofitable contracts;

(b) Any other property that is unsaleable, or not readily saleable by reason of its binding the bankrupt to the performance of any onerous act or to the payment of any sum of money.

(2) Such property may be disclaimed notwithstanding that the Accountant or trustee has endeavoured to sell or has taken possession of the same, or exercised any act of ownership in relation thereto.

(3) In the case of a lease, no such lease shall be disclaimed, except with the leave of the Court and subject to such orders with respect to fixtures, tenant's improvements and other matters, as the Court thinks just to make.

(4) When any such property shall not have come to the knowledge of the trustee within one month after the adjudication, he may disclaim such property at any time within two months after he first became aware thereof.

64.—(1) The Court may, on application by or against any person who is entitled to the benefit of a contract made with the bankrupt, or is subject to the burden of any such contract, make an order rescinding such contract on such terms as to payment by or to either party of damages for the non-performance of the contract, or otherwise, as to the Court may seem equitable.

(2) Damages awarded to any such person under the provisions hereof shall be a debt provable in bankruptcy.

65.—Upon the disclaimer being executed as aforesaid, the property disclaimed shall, if the same is a contract, be deemed to be determined from the date of the order of adjudication, and, if the same is a lease, be deemed to have been surrendered on the day the leave of the Court was granted, and, if the same be shares in any company, be deemed to be forfeited from the date of the order of adjudication.

66.—Any person interested in a disclaimed property may apply to the Court, and the Court may order possession of the disclaimed property to be delivered up to him or make such other order as to the possession thereof as may be just.

Right of person interested in a disclaimer.

67.—The disclaimer shall discharge the Accountant or trustee, as the case may be, from all personal liability in respect of the property disclaimed, and shall also release the bankrupt and his property from any liability; but it shall not affect the rights or liabilities of any other person. a

68.—Any person injured by the operation of a disclaimer shall be deemed to be a creditor of the bankrupt to the extent of such injury, and, after the Court shall have fixed and determined the extent of such injury, the sum awarded by the Court shall be a debt provable in bankruptcy:

Provided that, in the case of a landlord, the amount to which he shall be entitled for the injury suffered by him shall be equivalent to and shall never exceed one month's rent.

69.—The Accountant or trustee, as the case may be, shall not be entitled to disclaim any property in pursuance of this Ordinance in cases where an application in writing has been made to him by any person interested in such property, requiring him to decide whether he will disclaim or not, and he has, for a period not less than twenty-eight days after the receipt of such application or such further time as may be allowed by the Court, declined or neglected to give notice whether he disclaims the same or not; and in the case of a contract, if the Accountant or trustee, after such application as aforesaid, does not, within the said period or extended period, disclaim the contract, he shall be deemed to have accepted it.

GENERAL POWERS OF TRUSTEE.

70.—Subject to the provisions of this Ordinance, the trustee shall have power to do the following things:—

1. To exercise any powers the capacity to exercise which is vested in him under this Ordinance, and to execute all powers of attorney, deeds and other instruments expedient or necessary for the purpose of carrying into effect the provisions of this Ordinance;
2. To give receipt for any money received by him, which receipt shall effectually discharge the person paying the money from all responsibility in respect of the application thereof;
3. To prove, rank, claim and draw a dividend in the matter of the bankruptcy of any debtor of the bankrupt.

71.—(1) The trustee may, with the permission and subject to the directions of the committee of inspection, or of the Court in case no committee of Inspection be appointed, do all or any of the following things:—

1. Sell all or any part of the property of the bankrupt (including the goodwill of the business, if any, and the book debts due or growing due to the bankrupt) by public auction or private contract, with power to transfer the whole thereof to any person or company, or to sell the same in parcels: provided that any purchaser or transferee of such book-debts shall not be bound to notify the purchase or transfer to the person by whom the debt is due.
2. Carry on the business of the bankrupt so far as may be necessary for the beneficial winding up of the same;
3. Bring, institute or defend any action, suit or other legal proceeding relating to the property of the bankrupt;
4. Employ an attorney or other agent to take any proceedings or do any business which may be sanctioned by the committee of inspection or Court, as the case may be;

5. Accept, as the consideration for the sale of any property of the bankrupt, a sum of money payable at a future time, subject to such stipulations as to security and otherwise as the committee of inspection or the Court think fit;
6. Mortgage or pledge any part of the property of the bankrupt for the purpose of raising money for the payment of his debts;
7. Refer any dispute to arbitration, compromise all debts, claims and liabilities, whether present or future, certain or contingent, liquidated or unliquidated, subsisting or supposed to subsist between the bankrupt and any debtor or person who may have incurred any liability to the bankrupt, upon the receipt of such sums, payable at such times and generally upon such terms as may be agreed upon;
8. Make such compromise or other arrangement as may be thought expedient with creditors or persons claiming to be creditors in respect of any debts provable under the bankruptcy, or with persons preferring claims to property in the possession of or consigned to the bankrupt;
9. Pay off any secured creditor and take possession of the security and make any payment as provided in the sixth paragraph of article 49 of this Ordinance;
10. Make such compromise or other arrangement as may be thought expedient with respect to any claim arising out of or incidental to the property of the bankrupt, made or capable of being made on the trustee by any person or by the trustee on any person;
11. Divide in its existing form amongst the creditors, according to its estimated value, any property which, from its peculiar nature or other special circumstances, cannot advantageously be realized by sale;
12. Disclaim any onerous property as provided by article 63 of this Ordinance.

(2) The permission given for the purposes of this article shall not be a general permission to do all or any of the abovementioned things, but shall only be a permission to do the particular thing or things for which permission is sought in the specified case or cases.

72.—When the Accountant acts as trustee, the powers given to the trustee under article 71 hereof shall be exercised by him, subject to the directions and sanction of the Court.

DISTRIBUTION OF PROPERTY.

73. (1) After payment of all preferential claims and of all other sums ordered to be paid out of the bankrupt estate and subject to the retention of such sums as may be necessary for the costs of administration or otherwise, the trustee shall, with all convenient speed, declare and distribute, in the prescribed manner, dividends amongst the creditors who have proved, as prescribed, their debts to his satisfaction.

(2) Any dividend declared by the trustee shall consist, subject to the provisions hereof, of all money in his hands at the time of the declaration of the dividend.

(3) Except as provided in article 76 hereof, the first dividend, if any, shall be declared and distributed within four months after the appointment of the trustee, unless the trustee satisfies the committee of inspection or the Accountant, as the case may be, that there is sufficient reason for postponing the declaration of the dividend to a later date.

(4) Subsequent dividends shall, in the absence of sufficient reason to the contrary, be declared and distributed at intervals of not more than six months.

74.—The personal estate of every partner of a firm shall accrue to and be paid to the personal creditors of such partner, and the creditors of the firm shall not receive any dividend out of the separate estate of such partner, until all the creditors of the latter have received the full amount of their respective debts. For the purposes hereof, the respective estates of the firm and of each partner thereof shall be administered by the same trustee, but separate accounts shall be kept by such trustee.

75.—When a distribution of the price of immoveable property shall be made previous to the declaration of any dividends, the inscribed creditors whose claims shall not be collocated in full on such price shall, for whatever remains due to them, rank with the unsecured creditors pari passu on any dividend or dividends declared by the trustee, provided that their claims shall have been proved as prescribed.

(2) In case one or more dividends are declared before the distribution of the price of the immoveable property, the inscribed creditors shall be entitled to participate in such dividend or dividends; but any sum allotted to them in any such dividend shall revert, in part or in full, to the bankruptcy, in case their claim or any part thereof be subsequently collocated on the sale price of the immoveables. If part only of their claim is collocated, their share in the dividend shall be reduced in proportion to the sums for which they remain creditors after deduction of their collocations.

76.—(1) In the calculation and distribution of a dividend the trustee shall make provision for debts provable in bankruptcy appearing from the bankrupt's statements, to be due to persons resident in places so distant from the place where the trustee is acting that in the ordinary course of communication they have not had sufficient time to tender their proofs or to establish them if disputed, and also for debts provable in bankruptcy, the subject of claims not yet determined.

(2) This article shall not apply to the case of an absconding debtor who has left without filing his statement of affairs, in which case the first dividend shall be declared after the expiration of six months from the date of the adjudication of bankruptcy, and shall be paid to the creditors who have proved their claims in the prescribed manner.

77.—Any creditor who has not, as prescribed, proved his debt before the declaration of any dividend or dividends, shall be entitled to be paid out of any moneys for the time being in the hands of the trustee any dividend or dividends he may have failed to receive before such moneys are made applicable to the payment of any future dividend or dividends, but he shall not be entitled to disturb the distribution of any dividend declared before his debt was proved by reason that he has not participated therein.

78.—(1) When the trustee has converted into money all the property of the bankrupt, or so much thereof as can, in the joint opinion of himself and of the committee of inspection, be realized without needlessly protracting the bankruptcy, he shall declare a final dividend, and give notice to the creditors whose claims have been rejected by him that, if such claims are not admitted by the Court within such delay as may be fixed by the Court, he will proceed to declare a final dividend without regard to their claims.

(2) After the expiration of such delay, or if the Court, on application by any such creditor, grants him further time for establishing his claim, then, on the expiration of such further time, the final dividend shall be distributed among the creditors who have proved without regard to the claims of any other persons.

(3) If the Court admits any claim which may have been rejected by the trustee, the holder of such claim shall be entitled to be paid out of all available property in the hands of the trustee any dividend or dividends to which he would have been entitled if his claim had not been rejected by the trustee.

79.—The bankrupt shall be entitled to any surplus remaining after payment of the debts due to his creditors, and of the costs, charges and expenses of the bankruptcy.

Bankrupt entitled to surplus.

80.—No action or suit for a dividend shall lie against the trustee, but if the trustee refuses to pay any dividend, the Court may, if it thinks fit, order the trustee to pay the same, and also to pay out of his own moneys interest thereon for the time that it is withheld and the costs of the application.

No action for dividend.

97.—If a receiving order is made against a trustee he shall thereby vacate his office of trustee.

98.—(1) The creditors may, by resolution at a meeting specially called for that purpose, of which notice shall be given in the prescribed manner, remove a trustee appointed by them and appoint another one in his stead.

(2) If, on the application of the Accountant or of any interested person, the Court is of opinion that a trustee is guilty of misconduct, or fails to perform his duties under this Ordinance, the Court may remove him from his office.

99.—If any vacancy occurs in the office of trustee, by death, resignation, removal, or otherwise, and there is no other trustee to carry on the bankruptcy, the Accountant shall act as trustee, and he shall, on the requisition of any creditor who has proved, summon a general meeting of creditors for the purpose of filling up such vacancy.

Proof by secured creditors.

9.—If a secured creditor realizes his security, he may prove for the balance due to him, after deducting the nett amount realized.

11.—If a secured creditor does not either realize or surrender his security, he shall, before ranking for dividend, state in his proof the particulars of his security, the date when it was given, and the value at which he assesses it, and shall be entitled to receive a dividend only in respect of the balance due to him after deducting the value so assessed.

12—(a) Where a security is so valued the trustee may at any time redeem it on payment to the creditor of the assessed value.

(b) If the trustee is dissatisfied with the value at which a security is assessed, he may require that the property comprised in any security so valued be offered for sale at such times and on such terms and conditions as may be agreed on between the creditor and the trustee, or as, in default of such agreement, the Court may direct. If the sale be by public auction the creditor, or the trustee on behalf of the estate, may bid or purchase.

(c) Provided that the creditor may at any time, by notice in writing, require the trustee to elect whether he will or will not exercise his power of redeeming the security or requiring it to be realized, and if the trustee does not, within six months after receiving the notice, signify in writing to the creditor his election to exercise the power, he shall not be entitled to exercise it, and the equity of redemption, or any other interest in the property comprised in the security which is vested in the trustee, shall vest in the creditor, and the amount of his debt shall be reduced by the amount at which the security has been valued.

14.—Where a valuation has been amended in accordance with the foregoing rule the creditor shall forthwith repay any surplus dividend which he may have received in excess of that to which he would have been entitled on the amended valuation, or as the case may be, shall be entitled to be paid, out of any money for the time being available for dividend, any dividend or share of dividend which he may have failed to receive by reason of the inaccuracy of the original valuation, before that money is made applicable to the payment of any future dividend, but he shall not be entitled to disturb the distribution of any dividend declared before the date of the amendment.

15.—If a creditor after having valued his security subsequently realizes it, or if it is realized under the provisions of rule 12, the net amount realized shall be substituted for the amount of any valuation previously made by the creditor, and shall be treated in all respects as an amended valuation made by the creditor.

16.—If a secured creditor does not comply with the foregoing rules he shall be excluded from all share in any dividend.

17.—Subject to the provisions of rule 12, a creditor shall, in no case, receive more than the full amount of his claim in principal and interest as provided by this Ordinance.

Periodical Payments.

19.—When any rent or other payment falls due at stated periods, and the receiving order is made at any time other than one of those periods, the person entitled to the rent or payment may prove for a proportionate part thereof upto the date of the order as if the rent or payment grew due from day to day.

20.—On any debt or sum certain, payable at a certain time or otherwise, whereon interest is not reserved or agreed for and which is overdue at the date of the receiving order and provable in bankruptcy, the creditor may prove for interest at a rate not exceeding four per centum per annum to the date of the order from the time when the debt or sum was payable, if the debt or sum is payable by virtue of a written instrument at a certain time, and if payable otherwise, than from the time when a demand in writing has been made giving the debtor notice that interest will be claimed from the date of the demand until the time of payment.

Debt payable at a future time.

21.—A creditor may prove for a debt not payable when the debtor committed an act of bankruptcy as if it were payable presently and may receive dividends equally with the other creditors, deducting only thereout a rebate of interest at the rate of five per centum per annum computed from the declaration of a dividend to that time when the debt would have become payable according to the terms on which it was contracted.

ADMISSION OR REJECTION OF PROOFS.

22.—The trustee shall examine every proof and the grounds of the debt, and in writing admit or reject it, in whole or in part, or require further evidence in support of it. If he rejects a proof he shall state in writing to the creditor the grounds of the rejection.

23.—If the Accountant thinks that a proof has been improperly admitted, the Court may, on his application after notice to the creditor who made the proof, expunge the proof or reduce its amount.

No. 1636-G.—The following rules regarding the submission or withholding by Local Governments or Administrations and by Officers of the Political Department of the Government of India, of petitions, memorials, and other papers of the same class, relating to matters affecting persons or places under their political charge, when such petitions or other papers are addressed to the Government of India, to His Majesty the King, Emperor of India, or to the Right Honourable the Secretary of State for India, are published for general information:—

I.—MEMORIALS, ETC., ADDRESSED TO THE GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

1. Every memorial must be submitted to the Political Officer of the State, within whose jurisdiction the subject-matter has arisen, accompanied by a copy of the order appealed against and by a letter requesting its transmission to the authority to which it is addressed.

2. Memorials may be transmitted either in manuscript or in print, but must, with all accompanying documents, be properly authenticated by the signature of the memorialist on each sheet.

3. Subject to the exceptions hereinafter contained, every memorial received which conforms to the above rules, should be forwarded by the Political Officer through the usual official channel, with a concise statement of material facts, and, unless there be special reasons to the contrary, an expression of opinion.

4. Memorials, together with their accompanying documents, should be in English. If the accompanying documents must necessarily be forwarded in the vernacular, an English translation should be appended, which should be attested by the signature of the memorialist on each sheet.

N.B.—The transmitting office should examine such translations and, if they are found to be incorrect or faulty, notice the fact in sending on the memorial.

5. Every memorial should be accompanied by copies of all the orders passed in the case by the authorities who have dealt with it in India.

6. Local Governments, Administrations, and Political Officers in direct subordination to the Foreign Department of the Government of India are vested with discretionary power to withhold memorials addressed to the Government of India in the following cases:

- (1) When the memorial is illegible or unintelligible.
- (2) When the memorial contains language which, in the opinion of the authority who would otherwise forward it, is disloyal, disrespectful, or improper.
- (3) When a previous petition of the memorialist (which term includes a rejoinder submitted by the memorialist in answer to a previous petition of some other party) has been disposed of by the Secretary of State or the Governor General in Council, and the petition discloses no new facts or circumstances which afford grounds for a reconsideration of the case.
- (4) When the memorial relates to a matter which is within the competence of the Local Government, Administration, or Political Officer to dispose of, and no application has previously been made to such Government, Administration or Political Officer for redress.
- (5) When the memorial is an appeal preferred more than six months after the date on which the memorialist was informed of the orders against which he appeals, provided that the Local Government, Administration or Political Officer as the case may be, may, at their or his discretion, extend the period to twelve months, if the delay will facilitate a settlement of the dispute, or other good cause is shown.
- (6) When the memorial refers to matters in which the memorialist is not personally interested.

7. Provided they do not contravene the conditions specified in the preceding section, memorials which are appeals against orders passed by Local Governments, Administrations, and Political Officers in direct subordination to the Foreign Department of the Government of India, in the exercise of political control in territories not included in British India, shall be forwarded, except in the following cases in which a discretionary power to withhold the memorials may be exercised:—

- * (1) When the order appealed against has been passed by the Local Government, Administration, or Political Officer as a recognised Court of Appeal in regard to a judgment or order of any Court of civil or criminal jurisdiction established or continued by the Governor General in Council in such territories.
- (2) When the order appealed against is a mere refusal to exercise political control in regard to a judgment or order of any special Court established by the Governor General in Council in such territories, from which Court there is, by its constitution, no appeal, though a general political control over it is declared or understood to exist.
- (3) When the order appealed against is a mere refusal to interfere in a matter of purely internal policy with the action or orders of the Ruler of a Native State, of which the memorialist is a subject: provided that the State is one in which it is not customary for the British Government to intervene in matters of internal policy, and that the matter complained of does not disclose a state of misrule so gross that the Paramount Power would be called upon to interfere.

N.B.—This rule applies to a temporary Administration established in a Native State by the Governor General in Council when the temporary Administration is appointed to exercise the same powers and occupy the same position as the Native Administration which it supersedes.

8. Memorials from persons † in such territories which are not covered by these rules may be treated under the memorial rules of the Home Department when they are applicable.

* Note to Rule 7 (1) of Sections I and II.—Memorials which are practically appeals for mercy or pardon must be transmitted. But their transmission will not affect the discretion in regard to capital sentences allowed to Local Governments and Administrations by the Home Department Resolution No. 20—1403-13, dated the 14th October 1885, as modified by Foreign Department Circular No. 3289-1. B., dated the 30th August 1901.

9. The following special rules apply to the case of appeals against the orders of the Government of Bombay :—

- (c) Cutch Jadeja Court cases.

(2) Memorialists who desire to appeal against the orders of the Government of Bombay in political cases shall have the option of addressing such appeals either to the Government of India or to the Secretary of State and such appeals shall be forwarded subject to the provisions of Rules 6 and 7. This rule shall not apply to—

- (a) appeals in Giras cases or in those which are specially covered by any of the foregoing rules ;
- (b) memorials of the class specially reserved in Rule IV of the Rules published with Home Department notification No. 148 (Public), dated the 19th January 1905 ;

II.—MEMORIALS, ETC., ADDRESSED TO HIS MAJESTY THE KING, EMPEROR OF INDIA, OR TO THE SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA.

2. Memorials may be transmitted either in manuscript or in print, but must, with all accompanying documents, be properly authenticated by the signature of the memorialist on each sheet.

- (4) When the memorialist has not previously appealed to the Government of India (or the Government of Madras or Bombay, as the case may be), and received the decision of the Governor General (or Governor) in Council upon it.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE COUNCIL OF THE GOVERNOR GENERAL OF INDIA, ASSEMBLED FOR THE PURPOSE OF MAKING LAWS AND REGULATIONS UNDER THE
AND 9 EDW. VII, CAP. 4).

PRESENT:

His Excellency THE EARL OF MINTO, P.C., G.C.M.G., G.M.S.I., G.M.I.E., Viceroy

OATH OF OFFICE.

The Hon'ble Mr. A. Earle, C.I.E.

CENSUS BILL.

The Hon'ble MR. JENKINS:—"My Lord, when Sir Herbert Risley introduced the Census Bill at Calcutta, he gave a clear account both of the subject of the Census and of the means by which it was proposed to carry them too, and I shall therefore only say a word or two. Since it was published some suggestions have been received, of which the only one of importance is one which is connected with the proposal to provide a special schedule for mines, mills and factories. It is hoped that the schedule will yield valuable information as to the progress and condition of Indian industries.

"I beg to move that the Bill to provide for certain matters in connection with the taking of the Census be referred to a Select Committee consisting of the Hon'ble Mr. Sinha, the Hon'ble Mr. Earle, the Hon'ble Khan Zulfiqar Ali Khan, the Hon'ble Lieutenant Malik Umar Hyat Khan, the Hon'ble Pandit Madan Mohan Malaviya, the Hon'ble Sardar Partab Singh and the mover. I would add, what is not in the notice, 'with instructions to report at the next meeting of the Council.' I believe it is well understood that the Bill will be passed at the next meeting."

The motion was put and agreed to.

INDIAN EMIGRATION (AMENDMENT) BILL.

The Hon'ble MR. ROBERTSON:—"My Lord, I fully explained the object of the Bill to amend the Emigration Act when I moved its introduction in this Council on the 23rd March last. It gives power to the Governor General in Council to prohibit emigration to any country for reasons which he may consider sufficient. The Bill has met with general support, and in moving that it be now taken into consideration I need only repeat what I said when the Bill was introduced, that the power proposed to be taken will not be lightly exercised and that emigration to any country to which it is at present lawful will not be closed without the fullest discussion of the case with the country concerned.

"I beg to move that the Bill to amend the Indian Emigration Act, 1908 be taken into consideration."

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble MR. ROBERTSON moved that the Bill be passed.

The motion was put and agreed to.

CRIMINAL TRIBES BILL.

The Hon'ble MR. JENKINS moved for leave to introduce a Bill to amend the law relating to the registration, surveillance and control of Criminal Tribes. He said:—"My Lord, the Criminal Tribes Act of 1871 has been amended from time to time during the last twenty years. It has never been very satisfactory. The present Bill owes its origin to the Police Commission, who in their report pointed out the inadequacy of the Act in certain respects and made proposals for its improvement. The criminal tribes in India may be divided roughly into three classes. In the first place, we have tribes who, though originally criminal, have now settled down to honest occupations, although some sections of them, and many individuals, still live by crime. Such for instance are Kolis, Bhils and Ramusis. It would be unjust to class them as wholly criminal, yet in some parts of the country, for instance in Poona, if you don't pay a Ramusi watchman you stand a chance of having your house looted. Next, there are tribes who have settled abodes, and generally, some ostensible occupation, but who periodically proceed on raids, often at a great distance from their homes and live solely on their ill-gotten gains. Thirdly, there are the vagrants, gypsy-like classes, who roam over a great extent of country and commit depredations whenever opportunity offers. They are here to-day and gone to-morrow. In Northern India they are the terror of the countryside. Now, it is obvious that we must have different methods of dealing with these different classes. We hope that this Bill provides a means of dealing with the special circumstances of each case. The first step under the Bill is to notify a tribe, gang or class of persons as a criminal tribe. Thereafter the members of that tribe may be required to register themselves, to allow their finger-prints to be taken and to report absence and changes of residence. Provision for registration exists under the present Act, although at the time the Act was passed the system of finger-prints was unknown. I believe in the case of the more settled tribes this measure of registration alone will be sufficient.

Where registration is insufficient, recourse may be had to one of two courses—either to the restriction of the movements of the tribes within certain specified areas—and that provision is a new one—or to the measure, for which provision is made under the existing Act, of settlement of a tribe in a place of residence. Now, the mere restriction of the movements of a tribe within a certain area is in itself an exceedingly strong deterrent, because the people within that area know who these people are and are on their guard against them, and this measure is therefore likely to be efficacious. It is less restrictive than placing a tribe in a settlement. The method of settling tribes has been tried in certain cases, and it has not been found of great value, because first of all it is extremely difficult to provide a means of livelihood, and the measure is very costly. Where it is absolutely necessary for the protection of life and property it will be necessary to have recourse to settlement, but I do not believe that this course is ultimately advantageous. If you intern a tribe in a certain locality, if you keep them there, there is a great risk that you will merely harden them in their habits and perpetuate the tricks of the trade. The second part of the Act will be repealed. The provisions relating to reformatory schools have been to some extent elaborated. In other respects the provisions of the Bill are in accordance with the provisions of the existing Act and require no explanation."

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble MR. JENKINS introduced the Bill.

The Hon'ble MR. JENKINS moved that the Bill, together with the Statement of Objects and Reasons relating thereto, be published in the Gazette of India in English, and in the local official Gazettes in English and in such other languages as the Local Governments think fit.

The motion was put and agreed to.

INDIAN TRAMWAYS (AMENDMENT) BILL.

The Hon'ble MR. ROBERTSON:—"My Lord, I move for leave to introduce a Bill further to amend the Indian Tramways Act, 1886. As is explained in the Statement of Objects and Reasons, the Bill is intended to secure the application of the Indian Tramways Act to monorails and to bring electric tramways within the scope of the Act. As regards the first point, doubts have been raised as to whether a monorail would come within the description of a tramway as contemplated by the Tramways Act. None of the provisions of the latter Act favour the contention that it may be applied to a monorail system, while there are provisions which seem to show that the legislature in enacting the Act contemplated a system consisting of two parallel lines of rail and no other. The amendment of the law which is now proposed will remove the doubt which has been raised and will place this means of transport, which may develop largely in the future, on a legal footing. As regards the second point, the present Tramways Act was passed in 1886 before the introduction of electric traction into India, and its provisions are not sufficient to cover this form of traction when applied to a tramway. This defect will be removed if the present Bill is passed into law."

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble MR. ROBERTSON introduced the Bill.

The Hon'ble MR. ROBERTSON moved that the Bill, together with the Statement of Objects and Reasons relating thereto, be published in the Gazette of India in English, and in the local official Gazettes in English and in such other languages as the Local Governments think fit.

The motion was put and agreed to.

CANTONMENTS (AMENDMENT) BILL.

His Excellency THE COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF moved for leave to introduce a Bill further to amend the Cantonments Act, 1889. He said:—"My Lord, the Bill is quite a simple one and is explained in the Statement of Objects and Reasons. Under section 17, sub-section (2), of the Cantonments Act, 1889, we are permitted to adapt in cantonments the Acts in force in municipalities for the assessment and recovery of a tax, but the penalties attached thereto are not permissible without invoking another section of the enactment. So it is proposed to amend this.

"The second part is thought desirable to prevent trespassing over open spaces and gardens and walking into soldiers' lines in cantonments. Under sub-section (17) of section 26, we are permitted to do so, but there is no penalty attached and it is proposed to amend the section so as to cover a penalty."

The motion was put and agreed to.

His Excellency THE COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF introduced the Bill and moved that it be referred to a Select Committee consisting of the Hon'ble Mr. Sinha, the Hon'ble Major-General Sir Robert Seillon, the Hon'ble Mr. MacLagan, the Hon'ble Sardar Partab Singh, the Hon'ble Khan Zulfikar Ali Khan, the Hon'ble Lieutenant Malik Umar Hyat Khan and the mover, with instructions to report at the next meeting of the Council.

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Council adjourned to Friday, the 5th August 1910.

Rainfall summary for the seven days ending at 8 hrs. on Thursday, the 28th July 1910, based on the Indian Daily Weather Reports of the period.

1. The week's rainfall has been dominated by an area of low pressure in the southwest of the Bay, a position extremely unusual until later in the season; and the activity of the Bombay monsoon has been largely diverted from the central parts of the country into the south of the peninsula. In northern India its rainfall has occurred chiefly in the submontane districts and in the western portion of northeast India. The Bay current has gained strength, especially in Eastern Bengal and Assam, and the week's rain at Cherrapunji amounted to 79·74", of which 30·25" fell in one day.

2. The rainfall of the week was above the average in the divisions of Upper Burma, Assam, Eastern Bengal, Bengal, Bihar, United Provinces East, Mysore, Malabar, Madras Southeast, Madras Deccan and Madras Coast North; and approximately normal in Chota Nagpur, Orissa, United Provinces West, Berar and Hyderabad.

3. Burma.—Rainfall occurred in all parts of the province, but the amounts recorded were generally small. Cloud was moderate to heavy; and during the greater part of the week maximum temperature was in defect in Upper Burma.

Northeast India, including Orissa.—Rainfall on most days was nearly general over the whole division, and was unusually heavy in the Khasi hills. Skies were densely clouded. Maximum temperature was in defect in Eastern Bengal and Assam.

The United Provinces, Central India and the Central Provinces.—Rain was reported from all observatories, but occurred chiefly in the submontane districts of the United Provinces. Skies were moderately to heavily clouded. Maximum temperature was locally in defect in the areas of rainfall.

Northwest India.—Rain fell locally in the submontane Punjab and a few falls occurred in Gujarat and Rajputana. Skies were moderately to heavily clouded along the Himalayas and in the southern half of the division. Maximum temperature was in defect in the North-West Frontier Province on the first three days of the week.

The Peninsula.—Rainfall occurred chiefly in the south, and was heavy on the 28th on the east Madras coast. Skies were moderately to heavily clouded. Day temperature was generally in excess in the Deccan and in defect in southeast Madras.

Season and Crop Prospects for the week ending Saturday,
23rd July 1910.

Burma.—The rainfall was heavy in Akyab, Amherst and the northernmost districts and generally light to moderate elsewhere. More rain is wanted in Prome, practically in the whole of the Irrawaddy division, the southern half of the Tenasserim division and in most of the dry zone districts. Ploughing and sowing for the main rice crops are in progress and transplanting continues in parts. Cultivation of sesamum, cotton, maize and groundnut is progressing in Upper Burma. Agricultural operations have been retarded for want of rain in several districts and young plants are withering in Tavoy, Mergui, parts of Myingyan and in the Kanbalu subdivision of the Shwebo district. Standing crops are poor also in Bassein, Thayetmyo, Minbu and the northern part of Meiktila. In the Ruby Mines slight damage has been done to crops in the riverain area of the Tagaung township owing to the rise of the Irrawaddy. In the Manglun State of the Northern Shan States only three-fourths of the normal cultivation has been undertaken owing to insufficiency of seed grain. The price of unhusked rice has risen considerably in Thayetmyo, Maubin and Pakokku and has fallen considerably in Tavoy. Slight variations are reported from other districts.

Eastern Bengal and Assam.—The weather was rainy. Heavy rain fell almost throughout the Province except in parts of Dacca, Faridpur and Darrang where the fall has been moderate. Some damage to standing crops by high floods has been reported from several districts. More sun is required for tea. Harvesting of jute is in progress and steeping and washing have commenced. Prospects have been affected by floods. Reaping of autumn rice and transplantation of winter rice continue. Their condition is not good owing to the sudden rise of water. Prospects of tea are unfavourable on account of excessive rain. The average price of common rice has risen by about one per cent. Cattle disease prevails in Mymensingh, Noakhali, the Jaintia and Naga Hills, Goalpara, Darrang, Sibsagar and Lakhimpur.

Bengal.—The rainfall was general all over the Province. The fall was heavy in Behar except in Gaya and Bhagalpur and also in Birbhum, Howrah, the 24-Parganas, Darjeeling and Cooch Behar; light in Cuttack, Balasore, Hazaribagh, Singhbhum and Gaya and generally moderate elsewhere. More rain is wanted in most districts of the Burdwan division and also in the 24-Parganas, Gaya, Shahabad, Darbhanga, Balasore, Angul, Sambalpur, Palamau and Singhbhum for transplantation of paddy and the work is being retarded for want of sufficient moisture in Bankura, Midnapore, Hooghly, Balasore and Singhbhum. Some damage has been done to standing crops by excessive rain and floods in Champaran, Muzaffarpur and Darbhanga and to jute by insect pest in Nadia. The price of rice has risen in Birbhum, Midnapore, Hooghly, Jessore, Gaya, Saran, Monghyr, Darjeeling, Balasore and Singhbhum and has fallen in Bankura. Cattle disease is reported from Midnapore, the 24-Parganas, Murshidabad, Jessore, Patna, Gaya, Saran, Muzaffarpur, Darbhanga, Monghyr, Bhagalpur, Hazaribagh, Manbhum and from all the districts of Orissa except Balasore. The fodder and water supply is sufficient throughout the Province.

United Provinces.—Good rain fell during the week in the Himalayas, central and eastern submontane districts and in parts of Southern Oudh and the south-eastern districts. Elsewhere it was very inadequate, particularly in the Meerut and Rohilkhand divisions in each of which four districts report urgent need of rain. Altogether thirty districts require more rain, the need being urgent in twelve cases. The rainfall of the past week was sufficient to prevent serious damage up to date. Fodder and supplies are sufficient. Agricultural stock are in good condition though sporadic disease exists in twenty-eight districts. The rise in prices throughout nearly three-quarters of the Provinces shows general anxiety.

Punjab.—Rain was received in all districts during the week except Multan. It was light in the Delhi division and light to moderate elsewhere. More rain is wanted in Hissar, Rohtak and Gurgaon. Sowings of autumn crops are in progress; they have been completed in the Rawalpindi and Mianwali districts. Standing crops are generally in good condition. Western winds have dried up the moisture in Gurgaon. Prices are rising rapidly. The condition of cattle is generally good. Fodder is sufficient. Complaints of a short supply of canal water are still being received from the Samundri tahsil of the Lyallpur district.

North-West Frontier Province.—Good rain averaging over 1 inch fell in the Peshawar district and showers in the Bannu and Dera Ismail Khan districts. The rain was beneficial to standing crops and to autumn sowings which are in progress. The condition of standing crops is average. The fodder and water-supply is sufficient. Water in rivers is rising. The Paharpur canal has been stopped. The condition of cattle is good except in one village of the Nowshera tahsil and in two villages of the Mardan tahsil. The public health is good. Prices of food grains are fluctuating. Prices are:—wheat 13 to 17½, maize 15 to 23½, gram 17½ to 27 and bajra 14 to 17½ seers per rupee.

Jammu.—The rainfall during the week was fair. Prices are stationary. Wheat sells from 12 to 20 and maize from 14 to 32 seers per rupee. The condition of standing crops is fair. Cattle disease of mild type prevails in some parts of the Province. Fodder is sufficient.

Kashmir.—The weather was bright. Slight rain fell twice during the week and was beneficial to autumn crops. There is no disease among cattle. Fodder is sufficient. Autumn crops are in good condition. Prices are stationary.

Rajputana—The rainfall during the week was in cents:—Bikaner (two districts) 53 and 75 and slight at head-quarters, Mewar and the Hilly Tracts 25, Banswara 81, Tonk 88, Bundi 27, Kotah (three districts) 48 to 177 and Karauli 49. Slight showers are reported from Mewar, Partabgarh, Jhalawar, Jaipur, Alwar, Bharatpur, Dholpur and Ajmer. More rain is needed for sowings in Alwar, Karauli, Bharatpur, Dholpur and Ajmer-Merwara. Crops are suffering in Alwar, Karauli and Dholpur. Cattle disease is prevalent in the Hilly Tracts, Banswara and Jhalawar. Fodder is sufficient. Prices have risen from ½ to 2½ seers in Mewar, Kotah, Jaipur, Alwar, Bharatpur, Dholpur and Ajmer-Merwara. They have fallen by 3 seers in Banswara.

Central India—The rainfall was nil in Gwalior and Bundelkhand and partial elsewhere. More rain is needed except in Malwa. Agricultural stock are good except for some disease in Indore, Bundelkhand and Bhopalwar. Prices are normal in Bhopal and Bhopalwar, are rising in Gwalior, Baghelkhand, Bundelkhand and Malwa and are fluctuating in Indore.

Central Provinces.—Light to good rain was received during the week throughout the Provinces. Damoh, Jubbulpore, Mandla, Seoni, Chanda, Wardha and Bilaspur had 2 to 5 inches. Elsewhere the quantity registered did not exceed 1½ inches. Balaghat received only 15 cents. The rainfall was most opportune after a good break and benefited the crops greatly. More rain is however needed in rice districts to carry on transplantation and thinning operations successfully and a good shower or two would also be welcome in Jubbulpore, Betul, Nimar, Buldana, Yeotmal and the Vindhyan districts. Sowing of autumn crops still continues in several districts and weeding is in progress in ten districts. Preparation of lands for sowing of spring crops has begun in Saugor, Jubbulpore, Narsinghpur, Nimar and Buldana. Germination is generally satisfactory except in some parts of the Sohagpur tahsil of the Hoshangabad district where it is somewhat defective owing to the recent continued break in the rains. In parts of the Betul and Bhainsdehi tahsils of the Betul district crops were damaged slightly by insect pests or for want of rain. Fodder and water are sufficient everywhere. Agricultural stock are in good condition. Prices:—the price of wheat remained stationary in thirteen districts, gram in fourteen and rice and juar in sixteen districts. Juar rose in Saugor and fell in Yeotmal by 2 seers per rupee. Elsewhere prices of staple food grains fluctuated slightly indicating a tendency to rise.

Feudatory States.—During the week Kawardha, Chhuikhadan, Khairagarh, Nandgaon, Kanker, Raigarh, Sarangarh, Sakti, Sirguja, Jashpur and Korea had light to moderate rain ranging from 40 cents in Jashpur to 4 inches in Sarangarh. Sowing of autumn crops is in progress. More rain is wanted to push on transplantation and thinning of rice in Nandgaon, Raigarh, Sarangarh and Sakti. Germination is generally good. The supply of fodder and water is adequate. Prices:—rice in Sakti and Jashpur became dearer by 2 seers per rupee. Elsewhere they were steady or fluctuated slightly.

Bombay.—Good rain fell during the week in Dharwar; moderate in Ahmedabad, Kaira, Colaba, West Khandesh, Nasik, Kathiawar, Mahi Kantha and Kolhapur and slight in other districts and the Native States except Sind. More rain is urgently needed in parts of Thar and Parkar, Ahmedabad, Surat, the Konkan, the Deccan, Belgaum, Palanpur, Savantvadi and Kolhapur. Autumn sowings generally continue but are retarded in parts of Kanara, Khandesh, Ahmednagar, Sholapur, Satara and Belgaum for want of rain and in Karachi owing to floods. Transplantation is progressing in parts of Sind, Ahmedabad, Kaira and Broach but has been retarded in parts of Surat, the Konkan, Nasik, Poona, Satara, Belgaum and Savantvadi for want of sufficient rain and in Karachi owing to floods. Seedlings are withering in parts of Thana, Ratnagiri, Kanara, Poona, Savantvadi and Kolhapur. Cotton sowing is progressing in parts of Ahmedabad, Broach, Surat, West Khandesh, Baroda and Cutch. The fodder-supply is generally adequate. Agricultural stock are sufficient except in parts of Ahmednagar, Poona, Sholapur and Satara and are generally in good condition. Drinking water is generally sufficient. Irrigation water is adequate except in parts of Poona and Belgaum. Grain stocks are sufficient. Prices have risen in Karachi, the Upper Sind Frontier, Thana, Colaba, Ratnagiri, West Khandesh and Satara; have fallen in East Khandesh, Bijapur and Belgaum and are stationary elsewhere. The quantity purchasable per rupee is in Sind 32 to 42 per cent; in Gujarat 7 to 26 per cent; in the Konkan 13 to 33 per cent; in the Deccan 11 to 32 per cent and in the Karnatak 26 to 37 per cent less than the normal.

Hyderabad.—The average rainfall during the week was 51 cents. Good rain fell in two districts, fair to light in six and scanty elsewhere. The heaviest falls occurred in parts of the Parbhani, Bidar, Nander and Usmanabad districts. More rain is urgently needed in Raichur, Gulbarga and many parts of Telingana. Aurangabad also needs more rain. Autumn sowings have been suspended for want of rain in parts of Warangal and Karimnagar. Weeding of crops has begun in places. Autumn sprouts have been damaged by insects in places, especially in many parts of Telingana. Lands are being prepared for spring crops. Water scarcity is reported in three talukas and cattle disease in eleven. Fodder scarcity prevails in five talukas. Prices:—wheat and coarse rice 6½ and juar 12½ seers per rupee. White juar is selling in Hyderabad City at 11 and yellow juar at 13 seers. The highest price in districts is 8 seers in Medak and Karimnagar and the lowest 2½ seers in Bidar.

Mysore.—The rainfall was good in Bangalore, Kolar and Tumkur and slight elsewhere. Prices of food grains are generally steady. Standing crops are in good condition. More rain is needed in parts of Mysore, Hassan, Kadur and Shimoga. Prospects of the season are good. Cattle are generally healthy. Water and fodder are available.

Coorg.—Rainfall 2 inches 93 cents. Ploughing for and transplanting of rice continue. Prices of food grains are stationary. The public health is fair. Water and fodder for cattle are sufficient.

Madras.—The rainfall was heavy in the Nilgiris; light to fair in Bellary, Madras, Vizagapatam, Chingleput and Ramnad and good elsewhere. Irrigation supplies are sufficient in Ganjam, Vizagapatam, Godavari, Kistna, Coimbatore, Tanjore and the Nilgiris and insufficient in parts of other districts. Ploughing, sowing, weeding and transplanting are in progress in parts. Standing crops are generally fair, but some in parts of Guntur, Bellary and South Canara require more rain. Harvests continue in parts with outturn poor to normal. Pasture is insufficient in parts of Guntur, the Deccan, the Carnatic, North Arcot, Ramnad and Tinnevely. Fodder is scanty in parts of Godavari, Guntur and Nellore. The condition of cattle is generally good. The price of rice is stationary in sixteen districts; has fallen in one and has risen in seven. The prices of millets have fluctuated as follows:—Rāgi is stationary in nine districts; has fallen in two and has risen in eleven. Cholam is stationary in eight districts; has fallen in two and has risen in five. Cumbu is stationary in nine districts; has fallen in three and has risen in four. The public health is generally good. Prospects are generally fair. The condition of the labouring classes is satisfactory everywhere and employment is readily available. Grain stocks are sufficient.

Draft Rules.

In exercise of the powers conferred by section 58 of the Pilgrim Ships Act, 1895 (XIV of 1895), the Governor General in Council is pleased to make the following rules in supersession of the rules published with the notification of the Government of India in the Home Department no. 262, dated the 5th October 1896, as amended by subsequent notifications :—

2. The Inspector shall, on receiving the notice required by section 8, himself proceed, or give written authority to some competent person on his behalf, to inspect the ship, her provisions, medical stores, equipments, ventilation, fittings, etc., and shall satisfy himself by such inspection that they meet all prescribed requirements.

3. The certificates A and B required under sections 11 and 12 shall be given in Forms nos. I and II appended to these rules and that required under section 24 in Form III.

5. The Inspector shall see that in all cases where the number of pilgrims exceeds 100, the medical officer of the ship is present at the official inspection and that such medical officer has had an opportunity of satisfying himself as to the completeness of the arrangements made for the accommodation and care of the pilgrims under these rules; and shall require such medical officer to furnish a certificate to that effect in Form IX and to sign the second of the certificates prescribed by rule 58.

Proviso.—Provided that, where in ships already fitted the minimum cubic contents of boats placed under davits are provided, as required by column 3 of the said scale, this rule shall be deemed to have been sufficiently complied with, although the actual number of boats so carried falls below the minimum prescribed in column 2 of the said scale.

(2) Every boat shall be supplied with two fresh-water breakers, two small tin-lined lockers fitted under the side seats in the stern and each capable of holding about 50 lbs. of biscuit, and a tightly spread canvas cover.

7. Every pilgrim ship shall carry an accident boat swung outboard in the most convenient part of the ship and properly secured with belly bands, which shall be made fast with a strop and toggle on the davit or other convenient place. A mallet shall be secured beside the toggle ready for immediate use. The boat's falls shall be coiled down in the most convenient place (not in the boat) clear of the pilgrims. The following gear only shall be in the accident boat :—

- (1) One oar for each man of the crew and two spare ones.
- (2) A life-belt for each man in the boat to be kept on each man's thwart.
- (3) Two boat hooks.
- (4) One rowlock for each thwart and two spare ones.

- (9) One white globe lamp.
- (10) One good flare.

- (11) One rope for each man in the boat securely made fast to the guy between the davit beads and of sufficient length to reach the water when the ship is light. Each rope to be made fast exactly above each thwart so that the man can hold on to it as the boat is lowered.
8. Boat drill shall be practised at least once a week.
9. Every pilgrim ship shall be provided with three bower anchors of such weight, and with cables of such length, size and material as are, in the judgment of the Inspector, sufficient.

Instruments for purposes of navigation.

10. Every pilgrim ship shall be provided with—
- (a) not less than three good ship's compasses and two boat's compasses, and with a record of the deviation of her compasses on every point, entered in the log-book ;
 - (b) Admiralty or Indian Government charts and sailing directions suitable for the voyage she is about to undertake ;
 - (c) not less than two chronometers and not less than two sextants or quadrants and barometers, one of the latter being a mercurial barometer ;
 - (d) a deep-sea leadline and lead.

c Apparatus for extinguishing fires and precautions against fire.

11. (1) Every pilgrim ship shall be provided with—
- (a) hose capable of being connected with the engines of the ship, and adapted for extinguishing fire in any part thereof ; and
 - (b) fire-buckets in the proportion of three for every 100 tons of tonnage up to 600, and two for every 100 tons above 600 : Provided that not more than 50 fire-buckets need under any circumstances be carried.
- (2) If fire-annihilators or fire-engines are carried, they shall be placed by the master in charge of one of the principal officers of the ship and the ship's carpenter, who shall be held responsible that they, with the buckets and other fire apparatus, are kept in a state fit for immediate use.*
12. As soon as possible after leaving port, the officers and crew shall be divided into parties and assigned to stations in case of fire ; and fire-drill shall be practised at convenient times and at least once a week.
13. Immediately before leaving port, the passengers shall be called on to deliver up whatever lucifer matches, gunpowder or other inflammable articles they may have with them.
14. No naked lights shall on any account be used in the hold or store-rooms or in the between-decks, except under trustworthy superintendence. No person shall be allowed to read in bed with a naked light. Smoking between decks is strictly prohibited.
15. Cases containing spirits shall never be opened in the hold, but may be hoisted on deck for the purpose.

Appliances for saving life and making signals of distress.

16. Every pilgrim ship shall be provided, to the satisfaction of the Inspector, with a supply of life-buoys, with lines attached, of which not less than six shall be kept readily available on deck, and with inextinguishable lights fitted for attachment to the life-buoys. Every pilgrim ship shall also be supplied with an approved life-belt or other similar approved article of equal buoyancy suitable for being worn on the person, for each person on board, and such life-belts or other articles as aforesaid shall be so placed, to the satisfaction of the Inspector, as to be readily accessible.

EXPLANATION.—An "approved life-belt" means a belt which does not require to be inflated before use and which is capable of floating in water for 24 hours with at least 15 lbs. of iron suspended from it.†

17. Life-buoys shall be secured by toggle and becket or any similar method allowing of ready release, but shall not be lashed or seized to the vessel.

18. Every pilgrim ship shall carry such quantity of rockets and blue lights or other signals as the Inspector may deem adequate.

* Fire engines should be worked once a week to keep them in proper order.

† Life-belts should be cut 2 inches under the armpits, and so fitted as to remain securely in place when put on.

Fittings and other appliances to be provided in the upper and between decks.

19. The Inspector shall see that sufficient ventilators are provided for the between-decks to give each pilgrim (a) in the first or upper between-deck 5 square inches, and (b) in the second or lower between-deck 10 square inches of ventilation area exclusive of hatches and side scuttles, and so placed as to afford an equable diffusion of air through all parts. The ventilators of the second between-deck must act separately from those of the first between-deck and, if pilgrims are carried on a second or lower between-deck, such lower between-deck shall be ventilated by artificial ventilation, such as Blackman's ventilator or a thermantidote approved of by the Inspector. The Inspector shall also see (i) that all air-holes affording a means of communication between the hold and the between-decks are closed so as to shut off, as completely as possible, the escape of foul air from the bilge, or steam from the cargo, into the between-decks; (ii) that the foul air from the hold and the between-decks, respectively, is carried in separate shafts above the uppermost deck; and (iii) that all ventilating shafts and tubes for the hold are so arranged as to act quite independently of those for the between-decks.

20. In the absence of hollow iron masts or other means of ventilating the hold, there shall be fitted at least four cowl-headed tubes (of a size to be approved by the Inspector) leading from the lower hold to the open air on the upper deck.

21. Every cowl-headed tube shall be provided with a strong plug for use, if necessary, in bad weather.

22. Such provision shall be made for affording light to the between decks by means of side-ports as the circumstances of the case may, in the judgment of the Inspector, require. The pilgrims shall, moreover, have the free and unimpeded use of the whole of every hatchway situated over the space appropriated to their use, and over each hatchway there shall be erected such a body hatch or other substantial covering as shall, in the opinion of such Inspector, afford the greatest amount of light and air and of protection from sun and wet as the case will admit of.

23. The upper deck of every pilgrim ship shall be either of wood, or of iron or steel sheathed with wood and caulked.

24. Each hatchway shall be provided with a large tarpaulin tent which can in bad weather be spread well over it and securely fastened so as to keep out rain and let in fresh air, and in fine weather be rolled up and put out of the way; and shall, except where arrangements exist for lowering the derrick boom in a way which will serve the purpose, also be fitted with a strong iron or wooden A-shaped frame for the support of such tent.

25. Every pilgrim ship shall have poop, quarter deck, waist and forecastle awnings complete and in good order, and six windsails distributed as the Inspector may direct. The awning and windsails shall be kept up so long as the weather does not render this impossible.

26. Strong ladders 2½ feet wide with hand rails of a convenient height shall be provided for every hatchway used as such and not merely as a ventilator; and, as additional means for women and children to hold on by, knotted handropes shall be fastened conveniently near the ladders.

27. Hooks for hanging the required number of lanterns shall be fixed at convenient distances apart.

28. The space to be occupied by pilgrims must be kept clear from obstruction of any kind whatever, thoroughly clean and dry; and nothing, except life-belts with the consent of the Inspector given under rule 16, shall be slung up or stowed away between the beams. Every day while the pilgrims are on deck the between-decks shall be carefully cleaned and scrubbed with dry sand mixed with suitable disinfectants*.

29. Bamboos, ropes or strong rails shall be securely fastened fore and aft to the midship stanchions on the between-deck.

* Calvert's powder in the proportion of 10 per cent should be used.

30. No timber or cargo of any kind, and only the necessary fittings properly secured and live-stock for consumption on the voyage, shall be allowed on the upper deck, which shall, save as aforesaid, be exclusively reserved for the pilgrims.*

31. A set of water-vessels, such as buckets and tin mugs required by topases or others for use in the latrines, shall be exclusively set apart for such purpose; and they shall be marked or printed so as to be clearly distinguishable from those used for cooking or drinking purposes.

Food, fuel and water-supply.

32. Every pilgrim ship shall be supplied in accordance with the following scale with food, fuel and water, of good quality, conveniently stored and in quantity sufficient to supply the pilgrims on board during the intended voyage (including such detention in quarantine as may be probable):

Rice	1 lb.	Tamarind	1 oz.
Flour or ship's biscuit	4 oz.	Condiments, chillies, garlic,
Pulse, dall	4 "	coriander seed or turmeric	½ "
Ghee or oil	1 "	Salt	½ "
Onions	2 "	Firewood, dry	2 lb.
Pumpkins, yams, or other	Drinking-water from iron vegetables	2 "	tanks	1 gal.

Provided that, in the case of drinking-water, the allowance hereby prescribed shall be provided for each pilgrim irrespective of his age.

A signboard written in bold letters in the Persian, Urdu and Guzarati characters shall be displayed at the place, to be approved by the Inspector, at which stores are dispensed, announcing that food can be procured there. At the same place shall be posted a table of the rations of food and water in Persian, Urdu and Guzarati, and a price-list in the same languages of the articles of food offered for sale.

33. Excepting fuel and water, which shall always be found by the ship, the articles in the foregoing scale need not be provided for those pilgrims who have satisfied the officer appointed in this behalf under section 18, that they have on board food sufficient for their own use.

34. Every pilgrim ship shall, in addition to the requirements of the two last foregoing rules, have on board, either as cargo or stores, food sufficient, in the opinion of the Inspector, to provide for the pilgrims in the event of an accident to the ship's machinery.

35. (1) Every pilgrim ship shall be provided with caboose accommodation sufficient to cook for the total number of pilgrims on board, and such accommodation shall in no case consist of less than two cabooses or cooking ranges placed on deck, properly housed and covered, to which the pilgrims shall have free access between the hours of 6 A.M. and 9 P.M.

(2) All cooking ranges shall be made of substantial plate-iron lined inside with bricks and raised at least four inches from the deck, with an outlet or chimney at top for the escape of smoke. Each range shall contain five or six cooking places, and the master shall see that fires adequate for cooking are kept lighted at them from 6 A.M. to 9 P.M. An additional range shall be provided for every 200 pilgrims carried in excess of 100. Cooking on board in pilgrims' private stoves is prohibited.

(3) The Inspector may require the master to provide such number as such Inspector may think necessary of Muhammadan cooks, not exceeding three per hundred pilgrims (exclusive of pilgrims who have on board their own supplies and desire to cook for themselves).

36. The crew of the ship shall not be allowed to use the cooking ranges or latrines set apart for pilgrims while pilgrims are on board, but shall be provided with a separate cooking range and latrine.

37. Each ship shall be fitted with a condenser or distilling apparatus of sufficient capacity to produce at least one gallon of drinking water a day for every person on board of whatever age, including the crew.

38. No certificate under section 13 shall be granted unless the condenser cannot only supply the minimum quantity of water prescribed under rule 37 for each person on board, but also yield every 24 hours 500 gallons of pure, cold water fit to drink.

39. The tanks for storing drinking-water on board shall not be placed near the latrines. They shall be protected from all filth, and shall be so closed that the distribution of the water can be effected only by means of pumps or from taps with lock and key fitted to the tanks.

40. The water of any tank pronounced bad by the medical officer of the ship shall be immediately rejected and pumped out and the tank cleaned out before being re-filled.

41. If there is any doubt as to the quality of the drinking-water stored, or as to the possibility of its pollution, either at its source or in the course of the voyage, it shall be well boiled; and it shall be thrown into the sea as soon as it is possible to obtain a purer supply.

42. Every condenser or distilling apparatus shall have a separate engine for working the circulating cold-water pump, and under no circumstances shall this engine be used for any other purpose than that of feeding the boiler of the condenser.

43. The arrangements for discharging the circulating water from the condenser shall be such that it can be delivered into buckets or connected with a hose for the purpose of washing decks, or extinguishing fire, as well as discharging over the ship's side. A suitable hose and connection shall also be provided.

44. Either upright or horizontal boilers may be used for condensers. Each boiler shall be furnished with a steam-gauge indexed to double the working pressure, a glass water-gauge and two separate gauge-cocks, one safety-valve and two mud-hole doors for the purposes of cleaning.

45. The boilers and all machinery connected with condensers shall be properly covered in, and every wooden bulkhead in the vicinity of the boilers or condensers shall be covered with sheet lead weighing $4\frac{1}{2}$ lbs. per square foot and securely fastened to such bulkhead.

46. All the piping in connection with the condenser, especially the main suction and the condensed water discharge-pipe, shall be laid in position safe from accident or otherwise securely encased.

47. The Inspector shall satisfy himself by actual experiment that the condenser is capable of performing the work required of it.

48. The Chief Engineer or some other competent person, to be approved by the Inspector, shall be appointed to have charge of the distilling apparatus and machinery connected therewith during the voyage.

49. No ship shall put to sea before the decks have been cleared of any loose straw, hay or other inflammable material, and all the cargo has been properly stowed away.

Cargo.

50. No petroleum as defined in the Petroleum Act, 1899 (VIII of 1899), or explosive as described in the Indian Explosives Act (IV of 1884), nor any inflammable oils, spirits, jute or coal (except such coal as is required for the voyage and the return voyage to India), nor any commodity likely, by reason of its quantity, quality or mode of stowage, to be prejudicial to the safety of the pilgrims, shall be taken as cargo or part of the cargo.

Allotment of upper deck space.

51. No cabin shall be provided for any pilgrim on the upper deck unless space remains unallotted on that deck after providing the accommodation required for the permanent and temporary hospitals, latrines, and six superficial feet for every pilgrim carried in the between-decks. Such space as remains unallotted after making provision for these requirements may be reserved for the accommodation of pilgrims in cabins containing not less than 12 superficial and 72 cubic feet of space. No pilgrim shall be furnished with reserved accommodation on the upper deck except in a cabin.

52. The deck space may be distributed between the first and second class pilgrims as the master or owner may desire: Provided that each pilgrim of the lowest class has six feet of deck space provided for him, and provided that no part of a pilgrim ship shall carry more pilgrims than the number which that part of the ship is capable of accommodating in accordance with Notification no. 2145, dated the 17th September 1897.

Amount and distribution of baggage.

53. Pilgrims' heavy baggage shall be deposited in the hold before the ship leaves her moorings. Pilgrims shall be allowed to keep with them only such articles as are absolutely necessary: Provided that the articles so kept do not exceed one maund (82 lbs.) in weight for each adult pilgrim or in the case of pilgrims who, in accordance with the provisions of section 18, are allowed to provide their own food for the entire voyage, one maund and a half.

Ho pital accommodation, medical stores, and arrangements for maintaining health, cleanliness and decency.

54. (1) The hospital accommodation required under section 21 shall be provided where convenient. Health Officer.

59. (1) Every pilgrim ship shall carry a disinfecting stove approved by the Health Officer of the port in British India at which the voyage is to commence.

(2) Articles of bedding, carpets and clothes used by patients who have been affected with cholera, as well as by persons who have had access to such patients, shall be immediately disinfected. Such of these articles as have little or no value shall be thrown into the sea, or, if the ship is in a port or canal, be destroyed by fire. All such articles as are not destroyed shall be carried to the disinfecting stove in impermeable bags sprinkled with a solution of corrosive sublimate.

(3) The excreta of the sick shall be collected in vessels containing a disinfecting solution and the latrines in which these vessels are emptied shall be thoroughly disinfected after each operation.

(4) Articles which have come into contact with persons suffering from cholera shall be thoroughly disinfected in the following manner:

- (a) Articles so contaminated or suspected which have been contaminated shall, unless they are liable to be destroyed by exposure to heat, be disinfected in the disinfecting stove under pressure, the stove being maintained at a temperature (to be tested during each operation) of 220° Fahr. and the articles exposed to this temperature for 15 minutes.
- (b) Articles liable to be destroyed by exposure to the heat of a disinfecting stove, such as metals, leather, tables, lockers, etc., shall be disinfected by being washed with disinfecting solution.*

- (a) Corrosive sublimate in the following proportion:—

Hydrochloric acid, 1 pt.
Water, 3 gallons.
Fuchsin or lozin, 2 grains.

- (b) Pure phenic acid, five parts in 100 parts of water.

- (c) Fresh slaked lime.

The different disinfecting solutions are useful for the following purposes:—

- (a) Linen, clothes and articles soiled by the evacuations of cholera patients should be put into the corrosive sublimate solution.
- (b) Persons in attendance on the sick should use the corrosive sublimate solution, when washing themselves, in the proportion of one part of the solution to 2,000 parts of water.
- (c) Phenic acid should be used to disinfect articles which cannot be exposed to a temperature of 220° Fahr. or to contact with sublimate solutions, such as metals, instruments, etc.
- (d) Slaked lime is specially useful to disinfect the evacuations of cholera patients; in the absence of slaked lime phenic acid will answer the same purpose. When slaked lime is used for disinfecting liquids, it should be used in the proportion of three lbs. of lime to ten gallons of the liquid to be disinfected.

(5) Ships on which cases of cholera have occurred shall be disinfected in the following manner:—

- (a) The cabins* and all parts of the ship occupied by cholera patients or those suspected to be suffering from cholera shall be emptied, and all articles removed disinfected as above.
- (b) The interior sides, bulkheads, floors and decks of the ship shall be washed with the corrosive sublimate solution with the addition of 10 per cent. of alcohol (i.e., one gallon of methylated alcohol to every 10 gallons of the corrosive sublimate solution),† and, two hours after washing, scrubbed, and then thoroughly washed down with plenty of water.
- (c) The hold of the ship shall be strewn from time to time with a sufficient quantity of iron sulphate to neutralize the sulphuretted hydrogen, and the water in the hold shall then, unless the ship is in dock, be pumped out and the hold washed with sea-water and sprinkled with the corrosive sublimate solution.

(2) It shall be the duty, in the case of pilgrims at Bombay, of the Protector of Pilgrims appointed under the Protection of Pilgrims Act, 1887, and in the case of pilgrims at any other port, of such officer as the local Government may appoint in this behalf, to see that refunds of passage-money are promptly made to intending pilgrims entitled to them under this rule.

(3) The officer making an inspection under section 32 or section 33 shall, in case of such refund becoming due, impress on the pilgrim's ticket the words "Not permitted to proceed on voyage"; and such pilgrim shall thereupon be entitled, on presentation of the ticket so cancelled at the office of the owner or agent, to a refund of the passage-money paid by him.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

We, the undersigned, members of the Select Committee to which the Bill further to amend the Cantonments Act, 1889, was referred, have considered the Bill and have now the honour to submit this our Report with a consolidating Bill proposed by us for adoption in place of the original amending Bill annexed thereto.

2. The principal Act has already been subject to eight partial repeals and amendments; and certain of the Acts to which reference is made in it have been repealed and replaced by later Acts. The present occasion, therefore, has been deemed advantageous for the consolidation of the principal and amending Acts. We have accordingly prepared a consolidating Bill which repeals the Cantonments Act, 1889, with its amending enactments, and reproduces the law as contained therein with the amendments proposed in the Bill as introduced.

3. The alterations which we suggest in the existing Act are as follows. They make no change in the law :

Section 1 (3).—Omitted as surplusage. The Bill, if passed, will come into force at once.

Section 2.—Reproduced by clauses 31 and 32 in a shortened form, regard being had to sections 8 and 24 of the General Clauses Act, 1897.

Section 3 (2).—Omitted, being provided for by section 20 of the General Clauses Act 1897.

Section 4 (1)—The concluding words have been omitted, being provided for by section 21 of the General Clauses Act, 1897.

Section 10—Omitted, as spent

Section 18 (3) and the concluding words of section 20 (1)—Omitted, being provided for by section 21 of the General Clauses Act, 1897.

Section 29.—Omitted, being provided for by section 556 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898.

We have corrected references to Acts now repealed, and references to "Her Majesty"; and have followed present practice in referring to Acts by their statutory short titles, and in the use of certain drafting expressions now in common use in place of equivalent expressions which are contained in the Act.

4. The publication required by the rules has been made in English in the Gazette of India dated the 23rd July 1910

5. We think that the Bill has not been so altered as to require re-publication, and we recommend that the consolidating Bill proposed by us be passed.

98. A warrant issued under section 96 or section 97 may contain such restrictions, reservations or conditions as the officer issuing it may think fit.

99. (1) The finding and sentence of a summary general court-martial shall require to be confirmed by the convening officer— [92.]

(a) in the case of the trial of an officer,

(b) in the case of an acquittal or a sentence of death or transportation or imprisonment for a term exceeding two years, and

(c) in any other case if so ordered by the said officer.

(2) Save as provided in sub-section (1), a sentence passed by a summary general court-martial shall not require to be confirmed, but may be carried out forthwith.

100. Subject to such restrictions as may be contained in any warrant issued under section 96 or section 97, a confirming officer may, when confirming the sentence of a court-martial, mitigate or remit the punishment thereby awarded, or commute that punishment for any less punishment or punishments to which the offender might have been sentenced by the court-martial: [89-B.]

Provided that a sentence of transportation shall not be commuted for a sentence of imprisonment for a term exceeding the term of transportation awarded by the court.

101. (1) Any finding or sentence of a court-martial which requires confirmation may be once revised by order of the confirming officer; and on such revision, the court, if so directed by him, may take additional evidence. [100.]

(2) The court, on revision, shall consist of the same officers as were present when the original decision was passed, unless any of those officers are unavoidably absent.

The Indian Army Bill.(Chapter VIII.—Courts-martial. Chapter IX.—Execution of Sentences.Chapter X.—Pardons and Remissions.)

(3) In case of such unavoidable absence the cause thereof shall be duly certified in the proceedings, and the court shall proceed with the revision, provided that it still consists of the smallest number of officers of which such court is by this Act required to consist.

- [96.] 102. The finding and sentence of a summary court-martial shall not require to be confirmed, but may be carried out forthwith:

Provided that, if the officer holding the trial is of less than five years' service, he shall not, except on active service, carry into effect any sentence until it has received the approval of an officer commanding not less than a corps.

- [97.] 103. The proceedings of every summary court-martial shall without delay be forwarded to the officer commanding the division or brigade within which the trial was held, or to the prescribed officer: and such officer, or the Commander-in-Chief in India, or the officer commanding the army in which the trial was held, may, for reasons based on the merits of the case, but not on any merely technical grounds, set aside the proceedings.

- [New. Cf. A. S. B. P., 54 (e).] 104. Where a sentence passed by a court-martial which has been confirmed, or which does not require confirmation, is found for any reason to be invalid, the authority who would have had power under section 112 to commute the punishment awarded by the sentence if it had been valid may pass a valid sentence:

Provided that the punishment awarded by the sentence so passed shall not be higher in the scale of punishments than, or in excess of, the punishment awarded by the invalid sentence.

EXECUTION OF SENTENCES.

- [141.] 105. In awarding a sentence of death a court-martial shall, in its discretion, direct that the offender shall suffer death by being hanged by the neck until he be dead, or shall suffer death by being shot to death.

- [151.] 106. Whenever any person is sentenced under this Act to simple imprisonment, such sentence shall be carried out by confinement in military custody.

- [150, 151: Act V, 1898, s. 853.] 107. Whenever any sentence of transportation or rigorous imprisonment is passed under this Act, or whenever any sentence so passed is commuted to transportation or to rigorous imprisonment, the commanding officer of the person under sentence, or such other officer as may be prescribed, shall forward a warrant in the prescribed form to the officer in charge of the civil prison in which such person is to be confined, and shall forward him to such prison with the warrant:

Provided that, in the case of a sentence of rigorous imprisonment for a period not exceeding three months, the confirming officer, or, in the case of a sentence which does not require confirmation, the court, may direct that the sentence shall be carried out by confinement in military custody.

108. Whenever, in the opinion of an officer commanding an army, division or independent brigade, any sentence or portion of a sentence of imprisonment cannot, for special reasons, conveniently be carried out in accordance with the provisions of section 106 or section 107, such officer may direct that such sentence or portion of sentence shall be carried out by confinement in any civil prison or other fit place.

109. Whenever an order is duly made under this Act setting aside or varying any sentence, order or warrant under which any person is confined in a civil prison, a warrant in accordance with such order shall be forwarded by the prescribed officer to the officer in charge of the prison in which such person is confined.

110. In executing a sentence of solitary confinement, such confinement shall in no case exceed fourteen days at a time, with intervals between the periods of solitary confinement of not less duration than such periods, and, when the imprisonment awarded exceeds three months, the solitary confinement shall not exceed seven days in any one month of the whole imprisonment awarded, with intervals between the periods of solitary confinement of not less duration than such periods.

111. Whenever any person is sentenced under this Act by a court-martial to corporal punishment, such punishment shall be inflicted on the bare back with the regulation cut.

PARDONS AND REMISSIONS.

112. When any person subject to this Act has been convicted by a court-martial of any offence,—

- (a) the Governor General in Council, or,
- (b) when the person has been convicted of any offence other than a civil offence, the Commander-in-Chief in India or, in the case of a sentence which he could have confirmed or which did not require confirmation, the officer commanding the army, division or independent brigade in which such person, at the time of his conviction, was serving,

- (1) pardon the person;
- (2) mitigate or remit the punishment awarded, or commute such punishment for any less punishment or punishments to which he might have been sentenced by the court-martial, or, if such punishment is death or transportation for life awarded under section 42 or section 43 for the offence of murder, then for such less punishment as is in this Act mentioned;

The Indian Army Bill.(Chapter X.—Pardons and Remissions. Chapter XI.—Rules.Chapter XII.—Property of Deceased Persons, Deserters and Lunatics.Chapter XIII.—Miscellaneous.)

- (3) order the restoration to him of any service or other advantage forfeited under his sentence; or
- (4) re-admit him to the service when he has been dismissed therefrom.

CHAPTER XI.

(2) In the case of a deceased person who has left in a Government savings bank (including any post office savings bank, however named) a deposit not exceeding one thousand rupees, the commanding officer may, if he thinks fit, require the secretary or other proper officer of the bank to pay the deposit to him forthwith notwithstanding anything in any departmental rules; and, after the payment thereof in accordance with such requisition, no person shall have any right in respect of the deposit except as hereinafter provided.

(3) In the case of a deceased person whose representative is on the spot and has given security for the payment of the regimental debts (if any) of the deceased, the commanding officer shall deliver over the property and the amount of the deposit (if any) received under clause (2) to that representative.

Disposal of certain property without production of probate, etc.

116. The provisions of section 114 shall, so far as they can be made applicable, apply in the case of a person subject to this Act becoming insane [178.]

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

THE law relating to the Indian Army—contained in the Indian Articles of War and various other enactments—has recently been found to require amendment in the following respects:—

- Corporal punishment should only be awardable in time of peace for offences to which the ordinary criminal law assigns the same penalty instead of, as at present, for almost every offence known to military law. The recent enactment of the Whipping Act, 1909, makes it especially desirable to amend the law in this respect.
- The law relating to enrolment and attestation contained in the Indian Articles of War is unsatisfactory and is often misunderstood. It requires amendment and simplification.
- The contingency of units of the Indian Army serving outside of India in time of peace and under officers not subordinate to the Governor General in Council was not contemplated when the present Articles of War were framed, and the administration and discipline of such units is not therefore adequately provided for in these Articles.
- The recent abolition of the "commands" and the reorganisation of the army in divisions and independent brigades have rendered various provisions of the existing law obsolete and have necessitated changes in others.

2. It has long been felt that the Indian Articles of War, in spite of the amendments which have been made in them since they were originally enacted as Act V of 1869, are unsuited to modern requirements and need to be entirely re-cast. These Articles are obscure and often defective, while their arrangement is confusing and practical difficulties in their working are of frequent occurrence. The opportunity has therefore been taken to prepare an entirely new Code instead of merely amending the existing Articles on the special points indicated.

3. An additional reason for adopting this course is that it will result in the substitution of one simple and comprehensive enactment for the seven in which the law relating to the Indian Army is at present contained, instead of adding an eighth to their number.

4. Various matters which properly belong to rules of procedure, and which only found a place in the existing Articles owing to no rules of procedure under Indian military law being in existence prior to 1899, have been omitted and will be provided for in rules to be issued under this Bill when it becomes law. The general principle adopted has been to provide in the Bill for essential matters of procedure only, leaving non-essentials to be dealt with in rules.

5. Forfeiture and attachment of property, at present awardable under Indian Articles of War, 24 and 76, have been omitted as being unsuitable penalties for purely military offences. When soldiers are tried by court-martial for civil offences to which these penalties are attached, they will continue to be awardable under clauses 42 and 43 of the Bill. This is all that is necessary in this connection.

6. Certain other changes, generally of a verbal character, and intended to make the law, as at present interpreted, clear to persons not having a legal training, have been made. The arrangement of the Army Act (41 & 45 Viet., c. 58) has, whenever possible, been adhered to, as it is believed that this will facilitate reference and be a convenience to officers who have to administer both systems of law. The reasons for other changes and omissions will appear from the following detailed explanation of the Bill.

CHAPTER I.

7. Clauses 2 to 5 substantially reproduce the existing law on the subjects dealt with. As all "medical subordinates" are now either officers or warrant officers, and as all attested persons are previously enrolled, the list of persons, subject to the Act, has been reduced by the omission of these two classes. "Unattested recruits" have also been omitted as the subjection of a person to a severe and exceptional code without a definite act on his part, indicating his consent and capable of easy proof, appears undesirable. In practice recruits are never tried by court-martial prior to enrolment, and such trials, if at all common, would soon check recruiting.

8. Clause 6 is new and is necessitated by the service of Indian troops in colonies and dependencies under the Imperial Government and outside the normal formations of the Indian Army. The powers conferred by the Bill on the commanders of armies, divisions and brigades are in the first instance restricted to the officers holding these commands in India or subject to the Indian authorities [clause 7, definition (8)], and power is here taken to prescribe the officers who shall exercise these powers as regards Indian troops serving abroad, and also the limitations (if any) to be placed upon such exercise. Cases can then be provided for as they arise and in accordance with local circumstances without the necessity for passing a series of small amending Acts such as Acts IX of 1901 and XIII of 1904.

9. Clause 7 reproduces, with some verbal alterations, the definitions in the existing Articles of War. The definition of "soldier"—the interpretation of which has given a good deal of trouble in the past, and which was only useful as restricting full non-commissioned rank to combatants—has been omitted, and a definition of "non-commissioned officer" inserted. In this definition the rank of non-commissioned officer is (in accordance with the existing law and practice) limited to combatants. It will still be open to Government to cause non-combatants holding positions of authority to be "deemed to be non-commissioned officers" by notification under clause 3 of the Bill, such notification limiting their authority to whatever extent is thought necessary. A few words have been added to the definition of "superior officer" to cover the case of persons subject to these Articles who are (as in the Supply and Transport Corps) placed under the orders of British warrant and non-commissioned officers serving under the Army Act.

CHAPTER II.

10. This chapter deals with the enrolment of persons under this Act and, in certain cases, their subsequent attestation. The present law on this subject is unsatisfactory and often misunderstood. It is hoped that the provisions of this chapter will put it upon a more satisfactory basis. Under the Articles of War, enrolment consists simply in the entry of a person's name, with his consent, on the roll of a corps or department. It involves no liability for general service (i.e., no obligation to go wherever he may be ordered by land or by sea), which liability, attestation (the taking of the oath of military fidelity) carries with it. All attested persons are first enrolled, attestation following either at once or after a period of probation. Attestation was originally intended for the more strictly combatant branches of the service, while enrolment—introduced in 1894—was designed to bring under military discipline certain classes who, though not strictly fighting soldiers, it was thought proper to subject to that discipline. (Objects and Reasons, Indian Articles of War Amendment Bill, 1894, paragraphs 1 and 3) Owing to enrolment not rendering the enrolled person liable to general service, a practice set in of attesting all classes—even men to whom it was intended to take on active service. This has tended to unduly lower the estimation in which the ceremony of attestation is held, and is also undesirable on other grounds. Another difficulty which has arisen under the present law is that, as attestation does not take place until after a period of probation, instances have occurred of soldiers who, having drawn pay as an enrolled recruit for perhaps a year, have then refused to accept the additional liabilities implied by attestation. As they were within their legal rights, nothing could be done and they had to be discharged.

11. It is in every way desirable that all the conditions of a man's service should be understood by him and definitely accepted before he enters upon that service. This is provided for by clauses 5 and 9 of the Bill, which make enrolment a definite act recorded in a formal document (as attestation now is), which document will constitute the agreement between the enrolled person and the State and will, as such, set forth all the conditions of his service. Enrolment will, as a rule, be for general service, but exceptional cases can be provided for as thought necessary.

12. Attestation (clauses 11 and 12) will impose no new liabilities, but will only confer status and privileges. It is intended for combatant and such selected classes of non-combatants as are considered deserving of being treated on the footing of combatants. It is intended that, as now, it shall be carried out with some ceremony, and its restriction to the higher classes of enrolled persons shall enhance its significance. No separate attestation document will be required, the fact of attestation being recorded upon the enrolment document when it takes place.

CHAPTER III.

13. Clauses 13 and 14 correspond to articles 3 and 4 of the existing law. The changes necessitated by the reorganization of the Army have been made and "any prescribed officer" added to the dismissing and discharging authorities under clause 14. This will admit of any special cases which may arise being provided for without the necessity for legislation. The power to dismiss or discharge a Native officer has been retained to the Governor General in Council and the Commander-in-Chief. Native officers receive their commissions from the Governor General in Council, and it appears right that only the highest authorities should have power to summarily deprive them of these commissions. All references to forfeiture of claim to pension have been omitted, as such matters are properly dealt with by regulations and not by statutory provisions.

14. Clauses 15 and 16 deal with the powers of dismissal and discharge vested in commanding officers. Clause 15 corresponds to article 153 and provides for the dismissal of persons who receive a substantial sentence of imprisonment either from a Civil or Military Court. Sub-clause (a) of clause 16 corresponds to article 5 (1) and provides a summary means of getting rid of a person who has improperly re-enlisted. Sub-clause (b) will allow of a commanding officer, as at present discharging an unsatisfactory recruit at any time up to his attestation. It will also admit of his getting rid of regimental menials, whose retention in the service he thinks undesirable, without the intervention of the brigade commander which is necessary under the present law. Sub-clause (c) is in accordance with existing custom, and is the most convenient manner of carrying out the class of discharges indicated.

15. Clause 17 confers on the commanding officers of all mounted corps the power of discharging bad riders which is now vested in the commanding officers of cavalry corps only. The absence of this power has caused inconvenience as there are now a number of mounted men subject to Indian military law in the Horse and Field Artillery and in ammunition columns.

16. Clause 19 is new and has been inserted to safeguard the interests of the soldier who, when serving abroad, becomes entitled to be discharged or is dismissed from the service. It is based on the corresponding provisions of the Army Act (cf. Army Act, section 90).

CHAPTER IV.

17. Clause 20 reproduces the provisions of article 164 with the necessary changes consequent upon the reorganization of the Army. "Any prescribed officer" has been added to the authorities empowered to reduce a non-commissioned officer in order that any exceptional cases may be provided for without the necessity for legislation.

18. Clause 22 is new. It will permit of collective responsibility for losses of arms being legally enforced. Experience has shown that such responsibility is the best safeguard for the security of the arms of a company, and this is especially true in "class company" regiments, i.e., in the majority of the regiments of the Indian Army.

19. Clause 23 provides for the discipline of followers in camp and at frontier posts. It is similar to the corresponding provision of the Articles of War with the exception that corporal punishment cannot be awarded under it except on active service. This is in accordance with modern views on the subject. The operation of the clause has been definitely restricted to casual followers; it has been, in practice, so restricted for some time past.

20. Clauses 24 and 25 deal with the duties and powers of provost-marshal. They reproduce the existing law with the exception of a similar restriction upon the infliction of corporal punishment.

CHAPTER V.

21. In this chapter the offences made triable by court-martial and specified in articles 7 to 71 and 171 to 173 of the Indian Articles of War have been grouped in accordance with the system observed in the Army Act. With the exceptions noticed below and a few verbal changes, the above-mentioned articles have been exactly re-produced.

22. Seditious offences have been accurately defined by a reference to Chapter VI of the Indian Penal Code and transferred from the Article dealing with the military offence of mutiny to clause 43.

23. Following the corresponding provision of the Army Act, "intoxication" is, in clause 33, made punishable whether committed on or off duty. This offence, even when committed off duty, is certainly often deserving of notice, more especially when the offenders are officers or non-commissioned officers, and the expedient of charging it under article 25 or 70 (as is now done) is unsatisfactory. The expression "intoxication" has been preferred to "drunkenness"—the Army Act term—as more certainly covering intoxication from the use of drugs.

24. Clause 35 (b) provides for a case which was, apparently through an oversight, not considered when the present Articles were framed. The Army Act contains a similar provision.

25. Sub-clauses (a) and (b) of clause 37 assimilate the law as to false accusations and complaints to that in force in the British Army, and replace the penal portion of article 167. There seems to be no reason why the Native soldier should be punishable for making a complaint which is found to be merely frivolous or groundless while his European comrade can only be similarly dealt with under the graver circumstances set forth in section 27 of the Army Act. The provisions of the latter section have therefore been transferred to the present Bill.

26. Clause 42 corresponds to articles 171 and 172, but the law is simplified by making civil offences committed by persons subject to the Act when on active service in British India triable by court-martial at all times instead of only after notification.

27. The maximum penalties provided in this chapter are, with three exceptions, identical with those awardable under the Indian Articles of War. Two offences at present punishable with death have been removed to the category of offences punishable with imprisonment only [clauses 27 (c) and 31 (c)]. The exceptional punishments awardable under article 57 for certain offences have been omitted, and these offences made punishable with imprisonment or such less punishment as is in this Act mentioned. An unnecessary complication in the law, and one moreover which made various grave offences less severely punishable than others not nearly so grave, will thus be removed.

CHAPTER VI.

28. Clause 44 specifies, in order of severity, all the punishments ordinarily awardable by courts-martial, and, except as to corporal punishment which is dealt with separately, substantially reproduces the present law in a way which can be easily understood. In the Articles of War the powers of punishment are scattered here and there through the Act and courts have the greatest difficulty in knowing what they can or cannot award. In the Army Act each crime or group of crimes has a maximum penalty attached to it, and a subsequent section gives a list of all penalties in order of severity. A court can for an offence award the maximum penalty attached to it or any one lower in the scale provided that such penalty is within its own powers, which are duly specified in another part of the Act. This system has been adopted in the present Bill, both because of its inherent merits and because it is that with which all officers are familiar in connection with trials under the Army Act. The word "imprisonment" is used in this clause and throughout the Bill, instead of "imprisonment with or without hard labour", while "rigorous imprisonment" similarly replaces "imprisonment with hard labour". This brings the nomenclature adopted into accord with that used in the Indian Penal Code, and, though a departure from the Army Act, will be convenient as the sentences passed under the Bill, when it becomes law, will generally be carried out in civil prisons.

29. Clause 46 allows of the infliction of corporal punishment upon persons under the rank of warrant officer, but only in exceptional cases, i.e., on active service and for crimes which are similarly punishable in civil life. The latter crimes are the military offence of "theft from a comrade" and the few civil offences which are now punishable by whipping and the ordinary criminal law of India, where such offences are triable by courts-martial. Corporal punishment is at present awardable for all offences committed by persons under the rank of warrant officer, but is rarely inflicted, and the Government of India consider its retention, except in the case mentioned above, to be unnecessary and inexpedient. No exception can be taken to its being retained for offences similarly dealt with under the ordinary criminal law of the land, which are now few in number and well deserving of such punishment. On active service the necessity for prompt and adequate punishment of offences is obvious and imperative. Short sentences of imprisonment are, under active service conditions, practically no punishment at all, while long sentences of transportation or imprisonment involve the return of the offender to India and the loss of his services when perhaps they are most required. By awarding sentences of corporal punishment in such cases, courts-martial can vindicate discipline, while the man is back at his duty in a few hours.

30. Clause 15 provides for the combination of certain punishments. It is in accordance with the existing law, and will admit, for example, of a non-commissioned officer sentenced to imprisonment being also reduced and dismissed, or of a person whose crime has caused loss or damage to Government or other being placed under stoppages to make good the loss or damage caused in addition to undergoing the imprisonment or other punishment awarded for the crime he has committed.

31. Clause 19 is new and embodies the provisions of the Indian Penal Code (Act XLV of 1860) regarding sentences of solitary confinement. It imposes a limit on the extent of such sentences which, at present under the ordinary law, is equally necessary under this Act, as the sentences are generally carried out in civil prisons.

32. No clause corresponding to article 140 of the Indian Articles of War, under which sentences of transportation or imprisonment passed upon persons already undergoing such sentences may be postponed, has been included in the Bill. Persons sentenced to transportation or to rigorous imprisonment for a term exceeding three months vis-à-vis cease to belong to the Army and to be amenable to the jurisdiction of courts-martial. The only case therefore in which a person already under sentence could merit a second sentence of transportation or imprisonment is that of a man undergoing a short sentence of imprisonment in military custody who again committed himself. When such cases have occurred and the court has ordered the second sentence to commence on the expiry of the first, difficulties have arisen regarding the continued infliction of the first term of imprisonment (that in military custody) when, as is almost invariably the case, the court order has automatically effected the discharge of the offender. It has therefore been thought better to make no provision for the postponement of such second sentences which will therefore take effect from the day on which they are signed and absorb the unexpired portion of the former sentence. This is the practice as regards sentences under the Army Act, which is another reason for its adoption in the present Bill. The unexpired portion of the earlier sentence can only be a matter of a few weeks, or even days, and the court passing the second sentence can allow for it when estimating the term to be awarded by it.

CHAPTER VII.

33. The provisions of the existing law as to penal deductions from the pay of persons subject to Indian military law being inadequate, the opportunity has been taken to provide fully for such deductions in the present Bill.

Clause 51 follows, mutatis mutandis, the corresponding section (138) of the Army Act and will legalize all such penal deductions as are now made under regulations. It also includes the few exceptional cases in which such deductions are now provided for in the Indian Articles of War. As in the corresponding section of the Army Act, a wide range of deductions which may be made is indicated. The exact deductions which, within these limits, shall be enforced are in both cases left to regulations. The proviso is based upon the existing limitation as to the extent to which court-martial stoppages can be enforced (Indian Articles of War, 139). One-half of a person's pay and all wages is considered to be the sum necessary to enable him to support himself and to efficiently perform his military duties. There appears to be no reason why stoppages to make good an injury should cease at the end of a year if the injured party is not yet fully compensated, and this provision of article 139 has accordingly been omitted. The definition of a day contained in the explanation to this clause is in accordance with existing regulations and practice.

34. Clause 52 is based upon section 110 (1) of the Army Act and will allow of such amounts being recovered from any public money which may become due to the person, for instance, from a gratuity or from prize-money to which he may become entitled.

CHAPTER VIII.

35. This chapter substantially reproduces the present law as to courts-martial (except regimental courts-martial), the clauses dealing with each branch of the subject having been collected together for convenient reference. Regimental courts-martial are now so rare in the Indian Army that there appears to be no necessity for their continuance. The summary court-martial takes their place, as regards the trial of all ordinary cases, and the only class of such cases for which that court is unsuitable—offences against the commanding officer personally—can be appropriately dealt with by general or district court-martial. Regimental courts-martial have therefore been omitted from the list of tribunals provided for in the Bill. The provisions as to court-martial warrants have been assimilated to those of the Army Act, as in force in India. This will be an administrative convenience.

36. Clause 61 apparently introduces a change in the law as the power to order courts to consist of British or Native officers is at present only exercised by officers empowered to do so by warrant. In practice, however, this power is invariably conferred by warrant on officers authorized to convene general and district courts-martial. It has been thought better to recognize this, and to confer the power on all convening officers by virtue of their position as such.

37. In clause 63 the power to authorise an officer to convene a summary general court-martial in time of peace has been restricted to the Governor General in Council and the Commander-in-Chief, as it is considered that such an exceptional power should only be exercised by the highest authorities.

38. In clause 65 (1) (b) the power to hold summary courts-martial is extended to officers commanding British corps to which any details subject to Indian military law are attached. The present restriction of this power to officers commanding such units as have combatant details attached to them has caused inconvenience. Many British corps have Indian non-combatant details attached to them, as syces, transport drivers, etc., for whose discipline provision must be made.

39. Clause 72 brings the law into accordance with the Army Act by providing that trial by court-martial shall be no bar to a subsequent trial by a criminal court on the same facts, but requires the latter court, if it awards a sentence, to take into account the punishment already inflicted by the military court.

40. Clause 75 corresponds to article 94 of the Indian Articles of War, but the category of offences triable by summary court-martial without reference to superior authority has been considerably enlarged. This will expedite the disposal of a large class of cases (desertion, petty assaults, and ordinary theft) the reference of which to superior authority was only a formality, but one which caused unnecessary delay in the administration of military justice. The "superior authority" to whom reference should be made is now definitely indicated, as the vague terms of article 94 have caused inconvenience.

41. Various matters of procedure have, for the reasons indicated in paragraph 4 above been relegated to rules. Among these are the forms of oath and affirmation to be administered, under clauses 83 and 84, to members and officials of courts-martial and to witnesses giving evidence before such courts. The appointment of interpreters is also (as in the Army Act) left to be provided for, when necessary, by such rules.

42. Clause 85 is in accordance with the existing law, but certain permanent authorities have been added to the list of those empowered to summon witnesses, which now corresponds to the list of persons empowered to do so as regards courts under the Army Act. The omission of such permanent authorities from the present article has frequently caused inconvenience.

43. Clause 86 is new but confers on courts-martial a power now exercised by criminal courts in India. It is not expected, or intended, that this power shall be frequently exercised, but its non-existence has caused inconvenience and unnecessary expense both to the State and to persons under trial. The restriction of the power to issue commissions to the Judge Advocate General in India and his Deputies will ensure its not being abused.

44. Clause 92 is based on section 163 of the Army Act and will facilitate proof of a person's enlistment and the answers then given by him.

45. Clause 101 restricts revision to those courts which require confirmation. This is in accordance with the law as at present understood, but the words of article 120 are open to misconstruction and have therefore not been reproduced. As all sentences which do not require confirmation are carried out forthwith, re-assembly for revision of sentence, even if possible, does not seem desirable, and would, in the case of a summary court-martial, tend to weaken the authority of the commanding officer.

46. Clause 104 is new and allows the authority empowered to commute the sentence of a court-martial to substitute a valid sentence for an invalid one. This is in accordance with the practice as to sentences under the Army Act [see Rule of Procedure, 51 (c)]. At present no authority can exercise this power as regards sentences under Indian military law, and the result is that, when such cases arise, the sentence has to be set aside leaving only the conviction recorded against the offender.

CHAPTER IX.

47. This chapter, which deals with the execution of sentences to be passed under the Bill when it becomes law, is considerably shorter than the corresponding provisions of the Articles of War. The addition of the Prisoners Act (III of 1900) to the Statute-book has admitted of this, as all that the present Bill need arrange for (except in certain special cases) is the transmission of military convicts and prisoners to civil prisons, after which the above-mentioned Act provides for their discipline and, when necessary, their transfer to other such prisons or to convict establishments.

48. Clause 108 allows the military authorities to transfer prisoners in special cases from military to civil custody, or to imprison them in any fit place. It retains in their hands a power (now conferred by article 152 of the Indian Articles of War) which might be of use in an emergency such as an epidemic. It also will admit of arrangements being made locally for the execution of a sentence of imprisonment passed in a colonial garrison when it is, for any reason, inconvenient or undesirable that the offender should be sent to India to undergo his sentence.

CHAPTERS X, XI, XII, XIII.

49. These chapters substantially reproduce the existing law on the subjects dealt with therein. In order to remove doubts a power of commutation has been inserted among those exercised by the authorities empowered under clause 112 to deal with sentences passed by courts-martial.

50. In clause 113 power is taken to authorize a Court of Inquiry to receive evidence on oath. This will admit of the procedure as to prisoners of war being assimilated to that under the Army Act, where the cases of such prisoners are in the first instance investigated by Courts of Inquiry. The amount and incidence of the collective fines to be imposed under clause 22 are included among the subjects to be dealt with in rules framed under this clause.

Nos. 233-249.

HOME DEPARTMENT.

CENSUS.

RESOLUTION.

1. The general and household schedules sanctioned for adoption throughout British India at the Census of 1911 were published with the Home Department resolution nos. 67—81 (Census), dated the 31st March 1910. Before the date of that resolution the Census Commissioner for India represented that the general tables of occupations, while they would indicate the main functional distribution of the people, distinguishing workers from dependants, and would give statistics of occupations combined with agriculture, and of occupation by caste, would furnish very meagre information regarding industries and, in particular, no reliable information regarding recent industrial developments. He pointed out that an attempt was made in 1901 to distinguish between workers in factories and those engaged in home industries, and also to distinguish, in the case of factories, between "owners, managers and superior staff" and "operatives", but that the entries in the schedules were far too vague to permit of accurate information on these points being obtained. He therefore recommended that, in addition to the general and household schedule, a special schedule should be prescribed for persons working in mines, factories, etc. His proposal has been generally approved by the local Governments and Administrations and the Government of India have decided to prescribe in connection with the coming census, in addition to the general and household schedule, a special industrial schedule in the form appended to this resolution, to be filled in by the owners or managers of factories, mills, etc., in which at least twenty persons are employed.

2. A list of the industries, with reference to which the Government of India think it desirable that information should be compiled in the form of the special schedule, is attached to this resolution. Local Governments are, however, at liberty to include in the list any other industries for which they desire to have statistics.

3. The examples given below question 1 in the schedule should be chosen locally with reference to the circumstances in each province.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Rainfall summary for the seven days ending at 8 hrs. on Thursday, the 4th August 1910, based on the Indian Daily Weather Reports of the period.

1. The area of low pressure in the Bay, referred to in last week's report, travelled slowly northwards and developed into a cyclonic storm when off Orissa. It crossed the coast near False Point and moved in a westnorthwesterly direction, its centre on the 4th being near Bilaspur. Very heavy rain fell to the south of its track in the northeast of the Central Provinces, where Raipur on the 4th reported a fall of 14.58", but the Bay monsoon current was throughout the week comparatively weak and the regions served by it to the north of the depression received very little rain.

2. The Bombay monsoon was much more active than the Bay current and occasioned heavier rain than usual in Gujarat, Rajputana, Central India West and throughout the peninsula, except in Madras Southeast. In the United Provinces fairly general rain was reported on the 2nd and 3rd, and the week's rainfall was equal to the average in the western half.

3. Sum. &c.—Rainfall was nearly general in Lower Burma and local in Upper Burma. Skies were moderately to heavily clouded.

Northeast India, including Orissa.—Rainfall was fairly general but comparatively light, except in Orissa at the close of the week where heavy rain was given by the depression in the Bay. Cloud was moderate to heavy.

The United Provinces, Central India and the Central Provinces.—Rain fell in all parts of the division, and was most widespread on the 2nd and 3rd in the United Provinces, and on the 3rd and 4th in the Central Provinces and Central India. Cloud decreased considerably towards the close of the week in the United Provinces. The maximum temperatures reported on the 31st July and 1st August were in moderate to considerable excess in Central India and the west of the Central Provinces.

Northwest India.—Scattered falls of rain occurred in the Punjab, chiefly along the hills, but rainfall was nearly general in west Rajputana and fairly general in Gujarat and east Rajputana. Skies were densely clouded in the southern half of the division. Temperature was locally in defect in the areas of rainfall.

The Peninsula.—Very little rain fell in southeast Madras and the Madras Deccan, but in other parts of the peninsula rainfall was fairly general, some moderately heavy falls being recorded on the north Madras coast. Cloud was moderate to heavy. Maximum temperature was below the normal during the first few days of the week in Mysore and Madras.

4. The following are the chief amounts of rainfall as reported at 8 hrs. each day:—

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Season and Crop Prospects for the week ending Saturday,
30th July 1910.

Burma.—The rainfall was fairly general and mostly moderate. Ploughing and sowing for winter rice continue and transplantation is progressing. Sowing of sesamum and groundnut is in progress. Crop prospects have been improved by the recent rains and are on the whole good, but in parts of Sandoway, Prome, Mergui, Thayetmyo, Minbu, Meiktila and Myingyan young plants are yet in a poor condition owing to insufficiency of rain. In the Tizyaing township of Katha miscellaneous crops have been damaged slightly by flood. The price of unhusked rice has risen considerably in Myaungmya and Tavoy and has fallen considerably in Thayetmyo. Elsewhere prices are practically stationary.

Eastern Bengal and Assam.—The rainfall was heavy except in Malda where it was light. The heavy downpour has caused high floods in Assam and in parts of Eastern Bengal with some damage to standing crops. Cutting and steeping of jute are in progress and prospects are fair. Harvesting of autumn rice is going on and considerable damage by floods is reported from several districts. Transplanting of winter rice continues. Prospects are fair. Plucking of tea is progressing but its condition is not satisfactory. More warmth is required. The average price of common rice has fallen by one per cent. Cattle disease prevails in Chittagong, Malda, the Nagi Hills, Goalpara, Darrang, and Sibsagar.

Bengal.—The rainfall was general all over the Province, the fall being heavy in Burdwan, Patna, Champaran, Purnea, Darjeeling, the Sonthal Parganas, Cooch Behar and in parts of Hazaribagh, Saran, Birbhum, Midnapore and the districts of the Presidency division; light in Hooghly and Palaman and moderate in the rest of the Province. Transplantation of winter rice is going on but more rain is wanted for the purpose in parts of Birbhum, Bankura, Hooghly, Howrah, Khulna, Gaya, Shahabad, Sambalpur, Palaman and Manbhum. Transplantation is reported to be retarded for want of sufficient moisture in Bankura and Manbhum while it has been stopped temporarily on low lands on account of excessive rain and floods in Champaran, Bhagalpur and Purnea. Damage has been done to jute by insect pest in Nadia and the Sonthal Parganas and to autumn crops by floods in Champaran, Muzaffarpur, Bhagalpur and Purnea. The price of common rice has risen in Midnapore, Nadia, Murshidabad, Jessore, Champaran, Muzaffarpur, Monghyr, Bhagalpur, Purnea, Darjeeling, the Sonthal Parganas, Sambalpur, Manbhum and Cooch Behar and has fallen in Shahabad and Saran. Cattle disease is reported from sixteen districts. The fodder and water-supply is sufficient throughout the Province.

United Provinces—Heavy rain fell in the Himalayan and most of the submontane districts; also in the south-east. Elsewhere the rainfall, either during or just after the close of the week, greatly improved prospects and lessened anxiety. Urgent need for rain is now reported only from Meerut and parts of Agra and Hamirpur, though fifteen other districts require more rain mostly for transplantation of rice. Some damage has been caused by floods in the eastern submontane districts especially in Gorakhpur. Weeding, sowing of delayed autumn crops and ploughing for spring crops are in full swing. Fodder and supplies are ample. Sporadic cattle disease is reported from twenty-eight districts. The rain has checked the recent rise in prices which are generally stationary.

Punjab.—The rainfall was moderate in Ambala, Jullundur, Sialkot and Rawalpindi and light in other districts except Ferozepore and Multan where no rain was received. More rain is needed in certain districts. Sowings of autumn crops continue in several districts. Standing crops are generally in good condition. Crops depending on rain have been scorched badly by dry winds in Rohtak. Prices are generally unsettled. The condition of cattle is generally good. Fodder is sufficient. Complaints of a short supply of canal water are still being received from the Samundri tahsil of the Lyallpur district.

North-West Frontier Province.—Moderate showers fell all over the Province during the week and were beneficial to standing crops. Autumn sowings are in progress. The condition of standing crops is average. The fodder and water-supply is sufficient. The Paharpur canal has been stopped. The condition of cattle is good except in one village of the Nowshera tahsil and in two villages of the Charsadda tahsil. The public health is good. Prices of food grains are fluctuating. Prices are:—wheat 13 to 16½, maize 15 to 22½, gram 15½ to 25 and bajra 15 to 18 seers per rupee.

Jammu.—The rain during the week was good. Prices are fluctuating. Wheat sells from 12 to 22 and maize from 19 to 32 seers per rupee. The condition of standing crops is fair. Cattle disease of mild type prevails in some parts of the Province. Fodder is sufficient.

Kashmir.—The weather was bright and warm. There is no disease among cattle. Fodder is sufficient. Autumn crops are in good condition. Prices are stationary.

Rajputana.—The rainfall during the week was in cents:—Jodhpur 35, the Hilly Tracts and Mewar 126, Banswara 74, Partabgarh 30, Tonk 35, Bundi 120, Kotah 224, Jhalawar 122, Jaipur 137, Kishangarh 71, Alwar 64, Karauli 126 and Ajmer 88. There was no rain or practically none elsewhere. Crops are withering in some places in Bharatpur for want of rain. Further sowings have commenced in Karauli and Dholpur. Damage by grass-hoppers is reported in one district of Mewar and slight damage in Jaipur for want of rain. Cattle disease prevails in Mewar, the Hilly Tracts, Banswara, Kishangarh and Ajmer. Fodder is sufficient. Prices have risen by 1½ seers in Shahpura, by 1 seer 5 chataks in Bundi and by 13 chataks in Mewar and slightly in Bikaner, Jhalawar, Alwar and Dholpur. They have fallen by 1 seer 9 chataks in Karauli, by 8 chataks in Partabgarh, Kotah, Jaipur and Ajmer and slightly in Jaisalmer, Bharatpur and Merwara.

Central India.—The rainfall was general but insufficient in Gwalior, Bhopal and Bundelkhand. Crops have been damaged slightly in Malwa and Bhopawar. Agricultural stock are generally good except for some disease. Prices continue high in Baghelkhand, are fluctuating in Indore and are steady elsewhere.

Central Provinces.—During the week light to heavy rain fell in all districts. The principal falls in inches were:—Buldana 6, Drug 5, Saugor, Raipur and Amraoti each 4 and Bilaspur, Akola and Yeotmal each 3, in Narsinghpur, Hoshangabad, Nimar, Mandla, Seoni, Chhindwara, Balaghat and Chanda the rainfall ranged from 1 to 2½ inches. Elsewhere the quantity registered did not exceed 69 cents. The rain was not evenly distributed everywhere and more rain is needed especially in rice districts except in Berar and a few districts of the Central Provinces. Sowing of autumn crops has not yet been completed in Damoh, Jubbulpore, Mandla, Hoshangabad, Betul, Wardha, Chanda, Bhandara, Drug, Raipur, Yeotmal and Amraoti. Weeding in eleven districts and ploughing of land for sowing of spring crops in seven districts continue. Caterpillars have begun to damage rice seedlings in parts of the Chanda and Gaichiroli tahsils of the Chanda district, but this would be remedied by a good shower. The condition of standing crops is generally good and germination is satisfactory. The supply of fodder and water is sufficient. Cattle are doing well. Prices:—The price of wheat remained stationary in twelve districts, rose in sixteen, gram in seventeen and juar in nineteen districts. Wheat became cheaper by 2 seers per rupee in Nimar.

Fundatory States.—Raigarh had 4½ inches of rain during the week. The rainfall in other States ranged from 54 cents to 3 inches. Sowing of autumn crops still continues. More rain is urgently required in Nandgaon and Sakti to facilitate transplantation and thinning operations. Kawardha, Chhuikhadan and Sarangarh also want rain. Germination is generally good everywhere. Fodder and water are sufficient. Prices:—wheat became dearer by 2 seers per rupee in Jashpur.

Bombay.—Heavy rain fell during the week in Colaba, Kanara, Baroda, Savantvadi and Kolhapur; good in Surat, Thana, Ratnagiri, Khandesh, Nasik, Ahmednagar, Sholapur, and Kathiawar; moderate in Ahmedabad, Kaira, Broach, Poona, Satara, the Karnatak, Cutch, Mahi Kantha and Rewa Kantha and slight in the Panch Mahals and Palanpur.

The rainfall was general and beneficial but more is needed in parts of Thar and Parkar, Ahmedabad, Kaira, the Konkan, West Khandesh, Nasik, Poona, Sholapur, Belgaum, Dharwar, Palanpur and Kolhapur. Autumn sowings generally continue. Transplantation is progressing in parts of Sind, Ahmedabad, Kaira, Surat, the Konkan, Belgaum and Savantvadi but has been retarded in parts of Nasik, Poona and Satara for want of sufficient rain and in Karachi owing to floods. Cotton sowing is progressing in parts of Ahmedabad, Broach, Surat, West Khandesh, Baroda and Cutch. The fodder-supply is generally adequate. Agricultural stock are sufficient except in parts of Ahmednagar, Poona, Sholapur and Satara and are generally in good condition. Drinking water is generally sufficient. Irrigation water is adequate except in parts of Poona and Belgaum. Grain stocks are sufficient. Prices have risen in Hyderabad and Kanara; have fallen in Karachi, Sukkur, Khandesh and Bijapur and are stationary elsewhere. The quantity purchasable per rupee is in Sind 31 to 40 per cent; in Gujarat 7 to 26 per cent; in the Konkan 13 to 33 per cent, in the Deccan 11 to 30 per cent and in the Karnatak 22 to 37 per cent less than the normal.

Prices:—wheat and coarse rice 6½ and juar 13 seers per rupee showing a fall of one-fourth seer in the price of 'juar. White juar is selling in Hyderabad City at 11 and yellow juar at 13 seers. The highest price in districts is 8 seers in Medak and Karimnagar and the lowest 24 seers in Bidar.

Mysore.—The rainfall was good throughout the State. Prices of food grain are generally steady. Markets are well supplied. Standing crops are in good condition. Prospects of the season are good. Cattle are generally healthy. Water and fodder are available.

Coorg.—Rainfall 7 inches 87 cents. Transplanting of rice continues. Prices of food grains are stationary. The public health is fair. Water and fodder for cattle are sufficient.

Madras.—The rainfall was very heavy in South Canara, Madras, North Arcot and Malabar; heavy in Godavari, Anantapur, Bellary, Cuddapah and Salem; light to fair in Tinnevely and Madura and good elsewhere. GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.
FINANCE DEPARTMENT.

DURING THE YEAR 1909-10.

No. 126, dated Calcutta, the 30th June 1910.

From—O. T. BARROW, Esq., Head Commissioner of Paper Currency, Calcutta,

SIR,

I have the honour to submit a report upon the operations of the Paper Currency Department during the year 1909-10.

2. The most interesting feature of the year has been the passing of the new Currency Act II of 1910, by which currency notes of the rupees ten and rupees fifty denominations have been made universal; the sub-circles of Cawnpore, Lahore, Karachi and Calicut have been abolished, and the first three of these constituted separate circles of issue, while at the same time the issue of twenty-rupee notes has been discontinued although those now in circulation will continue to be received and treated in the same way as universal notes. The Act became law only on the 18th February 1910 and the full effect of the universalisation of ten and fifty rupee notes cannot as yet be gauged, but it may be noted that with a view to minimise any tendency to make use of the new universal notes for remittance purposes, it was decided concurrently with the passing of the new Act to offer facilities to Bankers and Merchants to make trade remittances between the currency centres by means of telegraphic orders granted by Government at a reduced-rate of premium. At the same time the receipt of notes of the higher denominations in circles other than the circle of issue, in payment of Government dues and in payments to Railways, Post and Telegraph offices, a system which had been found to be the subject of various abuses and the cause of inconvenience to Government interests, was stopped by executive orders. It is as yet too early to say whether the measures taken to facilitate remittances through Government will be sufficient to deter the public from largely utilising the universal notes for that purpose.

3. The loss of the Government stock of gold which was noticed in last year's report was entirely recovered during the year under review, owing to a reversal of trade conditions and a return to a more normal condition of affairs. Thus the Currency Department held in India on the 1st April 1909 only a trifling sum of about £20,000, while at the close of the year the stock had risen to over £6 millions while the silver stock held against notes which at one time had risen as high as 37 crores of rupees had been reduced at the close of the year to 29 crores, although the actual circulation of notes was higher at the latter date than at the former.

The gross, the net and the active circulation.

4. Statement No. I in the Appendix gives a general view of the circulation of Currency notes. It shows what it has been usual to call the gross, the net, and the active circulation on the last day of each month of the last three years, and also the average of each year. By gross circulation is meant the value of all notes that have been issued and not yet paid off: the net circulation is this sum less the value of notes held by Government in its treasuries; and the active circulation is the net reduced by the value of notes held by the Presidency Banks at their head offices, which is subject to large variations dependent upon the condition of trade.

5. It is satisfactory to note that the circulation of notes of low denomination which are used as money still continues to thrive. The five-rupee note in particular is growing in public favour. The net result is an increase in the average gross circulation from 44,52 lakhs to 49,66 lakhs and in the average active circulation from 33,10 lakhs to 37,21 lakhs.

The gross circulation distributed among the Currency Circles.

6. The following statement shows the distribution among the various Circles in thousands of Rupees of the gross circulation:—

(a) Includes notes of Calicut Sub-circle which was a separate circle up to 18th February 1910.

Calcutta and Bombay have contributed most largely towards the increase in the circulation. With the exception of the Rs20 denomination, which shows a decrease in both the circles, the increase in all denominations is pronounced. This is no doubt due to the returning prosperity after a year of depression in trade.

7. The details of the gross circulation as on 31st March 1910 for each denomination and in each Circle are as follows:—

The increase in the percentage of notes of the lower denominations has not been maintained, owing not to any falling off in their circulation but to the operations of the Reserve Treasury, the balance of which is almost entirely held in notes of R10,000 denomination.

10. The variations in the percentages of the two years are very small except in the case of the five-rupee notes in Karachi and Madras and 10-rupee notes in Cawnpore, Lahore and Burma the use of which is growing rapidly. As usual each Circle shows the same preference for particular denominations of notes. It will be interesting to see what effect the extension of universalization to the ten-and fifty-rupee notes has upon these figures next year. The average value during the last four years of the notes in circulation in each Circle on the last day of the year is given in the margin, notes of R10,000 being excluded as their high value and irregular use only tend to mislead.

Except in Bombay, where there has been a slight increase, and Calcutta, where the figure is the same as the previous year, there have been decreases in the average value of the notes in circulation in all other Circles. But there has been no change in the average value for all India.

The active circulation according to Circles.

11. The active circulation is shown in Statement No. I of the Appendix, but it is not possible to bring out by this method the active circulation of each Circle during the year because both Treasuries and Presidency Banks have hitherto held notes issued in circles other than their own. The Reserve Treasuries, however, held practically the whole of their balances in homo-circle notes, and in the following table the gross circulation is accordingly reduced by the note balances of the Reserve Treasuries and is compared with the corresponding figures of the two previous years, in lakhs of rupees :—

There was a large increase in the three principal circles (Calcutta, Bombay and Madras) but other circles show a falling off.

Circulation of universal notes.

12. The table in paragraph 7 shows that there has again been an increase in the circulation of the universal five-rupee note. The circulation of these notes on 31st March 1910 was about 21 per cent. and about 41 per cent. more than what it was on 31st March 1909 and 31st March 1908, respectively. As these small-value notes are not held in any large quantities in the balance of treasuries or Presidency Banks, the increase represents practically an expansion of their active circulation among the public. The growing popularity of these universal five-rupee notes is also apparent from a comparison of the average gross circulation of five-rupee notes of the several circles excepting Rangoon during the past five years. The figures are given in the margin in lakhs of rupees. The universal five-rupee note was extended to Burma by Act II of 1909 and the figures of average gross circulation of notes of the Rangoon circle noted in the margin show that the circulation rose appreciably after the universalisation. The recorded issues of the universal five-rupee notes for remittance purposes in bundles of 2,000 and over amounted to 16 lakhs against only $1\frac{1}{2}$ lakhs of rupees in 1908-09 and 9 lakhs of rupees in 1907-08; the notes were used for this purpose chiefly between Bombay and the Punjab, but if such remittances continue, they will no doubt henceforth be made in the higher value universal notes. The practice is, as noticed above, being discouraged by the offer of transfers at a low premium.

As remarked in para. 2 above, 10 and 50 rupee notes were made universal from the 18th February 1910, but, as the change came into effect late in the year, it is not possible yet to judge its effect on the circulation. Statistics of issues of these notes in bundles of the value of Rs 10,000 and over at a time for purposes of remittance show that 10-rupee notes of the value of Rs 7½ lakhs and 50-rupee notes of the value of Rs 5 lakhs were taken for this purpose between the date of their universalisation and the close of the year. When the scheme of universalisation was undertaken, it was anticipated that there would be a tendency to use the universalised notes for remittance, and it was with the object of reducing their use for that purpose that Government decided to accompany the scheme by a reduction of the minimum limits for remittance of funds between currency centres by Government telegraphic transfers and of the rates of premium prescribed for them. The statistics for the short period for which they are available show that, in spite of these precautions, they are being used largely for remittance between Bombay and Surat, Calcutta and Cawnpore, and Lahore and Cawnpore. The question of the adoption of further measures for discouraging their use for remittance is under consideration.

In addition to this, gold to the value of £2,500,000 was held in the Currency chest in England.

The net transactions in the year under report resulted in the aggregate in a receipt of nearly £6,339,000 against an issue of £2,600,000 in 1908-09 and £1,000,000 in 1907-08.

The receipts at the Currency Offices from imports amounted during the year to £7,139,000, but as they were received only in the closing months, there was practically no issue of gold till December and the issues from Treasuries and Currency Offices during the year amounted only to £799,900. The following statement compares the receipts from imported sovereigns month by month, with those received in 1907-08, there having been practically no imports during 1908-09 :—

The bulk of the imports (£6,800,000) were received at Bombay to finance the cotton trade.

The figures in the margin show the net absorption of sovereigns from Treasuries and Currency Offices in each of the five years ending 1909-10 excluding gold received by import into the country. The absorption in the year under report would have been higher, had gold been available throughout the year.

The following statement compares the net absorption excluding net imports in each Province and Currency Circle during the years 1908-09 and 1909-10 :—

The issues were largest at Calcutta but the absence of any material stock for the major portion of the year diminishes the interest of these figures. The different centres have now again been well supplied with gold.

14. The balance of the Gold Standard Reserve at the beginning of the year stood at £18,471,406 made up as follows :— The Gold Standard Reserve.

Purchase value of sterling securities	7,414,510

There was no new rupee coinage during the year, but arrear profits amounting to £25,190 were credited to the reserve in the year. A sum of £12,034 was also received as interest on a temporary loan of £2,000,000 granted from the reserve to the Government of India. This loan was taken from the reserve in December 1909 when the treasury balances proved insufficient to meet the drawings of the Secretary of State. It was fully repaid before the 31st March 1910 with interest at 3½% per annum. The total balance in India, was thus increased to £10,586,734+344+25,190+12,034=£10,624,302. A heavy demand for Council Bills however at the beginning and towards the close of the year enabled the Secretary of State to treat £8,090,000 out of his total drawings of the year as on behalf of the Gold Standard Reserve, thus reducing the balance in India to £10,624,302—8,090,000=£2,534,302 which was held entirely in coined rupees.

The income in England arising from dividends on investments, discounts obtained on Treasury Bills and interest on loans placed at short notice amounted to £255,417. British and Colonial Treasury Bills to the nominal value of £3,673,000 but purchased at a cost of £3,621,843 matured and were paid off during the year. The total amount available for investment was therefore £8,090,000+255,417+3,621,843=£11,967,260. Of this amount, £9,396,090 was invested in sterling securities of the nominal value of £9,585,000 and a sum of £30,460 was deposited on the 21st March 1910 on allotment of 3% Exchequer Bonds of the nominal value of £1,523,000 to be delivered on the 5th April 1910 on payment of balance of the purchase price. The balance of £2,540,710 (£11,967,260—9,396,090—30,460) was placed by the Secretary of State as a deposit at short notice, the amount of which accordingly rose from £469,818 at the beginning of the year to £3,010,528 at its close. The purchase value of the sterling securities at the end of the year therefore stood at £7,414,510 (value at the beginning) + 9,426,550 (price of securities purchased

On the corresponding date in 1909 the silver coin balance amounted to R31,13,91,380, the silver bullion under coinage to R7,86,970 and the gold coin and bullion in India and England to R2,28,51,209. There has therefore been a decrease of 1,80 lakhs in the balance of silver coin and an increase of 10,77 lakhs in the balance of gold coin and bullion, the balance under the head "silver bullion under coinage" remaining unchanged.

21. The following table gives the circulation of the six larger circles, and the mean value of their receipts and issues during the year, with the percentage of the former to the latter during the last three years :—

Calcutta, Bombay and Lahore show an increase in the average circulation from the preceding year, but all the other circles show some decrease. The mean value of receipts and issues shows an increase in all circles except Cawnpore and Rangoon, but it is most marked in Calcutta and Bombay.

22. The aggregate issues and receipts of the several denominations of notes both at Offices of Issue and at Agencies during the year were as follows :—

23. The following is the Foreign Note account of the Circles in aggregate:—

The decrease in the balance was the net result of decreases at nearly all the Circles against a small excess at Calcutta and Lahore. These balances ought to almost entirely disappear as a consequence of the new legislation except in the case of universal notes and of sub-circle notes issued prior to the new Act which are still encashable at the old head circles.

The total encashments of Foreign Circle Notes were less than those of the last year by about 6.08 lakhs, the decrease being the net result of decreases of 6.13 lakhs at Calcutta, 1.41 lakhs at Bombay and 2 lakhs at Rangoon against increases of 1.00 lakhs at Cawnpore, 40 lakhs at Lahore, 7 lakhs at Karachi and 1 lakh at Calicut.

The most important variations from the preceding years occurred in the Foreign encashment of Cawnpore, Lahore and Karachi Notes. During the year the encashment of Cawnpore and Lahore notes decreased at Calcutta by 4.26 and 2.93 lakhs, respectively, and that of Karachi notes at Bombay decreased by 1.35 lakhs. The encashment of these notes was abnormally high last year; it became normal in the year under report. Elsewhere the variations were not so marked. The numbers will, no doubt, greatly decrease in future years as sub-circle notes are no longer issued. The following statement shows, in lakhs of rupees, the net transfers by means of Foreign Circle Notes between each of the circles during the last two years. The plus figures indicate that transfers to the circle exceeded those from it, and the minus figures represent an opposite movement :—

The net result was an increase in the coin and bullion reserve of 8,96 lakhs. This decrease after adding one lakh and fifty thousands paid at Lahore for an equivalent received at Calcutta in 1908-09, and deducting five lakhs and seventy-five thousands received at Bombay but not paid at Calcutta and Madras until after the 31st March 1910, exactly corresponds with the increase in the circulation as shown in paragraph 7, there having been no addition to the investment of the Reserve during the year. Both the receipts and issues were more than those of the previous year by 11,65 lakhs and 1,21 lakhs, respectively, the increases being made up as follows :—

The total number of light-weight rupees and half-rupees, cut and broken in the course of the year, does not differ materially from that of the previous year. The statistics for small silver show considerable variations, a large increase being reported against India and material decreases in the Punjab and Madras. The former is due to an attempt to apply more strictly in the Calcutta Reserve Treasury the rules for cutting one-fourth and one-eighth rupees which are light-weight, the rules not having been properly followed in the preceding year. Their application however gives great trouble and it is doubtful whether the results are really reliable. Steps are now being independently taken to remove the older and more worn coins from circulation and the result will probably be a diminution of the numbers shown under this head in future years.

As usual the work done at the six larger Currency offices as regards the examination of coins presented was tested by fresh examination at the Mints. The coins sent to the Mints for re-examination were selected by the Currency officers at random from the ordinary receipts across the Counter. The result of the re-examination at the Mints is shown in the following table :—

28. The tables in the margin give the numbers of counterfeit silver coins cut and broken in the different provinces during the calendar year 1909 and the usual comparative statistics for the past ten years. They show that the number of counterfeit rupees discovered in 1909 in the Treasuries, Currency offices and Railway Cash offices in the course of examination of coin received by them is higher by about ten thousand than the number similarly discovered in 1908. The increase has occurred chiefly in Bengal and Madras.

Out of the total number of 1,08,788, 43,045 were detected in Railway Cash offices, 10,782 being found on the North Western Railway alone.

The increase in recent years of the number of counterfeit small silver coins reported as cut is probably due to more careful examination, the new rules for dealing with light-weight small silver coins necessitating a more detailed observation of these coins. The number of counterfeit rupees received at the Mints for examination during the year was 3,885, of which 999 were struck from dies and the rest were castings. Most of the former were well executed, but the majority of the latter consisted of palpable counterfeits made of base metal. The Bombay Mint received from the Bombay, Baroda and Central India and the Rajputana-Malwa Railways 2,726 exceptionally well-executed coins, of which 954 were struck from dies and the rest were castings. A few very good counterfeits bearing the date 1907 and struck from dies were received. They are suspected to have been imported into India from the Far East, but the number so far detected is very small.

29. Statement II of the Appendix gives by calendar years the number of Annual coinage of whole rupees coined in the Indian Mints from 1835 to 31st March 1910.

The rupee coinage of the year amounted to 208 lakhs, 110 lakhs at Calcutta and 98 lakhs at Bombay. No coinage was undertaken during the year from newly purchased silver, and the entire amount coined was from withdrawn and uncurrent coin.

30. The usual examination of the rupee circulation was made in May 1910 The Rupee census when 257 Government treasuries each sorted 10,000 rupees according to the dates borne by each. The result is given below with those of the previous fifteen years. Details by Provinces appear in Statement IX of the Appendix.

The increase in the net issues is attributable to the revival of trade from the depression caused by famine and other causes in the previous year.

Currency Agencies. 32. The Currency Agencies in all provinces, except those mentioned below are strictly Currency chests opened for resource purposes, whereas at the Agencies proper exchanges with the public take place. Similar exchanges are also allowed at an office opened for the purpose at Allahabad. The chests on the other hand merely permit of the transfer of Treasury funds from one place to another without actual movements of coin, and thus supply a very speedy means of withdrawing Treasury surpluses to head-quarters. On 31st March 1910 the number of Currency chests was 218, and they contained balances amounting to 14.30 lakhs or 2.56 lakhs less than on the corresponding date in the previous year. The balances held in the chests were very high at the close of the previous year owing to an accumulation of coin at the head-quarter offices in the absence of trade demands. With a return to favourable conditions, the chest balances showed a decrease.

Simla.

Multan.

Sialkot.

Kohat.

Burma—Mandalay.

On the abolition of the Currency Office at Calicut, arrangements were made to continue exchange facilities to the public through the branch of the Bank of Madras which conducts the treasury business there, the balance of coin and notes required by the Bank being supplied when necessary from the local currency chest.

The increase in numbers as compared with last year occurred entirely under notes lost by post. Payment of stopped notes, that is, whole notes, cannot be refused, but if the presenter is not known, he is pointed out to the Police who enquire into the circumstances connected with his possession of the note. There were 1,125 stopped notes on the Calcutta list at the close of the year. During the year 335 such notes were presented and almost all the presenters were pointed out to the Police, one only was prosecuted but there was no conviction. Notes proved to have been wholly destroyed are paid after 20 years, when their value, which has been invested, is paid together with the accrued interest.

34. The forged notes presented during the year have been the following :— Forgeries.

Calcutta	1	102	103
Lahore	1	2	3
Bombay	3	2	...	5
Karachi	2	2
Madras
TOTAL	2	118	2	...	122

Thirteen new specimens of forged notes appeared during the year but three of these of the R10 denomination, viz., $\frac{V.A.}{21}$, $\frac{V.A.}{35}$ and $\frac{V.A.}{17}$ were merely variants of the $\frac{P.A.}{63}$ series alluded to in previous years. The others were of the $\frac{V.A.}{6}$, $\frac{V.A.}{20}$, $\frac{U.A.}{47}$, $\frac{U.A.}{50}$, $\frac{U.A.}{52}$, $\frac{U.A.}{79}$, $\frac{U.A.}{80}$, $\frac{U.A.}{83}$ and $\frac{U.A.}{84}$ series of ten-rupee notes and one of the R5 denomination bearing $\frac{R.A.}{86}$ series all of the Calcutta Circle, one of the Bombay Circle of the R1,000 denomination bearing $\frac{C.}{29}$ series and three of the Rangoon Circle of the $\frac{Q.B.}{44}$, $\frac{Q.B.}{57}$ and $\frac{Q.B.}{61}$ series.

In the opinion of the Surveyor General of India, to whom a specimen of the $\frac{V.A.}{17}$ series was sent for examination, "the notes have been printed from photo blocks. The evidence of this is not positive in the case of $\frac{V.A.}{17}$ but is quite clear in the case of $\frac{P.A.}{63}$. The notes have not been printed from the same block but have been photographed from the same original. The ink used is ordinary printing ink. The signature has been printed along with the note but the numbering has been done separately. There is no hand work on the note". All the rest of the notes mentioned above, except the $\frac{U.A.}{83}$ series and those of the Rangoon Circle are reported by the Police to be ordinary hand drawn forgeries, the forgery of the $\frac{U.A.}{83}$ series is still under enquiry. As regards the $\frac{R.A.}{86}$ series note for R5, it may be noted that $\frac{R.A.}{86}$ series belongs to the R10 denomination of the Calcutta Circle and is dated 20th November 1904. The paper used is of the ordinary French quality, the brown colouring is fainter than that of a genuine note, the note seems to have been lithographed or die stamped and the printing does not stand the touch of water. The signature "O. T. Barrow" is well imitated but the forgery on the whole is a clumsy one and not likely to deceive any but the most ignorant.

The Bombay note is an indifferent imitation, the number being written by hand, the Commissioner's signature lithographed, the water mark imitated clumsily and the figures indicating value and the rest of the body of the note printed.

Regarding the Rangoon notes of the $\frac{Q.B.}{44}$ and $\frac{Q.B.}{61}$ series the Surveyor General of India is of opinion that the forgery has been done by the old "anastatic" process. The colouring, figuring and lettering, though well executed, are comparatively faint and get smudged when rubbed. The word "ten" in green is scarcely perceptible. The paper is slightly thicker than the genuine note and bears an imitation of the water mark. The $\frac{Q.B.}{57}$ series note is a crude pen and ink sketch traced by hand on ordinary oiled paper from a genuine note bearing the same number. Two persons were convicted in connection with this note of using a forged note knowing it to be forged and were sentenced to 18 months' simple imprisonment each.

35. Cases of fraudulent claims of the usual kind in connection with half notes occurred at Calcutta, Lahore, Madras and Calicut and some Rangoon circle R10 notes altered by hand to R50 and R100 respectively found their way into the local Currency Office. Although some of the prosecutions in connection with the fraudulent claims failed, there were convictions in some cases in each circle except Calicut.

In the pending case in Calcutta and in those in Bombay at the close of the last year the accused were acquitted but in one of the Bombay cases an appeal has been made, the result of which is awaited.

The total volume of the year's remittances in current coin amounted to 6 crores against $5\frac{1}{2}$ in the year 1908-09 and $15\frac{1}{2}$ in 1907-08. The amount of remittances, however, does not, owing to the special circumstances of the year, convey a correct idea as to the trade demand for coin. In the first place, the dullness of trade in the previous year had resulted in an accumulation of coin which was distributed over the several Provinces, so that the demands during the year under report were met locally without a movement of coin to the same extent that would otherwise have been necessary. Thus the remittances which are sent in normal years to Rangoon for the rice trade, and to the United Provinces for opium payments were not required this year. In the second place, the rupees received in the previous year in payment of Demand Drafts sold on London were held in the Gold Standard Reserve at the Presidency towns of Calcutta and Bombay, and the restoration through Council Bill remittances of the Sterling branch of the reserve held in London permitted the release of an equivalent amount of silver coin in India; thus the rupees held in the Gold Standard Reserve at Bombay at the close of the year 1909-10 amounted to 2 crores only against over $8\frac{3}{4}$ crores at its beginning; the difference of $6\frac{3}{4}$ crores was removed from the reserve against transfers made to it in England and was utilised in meeting the abnormally heavy demand for coin in Bombay for financing the cotton trade.

The only important remittance in the first quarter was one of 2,35 lakhs to the Lahore Circle for issues in connection with the wheat trade, of which 2,00 lakhs were sent from Calcutta and the balance from Ajmer.

The usual feature of the second quarter is the demand at Calcutta in connection with the jute trade. The demand was not heavy and the local stock more than sufficed to meet it.

In the third quarter, 52 lakhs were sent to Delhi, 12 lakhs from Ajmer and the balance from the Cawnpore Circle, and 15 lakhs were sent to Agra from Ajmer, both the supplies being required to meet the demands of the Bank of Bengal. There was an unusually heavy demand for coin at Bombay during this quarter in connection with the cotton trade, but it was met from the transfers of coin from the Gold Standard Reserve.

The demand at Bombay for the cotton trade continued into the last quarter, and remittances aggregating 2 crores had to be sent there, 1 crore from the Madras Circle and an equal amount from the Cawnpore Circle. A remittance of 40 lakhs was also sent to Karachi from the latter circle to meet the requirements of the Spring harvest. The rice trade in Burma was financed from the local stock of coin and no remittance was sent to Rangoon.

The net absorption of rupees and half-rupees during the year amounted to $13\frac{1}{4}$ crores of rupees. The figures of absorption or return from circulation during the preceding three years are noted in the margin. The chief feature of the year under report was the unprecedentedly heavy demand for coin in connection with the cotton trade in Bombay in the latter half of the year, which resulted in an absorption of coin to the extent of 11 crores in that Presidency against $3\frac{1}{4}$ crores in 1906-07, the last normal year. The heaviest absorption in the Bombay Presidency in past years was 8 crores in the year 1903-04.

1906-07. +18.00
1907-08. + 3.92

The most important points regarding the absorption in each quarter of the year are noticed below :—

In the first quarter, the Punjab absorbed 3 crores in connection with the trade in wheat and seeds. Madras also absorbed half a crore in the trade in cereals. These issues were, however, largely counterbalanced by the receipts into treasuries in Burma and the two Bengals in payment of Government Revenue.

The issue of coin in Bengal and Eastern Bengal and Assam in the second quarter for the jute trade was not heavy in the year under report, amounting to 4 crores only; and the usual receipts of Revenue in Burma, Bombay and Northern India resulted in a net return of $\frac{1}{2}$ a crore from circulation in this quarter.

The issues for jute did not continue into the third quarter except to a small extent in Eastern Bengal and Assam; but the issues in Bombay for financing the cotton trade amounted to $8\frac{1}{2}$ crores.

In the last quarter, Bombay absorbed a further $3\frac{1}{2}$ crores for cotton, while there was an issue of 2 crores in Rangoon for the rice trade.

39. The following statement compares, in lakhs of rupees, the distribution of whole and half rupees in the Currency Reserve and Treasuries at the end of 1909-10 with that at the end of the two previous years :—

Treasury Statistics.

Receipts from the Public in payment of Government dues	26,78,76,305	24,90,06,280	29,24,83,875

TOTAL ISSUES	18,95,85,170	21,56,43,635	22,21,53,859

The receipts in payment of Government dues have increased largely in the year under report and the issues slightly. In the case of transactions in exchange for silver, receipts have somewhat risen while issues have declined. The receipts and issues in connection with other notes have been going up steadily.

Central Provinces and Berar	1,32	81	1,14

Bombay	8,93	8,49	9,24

42. The following statement gives information as to the ability of Treasuries to cash notes during the past three years :—

	1907-08.	1908-09.	1909-10.
	Number of Treasuries.
Where encashment of notes was not refused on any day in the year	164	167	161
Where encashment was rarely refused	48	43	54

Treasuries at branches of the Presidency Banks are excluded from this statement. It is not to be understood from the above figures that a majority of Treasuries could have cashed large values of notes, but merely that they did so in the case of small quantities presented by the ordinary non-trading public. Traders, knowing that it would be useless to ask for large sums in silver in exchange for notes, do not make the attempt.

43. Statement VIII in the Appendix shows the proportions of Treasury and Bank balances which, in each Province, were held in the form of Currency notes. Excluding Reserve Treasuries, the percentage of balances held in notes was :—

	Notes.	Cash.	Notes	Cash.	1908.	1909.
	In thousands of rupees.				Per cent.

44. The figures of receipts and expenditure in Statement VI of the Appendix are only approximate, as the accounts of 1909-10 are not yet closed. The charges of the year were less than those of 1908-09 by R1,91,000. This decrease is the net result of smaller charges for note forms due to a reduced supply from England counterbalanced by an increase in the establishment and other charges including larger outlay for the repairs of the Currency Buildings at Calcutta.

C. W. E. COTTON,
Offg. Director-General of Commercial IntelligenceW. MAXWELL,
Secretary to the Government of India

The Hon'ble MR. EARLE replied :—

"The examination of the proposals regarding elementary education referred to in the Hon'ble Member's question has been undertaken, but is not yet concluded : the Government of India are therefore not yet in a position to make a pronouncement upon the subject."

The Hon'ble MR. GOKHALE asked :—

"Will the Government be pleased to state what form the proposed inquiry into the growth of expenditure, foreshadowed by the Hon'ble the Finance Member in his speech on the Budget last March, will take, and when it will begin?"

The Hon'ble SIR GUY FLEETWOOD WILSON replied :—

"The Hon'ble Member presumably refers to the remarks made in my speech of 30th March last regarding the necessity for carefully watching the growth of Civil Expenditure and considering the directions in which economy is possible. The examination which I then foreshadowed of the financial position and outlook has already been undertaken in the Finance Department and is making steady progress."

The Hon'ble PANDIT MADAN MOHAN MALAVIYA asked :—

"Will the Government be pleased to lay a statement on the table showing in what districts and under what circumstances the Prevention of Seditious Meetings Act of 1907 has been enforced since it was passed?"

"All the information asked for by the Hon'ble Member will be found in the return* which is being laid on the table in response to a request made by the Hon'ble Babu Bhupendra Nath Basu, with the exception of the circumstances in which the Backerganj District in Eastern Bengal and Assam, and the Rohtak District in the Punjab, were proclaimed in November 1907 and June 1910, respectively. As regards the former the reason for the action taken was the general turbulence of the district at that period. The Rohtak District was proclaimed because meetings were being organised at which subjects likely to cause disturbance and public excitement were to be discussed."

The Hon'ble PANDIT MADAN MOHAN MALAVIYA : "Will the Government be pleased to state the nature of the subjects that were likely to be discussed, whether they were those bearing on politics or religion or social reform?"

The Hon'ble MR. EARLE : "I think that the subjects were all of those which the Hon'ble Member has referred to : they were social, political, and religious ; that is what I can remember from the papers."

CANTONMENTS BILL.

His Excellency THE COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF presented the Report of the Select Committee on the Bill further to amend the Cantonments Act, 1889.

His Excellency THE COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF moved that the Report of the Select Committee be taken into consideration.

The Hon'ble LIEUTENANT MALIK UMAR HYAT KHAN said :—"The present Bill to consolidate and amend the law relating to cantonments which is now before the Council is undoubtedly a very useful measure, but certain amendments in it might have been needed. I wanted to propose some which were to the effect—

"Firstly, section 11 to include relations and other members of a soldier's family in order to give the terms a wider scope. Secondly, section 13 (2) to empower the police-officer to seize and detain any spirituous liquor or intoxicating drug within the cantonment in the case of a second offender as well as a first. This is necessary because by the time the officer gets written permission from the Magistrate the offender may conceal or dispose of the contents and it may be difficult to find a clue afterwards to prove the charge. Thirdly, section 24 (17) to make a distinction between the unenclosed spaces belonging to private individuals and those belonging to the Government. Fourthly, section 24 (22) to provide compensation for the destruction of animals in cases where compensation is allowed by any law or enactment for the time being in force for such diseases. Fifthly, section 24 (23) to suggest an inquiry and the assignment of reasons in case the commanding officer deems the exclusion of any person from the cantonment expedient. Sixthly, section 24 (26) to include the registration of marriages together with the registration of births and deaths as some people use cantonments as a shelter in certain cases. Seventhly, section 25 (4) to provide simple imprisonment for offences referred to in the section, to dispense with the imposition of daily fines, and to suggest that the order should be final and not with prospective effect. I may also have said something about taxes.

"But as it is not the custom to propose amendments in consolidating Bills, I did not press them. I had written all the answers to objections in some of the memorials sent to Hon'ble Members, but as they are not before the Council, I do not take their time.

"I think that the Bill, as it stands, is a mild one knowing the affairs and the class of people who loiter around and muster in cantonments and with whom the cantonment authorities have to deal.

"With these remarks I beg to support the Bill."

The Hon'ble PANDIT MADAN MOHAN MALAVIYA said :—"I should like to say a few words, Sir, before this Bill is passed. I understand, now that the Cantonment Acts have been consolidated, that there would be a question whether the Cantonment Code should not be revised and whether the rules which the Act empowers the Governor General in Council to make under the Act will not have to be formally reframed. I hope that this will be done, and I hope that the opportunity will be taken to consider some of the complaints which have been made from time to time with regard to the rules made under the existing Act. I hope both His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief and the Government of India will consider the desirability of making some distinction between sadr or Indian bazars, as they are now generally called, and regimental quarters proper, where the troops reside. In the sadr bazars a large number of Indians have taken up their abode, have invested much money in property and are carrying on trade or pursuing their professions. When the stringent rules of the cantonments are applied to these Indian bazars in the matter of the expulsion of persons, who are regarded as 'undesirable' and of persons whose exclusion from the cantonment area the Commanding Officer considers to be desirable, it gives rise to serious complaints of injustice and hardship. There have been cases published in the papers in which complaint has been made that the expulsion has been unjust. I do not wish to go into these cases at present, but I beg His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief and the Government to consider whether it is not desirable, in the case of persons who reside, not in the regimental quarters proper, but in the Indian bazars, to make some better provision to provide against cases of injustice in action taken under sections 210 and 211 of the Cantonment Code. In the matter of taxes also, there is a complaint that they are too many and in some places too heavy. And it is urged that in order to give the taxpayers an opportunity to have their interests and views presented to the military authorities with regard to the nature and rate of the taxes, and generally with regard to the administration of the rules and regulations which affect them, they should be given the right of electing a few of their representatives on the Cantonment Committee. This privilege has been extended to Indian residents in some of the cantonments. It would provide an effectual remedy against many small complaints if it is extended in others. I hope these matters will receive consideration. I hope also that when the Code is being revised the public will be given an opportunity to offer suggestions for the consideration of the military authorities and the Government. With these remarks I beg to support the motion that has been made."

The Hon'ble MR. MADGE: "Mr. President, I desire very briefly and very respectfully to submit for consideration to His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief and the Law Member the question whether the omission of the words 'or otherwise' in the 25th section of this Act would entail any serious inconvenience, or any inconvenience at all, on the cantonment authorities. At the last moment, when it is too late for me either to put any question or submit any amendment, if I had a desire to do so, I have received a number of papers from a sanitary depôt on the Himalayas, which is not only not a cantonment, but has never been declared to be a cantonment, in fact has been declared not to be a cantonment, all of which I have not been able to read in the short time at my disposal, but from which it will clearly be seen a good deal of friction has arisen in this depôt from the desire of the Government to convert it into a cantonment. Now, no sensible person in my humble opinion questions the paramountcy of those military considerations which make the authority of the cantonment officer supreme. What I have to say does not impinge at all upon those privileges which the Government has rightly reserved for its cantonment authorities. The point which I wish to make out is this: under section 3 of the Act power is conferred on Local Governments to make any place a cantonment. Then, considerable powers are conferred or will be vested in the cantonment authority, which may in some instances be a committee or, if a committee be not appointed, be a single person, such as the Commandant. In the case to which I have referred . . .

The Hon'ble MR. SINHA: "I rise to a point of order. I do not think the Hon'ble Member is in order in moving these amendments, which I understand he is doing."

The VICE-PRESIDENT: "I did not understand that the Hon'ble Member intended to move an amendment; but if it is his intention to do so, he is clearly out of order."

The Hon'ble MR. MADGE: "I implied at starting that it was not my intention to move any amendment. I wanted only very briefly and very respectfully to submit these points for the consideration of His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief. May I proceed?"

The VICE-PRESIDENT: "You may proceed, but you will not be in order in moving amendments."

The Hon'ble MR. MADGE: "I have no desire to move any amendments at all. I simply wish to call attention to these facts which are deserving of consideration and which, I feel certain, will receive the consideration of His Excellency if they are brought to his notice."

"A considerable amount of private property has grown up in this place and friction has arisen from the desire to make this place a cantonment. Well, Sir, the appeal will be made entirely to the justice of the Government and will be left entirely in the hands of the Government. What these people will look for, I presume, will be some sort of compensation as is always justly made by the Government. What occurred to me in reading the papers in the very little time I had to read them, was that the words 'or otherwise' after the word 'compensation' in section 25 introduced an unknown alternative. If, as it is, the compensation is left in the hands of Government, appeals for compensation will be made to the Government and decided by the Government, and it will probably create a good deal of anxiety if some other alternative, included in the words 'or otherwise,' which is not described, remained in the law."

"I simply submit this point for consideration."

The Hon'ble MR. SINHA: "Mr. President I think I ought to explain to Hon'ble Members that when there is a consolidation Bill, properly so called, before the Council, it is not the practice either of this Council, or of any other legislative assembly that I am aware of, to introduce amendments or to comment on the Act generally. In fact, the work of consolidation would be absolutely impossible if, every time that we undertook that work, the whole Act was put, so to speak, in the melting pot for Members to comment on the policy of the Act generally. The origin of the present Bill, as Hon'ble Members will remember, was this: two trivial amendments were proposed by the Army Department through His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief, namely, (1) to confer the right to prevent indiscriminate use being made of open spaces in cantonments; and (2) to remedy an omission which existed in the Act as it stood inasmuch as it did not give power to impose penalties for the non-payment of taxes which could be levied under a particular section. These were the only two amendments which were in question, and the Legislative Department took advantage of the opportunity to consolidate the Act by omitting certain words which were no longer necessary by reason of the subsequent General Clauses Act. That was the whole object of the Act, namely, consolidation and a few merely verbal changes were made such as putting in the words 'His Majesty' instead of 'Her Majesty' as it existed in the old Act. That is all that has been done, and I only explain this with a view to future occasions when the work of consolidation may be undertaken with regard to other Bills, that when we are consolidating all that we are doing is to put in one Act that which up to that moment exists, probably, in eight, or nine, or ten, merely for the purpose of convenience of reference, so that you may not have to refer to eight Acts instead of one. That is all that is done, and, on these occasions, I hope Members will satisfy themselves that nothing beyond consolidation has been attempted. That is all that they ought to do on these occasions. It is not the intention, and consolidation would be impossible, as I said, if every time we put together eight Acts in one, the whole policy underlying those eight Acts was to be brought under discussion."

The Hon'ble BABU BHUPENDRANATH BASU: "May I be permitted to call the Hon'ble Member's attention to the preamble of the Act,—'Whereas it is expedient to consolidate and amend.'"

The Hon'ble MR. SINHA: "Yes, that refers to the two amendments that I drew the attention of Hon'ble Members to—the two trivial amendments that I spoke of."

The motion was put and agreed to.

His Excellency THE COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF moved that the consolidating Bill proposed by the Select Committee be passed. He said:—"My Hon'ble Colleague Mr. Sinha has explained what these two amendments are, and they have been before the Committee; so there is no good my saying any more about it."

The motion was put and agreed to.

ARMY BILL.

His Excellency THE COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF moved for leave to introduce a Bill to Consolidate and amend the law relating to the government of His Majesty's Native Indian Forces. He said:—"I may explain that with the lapse of time the Indian Articles of War, originally framed in 1869 and amended in 1894, have become unsuited to modern conditions and have been found to require amendment in many respects. Legislation having thus become necessary, the opportunity has been taken to prepare a new and, it is hoped, a simpler code of military law instead of attempting to modify the existing Articles which have already been obscured by numerous amendments."

The motion was put and agreed to.

His Excellency THE COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF introduced the Bill.

His Excellency THE COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF moved that the Bill, together with the Statement of Objects and Reasons relating thereto, be published in the Gazette of India in English, and in the local official Gazettes in English and in such other languages as the Local Governments think fit.

The motion was put and agreed to.

INDIAN CENSUS BILL.

The Hon'ble MR. EARLE presented the Report of the Select Committee on the Bill to provide for certain matters in connection with the taking of the Census. He said:—"The Select Committee's Report is on the table. We have made very few additions to the Act and those that have been made were explained by the Hon'ble Home Member at the last meeting of the Council a fortnight ago. The only one of any importance whatever is that referred to in paragraph 5 of the Report. It relates to an amendment of clause 9 of the Bill, making provision so that we can obtain information regarding skilled and unskilled hands in factories. At the census of 1901, as the Hon'ble Member explained at the last meeting, it was very difficult to extract from the ordinary census schedules the information that we required as regards industries, and on this occasion we have provided a special schedule so as to show the skilled and unskilled hands. That is the only real amendment that has been made and I have nothing further to say in regard to the Report of the Select Committee."

The Hon'ble MR. EARLE moved that the Report of the Select Committee be taken into consideration.

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble MR. EARLE moved that the Bill, as amended, be passed.

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Council adjourned to Saturday, the 6th August 1910.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.
DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Rainfall summary for the seven days ending at 8 hrs. on Thursday, the 11th August 1910,* based on the Indian Daily Weather Reports of the period.

1. The cyclonic storm lying over Bilaspur at the close of the previous week continued to advance in a westnorthwesterly direction, but decreased rapidly in intensity and disappeared almost completely by the morning of the 6th: it occasioned moderate to heavy rain in the Central Provinces and light to moderate rain in the north of the Bombay Deccan, Gujarat and south Rajputana. On the disappearance of the storm rainfall diminished considerably, but a large increase took place on the 8th when rain was reported from practically all parts of the country east of the line joining Rajkot and Rawalpindi. Rainfall was almost as widespread on the 9th, but thereupon it decreased and on the last two days of the week was confined to a comparatively small area.

2. The Bay monsoon has given unusually heavy rain in Burma and the Bay Islands; while the rainfall due to the Arabian Sea current has been above the average in Sind, Gujarat, Rajputana West, Central India, the Central Provinces, Chota Nagpur, the Bombay Deccan, Mysore and Malabar.

3. Burma.—Rainfall was nearly general and in parts heavy in Lower Burma, and fairly general in Upper Burma. Cloud was moderate to heavy.

Northeast India, including Orissa.—Rainfall was comparatively light; but it was fairly widespread in Eastern Bengal and Bengal with the exception of Bihar. Cloud was only light to moderate over the greater part of northeast India on the first three days; it then increased and for the rest of the week skies were moderately to heavily overcast.

The United Provinces, Central India and the Central Provinces.—Rain fell locally in the United Provinces, but nearly general rain fell on most days in Central India and the Central Provinces. Cloud was light to moderate in the United Provinces and moderate to heavy elsewhere; and maximum temperature was in local defect in the Central Provinces.

Northwest India.—There was more rain than usual in Sind, west Rajputana and Gujarat, and rainfall was fairly general in east Rajputana, but in the Punjab there was only one day of widespread rain and the rest of northwest India was practically rainless. Skies were moderately to heavily clouded in the southern half of the division. Temperature fell rapidly and was in general defect on the 9th in the Punjab and west Rajputana.

The Peninsula.—Nearly general rain was reported throughout the week from the west coast, during the first few days from Mysore, and on the 9th from the Bombay Deccan and Hyderabad; in other parts of the division rainfall was generally light and local. Cloud was moderate to heavy except on the 10th and 11th, when the west coast and Mysore were the only heavily clouded areas. Temperature was in defect on several days in Mysore, the Bombay Deccan and Hyderabad.

WEATHER IN INDIA DURING JUNE AND JULY.

1. (a) The Bay current arrived upwards of a fortnight before its normal date but it was not very vigorous, and, except for a short interval about the middle of the month, failed to extend into the United Provinces. The Arabian Sea current on the other hand arrived at the average date and, notwithstanding its great unsteadiness, provided considerably more than the usual amount of rain.

In July the monsoon conditions were feebly marked, and over a large part of the country an almost complete break in the rains obtained in the second and third weeks.

(b) The combined rainfall of the two months in the plains of India fell short of the normal by 6 per cent. The defect was however neither universal nor large in amount, the only areas where it reached or exceeded 25 per cent being Central India East (47 per cent), the United Provinces West (34 per cent), Lower Burma (31 per cent) and the Bay Islands (25 per cent). On the other hand precipitation was markedly in excess in the North-West Frontier Province (2 $\frac{3}{4}$ " or 108 per cent), Sind (4" or 141 per cent), Mysore (4" or 64 per cent), Madras Southeast (3 $\frac{1}{4}$ " or 97 per cent) and Madras Coast North (5" or 53 per cent). The local distribution was thus rather irregular.

2. The following tables give for June, July, and the total period the actual rainfall, the departure from normal and the percentage departure from normal for the chief political divisions and sub-divisions :—

ANTICIPATIONS FOR AUGUST AND SEPTEMBER 1910.

3. With regard to the monsoon conditions of the present month and September a statistical examination of the data, going back as far as 1865 in some cases, shows that preceding conditions over a large part of the earth's surface are directly or indirectly connected with the weather in India: and in some cases the relationship is close enough to form the basis of a forecast in general terms. The data for 1910 for the most important areas previous to June were given in the memorandum of the 5th June, and the information obtained since that time is as follows:—

(a) SOUTH AMERICA.

4. Pressure at Buenos Ayres was in excess in July by 0.3 m.m.

(b) AUSTRALIA.

5. The average pressure was below normal in June by .06" and in July by .02".

(c) THE INDIAN OCEAN.

6. Mauritius.—The barometer fluctuated widely: thus pressure was in defect in the first eleven days of June and again during the last three weeks of July, normal or almost so in the last nineteen days of June, and in excess from July 3rd to the 9th. Taking the average over June there was a defect of about .015", and over July of .045".

Zanzibar.—Pressure was below the average by .01" in June and .02" in July. The air movement was on the whole of the usual character. Rainfall was unusually scanty in June (82 per cent in defect), and well above the normal in July.

Seychelles.—Pressure and winds were nearly normal both in June and July. Rainfall was lighter than usual throughout.

Logs of vessels.—In the Arabian Sea, according to the available information, strongly marked monsoon conditions obtained from about the middle of June onwards, except for a short interval in July corresponding roughly with the break over the land area when the current was much less strong than usual. The lack of strength probably had its origin in equatorial regions, for variable winds were recorded at Zanzibar during the week preceding the setting in of the break over India. There is evidence that winds were very variable in the central portion of the equatorial belt in June and presumably also during a part of July, and the feebleness of the Bay monsoon was in part at least due to this condition.

7. The monsoon rainfall of Abyssinia may be estimated from the Roseires gauge on the Blue Nile: the height was above the average in the second half of May and somewhat below it at the middle of June. At the beginning of July it was normal and on the 16th slightly below it. On the 1st August it was a metre, a large amount, below the average.

(e) SNOWFALL IN THE MOUNTAIN REGIONS TO THE NORTH AND WEST OF INDIA DURING JUNE AND JULY.

8. No snow fell during June and July in the Afghan mountains, and in general the accumulations at the end of July were not above the average.

In Kashmir there were a few falls, but they were apparently light and local. The snow accumulations on the Karakoram mountains are said to be greater than usual. In Leh weather was very cloudy in the last part of July and rain and snow fell on the surrounding heights.

Little or no snow fell in the Punjab Himalayas and the accumulations there in the beginning of August were not as thick as usual.

In Kumaon and Garhwal the aggregate amount of snowfall received during the period did not exceed the normal, and the quantity of the snow remaining unmelted in the beginning of August was almost certainly less than usual.

The information available thus shows that during the past two months there has been no such abnormal snowfall as would tend to cut short or weaken the activity of the monsoon currents.

DISCUSSION OF THE DATA.

9. As far as the total rainfall of August and September is concerned the general pressure distribution outside India has during the past two months been of the same character as in April and May, decidedly favourable but unsteady. In these respects there is a fairly close resemblance to 1907; but the fact that in 1907 there had been heavy snowfall while the present year shows no excess of the kind, enables a distinction to be drawn between the two cases: it appears therefore that, although the total monsoon rainfall may perhaps be below the average, the deficiency is not likely to be large. Regarding the local distribution of rainfall it may be inferred from the absence of heavy snowfall that there is little likelihood of a deficiency of rain in northwest India by comparison with that over the rest of the country.

The present deficiency in the United Provinces has been chiefly due to the weakness of the Bay monsoon; at times when that current has penetrated up the Gangetic plain rainfall there has been comparatively light; and when the activity of the Bombay current has extended over northern India it has shown itself chiefly in the snowmontane districts. Those parts of the United Provinces which are not close to the hills have accordingly suffered, and, as abnormal features tend to persist, it appears doubtful whether any marked improvement in this respect will occur. It occasionally occurs however, later in the season, that a cyclonic storm takes a more northerly route than that of the disturbance which has just passed through the country, and so gives abundant precipitation in the eastern half of Central India and in the United Provinces.

- (a) The general outlook appears more uncertain than usual, but there is no reason for expecting a large defect in the total amount of rainfall during August and September.
- (b) The unsteadiness in the monsoon, especially in that of the Arabian Sea, is likely to persist, and there will probably be marked breaks as well as periods of plentiful rainfall.
- (c) The quantity of snow on the hills is not sufficient to exert any prejudicial influence upon the rainfall of northwest India.
- (d) The weakness of the Bay current is likely to continue, and there is no cause for anticipating an early large improvement in the rainfall of the Gangetic plain.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Season and Crop Prospects for the week ending Saturday,
6th August 1910.

Burma—The rainfall was practically general. It was heavy in the Arakan and Tenasserim divisions and moderate elsewhere except in Myingyan where no rain fell. Ploughing and sowing for the main rice crop continue and are approaching completion in parts while transplanting progresses. Agricultural operations for winter rice in Thayetmyo are at a standstill for want of rain. Sowing for maize, groundnut, juar and sesamum continues. Crop prospects are generally more favourable but in parts of the dry zone more rain is wanted. Some damage has been caused by floods to autumn rice in parts of the Maubin and Pantanaw townships of the Maubin district. The price of unhusked rice has risen considerably in Thaton and an unimportant change has occurred in eight other districts.

Eastern Bengal and Assam.—The rainfall was heavy but less than that of the previous week except in parts of the Rajshahi and Assam Valley divisions. Floods are subsiding gradually. Plucking of tea is progressing. Its prospects have been considerably improved and are now fairly hopeful. Harvesting of jute continues although it has suffered to some extent from floods. Transplantation of winter rice is progressing and prospects are fairly good. Cutting of autumn rice is going on. Considerable damage from floods has been reported from several districts. Cotton and sugarcane promise well. The average price of common rice has risen by about one per cent. Cattle disease prevails in Chittagong, Malda, the Naga Hills, Goalpara, Darrang, Sibsagar and Lakhimpur.

Bengal.—The rainfall was general all over the Province, the fall being heavy in Orissa, moderate in Ranchi, Manbhum, Saran, Howrah, the 24-Parganas, Jessore, Khulna and Darjeeling and generally light elsewhere. Transplanting of paddy is going on but more rain is urgently wanted for the purpose in parts of Burdwan, Birbhum, Bankura, Hooghly, the 24-Parganas, Murshidabad, Patna, Gaya, Shahabad, Purnea, Palamau and Manbhum. Weeding of autumn crops continues. Harvesting of jute has commenced in some districts. Serious damage to autumn crops and the newly planted cold weather paddy has been caused by floods in Darbhanga and in parts of Monghyr. Damage by excessive rain and floods is also reported from Champaran and Muzaffarpur. The price of common rice has risen in Bankura, Monghyr, Cuttack, Sambalpur, Hazaribagh and in the Patna and Tirhut divisions and has fallen in Murshidabad, Jessore, the Sonthal Parganas and Balasore. Cattle disease is reported from Midnapore, Murshidabad, Jessore, Patna, Gaya, Champaran, Muzaffarpur, Darbhanga, Monghyr, Bhagalpur, Purnea, the Sonthal Parganas, Angul, Puri, Sambalpur, Hazaribagh, Manbhum and Cooch Behar. The supply of fodder and water is sufficient throughout the Province.

United Provinces—The rainfall was general and large in amount in the Himalayan, the north, central and central submontane districts. More rain is needed in parts of the western submontane districts, the upper and central Doab, South Oudh and the south-eastern districts, particularly for rice. The rainfall, however, was sufficient to remove immediate anxiety. Floods are subsiding in the eastern submontane districts. Prospects on the whole are fair and in a few districts good. Sowing of millets, transplantation of rice and weeding and ploughing for spring crops are in progress. Cattle are generally healthy though twenty-six districts report sporadic disease. Fodder and supplies are ample. Prices have fallen in ten districts and are generally stationary elsewhere.

Punjab.—Light to moderate rain has fallen during the week. There is more or less general want of rain throughout the Province. Sowings of autumn crops continue except in Delhi, Rawalpindi and Mianwali. The condition of standing crops is generally good to average. Crops in Delhi are poor. They are suffering for want of sufficient rain in the south eastern districts of the Province. Prices are rising in Delhi, Jullundur, Lahore, Amritsar, Sialkot, Rawalpindi and Multan; are falling in Ferozepore and are unchanged elsewhere. The condition of cattle is generally good. Fodder is sufficient. Complaints of a short supply of canal water are being received from the Samundri and Toba Tek Singh tahsils of the Lyallpur district.

North-West Frontier Province.—Light to moderate rain fell during the week averaging 3 cents in Peshawar to 9½ cents in Swabi and was beneficial to standing crops. More rain is needed in the Peshawar tahsil. Autumn sowings are in progress. The condition of standing crops is average. The fodder and water-supply is sufficient. Irrigation from canals in the Peshawar district is satisfactory. The condition of cattle is good except in one village of the Nowshera tahsil and one village of the Mardan tahsil. The public health is good. Prices of food grains are falling slightly. Prices are:—wheat 13½ to 17½, maize 15 to 22½, gram 17½ to 25 and bajra 16½ to 18 seers per rupee.

Jammu.—The rainfall during the week was good. Prices are stationary. Wheat sells from 12 to 22 and maize from 19 to 32 seers per rupee. The condition of standing crops is fair. Cattle disease of mild type prevails in some parts of the Province. Fodder is sufficient.

Kashmir.—Slight rain fell once during the week and was beneficial to autumn crops. There is no disease among cattle. Fodder is sufficient. Autumn crops are in good condition. Prices are stationary.

Rajputana.—Rain was reported in all States and in Ajmer-Merwara. The maximum fall was 666 cents in Jaisalmer and the minimum 91 cents in Kishangarh. Bikaner and Bharatpur, however, report slight showers. More rain is urgently needed in Bharatpur. Standing crops are generally good but are withering in places in Bharatpur for want of rain. Cattle disease is prevalent in a few places in Mewar, the Hilly Tracts, Banswara and Ajmer. Fodder is sufficient. Prices show a tendency to fall.

Central India.—The rainfall was general but insufficient in Gwalior. Crops have been damaged slightly in Gwalior, Indore, Malwa and Bhopawar. Agricultural stock are generally good except for some disease in parts of Gwalior, Indore, Bundelkhand and Bhopawar. Prices continue high in Baghelkhand, are fluctuating in Indore and are steady elsewhere.

Central Provinces.—During the week moderate to heavy rain fell all over the Provinces. It was well distributed and did much good to standing crops. Raipur had the heaviest fall of 20 inches which caused floods in villages and some damage to rice where thinning operations were in progress. Nimar received only 2 inches while in the remaining districts the rainfall ranged between 4 and 12 inches. In Bilaspur the 5 inches received were insufficient for the completion of thinning of rice in high lying land and more rain is also required in Jubbulpore. A break is desirable in Wardha and Raipur. Sowing of autumn crops still continues in Damoh, Jubbulpore, Mandla, Narsinghpur, Nimar and Yeotmal. Transplantation and thinning are in full swing in rice districts. Weeding of autumn crops and preparation of land for sowing of spring crops are in progress in several districts. Prospects, at present, are generally good. Fodder and water are adequate. Agricultural stock is in good condition. Prices:—The price of wheat remained stationary in fourteen districts, gram in eighteen, rice in nineteen and juar in twenty. Fluctuations are unimportant elsewhere and generally exhibit a tendency to fall.

Feudatory States.—The rainfall during the week measured, in inches :—Nandgaon 12, Chhuikhadan 8, Kanker 7, Sirguja 3, Raigarh and Jashpur each 2 and Korea 1. Sowing of autumn crops and thinning and transplantation of rice are in full swing. The condition of standing crops is generally good. The supply of fodder and water is sufficient. Prices:—Rice became cheaper by 2 seers per rupee in Jashpur.

Bombay.—Heavy rain fell during the week in the Konkan, Nasik, Poona, Satara, Belgaum, Kathiawar, Baroda, Palanpur, Mahi Kantha, Rewa Kantha, Savantvadi and Kolhapur; good in Gujarat, Khandesh and Cutch; moderate in Karachi, Thar and Parkar, Ahmednagar and Dharwar and slight in Sukkur, Larkana, Hyderabad, the Upper Sind Frontier, Sholapur and Bijapur. The rainfall was general and beneficial but more is needed in parts of Ahmedabad, Kaira, Kanara, Sholapur, Satara, Belgaum, Dharwar and Kolhapur. Autumn sowings generally continue. Transplantation is progressing in parts of Sukkur, Larkana, the Upper Sind Frontier, Ahmedabad, Surat, Kaira, the Konkan, Nasik, Ahmednagar, Poona, Belgaum and Savantvadi but has been retarded in Karachi owing to floods. Cotton sowing is progressing in parts of Ahmedabad, Broach, Surat, West Khandesh, Baroda and Cutch. The fodder-supply is adequate. Agricultural stock is sufficient except in parts of Ahmednagar, Poona, Sholapur and Satara and is generally in good condition. Water for drinking and irrigation is generally sufficient. Grain stocks are sufficient. Prices have risen in Karachi; have fallen in Ahmedabad, Kanara and Ahmednagar and are stationary elsewhere. The quantity purchasable per rupee is in Sind 32 to 44 per cent; in the Konkan 13 to 33 per cent; in the Deccan 11 to 30 per cent and in the Karnatak 22 to 37 per cent less than the normal. In Gujarat the quantity purchasable per rupee ranged from normal to 26 per cent less than the normal.

Hyderabad.—The average rainfall for the Dominions was 1 inch 83 cents during the week. The rainfall was good everywhere averaging from 1 inch 19 cents in Bir to 3 inches 25 cents in Nizamabad. The heaviest falls occurred in the Nander, Aurangabad, Nizamabad and Bidar districts. Autumn sowings have been suspended in the Lingsugur taluka of the Raichur district for want of rain. Autumn crops are generally fair except in parts of Raichur owing to inadequate rain and are still being damaged by insects in some parts of Telingana. Spring sowings began in parts, especially in parts of the Mahbubnagar district. Water scarcity is reported in three talukas and cattle disease in fifteen. Fodder scarcity prevails in five talukas. Prices:—wheat and coarse rice 6½ and juar 13½ seers per rupee, showing a fall of ½ seer in the price of juar. White juar is selling in Hyderabad City between 12 and 13 seers per rupee, showing a fall of 1 seer in the price of white juar. The highest price in districts is 8 seers in Karimnagar and the lowest 24 seers in Bidar.

Mysore.—The rainfall was good in Hassan, Kadur and Shimoga and slight elsewhere. Prices of food grains are generally steady. Markets are well supplied. Standing crops are in good condition. Prospects of the season are good. Cattle are generally healthy. Water and fodder are available.

Coorg.—Rainfall 13 inches 49 cents. Transplanting of rice continues. Prices of food grains are rising. The public health is fair. Water and fodder for cattle are sufficient.

Madras.—The rainfall was very heavy in the Vizagapatam Agency, Malabar, South Canara, the Nilgiris and Ganjam; heavy in the Vizagapatam littoral; good in Godavari, Kistna and Guntur; nil in Trichinopoly, Madura and Ramnad and light to fair elsewhere. The rainfall in sixteen districts was above the average of the last 35 years. Irrigation supplies are sufficient in Ganjam, Vizagapatam, Godavari, Kistna, Anantapur and Cuddapah. Standing crops in parts of Vizagapatam have been affected by excessive rain; some in parts of Bellary have been damaged by insects and some in parts of Guntur require more rain. Harvests continue in parts with outturn poor to normal. Pasture is insufficient in parts of Guntur, Bellary, Anantapur, South Arcot, Coimbatore and Rannad. Fodder is scanty in parts of Godavari, Nellore, North Arcot, Coimbatore, Tanjore, Malabar, South Canara and the Nilgiris and insufficient in parts of other districts. Ploughing, sowing, weeding and transplanting are in progress in parts. Standing crops are generally fair. Cattle are generally good. The price of rice is stationary in sixteen districts; has fallen in one and has risen in seven. The prices of millets have fluctuated as follows:—Ragi is stationary in eight districts; has fallen in seven and has risen in seven. Cholam is stationary in five districts; has fallen in five and has risen in five. Cumbu is stationary in five districts; has fallen in five and has risen in six. The public health is generally good. Prospects are generally fair. The condition of the labouring classes is satisfactory everywhere and employment is readily available. Grain stocks are sufficient.

Nepal—Report for the quarter ending 15th July 1910:—Potatoes, wheat and barley were harvested in April and May in the hills and in the Nepal Valley; the crops generally were up to a fair average. The rains broke early in June and enabled the transplanting of rice in the low lands to be commenced in good time. The rainfall has continued steadily to the benefit of rice cultivation and the standing crops of rice and pepper in the valley and of maize in the hills are at present in good condition. A break in the rains and some more sunshine is, however, desirable especially for maize. The fruit crop has not been plentiful, plums especially suffering from the rain and from windy weather. Prices of food stuffs have been normal with the exception of that of ghí which has ruled high owing to importation having been checked by the fear of cholera which has prevented its being brought to the Nepal Valley from the hills. The rainfall was 27·18 inches as compared with 29·96 inches during the same period last year. No disease among cattle has been reported.

CENSUS.

The 18th August 1910.

No. 272—IN exercise of the powers conferred by section 15, sub-section (3), of the Indian Census Act, 1910 (XVI of 1910), the Governor General in Council is pleased to direct that the powers to make rules for certain purposes conferred upon him by section 15, sub-section (2), clauses (a), (b) and (c) of the said Act, may also be exercised by any local Government with respect to the territories administered by it.

No. 290.—IN exercise of the powers conferred by section 15 of the Indian Census Act, 1910 (XVI of 1910), the Governor General in Council is pleased to make the following rules for taking the census (1) of cantonments and of troops on the march and elsewhere, and (2) of railway servants and others residing on railway premises and travellers by rail :—

RULES FOR TAKING THE CENSUS OF CANTONMENTS AND OF TROOPS ON THE MARCH AND ELSEWHERE.

A.—Military Limits.

1. Agency.—Within regimental lines, or other purely military limits, the Census will be taken by the military authorities. The operations will be placed in charge of a selected officer, who should, if possible, be conversant with the vernacular language in which the Census record will be prepared for natives of India resident within military limits.

2. Determination of Boundaries.—The determination of the purely military limits should be undertaken, not later than the 15th September 1910, by the military and civil authorities in consultation with each other. The boundary decided on should be shown on a map, so that both may know clearly the areas for the enumeration of which they are respectively responsible.

3. Scope of Enumeration.—The Census to be taken by the military authorities under the above orders will include all persons, of whatever age, sex, race, or profession, who, on the night of the 10th March 1911, are temporarily or permanently residing within military limits. In other words, it will include all persons who, though ordinarily residing elsewhere, may on that night be stopping temporarily within those limits; and also those who, while actually living and taking their meals within the same, may be absent for a few hours on night duty, etc.

4. Way in which Census record will be prepared.—European officers and civilian Europeans and Eurasians of good standing will be supplied with Household Schedules on which to enter the necessary particulars for themselves, their families and their European or Eurasian servants. For all other persons the Census record will be prepared by Enumerators in the manner described further on.

5. House List.—A list should be prepared in the following form not later than the 15th October 1910, showing every house or other building in the area in

| Serial no. of house | Description of house (i.e., barracks, guard house, dwelling house, married quarters, followers' quarters, etc.) | Name of chief occupant, or officer in charge. | Usual number of occupants. | Language in which the record will be prepared | Whether Household Schedules required—see Rule 4 (Enter 'yes' or 'no' against each house.) |

6. Definition of House.—If any large building has been divided into separate dwellings or tenements, such as married quarters occupied by distinct families or groups of persons, each of these dwellings should be treated as a house and given a separate number in column 1 of the House List. Large buildings not so divided, such as the quarters of unmarried privates, should be given only one number.

Huts occupied by native servants should be numbered separately from the houses to which they belong. Each block of servants' huts should be given a number of its own.

7. House-numbering.—While the above list is being prepared, the number entered against each house should be painted conspicuously on the building, so that it may be easily recognised by the Enumerator.

8. Formation of Blocks and Circles.—After the numbers have been painted, the houses should be arranged in compact Blocks, and these Blocks should be grouped into Circles. No Block should contain more than 250 persons, and no Circle more than 2,500. Separate Blocks should be formed for native followers and servants attached to British regiments or employed by the officers.

9. Appointment of Supervisors and Enumerators.—For each Block an Enumerator should be appointed, and for each Circle a Supervisor. The Enumerator is the person whose duty it will be to fill in the Census Schedules for all persons in his Block, except those for whom Household Schedules will be issued as provided in Rule 4. The Supervisor is responsible for seeing that all the Enumerators in his Circle understand their duties and carry them out satisfactorily. Non-Commissioned Officers of the regiments to be enumerated will usually be selected for these posts. Blocks occupied by native followers and servants should be placed in charge of Enumerators who are well acquainted with their language and customs, such as the regimental Munshi or a Commissariat native official.

10. Circle List.—A Circle List should then be drawn up in the following form and forwarded not later than the 15th November to the District or Political Officer as the case may be :—

11. Supply of Forms.—On receipt of this register the District or Political Officer will at once calculate the number of forms (English and vernacular) of each kind required at the rate of—

- (a) 1 Cover per Block ;
- (b) 1 Block List per Block ;
- (c) 1 General Schedule for every 12 persons ;
- (d) 2 Household Schedules for each house in which such Schedules will be used ;

adding 25 per cent for emergencies, etc.

He will also supply for each Supervisor one Cover with five General Schedules and a Block List stitched into it. This will serve to show how the forms should be bound up to make the Enumeration Books, and will also be useful for instruction purposes as explained in Rule 13.

12. Block List.—As soon as the forms are received, the Block List, showing the number and description of the houses in each Block, should be written up from the House List.

13. Instruction of Census Staff.—The Supervisors and Enumerators must study very carefully the instructions on the first two pages of the Cover and the Specimen Schedule on the back of it. The officer in charge of the Census must satisfy himself that they clearly understand their duties. He should make them fill in a few entries each in the bound copy of the Enumeration Book supplied to Supervisors for instruction purposes and should correct mistakes and give such verbal explanations as are found to be necessary.

14. The Preliminary Enumeration.—Early in February 1911, each Enumerator should go round his Block and enter in his Enumeration Book full particulars regarding every man, woman, or child whom he finds residing therein, including persons temporarily absent who are expected to be back by the 10th March. This work should be completed by the 25th February. The entries thus made must be carefully examined and corrected by the Supervisor. The officer in charge of the Census should himself examine as many entries as possible in each Block, in order to make sure that they have been properly made. The houses should be taken in the order in which they are entered in the House List, and exact observance of the instructions must be rigidly enforced. Europeans and Eurasians of the class referred to in Rule 4 should not be enumerated on this occasion, but Household Schedules should be distributed to them on the 8th March and the signature of the head of the household taken in the last column of the Block List.

15. The Final Census.—After gunfire on the night of the 10th March 1911 the Enumerator should again go over his Block and bring the Preliminary Record up to date by striking out the entries for persons who have died or gone away and entering the necessary particulars for new arrivals. He will thus complete the Census.

16. Rough Totals.—Collection and Despatch of forms.—On the morning of the 11th March the Enumerators will collect all the Household Schedules that have been issued and sew them into their books. They will then assemble at some place previously fixed by the Supervisor and prepare under his instructions the Abstracts inside the Covers, showing the number of houses and persons, male and female, in each Block. After testing the figures the Supervisor will compile them into a Circle Summary, showing the number of persons in the Circle, and the various summaries will then be combined into a single statement by the officer in charge of the Census and sent to the District or Political officer as the case may be. The Enumeration Books should then be packed up at once and sent to the same officer. They should be arranged carefully by Blocks and Circles according to the order shown in the Circle List.

B.—Troops on the March and on Duty outside Cantonments

17. Troops on the March.—The Census of regiments on the march and of troops on duty will be taken by the officer in command. The Census will include all persons, of whatever sex, age, race or profession, who are marching with the troops. The officer in command should be provided with the requisite forms at the cantonment from which the troops start. He should arrange to make one of the weekly halts on the 10th March 1911. If the Preliminary Enumeration was not effected before the troops left their last cantonment, the Schedules should be written up during the day. They should be checked in the usual manner after dark.

18. Troops in Trains.—If the regiment or detachment be travelling by rail on the night of the Census, the enumeration of the actual troops should be effected by the officer in command at the first place at which the men alight. The Railway authorities will enumerate the families, servants and followers travelling with them in accordance with the general rules for the enumeration of persons travelling by rail.

19. Despatch of Forms.—The Enumeration Books for regiments or detachments on the march will be sent to the Magistrate of the District or the Political Agent of the State in which they are enumerated. The place where they were encamped at the time of the Census must be reported to the same officer. A telegram must also be sent to him stating the number of persons (total, males and females) enumerated.

20. Troops beyond the Frontier.—Troops or military outposts in tracts of which no general Census is being taken will be recorded in the final tables as belonging to the cantonment or station within the administrative frontier from which, or in connexion with which, they are detailed, or which is nearest to the post they occupy. Their Enumeration Books will be sent to that cantonment or station.

C.—Cantonment Bazaars and Civil Limits.

21. The Census of so much of each cantonment as lies beyond regimental or other purely military limits will be taken by the Cantonment Magistrate, acting under the instructions of the civil authorities of the District or State. Exceptional cases may be found, in which the whole arrangements will have to be controlled by the Officer Commanding, who will thus be responsible for their efficiency and punctuality. The rules to be followed are those laid down in the Provincial Census Code.

D.—General. •

22. Issue of Special Instructions.—The Provincial Superintendent will issue the necessary subsidiary instructions, and arrange for the supply of forms, etc.

23. Census Expenditure.—Cantonment funds will bear all charges in connection with the actual enumeration, but the requisite printed forms will be supplied free of charge. Government will bear all charges in connection with the compilation of the results.

CENSUS OF RAILWAYS.

1. General.—The following rules lay down the procedure to be followed for taking the Census on open lines of railway. For each line, an officer of the headquarters staff, preferably the Traffic Manager or Traffic Superintendent, should be placed by the Agent or Manager in charge of the operations as Railway Census Officer. In the case of the larger lines which pass through two or more Provinces or States a separate officer may, if desired, be appointed for the part of the line which lies in each Province or State. The Railway Census Officer should be authorised to correspond direct with the Provincial Superintendent of Census, who will issue such supplementary instructions as may be necessary and will arrange for the supply of the requisite forms. Where a new line is under construction, the Census operations will be in charge of the Engineer-in-Chief, who will be guided by these rules so far as they are applicable, and will act in close consultation with the District Officer.

2. Definitions.—(1) Railway premises includes a railway station within distant signals, a workshop, a colliery, a steamer-ghát and all other premises within the railway boundaries, on which permanent or temporary employes of the railway reside, except gangmen's and gatemen's huts and similar isolated buildings outside the distant signals of stations.

(2) Charge means the section of line falling within a single District or State, under a Charge Superintendent appointed by the Railway authorities for the purpose of the Census. In no case must a Charge include parts of two or more civil Districts.

(3) Circle means a station or other railway premises under a Supervisor, who will ordinarily be the station master or other official in charge of the premises.

(4) Block means a group of not more than 50 houses under an Enumerator and forming part of a Circle.

(5) The General Schedule is the form in which the Enumerators will fill in the necessary particulars for all persons enumerated by them. There are ten lines on each page, so that ordinarily the record for at least three houses can be entered on one Schedule.

(6) Household Schedule is the form issued in a limited number of cases (see Rule 4 below) to those who personally fill up the required particulars for themselves and their families.

(7) Block List is the form showing the Census number of every house in a Block, the description of the house and the name of the head of each family.

(8) The Cover is the piece of brown paper in which the General Schedules and House List are bound up to form the Enumeration Book. On it are printed the Instructions to Enumerators, the Enumerator's Abstract and the Specimen Schedule, which contains some typical entries illustrating the way in which the General Schedule should be filled up. Provision is also made for entering the Descriptive Particulars of the Enumeration Book, the names of the Census Officers concerned, and a record of the progress of the operations.

3. Persons to be enumerated.—The classes of the population to be enumerated by the Railway authorities are—

4. Way in which Census Records will be prepared.—As far as possible the whole Census record will be prepared by the Enumerators on the General Schedules. Household Schedules should be issued very sparingly. They should be supplied only to the higher railway officers and to Europeans and Eurasians residing in Blocks of which the Enumerator is a native. Where there are considerable colonies of Europeans and Eurasians, a European Enumerator should be appointed to enumerate them, a native Enumerator being associated with him to prepare the record for natives residing in the Block.

The language to be used will be English where the persons to be enumerated are Europeans or Eurasians. The record for all natives of India will ordinarily be prepared in the language of the district in which the premises are situated.

Class A.—Residents.

5. Residents defined—The term “residents” includes all persons, whether railway employes or not, who pass the night of 10th March 1911 on railway premises as defined in Rule 2.

It does not include—

- (a) Signalmen, gangmen or gatemen living in small isolated houses and huts beyond distant signals, whether within or without the railway fences. These will be included in one of the Blocks of the nearest village or town, and will be enumerated under the orders of the civil officers along with the ordinary population of that Block.
- (b) Railway servants and others who work on railway premises, either by day or night, but who return to their houses outside railway premises when off work.

But it does include—

- (c) Large collections of railway labourers sleeping near the railway works on which they are employed, but outside station limits or railway premises. Such persons should be enumerated by the railway officials who employ them.

6. Agency for Census of Residents—The Railway Census Officer will send to the Provincial Superintendent of each Province, Agency or State through which the line, or his portion of the same, passes not later than the 1st September 1910 a list of the railway stations or other premises in each civil District or State.

Unless otherwise arranged the responsibility for taking the Census on all these premises will rest upon the Railway Census Officer. Experience, however, has shown that the arrangements for taking the Census of small stations (such as the distribution of forms, the instruction of the staff, the testing of the record and the collection and despatch of the first totals and Enumeration Books) give a disproportionate amount of work to an officer at the head-quarters of the railway, while they can be carried out quite smoothly and efficiently by the District Magistrate as part of the general Census of his District. There is therefore no objection to the responsibility for the Census of small stations and other outlying premises being transferred to the District Magistrate wherever this can conveniently be arranged. It will of course be understood in such cases that the local railway employes may, if required, be appointed by the District Officer as Supervisors or Enumerators for the purpose of enumerating the population residing on the railway premises, or arriving or leaving by train on the night of the Census.

In forwarding the list above referred to, the Railway Census Officer should note against all premises entered therein whether he would propose to take the Census departmentally, or to hand over the work to the District Magistrate. The Provincial Superintendent will reply not later than the end of September stating precisely which stations, etc., he has been able to arrange to have dealt with as part of the general Census of the Districts concerned; and for the enumeration of these premises the Railway Census Officer will have no further responsibility.

7. Census Divisions—The next step is to parcel out all railway premises for the enumeration of which the Railway Census Officer is responsible into Charges, Charges.

Circles and Blocks. The partition must be territorial not departmental. The portion of the line running through each civil District or State must form a separate Charge. Very large premises, such as a colliery or extensive workshop, should be treated as a distinct Charge.

Each Charge will be divided into Circles, containing not more than 500 houses each, but no Circle should be so scattered as to make it difficult for the Supervisor to exercise close personal supervision over all parts of it. Outlying stations or premises, however small, must form a separate Circle.

Each Circle will be divided into one or more Blocks. A Block must be of such a size that the Enumerator can visit all the houses in it and bring the Census record up to date in the course of a few hours on the night of the final Census. If they are close together it may contain up to fifty houses.

8. Register of Census Divisions.—The form of Register given in Appendix no. 1 should be used to show Census divisions. The instructions annexed to it explain how each column should be filled up. An extract comprising all the entries for each Province or State should be sent to the Provincial Superintendent of Census concerned, and a similar extract of the entries for each Charge should be sent to the District officer in British territory and to the Political officer in Native States. The Register should be completed by the end of September 1910. Where railway premises are much mixed up with the houses of the civil population, a map should be prepared, and the respective jurisdictions settled in consultation with the civil officials.

The above Register should be very carefully prepared, as it will form the basis on which the various forms will be supplied for the enumeration of the Resident population.

9. House-numbering.—A list in the form of the Block List, in which every building must be entered, will next be prepared for each station, workshop, railway settlement, etc. The serial number noted in this list against each building must be painted on it, so that it may be easily recognised by the Enumerator. The numbers should run in the order in which it will be most convenient for the Enumerator to visit each house on the night of the Census. A note should be made in the last column of the list showing the houses where Household Schedules have to be left (see Rule 4). If any large building has been divided into separate dwellings or tenements, such as married quarters occupied by distinct families or groups of persons, each of these dwellings should be given a separate number in column 1 of the list. In cooke lines, each dwelling place having a separate doorway should be given a separate number. In the case of houses occupied by Europeans or Eurasians, one number should be given to the house proper and another number to the servants' quarters, which will be visited by a different Enumerator (see Rule 4). The House-numbering should be completed not later than the 15th December.

10. Appointment of Census Officers.—Charge Superintendents, Supervisors and Enumerators should be appointed in writing over the signature of the Railway Census Officer not later than the 31st December. They will ordinarily be employes of the railway residing in or near the areas with which they will have to deal. As soon as they are appointed, arrangements must be made to give them a thorough training in their duties. Each Charge Superintendent and Supervisor should be supplied with a copy of these Rules, and an extract from Register no. 1, so far as it refers to his Charge or Circle, and with a set of the forms comprising the Enumeration Book. Each Enumerator will receive: (1) a Cover; (2) a Block List; (3) General Schedules at the rate of one for every two houses in the Block; and (4) Household Schedules at the rate of two for each house in which they will be used (see Rules 4 and 13). The Block List and General Schedules should be sewn into the Cover by the Supervisor. Collectors and District officers will be instructed to help the Railway Census Officer in training the Supervisors and Enumerators and to assist in procuring Enumerators where no railway employes who are natives of the Province are available.

11. Preliminary Enumeration.—Early in February every Enumerator must fill in the General Schedule for each house (except those for which Household Schedules will be issued) in the manner prescribed in the Instructions printed on the Cover. This task should be completed by the 25th February. The Supervisor should test all the entries by house-to-house visits.

12. Final Enumeration.—On the night of the 10th March, beginning from about 8 o'clock, the Enumerator must again visit every house in his Block, and bring the record up to date, by striking out the entries relating to persons who have died or gone away and entering the necessary particulars for all new comers, including newly-born infants. Persons who are absent for the night only on duty, e.g., with a running train or in a signal box, should be recorded as present in the houses where they reside.

13. Household Schedules.—In the case of persons who will personally prepare the Census record for themselves and their families (see Rule 4) the Household Schedules should be left with the head of each family about the 7th March, and his signature should be taken in the last column of the Block List. On the morning after the Census, i.e., on the 11th March, these Schedules must be collected by the Enumerator, examined by him on the spot, and corrected where necessary. The Enumerator must then bind them up in his Enumeration Book.

14. Provisional Totals.—On the same morning the Supervisor will cause the Enumerator's Abstract for each Block to be prepared according to the Instructions inside the Cover of the Enumeration Book. He will then post the totals into his Circle Summary (Appendix no. 2), of which columns 1 and 2 should have been filled in beforehand, total it, arrange the Books in the serial order of Blocks as shown in Register no. 1, and despatch them with that Register and the Circle Summary without any delay to his Charge Superintendent. The latter, after checking the Circle Summaries, will prepare a Charge Summary showing the total population of his Charge, which he will transmit immediately, if in British territory, to the Collector or Deputy Commissioner of the district, and if in Native territory, to such officer as may have been previously selected. He will then arrange in the order of Circles the parcels of Enumeration Books received from his Supervisors and will despatch them as soon as possible to the same officer, certifying at the same time to the Railway Census Officer that he has done so.

NOTE.—The above is the standard procedure. There is however, no objection to arrangements being made by Provincial Superintendents to have the Enumeration Books for Railway Circles collected direct should this course be considered more convenient and expeditious.

Class B.—Travellers by Rail.

15. Station-Enumeration.—An official called the Station Enumerator should be told off at each station to enumerate all persons taking tickets at that station, or alighting from a train during the night of the 10th March. Persons about to travel usually arrive at a station some time before their train is due; and they should, so far as possible, be enumerated by the Station Enumerator before they enter the train. Each person so enumerated should be provided with an Enumeration Pass to prevent his being counted again.

All persons alighting from a train should be asked if they have been enumerated already, and, if they produce Enumeration Passes or otherwise satisfy him that they have been, the Enumerator should let them go. He should fill up all the columns in the Schedule for each person who has not already been enumerated and give him an Enumeration Pass, telling him to show it to any Enumerator who may wish to count him again.

16. Train-Enumeration: Civil population.—On the evening of the 10th March the guard in charge of the train should distribute Household Schedules to all first and second class passengers and to all Europeans and Eurasians travelling intermediate or third class, and request them to fill them in and give them up at any station at which they may alight during the night, or (if they do not alight) keep them till they are collected in the morning. The rest of the persons in the train will be enumerated on General Schedules as noted below.

All passengers who cannot produce Enumeration Passes, and who do not appear to have been enumerated anywhere else, must be counted at the first large station at which the train stops at or about 6 A.M. on the 11th March by one or more Train Enumerators selected from the local Railway staff. A place should be chosen where the train is timed to stop for a sufficient period, which should, if necessary, be slightly prolonged. Where the local staff is insufficient for the speedy enumeration of passengers at this halt, a few clerks should be sent temporarily from another station. Each compartment should remain locked until the enumeration of the persons in it has been completed. Enumeration Passes need not be given on this occasion.

The Household Schedules given the evening before to first and second class passengers and others who have not alighted during the night should at the same time be collected and examined by an intelligent official, who should fill up the form for those who have omitted, or are unable, to do so for themselves. He should see that the Schedules thus collected are securely stitched into a Cover together with the General Schedules for the other passengers, thus forming a compact Enumeration Book for the train.

17. Train-Enumeration : Troops.—Troops travelling by rail on the night of the Census will be enumerated by their officers, and the return separately sent in. But the native servants and followers travelling with them will be enumerated with the rest of the persons in the train.

18. Provisional Totals.—The Station Enumeration and Train Enumeration should be treated as constituting separate Blocks of the Circle (station) at which the enumeration takes place. That is to say, the Enumeration Books containing the result of such enumeration should be included in the Census records of the Circle under the heading "Station Enumeration" or "Train Enumeration," as the case may be. The Supervisor of the Circle should have the Enumerators' Abstracts prepared, showing the population of these special Blocks, and should include the figures in his Circle Summary (Rule 14).

19. Expenses.—The necessary forms will be supplied by Government. The agency employed will consist chiefly of officials attached to the railway, who will not ordinarily receive any special remuneration for their services. Unavoidable extra expenditure, such as payment for overtime on the night of the Census, may be entered in a detailed bill and sent through the Provincial Census Superintendent to the Census Commissioner for the sanction of the Government of India. Government will bear all charges in connection with the compilation of the results.

Column 2.—Enter name of station or premises, adding the letter S for stations and description of the premises (workshop, coal mine, etc) in other cases. In the case of railway stations, etc., of which it has been arranged that the Census will be taken under the supervision of the District Officer, columns 3 to 12 will be left blank and the words "district Census" noted in the Remarks column.

Column 4.—For definition of house see Rule 9.

Columns 7 and 8.—See Rules 4, 7 and 10. Note that European Enumerators should be appointed for the enumeration of Europeans and Eurasians, and Indians for the native population.

CONTINUING BILL.

The Hon'ble MR. JENKINS said :—"My Lord, the Seditious Meetings Act of 1907 will expire in ordinary course on the 31st October this year, and the course which we should take with regard to it has been a matter of anxious consideration. I will briefly explain the reasons which have induced us to come to the decision, first of all that the Act should be continued, and secondly that it ought not now to be continued beyond the 31st March 1911. Before the Bill was prepared, Local Governments were consulted, and the Local Governments are generally independent in their opinions. One of the great difficulties which the Government of India generally experience when Local Governments are consulted is in reconciling the differences of advice given by them. On this occasion the Local Governments are absolutely unanimous; and especially the Lieutenant-Governors of Bengal and Eastern Bengal, who declared that the continuance of the Act is absolutely necessary to the preservation of law and order in their Provinces. Now, we have no intention of sheltering ourselves behind the Local Governments. The decision is ours; it is based upon our own convictions of what is necessary in the conditions of the time. At the same time the Government of India would be incurring very grave responsibility if they refused to accept the recommendations of the Local Governments in a matter of this kind. For my own part, I am free to admit that when a Lieutenant-Governor like Sir Edward Baker, of wide and liberal sympathies, who knows his Province thoroughly, declares that the continuance of this Act is absolutely necessary in Bengal, I should feel myself bound to surrender my opinion to his, even if my own opinion were different; and we have decided therefore that the Act should be continued. Next, as to the date to which it should be continued. There is a precept of old standing which directs that contentious business should not be taken up in Simla, and we have reason to apprehend that this is a contentious measure. That precept was issued when Simla was remote and inaccessible; conditions have changed greatly; the stress of business has become very considerable; and it is possible that the position may have to be reconsidered. Nevertheless, as long as the precept is in force, we feel ourselves bound to observe it as far as possible. There is another consideration which has weighed with us; there will before long be very great changes in the constitution of the Government of India, and although the life of the Government is continuous, we think it proper that the ultimate decision in this matter should rest with the Government of India as it will be constituted at the session which will be held at Calcutta. We are by no means pledged to continue this measure beyond the 31st March 1911. On the other hand, neither are we pledged to allow the Act to lapse. I consider that it is greatly to be desired that this Bill should be regarded as a measure of convenience, as an ad-interim measure intended to bridge over the time between the Simla session and the session in Calcutta, and that no discussion should be raised which will have the effect of even appearing to commit the Government of India or individual Members of Government to any opinion relative to the further continuance of the Act. If it is finally decided that the Act ought to be continued, there will be ample opportunity for discussion in Calcutta. If, on the other hand, it is decided that it ought to be allowed to lapse, we shall have escaped a debate which, however carefully conducted, cannot fail to do a certain amount of harm. My Lord, I now introduce the Bill to provide for the continuance of the Prevention of Seditious Meetings Act, 1907, and move that it be taken into consideration."

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble MR. GOKHALE said:—"My Lord, this Bill may at first sight appear to some to be a comparatively modest measure, inasmuch as all that it ostensibly seeks to do is to prolong by just five months more the life of an Act which in the natural course of things would expire on 1st November next. And the very brief speech with which the Hon'ble Member has introduced his motion to-day is calculated to lend support to this view. Now, my Lord, if this had been really all that the Government had in view—even then, I should have deplored the action of Government, for, as I understand the situation, what the country taken as a whole needs to-day above every thing else is the opportunity for things quietly to settle down again to the normal; and, in providing this opportunity, responsibility rests as much on the Government as on the people. And in my humble judgment, a proposal at a time like the present to renew even for a few months a repressive measure of such exceptional severity as the Seditious Meetings Prevention Act, when the country is comparatively quiet and is getting quieter every day, is not likely to hasten that return to a normal frame of mind on the part of the people and that restoration of normal relations between the people and the Government which every true well-wisher of the country must so ardently desire. But, my Lord, I do not think that this Bill is merely a proposal to continue an expiring

Act for a few months longer, and nothing more. I think there are grave reasons to fear that it is rather intended to be the prelude to another proposal to place the Act permanently on the Statute-book after the formality of a discussion in full Council at Calcutta next March. It seems clear to me that if the Government had been anxious to govern the country without the aid of this Act—if even they had wanted to find out if they could so govern it—they would have welcomed the opportunity, instead of regretting it, of the Act lapsing next November, conscious of the fact that, if the necessity arose, they could re-enact the measure in a single day, and re-enact it probably with the support of a strong body of public opinion. The Statement of Objects and Reasons says that 'on the unanimous advice of Local Governments the Government of India are convinced that the continuance of the Act for the present is essential to the preservation of the peace,' and therefore they are continuing it for five months. I am not surprised, my Lord, taking human nature as it is, that the Local Governments want to retain the powers which the Act confers upon them. That does not by any means show that the condition of the country is such that the Local Governments should have those powers. What is there, for instance, to-day in the condition of the Madras Presidency that should make the Government of Madras wish to have these powers? And yet we find Madras anxious along with the other Local Governments to retain these powers! It is therefore only ordinary human nature, and I do not think that we need attach any special importance to it. I wish, however that the Council had had an opportunity of seeing those opinions of Local Governments. In the case of ordinary Bills such opinions are as a rule supplied to Members. I asked for these papers two days ago under rule 13 of the Rules for the conduct of legislative business, but the Government have not seen their way to comply with my request. But whatever be the grounds on which the Local Governments have based their advice, one thing is certain, that if they have asked for a continuance of the Act, they cannot have asked for its continuance for five months only; no one could, I think, calculate the requirements even of repression with such nicety! It is true that when the question comes up again for consideration, the personnel of the Government of India will have undergone a considerable change. But I do not think it is possible to find any comfort in that. In the first place, a Viceroy entirely new to the country is far less likely to take a line of his own in dealing with what we have been told is the unanimous opinion of Provincial Governments than one who has been five years in the country; and secondly, we have already before us the fact that, though not one of Your Lordship's colleagues of 1907 in the Government of India is to-day a member of the Government—a fact which significantly illustrates the rapidity and completeness with which the personnel of the Government changes in this country under the existing system—that has not made any difference as regards the present decision to continue the Act after October next. I take it therefore that during the next Calcutta session the Government will come forward again with a proposal either to further extend the period of the Act or, what is even more probable, to place the Act permanently on the Statute-book. Now, my Lord, we all know that when once the Government have made up their mind to adopt a particular course, nothing that the non-official Members may afterwards say in Council is practically of any avail in bringing about a change in that course. Our only hope of preventing a decision which we consider to be fraught with serious injury to the best interests of the country is in any opportunity we may get to state our objections before the decision has been arrived at. And it is because the Bill before us gives us such an opportunity, as also because I am against the proposed continuance of the Act even for five months, that I deem it my duty to offer what resistance I can to the motion which the Hon'ble Member has just submitted to the Council.

"My Lord, three years ago, when this Act was hurried through the Council at this hill station, only three non-official Members were able to attend the meeting. But among those there was my distinguished friend, the profoundly learned and ever-brilliant Dr. Rash Behary Ghose. To the criticism which he then offered on the various provisions of the measure, I think it is unnecessary to add anything even to-day. The Act admittedly confers dangerously wide powers on the Executive, which, if used at all, are almost certain to be abused, and which must in practice paralyse all activity in the country. Meanwhile the Government already possess in the ordinary law of the land ample powers to meet all reasonable requirements, not only for punishing but also for preventing what has been called seditious or dangerous oratory. Under the Criminal Procedure Code the Government can break up, and even prohibit, meetings likely to prove dangerous to the tranquillity of the country, and they can bind down individuals. And the provisions for punishing seditious utterances do not certainly err on the side of leniency. I really do not see what more is wanted if the Government are to show a reasonable regard for the elementary rights of the people. Unless the idea is that nowhere in the country shall there be any deliberation or discussion or expression of opinion except on lines approved by the Government, and that too with their previous permission, I do not understand the necessity of arming the Executive with the vast powers which the Act confers. That these powers can be and as a matter of fact have been used, or rather abused, for such a purpose may be seen from the fact that this year three ordinary district conferences in East Bengal were prohibited by the District Magistrates. My Lord, I listened carefully to the answer which the Hon'ble Mr. Earle gave yesterday to a question of my friend the Hon'ble Babu Bhupendra Nath Basu on this subject. In spite of that answer, I feel bound to say that, in my opinion, the action of the authorities was not justified; and I hold that the prohibition of the conferences was a serious abuse of the powers which the Act confers upon the Executive. Such conferences have been held for years past, not only in Bengal but all over the country. They are strictly on constitutional lines, and so far they have nowhere given rise to any trouble whatever. The Hon'ble Mr. Earle in his reply said that the prohibited conferences proposed to deal with subjects which did not concern the districts only. Now I would like to know what right or authority the Hon'ble Member had to lay down a proposition like that. A district is part of a Province; it is also a part of the whole country; surely the people of a district, if the Government are willing to allow them even a small amount of patriotism or public spirit, are entitled to take an interest in the affairs of their Province and their country; and I say it is absurd to insist that a district conference should confine itself only to matters that concern that district. But, my Lord, it was not only these district conferences that were thus interfered with. In one of the districts, a meeting proposed to be held by members of the depressed classes for the discussion of a social grievance was also disallowed. I understand that these classes in Eastern Bengal have some difficulty in obtaining the services of barbers, and these people wanted to hold a meeting and consider what arrangements they could make for getting themselves shaved. Surely that was not a subject in regard to which the powers conferred by the Act should have been exercised by the district authorities! And yet this was actually done under this Act. I understand that this prohibition was afterwards withdrawn. But that it should ever have been exercised shows the liability to grave abuse of these powers. In some places the District Magistrate went the length of claiming the power to determine the actual wording of the resolutions proposed to be passed at public meetings! Such a claim reduces a public meeting to a mockery and a farce, for the resolutions then express the views not of the people assembled in the meetings but of the district authorities! My Lord, I am quite prepared to admit that circumstances may arise when even such drastic powers as the Act confers may be necessary in order to stem the flood of wild, irresponsible oratory dangerous to public peace. But I do not think that such circumstances exist at the present moment anywhere in India.

"My Lord, I can conceive of circumstances in which it may be necessary to put even such powers into the hands of the Executive as the only way of checking the flood of wild and dangerous utterances that may be threatening the peace or tranquillity of the country. But I do not think such circumstances exist in any Province at the present moment. And, in any case, it is to my mind intolerable that the whole country should be indiscriminately placed under such Draconian legislation. And this brings me to a suggestion which I made in the Council three years ago, when the Seditious Meetings Act was under discussion, and which I wish to repeat to-day, namely, that if at any time such legislation is found to be necessary in any Province it should be undertaken by the Provincial Government in the Council of that Province, and not by the Government of India for the whole country. At present what happens is this. The alleged needs of the Province whose condition is the worst furnish the standard and determine the character of the legislation with which not only that Province but the rest of the country is to be saddled. Now, this is gravely objectionable, and to my mind it constitutes a most serious grievance. A simple remedy lies ready to hand, namely, to require each Provincial Council to undertake in such matters its own special legislation according to its needs. This will have the additional advantage of ensuring a full discussion of the condition of the Province before the legislation is passed. I claim on this subject the support of the Hon'ble Member whom we in Bombay have known to be a strong advocate of Provincial decentralization. It may be said, as Sir Harvey Adamson did three years ago, that, though such legislation may be passed for the whole country, it may not be extended to a Province without a careful consideration of all its circumstances by the Government of India. How illusory this safeguard is was seen last January, when we woke up one morning to find that the Seditious Meetings Act had been extended indiscriminately to every Province by a single stroke of the pen. My Lord, I assure the Council that there is a very real fear in the minds of even the most thoroughly law-abiding citizens that this Act, when put in force, places them in a position of serious danger, and they further feel that they may be exposed to the danger any moment without their having done anything to deserve it. A few utterances on the part of thoughtless young men or even a single utterance of that character may suffice for a whole district being suddenly proclaimed, and once it is so proclaimed every inhabitant of that district is at once put under what may be termed 'police rule.' No twenty persons can then meet even for the most innocent social purpose without being presumed to have gathered in a public meeting held without the permission of the authorities, and anyone may at any moment find himself accused of having taken part in such a meeting and wrongly punished or otherwise harassed in a variety of ways. And with the kind of the police we have in this country the fear of wanton or malicious harassment is not wholly imaginary. My Lord, I am aware that the question of the character of the Indian police has now assumed a form when it is difficult to discuss it without rousing a certain amount of feeling. There is no doubt, however, that as a class the police are not trusted by the bulk of my countrymen, and that innocent people often go about in dread of what they may do, and the position has grown worse since the formation of what is known as the Criminal Investigation Department. This is largely the result of two causes—first, the quality of the material from which our police-force is drawn; and secondly, the lack of a spirit of self-assertion among the people generally. The Government no doubt have of late done a good deal to secure a better type of recruits for the force, but the improvement in this respect can only be gradual. Moreover, as long as the people themselves do not know how to take better care of themselves as against the police, things are bound to continue pretty much the same as they are at present. What is absolutely necessary, however, is that the Government should not put additional powers into the hands of the police until a substantial improvement has taken place in their character and traditions. My Lord, it has been well said that more depends upon the manner in which a law is administered than upon the law itself. This is true of every law generally, but it applies, I think, in a special degree to repressive measures, and I feel bound to say that our experience in this direction has not been particularly encouraging. Take for instance, the Press Act of last February. If ever there was a measure which should have been administered with the utmost care and tact and restraint, it was the Press Act passed last session at Calcutta. This was necessary to avoid all needless irritation. It was also due to those non-official Members of this Council who, in their desire not to add to the difficulties and anxieties with which the Government were then confronted, tried to go as far as they could in support of the measure. I grieve to say, however, that in most Provinces these obvious considerations have not been kept in view in working the Act. I will not now refer to those cases in which security was demanded from old concerns when they presented themselves for a mere formal change in their registration, in spite of distinct pledges to the contrary given both in the Statement of Objects and Reasons and in the speeches of Members of Government in this Council. It was no doubt the result of what must be regarded as defective drafting, and I am glad to note that it has now been set right to a great extent by executive action on the part of Government. But there have been cases in which heavy securities have been demanded from old concerns without specifying what their offence was, and for some time past a regular sedition-hunt has been going on in some of the Provinces. Hardly a day now passes without some obscure sheet or pamphlet or old book being dragged forth from oblivion, and notified first by one Provincial Government and then by another as forfeit to the authorities. Now much of this is, to my mind, altogether futile, and it only tends to keep the Press Act in unnecessary and unpleasant prominence before the country. I think the exceptional powers conferred by the Press Act should be very sparingly drawn upon, and then, too, to meet only serious cases of objectionable and dangerous writing. I do not deny that the Act has exercised a restraining influence in some quarters where such influence was most necessary. But as against this we must place the irritation that is being continuously caused in the country owing to the feeling that the Act is being harshly or unjustly applied. The worst case in which the powers of the Act have been clearly misapplied is, to my mind, that of Mr. Mackerness's pamphlet. Mr. Mackerness had sent me a copy when the pamphlet was issued, and I had also seen the articles as they had at first appeared in the Nation. I can understand the objection that Mr. Mackerness had made a one-sided presentment of the case, or that he had not done justice to the efforts which the Government have recently been making in the matter of police reform, but that only means that someone else should have published a pamphlet in reply. Had anybody told me before the pamphlet was proscribed that the Government contemplated applying the provisions of the Press Act to it, I should have declined to believe the statement. And now that the pamphlet has actually been proscribed, I can only regard the action taken with deep humiliation and pain.

"My Lord, it will, I am convinced, be a grave blunder to place the Seditious Meetings Act permanently on the Statute-book or to propose a further lease of life to it after March next, and I earnestly implore the Government to abandon the idea if they have it. In 1907, when the Act was first passed, there was this to be said in its favour, that the situation in the country was daily growing more and more anxious and no one knew where things stood or whither they were drifting. We were then moving on the upward grade of our troubles and the outlook was dark and threatening. To-day, however, the situation is far different. The air has been largely cleared, there is a much easier feeling throughout the country, and there is no doubt that the country is now on the downward grade of its anxieties. The change has principally resulted from two causes—first, the Reform Scheme in its final form, which despite obvious imperfections constitutes an important step forward for my countrymen, has eased in no small measure the tension of the situation; and secondly, the criminal excesses of thoughtless young men have shocked the bulk of the people into a greater realization of their own duty to the cause of law and order. I think, my Lord, it is now daily becoming more and more clear that the wild elements which by their reckless careering have been a source of so much anxiety, have now well nigh exhausted themselves, and the return of the country to a normal state of things is therefore now only a question of time; and nothing, I respectfully urge, should be done by the Government which will in any way retard this return. Not the heavy hand of coercion, but the gentle touch of conciliation and sympathy, of forbearance and oblivion—this is what the situation requires; and I earnestly trust these healing influences will be forthcoming in ample measure to obliterate bitter memories and start the country again on a career of prosperity and progress."

The Hon'ble NAWAB ABDUL MAJID said:—"My Lord, notwithstanding all that has been said by the Hon'ble gentleman who has just spoken, I am one who thinks that the Bill for the continuance of the prevention of Seditious Meetings Act should be passed into law. The object of the said Act, when it was passed in 1907, was to prevent public meetings which were likely to promote sedition or to cause a disturbance of public tranquillity. Now it cannot be denied that the Act had a salutary effect in preventing such meetings. Those orations and addresses which were likely to cause disaffection and to disseminate sedition were checked; while meetings and speeches which had no aim but peace and public good of the country were nowhere stopped. The very provision in the said Act, that the Act was to apply to a proclaimed area, shews that the Act was not to be applied at random or at the mere wish of any officer. The Act was to apply only when an area was proclaimed by the Local Government. It is obvious, my Lord, that no Local Government will proclaim or has proclaimed an area unless after full inquiry and information it came to the conclusion that public good and security of the country demanded an area to be so proclaimed and the Act to be applied. Further, we have a provision in the Act that any notification proclaiming any area was to remain in force for six months. In other words, the people of such a proclaimed area were given an opportunity to reform themselves. If their behaviour were good, then the notification had no effect after six months. My Lord, I reiterate these facts to shew that the Act does not affect those who are peacefully and loyally disposed, but it affects those only who have a guilty intention.

"But, my Lord, it is said that the Act, when it was passed in 1907, was for three years only, and there is no occasion for its continuance now. To decide this question it is necessary to compare the situation in the country in 1907 with that prevailing in 1910. If there is no unrest in the country, if there is a guarantee that no disaffection and no feeling of disloyalty will be spread in the country if the Act were repealed, I for one, my Lord, will at once give my opinion for the repeal of the Act. But can it be said that there is no unrest in the country? Is there a guarantee that public meetings held and public speeches delivered by those who are not well-disposed will not be used as instruments for the spread of the propaganda of evil ideas among the people at large? Restrictions such as the Act provides are checks on the facilities for the spread of such ideas. Remove them, my Lord, and you will find platform orators delivering their noxious sentiments to the people again. My Lord, I think that the state of the country is not such that any safeguards which are for the peace and tranquillity of the country may be removed. It is not more than six months now that we in this Council passed the Press Act, and why? Because the situation demanded it. The Press Act was passed to check the spread of anarchical and rebellious ideas among the people through the medium of the Press, just as the Seditious Meetings Act was passed to prevent those very ideas reaching the people through the instrumentality of public meetings and public addresses. My Lord, both stand on the same footing. If the Press Act was justified then, why is not the continuation of the Seditious Meetings Act justifiable also? The situation in the country in last February was well summed up by the learned the Hon'ble Mr. Gokhale when he said in his eloquent speech on that occasion:—

'It is not merely the assassinations that have taken place, or the conspiracies that have come to light, or the political dacoities that are being committed, that fill me with anxiety. The air in many places is still thick with ideas that are undoubtedly antagonistic to the unquestioned continuance of British rule, with which our hopes of a peaceful evolution are bound up; and this is a feature of the situation quite as serious as anything else.'

"My Lord, has the situation so eloquently and concisely described by the Hon'ble Member ceased to exist or not? I say not. Assassinations of the same atrocious nature we may not have, but dacoities and conspiracies cannot be said to have ceased yet. It was only the other day that Yuguntar leaflets were detected. Dacoities have taken place. Suspects said to be members of the terrorist society are still prowling about. I say therefore that the situation existing in February has not changed for the better.

" I say that the country is not in a fit condition to dispense with the safeguards provided to stop the spread of sedition and anarchy in this country.

" But assuming that the situation has improved in the country, assuming that the people have realized their position and responsibilities, and that the evil-doers have given up their evil intentions, the question arises, why is it so? Could not such results be traced to such preventive measures as the Seditious Meetings Act and the Press Act? In other words, such measures have proved successful, and the success gained by them is a very strong reason by itself that such measures should be continued. My Lord, whichever side of the question one may look to, I think in my humble opinion measures which have the effect of preventing masses and youths of the country from falling into the pernicious influence of those who want to disturb the peace and good government of the country must remain on the Statute-book. My Lord, I vote for the passing of the Bill into law."

The Hon'ble KUNWAR SIR RANBIR SINGH said :—" My Lord, it is with reluctance as well as with pleasure that we have met here to-day to discuss the advisability of continuance of the Act for the prevention of holding seditious meetings in India—reluctance because such a necessity should ever have arisen in India where sedition was unknown and where loyalty and absolute submission to the throne was the watch-word of every human being; pleasure because it places the civilised and loyal subjects of the British Government out of the reach of the professional agitator and safeguards the interests of the law-abiding people. As has already been explained by the Hon'ble Member in charge of the Bill, certain circumstances in the year 1907 obliged the Government of India to enforce such an Act in the country. Its continuance up to the 31st March next is now advised by Local Governments and considered necessary in the interests of the people.

" I strongly support the Act of the Government in this respect and am confident that my Hon'ble colleagues will join with me in the belief that the prevention of seditious meetings is called for in the interest of the people of India. This is not the time to discuss at any length the harmful consequences of such meetings in the country. I therefore close my remarks with the hope that the continuance of the Act will be agreed to by all Hon'ble Members."

The Hon'ble RAO BAHADUR R. N. MUDHOLKAR: " My Lord, I regard with great regret and disappointment the resolve of Government to bring forward this measure and to obtain its enactment. When the last session terminated without the introduction of a measure to continue the Act of 1907, and when there was nothing said in this Council to give an indication that Government contemplated taking any action in the matter, and especially when we found no announcements made of any legislation in that direction, there was a general feeling of relief and satisfaction in the country.

" My Lord, I most heartily and earnestly wish that Government had allowed that Act to expire by efflux of time and had not taken any steps for the introduction of this Bill. My Lord, I am not behind anyone in this hall, or out of it, in my anxiety to secure the cause of peace and order and law, and I fully recognize that they ought to be maintained above all things. I fully agree with what has been said by my Hon'ble friend the Nawab Sahib here, and my Hon'ble friend the Kour Sahib here, about the necessity of putting down seditious meetings by taking stern measures against all things calculated to disturb public tranquillity. My Lord, we fully recognise that there are occasions when summary powers ought to be given to the executive authorities of prohibiting all meetings likely to promote sedition or likely to bring about a disturbance of the peace. My Lord, what we contend is this, that the ordinary law which exists in the country is quite capable and adequate for this purpose. My Lord, it was pointed out in the debates which took place in 1907 that the Criminal Procedure Code and other general Acts were fully capable of ensuring that tranquillity without which society cannot exist. We have first of all that very powerful section (section 144 of the Criminal Procedure Code) by which a District Magistrate, a Presidency Magistrate, a Sub-divisional Magistrate, or any Magistrate authorised either by the Local Government or a District Magistrate or Chief Presidency Magistrate can stop and prohibit any meeting which is likely to bring about a disturbance of the public peace and to result in a riot or affray. The order can be passed ex parte, cannot be appealed against and is capable of remaining in force for two months proprio vigore; and, with the sanction of the Local Government, its period can be extended indefinitely, or it might even be made permanent. My Lord, this is a powerful section.

"We have then Chapter IX of the Criminal Procedure Code, sections 127 to 132, under which any Magistrate or any officer in charge of a police-station may command an unlawful assembly or any assembly of five or more persons likely to cause a disturbance of the public peace to disperse. If they do not disperse the whole lot of them can be taken into custody and marched off to jail, and if the police are not sufficient to cope with a large assembly they can call upon private citizens to help them in their apprehension. If civil force is found not adequate, the Magistrate can requisition the military. My Lord, this is a very ample provision. There are certain Police Acts like the Bombay City Police Act, the Calcutta Police Act, the Calcutta Suburban Police Act, in which power is given to the Commissioner of Police to prevent harangues and prohibit meetings likely to endanger peace or cause contempt of lawful authority. There are then the sections in Chapter VIII, Criminal Procedure Code, which enable Magistrates to take substantial security from propagators of sedition and breakers of peace. My Lord, these are provisions which quite enable Government to preserve order and peace and obedience to law. My Lord, I would beg Your Lordship and this Council to take into consideration just for themselves whether this law has not, as a matter of fact, been found quite sufficient for the purposes of the country. This Act, which was passed in 1907, was preceded by an Ordinance in certain Provinces. We shall omit the Ordinance period, but this Act has been in force for two years and nine months, and during that period there has been no occasion whatsoever in which the Act was required to be put into operation anywhere except in four districts. Throughout the rest of the country the Act, as it were, was merely nominally in existence. It was a dead-letter; and yet, my Lord, the year 1907, as also the year 1908, were years of considerable anxiety, of very great tension and difficulty. And yet the Government and the people have been able to tide over that difficult time without resorting to the armoury supplied by the Act. My Lord, I can speak with considerable knowledge of a Province which was not free from this kind of trouble. We had not in that Province the same tension and the same difficulties that, for instance, existed in 1907 in Eastern Bengal, and exist to some extent there even now. We had nothing of the kind that existed in the Punjab towards the beginning of 1907, but there was a considerable effervescence of what may be considered as undesirable agitation in which advocates of swarajya and boycott held forth to large meetings attended by thousands. My Lord, all that has stopped. Both the Central Provinces and Berar are now as quiet as they were previous to 1903 or 1905. Not only that, there are no meetings even for legitimate objects held which are attended by any large section of the public. Now this change, or call it improvement—I am one of those who call it improvement, because undesirable agitation is not good for any one—this improvement, my Lord, has been effected without this Act being drawn upon. In fact, the notification putting the Act into operation was not issued for the Central Provinces till January 1910. There was only one occasion on which the Local Government thought it might be desirable to have the Act put in operation in the Central Provinces; but the Government of India at that time had left Simla and had not assembled in Calcutta, and the head of the Administration then took counsel and he found that the existing law was quite capable of achieving the object which he wanted. There was an assemblage convened to meet at Christmas, which was considered, by the authorities responsible for good government, undesirable, and they wanted to prohibit it. The thing was done by asking the District Magistrate of Nagpur to issue a notice under section 144 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, and the meeting was prohibited.

" My Lord, there have been certain associations not considered very desirable; these associations have been wound up. There have been institutions which, with proper reason, were considered as more or less suspicious. All these institutions have been closed. All this, my Lord, has been achieved by a few prosecutions instituted under sections 124-A and 252 A of the Indian Penal Code, first of all, by some use, and that not on a very large scale, of the security sections of the Code of Criminal Procedure, and more than all this by the tactful and firm conduct of a police-officer of high standing, who I am glad to see enjoys the confidence of Government and who is present in this hall. My Lord, he knew what was the real significance of the situation; he had moved amongst the people; he had spoken to those whom his information led him to suppose were mixed up with these matters, and his method was to use tact, logic and a firm hand; and with those three weapons, my Lord, we have a restoration of the normal state of things in those Provinces. My Lord, if these methods have succeeded in a Province in which there was considerable agitation of an undesirable kind, and if we find that in other Provinces there has been a return—I shall not say in regard to everything, but in regard to what may be considered the bulk of the people, who were carried away by the visionary doctrines of these people—to a normal state of things without this Act being put into operation, my Lord, the whole case for the Act has been taken away. It proves that the ordinary law is quite capable of preserving the interests of good government and peace and that this measure is utterly unnecessary.

" My Lord, if this Act was directed only against seditious meetings, and if in terms it had referred to meetings which are likely to produce a disturbance of the public tranquillity, or meetings in which seditious language is believed to be likely to be employed, then those who are against this Bill might have seen their way to accord it their support. But, my Lord, the most offensive part of the Act is the total prohibition of all political meetings without a police permit. My Lord, this is undesirable even in the interests of good government, and it is undesirable from the Government point of view. If noxious doctrines are to be properly exposed, if undesirable propaganda are to be exposed in their true colours, this can be done only by a free opportunity being given to those who can explain the true methods to be followed and the true doctrines to be adopted. But, my Lord, those who would hold these meetings also stand in the same position practically as the advocates of swaraj. I do not know, if I called a meeting of that kind, a police-officer may not come and show his attentions to me. My Hon'ble friend Mr. Gokhale has spoken of the attentions shown to him. I believe he does not stand single in that; I have also to say the same thing of myself. I was going to Madras for a conference, which His Excellency the Governor of the place was going to attend; I was asked to take the chair on that occasion, and all the way from Borar to Madras I was followed by an inspector of police. My Lord, this is the way in which the police work, and if persons whom Government have been pleased to honour, persons whom the Government are pleased to consult on different occasions, if they are so suspect by the ordinary police sub-inspector, what can be the position of those who do not occupy the same position?

" My Lord, we feel that this law is a slur as much upon the Government as upon us. It proclaims to the world that the British Government in India does not like political meetings, and is afraid of having any discussion on any political question. My Lord, as a matter of fact, the Government has not done this, but unfortunately they have allowed to remain on the Statute-book a law which lends colour to this misapprehension. Is that fair to the Government? Is it just to the Government? It creates irritation in the minds of the people, and it raises an altogether wrong impression about the temper and attitude of the Government of India towards the population. The law is practically a dead-letter; it has not been put in force, and for aught we know it might never be put in force; why then keep it at all on the Statute-book? And, as I have said, if there was the least danger of not maintaining peace and order without such a law as that, then we would have been constrained to say yes, such a law should be kept. My Lord, I have, I believe, shown by testimony coming from official records that peace and order can be maintained without such a law, and I therefore submit with due deference, with the utmost respect, that Government ~~were not~~ well advised in asking for the introduction of this measure. My Lord, we have the authority of the Local Governments, but Local Governments have attributed, I am afraid, to this Act a potency which it is not entitled to. The change in the country, the effect which has been produced by various kinds of things, these have been attributed to this Act. My Lord, the improvement in the situation which is seen now is due, as I have said, partly to the enforcement of the ordinary law of the country, but more than that it has been due to the revulsion in the minds of the bulk of the community, and even of that small section of the educated community which was theoretically drawn to the foolish vapourings of certain persons; it has created a revulsion in the minds of these men even against the murderous proceedings of the school of anarchy, that has brought to the side of Government men who were lukewarm. The bulk of the people have been always loyal to Government, and with this revulsion the field for sedition has become very much curtailed. Another powerful influence which has been at work has been the policy of reform and conciliation which Your Lordship's Government has been able to put into operation.

"My Lord, these are the three things which have produced improvement in the present situation, and it is not this Act at all, which is practically a dead-letter, except in one district alone in Eastern Bengal. It has only been recently extended to the Punjab. My Lord, again the futility of such a measure is practically shown by the admission made by Sir Denzil Ibbetson in 1907. When the Act of 1907 was passed he said he did not see any necessity for extending that Act or rather for putting the Act into operation in the Punjab; the condition of the Punjab had quieted down. My Lord the excitement in 1907 was due to peculiar causes; that excitement has passed away. In the Punjab the excitement was due to well-grounded apprehensions entertained by the agriculturists about the effect of the Colonisation Act and the enhancement of the canal-dues. Immediately Your Lordship's Government vetoed that Act and the people were saved from the threatened enhancement, an improvement in the situation followed. Even in Eastern Bengal I do not think the condition is so bad as it was in 1907. The partition of Bengal was the chief grievance. But the extraordinary state of things which existed in 1907 was in no small measure due also to the temper and attitude of the Local Government at the time. With a change in the personnel, even in Eastern Bengal, a considerable improvement has followed.

"My Lord, I cannot shut my eyes to that gaunt spectre of political assassination which has appeared on the horizon and the conspiracies to subvert the British rule which have recently come to light. My Lord, I would ask Your Lordship and the Hon'ble Members to see whether these murderous deeds and these conspiracies can at all be prevented by an act of this kind. The murderers and conspirators do not hold public meetings and do not hold forth in public; they carry on their nefarious projects in secret conclave, and these deeds and these conspiracies cannot at all be reached by this Act. We are perfectly agreeable that the hands of Government should be strengthened, that the authority of the executive Government should be strengthened, for putting down sedition and putting down lawlessness and disorder. We ask over and over again for the Government to see whether our experience of recent years has not demonstrated that that course can be maintained with the existing law. My Lord, in that case there is no necessity for this thing which casts a slur both upon Government and the people. My Lord, the Government and people constitute one family. With our Hindu idea, we consider that the Government occupies the position of the father of the family. We do admit with great sorrow, with great humiliation, that there are some members of the family who have become wild, turbulent and exceedingly undutiful. My Lord, we appeal to you as head of the Government whether, for the faults of a practically microscopic minority, it would be just, it would be fair, it would be politic, to treat all the members of the family equally, and to visit the anger upon all the members of the family. My Lord, Your Lordship's régime has been associated with reform and conciliation, and that same policy should, we humbly submit, be carried on even in regard to this Act."

The Hon'ble LIEUTENANT MALIK UMAR HAYKĀI KHAN[†] said:—"My Lord, in my speech of the 30th of March last I drew the attention of the Council to the gravity of the present situation and urged the necessity of taking preventive measures to meet it. If I remember right, I had emphasised that point, and I am glad to find now that the Government has made some movement in the direction indicated by me by introducing this Bill.

"The measure is a most necessary one. But I am compelled to call attention to the undesirability of renewing the Act at frequent intervals. This causes unpleasant comment and arouses irritation, and in my opinion it is now time to place the Act permanently on the Statute-book. The law itself can harm no one and does not come into force unless a breach of it is committed. It will be seen that this Act is only applied to a few districts at present, and this is due to its having a great effect as a preventive measure.

"It is plain that extraordinary outbursts of crime require extraordinary remedies, and abnormal political agitation must be checked by abnormal measures. My Lord, I mean to direct my remarks mostly against the anti-Government class of agitators, and I hope my colleagues will not come forward to defend them.

"These meetings against which this Act is directed are of two different kinds:—Firstly, they take the form of ordinary gatherings or demonstrations in which no particular speeches are delivered. This form is objectionable because it excites the feelings of certain experienced youths and leads to trouble. Secondly, such meetings as are convened to hear the utterances of sharp platform speakers, who with full knowledge of the law use guarded words but manage to convey a meaning which produces undesirable effects on the mind of the public. Frequently enough their less clever followers when trying to reproduce the same ideas are unable to command the same moderated language, they let the 'cat out of the bag' and are caught.

"The consequences are of two sorts:—Firstly, if a speaker wants to produce a certain effect and uses guarded language so as to convey his views to his audience without getting into the clutches of the law, he can produce as bad an effect by his guarded words as by an openly seditious speech. Secondly, if he makes such a speech unaware of its consequences, though I am not prepared to believe that this can often happen, even then it is objectionable since it produces a bad effect. Some years back, when the Ordinance was not in force, it was noticed that there was a wave of revolt among the students in schools and colleges, a wave which spread from the eastern to western portion of India and was the direct result of such meetings and speeches. The consequence was the occurrence in the Punjab of a series of deplorable riots in certain towns though I am glad to remark that the predominant zamindar class was not much affected. I have said that this law will injure nobody. That is true. But of course it will be objectionable to a class of irresponsible people who have no standing of their own, and have no stake in the land, their only possession being the power of speech and their only ambition being to bring themselves into prominence by pretending to voice the opinions of their small communities and by claiming the right to set forth their own theories, which may be followed by their half-educated audience. They attempt to gain popularity by criticising in season and out of season every reasonable measure of the Government. My Lord, we hear many references made to history, to different nations, countries, times and circumstances, and also hear the quotations from the remarks of great men, which were made under particular circumstances, at particular times and for particular purposes, and thus these references and quotations cannot be applied here. It is said that history repeats itself, but I can positively say that properly speaking there have never been any two identical cases in the world, and when the causes are not exactly the same their effects cannot be possibly the same.

"I hope when the present measure is opposed with such unsound arguments they will not be considered of any substantial importance.

"I don't profess to say that Government has never made a mistake, but I do find it difficult to believe that these people can prove that everything which Government does is and must invariably be wrong.

"In fact, some people instead of using their discretion and judgment merely take up a line which will please their ignorant and inexperienced audience and thus try to gain authority as popular leaders.

"But, my Lord, what is the invariable result? They arouse disaffection, they stir up alien feelings, and in the trouble which follows who suffers? Not they themselves, but the ordinarily quiet and peace-loving subjects of His Majesty. It is these unfortunate and innocent people who pay the price of the agitation. The agitator, as we have seen from many recent cases, nearly always manages to escape, and those who preach sedition by speaking or writing, if punished at all, receive much milder punishment than the deluded youths whom they use as their tools.

"It is most desirable that this Act should continue in force without interruption until it finally becomes permanent law. Most of us here realise the necessity of this measure, but there are people here as well as in England who cannot negotiate the difference between a party system such as that in England where they have two parties of the same nation who both want to govern their own country to the best of their ability and only have minor differences of opinion, and the state of affairs in India where they have two entirely separate communities with extremely divergent ideas as to the right administration of the country. In the latter case there is something more than a mere difference of views, and no encouragement should be given to the people who make it their business to stir up opposition between the two classes. The people who get the chance of expressing an opinion on the administration of the country are—Firstly, the graduates and others who complete their studies here or in England and who have from their childhood been occupied in the study of English literature, etc., in order to pass their examinations and have accordingly lost all touch with the actual state of affairs in India since they have never had the chance of coming into close contact with the real feelings of the people; Secondly, certain members of Parliament who have either never been to India or have only visited it for short periods, and have got into wrong hands and have thus been misled. The best proof of their being misled is the fact that they persistently oppose the sections of the loyal class and support that other class which, since it has sprung into prominence, has brought with it sedition and unrest, and whose very existence may to some extent be responsible for the cause of disaffection and discontent.

"These classes cannot be said to voice the feelings of the people at large who are politically contented and don't want to be tampered with.

"My Lord, if I be allowed to say so, no sufficient steps have so far been taken to discourage the class I have referred to. The law is capable of the most useful effects, but it can only be really useful if properly applied.

"It is no use to prohibit small meetings of no great significance and leave untouched those which are the real curse of the country. We might as well try to kill an enemy by bruising his leg or cutting his little finger. To do so is only to exasperate him and to render him more dangerous. There is but one course before us—to go at the head and to sever it.

"Most dangerous of all in my opinion are those meetings which have been termed national or in which nationality is preached, and which delude many people into the idea that they comprise all India or are calculated to unite the diverse sections of the community into a nation that may resent being governed by another nation and may have a strained feeling against authority established by law and a fine administration the like of which India has never had before.

"My Lord, I have made these remarks as I consider it my duty to speak the plain truth. I want to be heard here and also to be overheard in England. I am well aware that my opinions will appear distasteful to certain so-called leaders and orators of some sections and they may try to contradict my views; but truth is great and it will prevail.

"Having had my chance of speaking I think I may be unable to answer the criticisms which may follow my remarks, but I hope there may be Members of my opinion who may answer the critics. My Lord, there is a class in India waiting to see what the Government will do: we expect action, and a firm and resolute one, to stamp out sedition and disaffection from the country. Let Government take decisive steps and all the best elements in India are with it.

"My Lord, I should like to remark at the end, as I had done once before that whenever there is a great opposition, the public generally think that the opposing party is in the right and the Government won't listen to their arguments, and this idea creates a bad effect; but I hope this time they will also see that we, the supporters of the Bill, also represent big classes, and they will form a conclusion after judging the whole debate and not any particular speech of a favourite speaker and will also bear in mind that if we had known that the measure was unnecessary and the Government was wrong we would have been the foremost to oppose it.

"My Lord, with these remarks I strongly support the measure."

The Hon'ble MR. MADGE said.—"My Lord, the limits which have been suggested by the Hon'ble mover of this Bill for the range of our present discussion, with reference to the issues that ought to be raised here, have been so freely transgressed by almost every speaker that I hope I shall not be held to have disregarded the suggestion made if I echo the hope that has been already expressed that, not only will this Bill be passed, but that it will not be very long before the provisions which it extends find their proper and permanent place in the criminal law of the country. Before I give my reasons for this hope, which I shall do very briefly, I should like to say, no doubt to the great astonishment of my Hon'ble friend Mr. Mudholkar, that I share in the disappointment that has been so strongly expressed by him. But the sources of our disappointment are as poles asunder. If I am disappointed, my Lord, it is because the eloquent speakers who have already addressed you have not been careful to trace the relations of cause and effect between this Bill and the Press Act in respect of their influence upon the seditious spirit that was spreading throughout the country. It is all very well to say that the suppression of that spirit is attributable to the ordinary law of the land. I respectfully submit that it is nothing of the sort; and that a Government which came before the people with both its hands full of concessions would not have passed such a law as this if the ordinary law of the land had sufficed to suppress anarchy and sedition. It is because the ordinary law of the land entirely failed that the Government was forced into this position. And to anybody who stands up here and says that this is going too far, and that it is irritating, and all that sort of thing, I wish to say as gently and as respectfully and in as friendly a way as possible that you are like a physician who takes up a dangerous case, who finds that his diagnosis is correct, that his treatment is effective, that the promise of it is not small, and who finds that he is soon arriving at success, but who suddenly stops short and says, 'not because I have failed but because I have succeeded, I shall shut up'. To me action of that sort appears to be wholly unreasonable. If this measure, or rather the combined action of them both, has succeeded in suppressing the evil spirit that was spreading, through the Province to which I belong all over the country, I think the Government is acting with wise prudence, in the interests of the people more than in its own interests, in bringing in legislation of this sort, the effect of which appears to me to be wholesome. It has been said that the powers that are to be entrusted to the Executive are dangerous. But they do not strike me as being more dangerous than the powers that are entrusted to a successful surgeon. The lancet is a very dangerous thing ; but when employed in skilful hands, it secures life oftener than it produces death ; and I have had no reason from the Government's action to suspect either its skilfulness or its gentleness. I am not a blind advocate of the Government at all. I have watched its proceedings for some time past with great care, and I have had no reason from any of its actions to suspect either its skilfulness or its gentleness. Indeed, my Lord, I may say from what I have heard down below of the temperament of the Government, that so far from being thought at all unreasonable and cruel, its action has sometimes been thought to be sentimentally weak. I do not here endorse that sentiment ; but I only repeat it here for the purpose of balancing the remarks that have already been made. And now, if I may be allowed in a few words to give my reasons for the hope that I have expressed : they are briefly these. Crime is crime, whatever you may say about it. The differentiations of crime are of degree and not of kind. All law more or less desires to protect society and the public peace, and the breach of any law tends both to the disruption of the public peace and the breaking up of all the best interests of society. It has been said that the murderous hand of the assassin is not the result of public proceedings. I take occasion to deny the accuracy of that remark in the most emphatic manner. The hand of the assassin is often moved by speeches full of double entendre. I have made it my business to study some of them. I happen to understand the languages of the country, not perhaps as well as every Indian, but better than most Europeans. I have detected the double entendre of many insinuations that have been publicly made with such carefulness as to guard the speaker but to send fire into the hearts of susceptible people. My Lord, that is a public proceeding one end of which may be out of sight but the other end of which is exposed to everybody. Remarks have been made about the action of the police whom it is no business of mine to defend. I have studied the police systems of several countries in the world, and I think it may be laid down generally that the average morality of the police, with a few exaggerations one way or the other, is the morality of the country to which they belong. I do not make this remark offensively, but as a fact of sociology which must be impressed upon the conscience of everybody who observes and thinks. Very well, my Lord, if that is the case, I wish next to refer to some remarks that have been made about patriotism. I think true patriotism ought to be directed, not so exclusively to political advancement, as towards raising the moral tone of the people. I speak as a member of a very small community which is flanked on all sides, and I make it my business to abuse their vices privately but to defend their virtues as much as possible in public. I think that is the right attitude for most people who wish to act as patriots to take ; and I think that if the great talent and the great energy that have been displayed by so many political speakers had been directed to wiser channels, there is 'a stream of tendencies, not of ourselves, making for righteousness', and if any man throws himself into that stream, he shall be allowed to do things for the uplifting of his people. I have found that in a very humble way and on a small scale, and if on the larger scale which is presented to my Indian friends, many of whom I love and respect exceedingly, they would take that line of action and raise the morale of the country and of its police, as it is open to them to do, I think very little complaint would remain about the conduct of the police. In conclusion, my Lord, I wish to say that I cannot understand on what sound principle of civilized jurisprudence there can be any advocacy of intermittent legislation against crime. If a law is good in itself, it ought to stand recorded always ; and I think much less irritation would be caused by the permanence of a law of that sort than by its being continually brought up before the Legislative Council."

The Hon'ble MR. SACHCHIDANANDA SINHA said :—" My Lord, on 1st November 1907—when the Seditious Meetings Act was under the consideration of this Council—the Hon'ble Sir Harvey Adamson, speaking with the authority of a Home Member, propounded a curious theory in regard to the presence of non-official Members of this Council at Simla on the occasions of debates on contentious measures like the one under discussion today. He said :— ' If Indian Members considered the matter to be of vital importance, they would no doubt have undertaken the journey which would have deposited them at the doors of the Council chamber. Their absence proves that either they approve of the Bill or at least do not so strongly disapprove of it as to consider their presence necessary'. I do not know, my Lord, if Sir Harvey's views are shared, to any extent, by the Hon'ble Mr. Jenkins, but lest my absence should give rise to any such unwarranted presumptions as those formulated by the late Home Member, I have deemed it to be my duty to come up here today, to be able to place before the Council the views of that important section of the people of the Lower Provinces whom I have the honour to represent in this Council.

"My Lord, there can be no two opinions that the measure under consideration is one of an exceptional character, and I submit that an extraordinary law, meant for special exigencies, should not be allowed to remain on the Statute-book when the circumstances that justified it no longer demand it. It cannot be doubted that the Seditious Meetings Act—the operation of which we are asked to renew today for a period of five months, after its becoming inoperative by efflux of time—is a measure of exceptional and extraordinary character, as it seriously curtails the liberty of public discussion and vests, in the hands of our police, powers of interference with the public, which, even when exercised with the greatest tact, are bound to produce irritation, annoyance and inconvenience. Under the Act as it stands, power is given to the police to interfere with all kinds of gatherings of twenty or more persons, whether they be in a public place or a private house. Religious and social gatherings are not excepted, so far as the powers of the police are concerned. It is obvious that such extensive, discretionary powers vested in a body of men like our police—of whom the most charitably-disposed persons cannot draw a flattering picture—can only result in constant conflicts between them and large and important sections of the people. And for one seditious meeting that the police may be able to suppress, acting under the powers conferred upon them by this Act, there are sure to be several instances when, owing to misdirected zeal on their part for ferretting out sedition, respectable and law-abiding subjects of His Majesty, the King-Emperor, are likely to be subjected to unnecessary and unjustifiable annoyances, in their efforts to carry on perfectly peaceful and legitimate, constitutional agitation for political reform and which we claim as one of the indefeasible and most cherished rights of all British subjects. Such, my Lord, has actually been the case in East Bengal, where conferences, as to the peaceful and constitutional character of which guarantees had been given by the organizers to the District-officers, were not allowed to be held.

"The Seditious Meetings Act was passed to put down—to quote the words of Sir Harvey Adamson—the 'acute disorder that prevailed in the Punjab and in Eastern Bengal', and it was admitted by the Government that it was 'a repressive measure of considerable potency'. The question, to my mind, is that, even assuming that such a measure was necessary at the time it was enacted, in the interests of law and order, whether the present situation is not so improved as no longer to require the continuance of the Act, which is a serious menace to the exercise on the part of the people of one of their most valued rights as British subjects, namely, the right of public association for purposes of free and open discussion of public questions on constitutional lines. Now, unless, my Lord, I have misappreciated the significance of the assurances given by Your Lordship on the occasion of inaugurating the last session in Calcutta of this Council, as also the statements made recently by the Under-Secretary of State for India in the House of Commons, it is clear that the situation in the country has materially improved of late, and if things are allowed to proceed as they are, without the application of fresh irritants in the shape of such legislation as the one before us today, the chances are that matters will take an even yet more favourable turn and the apprehension of any widespread or serious trouble, as the result of allowing liberty of public discussion, does not seem to me to be well-founded. The Punjab—one of the two unfortunate Provinces the state of affairs in which was made to justify this exceptional enactment at the time—has been, so far as I can see, quite tranquil.

and the better mind of East Bengal, on the occasions of the conferences which were unfortunately suppressed, gave evidence of a sincere desire to co-operate with the public authorities. As for the other Provinces—they have all been peaceful and ~~quiet~~ ^{calm} these years, and even when this Act was passed no reference was made to their condition as justifying any such extraordinary legislation, in derogation of popular rights. I submit, therefore, my Lord, that the very special circumstances which might have justified so stringent and drastic a measure having fortunately very largely disappeared, there is no justification now for the Executive to ask the assistance of this Council to sanction the continuance of this 'repressive measure of considerable potency'. As a matter of fact there is ample provision made in the Code of Criminal Procedure, in section 144, for the suppression of mischievous or seditious public meetings, and it was while purporting to act under the terms of this section that the authorities at Barisal dispersed the session of, in my opinion, an innocent gathering, viz., the Bengal Provincial Conference, in March 1907, months before the present Act was passed. I venture to say, therefore, that in section 144 of the Criminal Procedure Code, the executive authorities have vested in them ample powers for meeting all cases where public assemblies are likely to resort to mischievous or inflammatory propaganda.

"It is alleged in the Statement of Objects and Reasons of the present Bill that the Act 'where put into actual operation has been effective in stopping several meetings which, it was feared, if held, would have given rise to disturbances; and even where it has not been enforced its moral effect as a preventive measure has been invaluable.' Now, as to the first part of the allegation, I confess it is a mystery to me as to how it could have been known that meetings, which never were allowed to be held, could have resulted in disturbances. Possibly the alleged fact was ascertained through some occult process, unknown to the non-official Members and familiar only to our omniscient official colleagues. But in regard to the second part of the allegation, namely that the Act, even where it has not been enforced, has had 'invaluable moral effect' as a preventive measure, I think it my duty to inform the Council that in the Provinces of Behar and Agra and Oudh—with which I may claim to be in intimate touch—the only effect of the Act has been that of demoralising public life and practically paralysing all healthy and legitimate public activities. Its existence on the Statute-book and its subsequent extension in January last to all the Provinces which were till then exempt from its operation, has materially and seriously affected constitutional public work needing joint effort and co-operation, and, as such, it has been fruitful in engendering in the public mind a feeling of deep dissatisfaction amongst those who, during the recent period of storm and stress, tension and excitement, have been unswerving friends of law and order. That after the sincerely loyal support we have given to the Government in Behar and the United Provinces, and thus strengthened their hands in combatting undesirable and unhealthy unrest in some other parts of the country, we should find ourselves so distrusted as to be placed under the veritable sword of Damocles, in the shape of this frankly repressive legislation, has caused us, I beg to assure Your Lordship, the deepest humiliation as casting an unmerited stigma on our loyalty and on our unswerving adherence to peaceful, constitutional public work. What I have said above of the character of public work in Behar and the United Provinces will, I have no doubt, be endorsed by the Hon'ble Mr. Earle—who was our Commissioner at Patna till recently—and by the Hon'ble Mr. Weston, who, though he left the United Provinces of Agra and Oudh some years back, is nevertheless in close touch with the affairs of his old Province. If it be said, however, that it is impossible to make exceptions in a measure meant to affect the whole country, I submit that in matters of such legislation as the one before us today, it seems to me a wrong principle to proceed on the lines we are asked to do. It was pointed out by that great and distinguished jurist, Sir Henry Maine, that the true principle of Indian legislation should be to enact measures for particular tracts and Provinces and then to extend their operation to other parts of the country, in the light of the experience gained of their actual working in the smaller area. Whether this principle be feasible or not in other departments of legislation, I venture to say that it is a most desirable course to follow in the matter of enacting repressive measures. Almost all our provinces are now supplied with the requisite machinery for legislation, in the shape of Provincial Councils, and I confess I cannot understand why it should not have been left open to the Provincial Governments to enact in their Councils such measures of exceptional legislation as may be required by the special exigencies and requirements of their territorial jurisdiction, in place of having an all-India measure like the one before us, which in its broad sweep grinds all—the guilty few and the innocent many.

"In conclusion, my Lord, I desire to express my view that in coming before the Legislature for assistance in enacting this measure, it was not right, it seems to me, for the Executive to rely only 'on the unanimous advice of Local Governments'. Far be it from me to say one word in derogation of the value or importance of the opinions of our Local Governments, but nevertheless the fact remains that to accept the views of the Local Governments only and to act upon them is to proceed upon purely ex parte lines. Surely, my Lord, there are other people to be considered, other interests to be taken into account—the interests, views and opinions of the great educated Indian community—great not necessarily in numbers but in their influence and importance—whose healthy public activities are seriously menaced and jeopardised by this measure. I fear I cannot honestly say that the Government have considered the question—as they should have done—from our standpoint, the standpoint of the people. If they had done so, I am sure they would not have felt so 'convinced', as they are alleged to be in the Statement of Objects and Reasons, as to the continuance of the Act. That the Local Governments should have recommended the continuance of a measure which offers them the shortest cut to the accomplishment of what they desire is what we can all understand, but that the Government of India should have failed to weigh the pros and cons of the question, from the popular standpoint, is something which I can not but sincerely regret. I fear that the continuance of this Act will act as an irritant instead of an emollient, and that it is likely to engender discontent where it does not at present exist, and I cannot, therefore, see my way to give my support to the proposal before the Council."

The Hon'ble BABU BHUPENDRA NATH BASU: "My Lord, I must say that I rise to speak in this Council with a feeling of considerable diffidence. My Lord, I do not conceal from myself that I exhibit in my person all the defects of the race from which I come. I am a Bengali of Bengalis, and I have taken a very prominent and active part in opposing that measure which Bengal has taken so deeply to heart. Therefore, my Lord, in addressing this assembly I have to combat some amount of prejudice at least against me personally. But laying aside those personal considerations which I appeal to this Council to do, they may for the moment forget and treat me not as a Bengali but as the advocate of the cause which I am trying to place before this Council on this occasion, I shall venture to place my views on the proposed legislation of to-day. My Lord, having regard to the statement made by the Hon'ble Mr. Jonkins that this Bill is intended for a period of five months only, and that the question as regards its renewal is as yet undecided, I probably should have seen my way not to enter into a detailed examination of the merits of the measure before us. But, my Lord, I feel a sort of strong presentiment which I cannot, I honestly say, resist, that what is sought to be continued to-day may soon be made permanent. If, my Lord, with Your Lordship's experience of five years' administration in India we have been unable to give the quietus to this measure of 1907, it is hardly to be expected that a Viceroy who will be new to the conditions of India with an Executive Council which also has been recently recruited will be able to withstand the pressure of the Local Governments and to resist this measure being put permanently on the statute book. My Lord, a question has been asked in this Council as well as outside: do the circumstances of to-day resemble those which led to the introduction of this measure in 1907? That is a question to which a frank, a decisive, a clear and an exhaustive answer was expected. If it is the fact, my Lord, that there is no intention of renewing this Act after five months are over, then probably no answer was needed; but having regard to the absence of a declaration to that effect, I should have expected—the public in India expected—that there should have been an exhaustive statement of the grounds which led the Government to continue or to renew this measure. My Lord, it is never pleasant to go back to the history of old times in connection with repressive legislation. My Lord, if it were open to me, if I thought it was necessary, I could place before this Council facts and circumstances which were deemed sufficient by Government to justify the passing of the Act in 1907—facts and circumstances which, if properly stated, would put a very different complexion upon the responsibility of the parties concerned in the passing of that measure. But, my Lord, since I came to this meeting I have decided not to rake up old memories. I shall assume for the purposes of my argument—it is not necessary to go further—I shall assume for the purposes of my argument that a state of things did exist, whoever may have been responsible, in 1907 which justified the passing of this measure. I shall fully place myself, if it is possible for a humble citizen to do so, in the position of the Executive Government in 1907. We feel, all the members of the public appreciate, the difficulties, and, my Lord, we also appreciated the studied moderation of the speeches which Sir Harvey Adamson made on that occasion in this assembly. My Lord, as I have said, I shall assume that conditions existed which necessitated the passing of this measure in 1907.

“My Lord, does not the question strike one that before reproducing or continuing this measure there should be an inquiry as to whether the circumstances of to-day are similar to the circumstances of 1907? That is a most necessary inquiry in this matter. My friend, the Hon'ble Mr. Madge, has been pleased to give carte blanche to Government in passing any criminal law which it likes if it thinks it is for the benefit of the community which it governs. I do not dissent from that proposition, but I shall show later on what is the objection of the people to the Government passing a measure of criminal law, in which it places itself in the position of a judge of its own action. I do not think my friend, the Hon'ble Mr. Madge, will for a moment defend the Lynch Law of America, where an infuriated populace seeks speedy justice against an offender and where no form of trial is gone through or allowed to be gone through. Nor do I think, if he had carefully considered that prospect, he would lay down the proposition that the Government is at liberty to pass any measure such as that before us to-day, and to constitute itself sole judge in carrying that measure through in practice.” *

The Hon'ble MR. MADGE : “I did not say so, my Lord.”

The Hon'ble BABU BHUPENDRA NATH BASU : “That is the effect of the legislation which we are considering to-day, and that, my Lord, is our chief ground for opposition to the measure.

“My Lord, since 1907 the atmosphere has been considerably cleared. We hope and trust that the murderous conspiracies which had blackened the good name of our country, which had made us hang down our heads in shame and humiliation, have been hunted down and thoroughly extirpated. My Lord, the whole moral sense of the community has been roused against the perpetrators of crimes like these. There unhappily—I say so with shame and sorrow—has arisen in Bengal a new class of crimes. We have seen recently young men and boys of respectable families taking to dacoities which are considered in many instances to be political. My Lord, nothing more cowardly can be conceived than the making of raids upon defenceless homes, than the torturing of innocent women and children and aged householders in order to make them divulge their hoards, their ornaments and their jewellery.

“My Lord, I belong to the middle classes of Bengal, classes which have been honourably known from time immemorial for their strict adherence to the principles of morality and religion; and I say, my Lord, that I have no words to express how deeply I feel the sense of shame and sorrow for the conduct of these young men. If it were possible to lay bare my heart strings to this assembly, they would see upon them the impress of the deepest humiliation. But, though I frankly confess that these crimes, which have tarnished the fair fame of the province from which I come, must be suppressed, I respectfully venture to join issue with Your Lordship's Government ~~and~~ whether the means that you are adopting to-day is the best means, or in any way a desirable means, by which this form of crime can be suppressed. My Lord, does anybody really think that crimes like these or crimes which were unhappily the result of the insane band of conspirators who assembled at Manicktolla, are perpetrated on house-tops or in the bazars of India for the people to see and hear? Would the suppression of public meetings in any way conduce to the suppression of this class of crimes? I do not think, my Lord, that this Act would have that effect. Then, my Lord, when introducing this measure into the Supreme Council, Sir Harvey Adamson was pleased to complain of the want of co-operation with the police of the loyal and law-abiding portion of the Indian community. My Lord, people in India often wonder how our rulers spending a lifetime in India manage to remain so ignorant of the real state of affairs in the country and the people they are sent out to govern. I am afraid that this feeling of wonder is not wholly justified. From the very nature of things those who come out here to govern, though they live in India, mostly live a life apart from the Indian. My Lord, if Sir Harvey Adamson had ever occasion to be cited as a witness in a criminal case—to dance attendance on the inquiring or trying Magistrate from day to day and from place to place, to enter into recognizance bonds for due appearance, to be harassed by the police if his statements did not bear out their theory, to be sometimes browbeaten by the Magistrate who was imperfectly acquainted with his language and seldom aware of his position in life, to neglect his field if he was an agriculturist, to neglect his work if he was a labourer, to neglect his business if he was a professional man, and not to be paid anything for all this trouble, for all this annoyance, then I am sure he would not have made the observation that he made on that occasion. No one rejoices more than his many friends in Bengal at the well-deserved promotion which has been bestowed upon Sir Harvey Adamson; but I may take the liberty to say that if it were possible for Sir Harvey Adamson as a private citizen in Burma to start a criminal case—to institute a case when he next loses a coat or a ring—and after he has done so I would ask him his opinion about co-operation with the police. But, my Lord, apart from this, before we have recourse to a repressive measure described by Sir Harvey Adamson as one of 'considerable potency', is it not fair to us, the Indian communities, to consider whether the existing law is sufficient or not for the purpose for which is sought to be attained by this legislation? My Lord, there are two stages in dealing with crime: first of all the preventive stage, and then the punitive stage. Let us see, my Lord, what are the powers that the Executive possesses under the preventive provisions of the ordinary criminal law. I shall not go into details which can only interest a lawyer, but I shall take the broader features of the case. There are provisions in the criminal law by which a Magistrate may bind down any obnoxious person to keep the peace or be of good behaviour. My Lord, recently, while considering the provisions of the Pre-s Act, my Hon'ble friend, the Law Member, with his usual ability, pointed out that those provisions were of no avail; that the writer of a seditious pamphlet might be bound down to keep the peace and be of good behaviour, but at the very next moment he would set up some other person through whom he would spread his poison. That may be or may not be so; but, my Lord, in the case of seditious speeches I do not think my learned friend would suggest that it is possible for a seditious speaker to speak through a dummy. My Lord, all the effect of the speech depends upon the personality of the man; it is his voice, it is his magnetism, which move audiences, and benami speeches will have no effect in spreading sedition or poison. Then, my Lord, my friend was pleased to say that, in undertaking cases for prosecution, Government had to allow a large margin. I may point out to my friend that these are safeguards which the law and the wisdom of ages have provided for the safety of the citizen. The laws provide that in matters of sedition, where the action of Government is challenged, Government should not act in a hurry. My Lord, I do not wish to labour that point, but I have said, and I wish to repeat it with some degree of assurance, that the preventive powers given to Magistrates under the present law are sufficient. Added to those which I have already placed before this Council are the powers which have been referred to by some previous speakers of stopping meetings under section 144 of the Criminal Procedure Code. Everybody knows here that those provisions—the provisions of section 144—have been liberally exercised in the past, sometimes, alas, punctuated by regulation lathis as in Barisal. My Lord, meetings have been stopped which were considered by only those who were not in touch with the public to contain in them elements of disorder and sedition. I may instance as an example that the great commemoration meeting which was intended to be held in Calcutta on the Partition Day in 1908 was stopped under this very section on the eve of its being held. The orders issued at about 4 o'clock, when nearly 50,000 men had assembled to hold the meeting, and after the orders were promulgated all this vast crowd quietly dispersed. So also meetings in various other places in Bengal and East Bengal have been stopped under section 144. What more then is wanted?

“ I have dealt with the preventive provisions of the Act of the ordinary criminal law as it now stands. I will now proceed, my Lord, to another branch of my argument—the punitive provisions. I do not think that the most reactionary member of any Government in India would for a moment deny that the punitive provisions which the Penal Code lays down are sufficiently hard. My Lord, the lot of the political offender in India is different from that of a political offender probably in any other civilised country. He is treated as an ordinary felon; he is set to do hard work which to him, unaccustomed as he is to this work, is much harder than the work allotted to the ordinary criminal drawn from the criminal classes of India. He is sometimes flogged, and it has not been unknown that he has been dragged in chains through crowded streets. I suppose, my Lord, that this mode of punishment is resorted to to humiliate the man in public esteem. My Lord, from Your Lordship's place in Council may I appeal to those who inflict punishments like these to consider as to whether heavy punishments do not sometimes, do not oftentimes, make men overlook the heinousness of the offence and rouse the sympathy of the populace towards the unhappy offenders. And if, my Lord, it is not a profanation in this assembly to refer to the incident, they should not forget that One, whom the larger part of the civilised world adores today, was made to carry His own cross through the streets of Jerusalem.

“ My Lord, I have ventured to labour the point that the preventive and the punitive provisions of the law are quite sufficient; to ordinary men they would appear to be more than sufficient. Why then have recourse to exceptional and dangerous legislation? That the legislation is exceptional has been admitted by the Government itself; that it is dangerous will probably also be admitted. I take the opportunity of quoting from one of the recognised writers in England on subjects dealing with the political administration of the country. I shall not quote from German or French or Italian authors, but I will quote from an Englishman of undisputed authority. Mr. Sidgwick says:—

‘ It is an important practical security for freedom of political utterance that man shall not be prevented from writing and publishing what he likes by any interference before the act, of an executive official—but only restrained by the dread of punishment. It is indeed indispensable to maintain this security if we are to get the advantage of free criticism of the acts of the executive; since the question, whether such criticism has kept within the legal limits laid down for it, is too delicate a one to be left to the judgment of the persons criticised.’

“ My Lord, if a provision like this—if a law like this—is considered dangerous in European countries, where at least they have a homogeneous Government, it is much more dangerous under the system of Government under which we live. My Lord, we have our ruling class mostly recruited from outside and for a considerable time necessarily ignorant of the feelings, the sentiments, the habits, the usages and the customs of the people they are called upon to govern. In the meantime they have got to gather their knowledge from sources available to them. I will not repeat the commonplace of sitting on the safety valve. The Government of India is too firmly established to care that 'sedition should be driven underground'. My Lord, that may be so, but is it too much to say that the heart-beat of the nation can only be audible to Government through the mouth of its public speakers? And is it proper, is it necessary, that this channel of information should be closed? My Lord, that I am not speaking as a mere theorist, that I am not speaking as a mere idealist, as a mere sentimentalist, as one who is bound to oppose the Government in season and out of season, I say, my Lord, for the delectation of my friend, the Hon'ble Malik Umar Hyat Tiwana, that on many occasions I have manfully supported the Government notwithstanding the severe disapprobation of my own countrymen where I have felt it right to do so. I say so not as a mere theorist. I appeal to the experience of Hon'ble Members here as to what has been the effect of the recent legislation regarding the Press and the platform in Bengal. Notwithstanding the high authority of Sir Edward Baker, I may be permitted to speak with some degree of knowledge. In Bengal public meetings have ceased to be and the voice of the people has ceased to be heard, due to the fact that no body of men professing to represent the voice of the people would care to hold a public meeting with the sanction of the District Magistrate, with the names of the speakers approved, with the language of the resolutions to be passed settled, with the lines of the speeches to be made laid down. And do you think that if anybody could be found to hold such a meeting many people would care to attend it? And would such a meeting be helpful to Government? Would it be any index of the public sentiments in the country, or would it be merely a repetition of what the District Magistrate wants to be said? My Lord, let us take the case of newspapers. I am not a pressman myself, and Members of Council need not fear me as such; but I have been in close touch with many pressmen in my part of the country. I find, my Lord, that effective criticism of Government and of public measures has been stopped since the recent legislation; and papers, which were keen critics of public events, are now given to discussing affairs in Timbuctoo and in Kamtschatka, or discussing the agricultural conditions in Brazil or Mexico. That certainly is not a desirable state of things. My Lord, what is it that is wanted? Does the Executive—does Mr. Jenkins—want that we shall have a silent India, an India, so to say, in a deep swoon, an India where you do not feel the heart-beat, an India in which you do not feel the throbbing of the pulse, an India buried in some subterranean vault and seen only through the coloured slides of the Criminal Investigation Department? Is it wanted, my Lord, that the Government should live in some pleasance, secluded from public opinion and public view like Prince Siddharta, from whom it was sought to exclude a knowledge of the world until he became the Buddha? Or is it, my Lord, that the Government wants to be in touch with the people it governs through the Press and the platform which are the only channels open to them?

"My Lord, I have spoken with some degree of warmth. I belong to the tropics and the effects of the recent legislation have been too potent for me to keep silent. If the suppression of the Press and the platform could bring the millennium to India; I certainly would support it with my friends opposite. But, my Lord, Your Lordship should bear in mind that you cannot overtake the heels of time; you cannot harness the thoughts of men; you should bear in mind that you can no more suppress the surging forces rising around you than did the old English King suppress the swelling billows of the sea.

"My Lord, is it too late to appeal to Your Lordship's Government to follow the right path? Your Lordship has shown what the right path is. Your Lordship has inaugurated reforms which are destined at no distant date to bring about a better understanding between the people and their rulers. You have, my Lord, after the lapse of a century and a half, first made us realise that there is a knocking on the wall with which the bureaucracy has delighted to shut itself round. Why, my Lord, should not Your Lordship go on courageously on the path on which Your Lordship has set the journey? My Lord, why should we not trust to natural remedies; why have recourse to remedies of exceptional potency, which may as well kill as cure, and which more often kill than cure?

"My Lord, I am coming to the end of my observations. I am speaking, as I frankly confessed, under a deep sense of despair—despair because, my Lord, I feel that whatever I may say the Bill will pass into law, and I feel, my Lord, that at no distant date what is sought to be continued to-day will be made permanent. My Lord, 'coming events cast their shadows before'. But, my Lord, I am not absolutely without hope. I feel, I believe, my Lord,

"Would it be, my Lord, permissible for me to quote in this assembly the famous passage of St. Paul in his second epistle to the Corinthians: 'We look not at the things which are seen, but at the things which are not seen; for the things which are seen are temporal, but the things which are not seen are eternal'. We Hindus, my Lord, cradled in the religion of the Vedanta and Upanishads, we also look at things which are not seen. In the beautiful language of my country, used more than 2,000 years ago, the measure that is sought to be passed to-day is but a ripple on the wave of time, and will pass away. If I were not inspired by that hope and that belief, knowing how weak and ineffectual our voices were, I should not have come a thousand miles and more to record my humble protest. But, my Lord, for the day the defeat may be ours, but—

'The races rise and cluster,

The Hon'ble SIR VITHALDAS THACKERSEY said:—"My Lord, whatever may be the fate of this motion, whether the Government chose to accept the advice that the country may be given an opportunity to prove that no coercive measures are necessary for the ordinary purposes of Government, or stick to their opinion and continue this Act for five months, I hope the principles enunciated by the Hon'ble Malik Sahib will not receive acceptance. My Lord, our religion has taught us, we have been taught from the very beginning in our own homes, to consider the relation between the Government and the people as between parents and children, and not as enemies. The principles may be quite acceptable in Turkey or in Persia, but I am sure that they cannot be accepted by the most conservative of the conservatives in the British Government. Now with regard to this Bill, I may say that if I were satisfied that it is necessary for the preservation of law and order, I would be the first to support it.

"When the original Bill was before the Council in 1907 the Home Member then in charge of the Bill said: 'We were unwilling to legislate until we had seen whether the Council reforms that were laid before the public would meet any response in allaying seditious agitation'. He further went on to say: 'I beg that this condition may be taken as qualifying every word that I say to-day, namely, that the Bill is designed to operate only in exceptional circumstances, exceptional cases and exceptional times of insecurity'. Now, my Lord, is the condition of India such as to justify the continuance of a measure which was, according to the quotation I have read, introduced and passed to meet exceptional circumstances? The reforms, as has been already said here, so wisely and courageously initiated by Your Lordship and carried through with all the courage of a statesman in spite of enormous difficulties, have, I may say, enormously improved the situation in the country. This fact is not denied. Even the Under Secretary of State in the House of Commons declared the other day that the situation had improved and that reformers have been drawn to the side of Government owing to these reforms. I submit, my Lord, therefore, that to my mind it is not necessary to continue the operations of this Act any longer. Again, my Lord, in opening the first Council under the new Reform Scheme in January last, Your Lordship feelingly declared—'No one has longed more earnestly than I have to allow bygones to be bygones, and to commence a new administrative era with a clean slate'. My Lord, I appeal to Your Lordship that it would be quite in keeping with the spirit of that observation to allow the present motion to drop and to give an opportunity to the people to prove that the Act is not necessary. And, ~~after all,~~ my Lord, what risk is incurred by Government in following that course? As has been pointed out, the present Act expires on the 31st of October. In all probability the next session of this Council will commence about the 10th or 15th of December. There is an interval of only five or six weeks during which this coercive Act shall not be in existence, and this is certainly a very short time, during which an opportunity, as I have suggested, may be given to the people. If after putting confidence in the people, the confidence is abused or misused, it is quite open to Government to come forward and introduce the Bill, which is proposed to be continued from the 31st of October; and in that case I am sure Government will get the support of all reasonable men for the preservation of law and order as they got support at the time of the Press Act. That position will be considerably stronger than the position of Government today when it is proposed to carry this Act in spite of opposition. As I have said, the risk is very small indeed. My Lord, the action that I have suggested will give a personal gratification to Your Lordship that you will leave this country peaceful and contented. It will also deepen the sense of gratitude in the minds of my countrymen, in whose hearts Your Lordship has secured a permanent place of respect and love, and will also be a crowning finish to Your Excellency's glorious régime which has been so successful in spite of enormous difficulties. Your Lordship may justly take pride in handing over the government of the country to your illustrious successor brighter and more hopeful."

The Hon'ble MR. MAZHARUL HAQUE said:—"My Lord, I have given my most earnest and anxious consideration to the Bill before the Council, and I have come to the conclusion, though rather reluctantly, that both in the interests of the Government and the country no fresh lease of life should be given to the Seditious Meetings Act of 1907. With every desire to support the Government in their efforts to weed out sedition and anarchy from the land, I feel that I cannot conscientiously support this measure. There may have been some justification for passing this Act in 1907, when some parts of the country at any rate were in a disturbed state and required rather severe handling, but now the country has quieted down and there is no longer any reason why the Statute-book should be disfigured by retaining a measure which is looked upon by a vast majority of the people with strong feelings of bitterness and resentment. I do not wish to be misunderstood. I believe that the Government of India, when they passed this Act, were actuated by the sole motive of grappling with a situation which had well-nigh become intolerable, and possibly the Act has been instrumental in clearing the atmosphere and relieving the tension to a certain extent. But I also believe that the necessity for its continuance no longer exists, and that it should now be consigned to a well-merited oblivion. The little good that it is supposed to have done hardly compensates for the evils and the soreness of feeling that it has brought in its train. Last February, in Calcutta, while announcing the release of the deportees, Your Lordship was pleased to remark that the agitation which till then had been carried on had degenerated into an anarchical conspiracy and that there was no longer any necessity for keeping these men in detention. Thenceforward it was the duty of the civil authorities to find out the criminals and bring them to justice. How truly had Your Excellency gauged the situation then, and has Your Excellency ever regretted the step taken at that time? Is it not a fact that the peaceful condition of the country for the past six months has conclusively proved that those wiseacres who mournfully shook their heads at this graceful act of clemency and conciliation were false prophets and that Your Excellency was entirely in the right? Why not follow a similar policy as regards the present measure? I do not believe that the people of India are so degenerate and lost to all sense of gratitude that they would not appreciate and respond to a great kindness such as this. My opposition to this measure is also based on the principle that if the ordinary laws of the land be sufficient to cope with a certain class of crimes, it is highly impolitic to enact special laws. These only magnify and bring into prominence offences which should never be given any undue and mischievous publicity. Trials under special Acts attract the attention of the public to the personality of the offenders, who are at once raised to the position of martyrs to the cause, while if they were tried under the common procedure by the ordinary Courts of Law they would be treated as ordinary offenders, and what is more to the point they would get their proper deserts. At any rate there would not be any very great sensation about these trials. What I object to is the unnecessary and objectionable advertisement that a certain class of offenders receive by trials under special laws. In my humble opinion, the provisions of the present Code of Criminal Procedure are more than sufficient to prevent and suppress any meeting which had the propagation of sedition as its object. I am speaking in the presence of some eminent lawyers and especially of the towering personality of my learned friend the Hon'ble Mr. Sinha—the pride of all India—and of course, my Lord, I speak with great diffidence. But I may confidently say that all lawyers will agree with me that Chapters IX and XI of the Code of Criminal Procedure abundantly provide for the cases contemplated by the Seditious Meetings Act. As a matter of fact, there have been cases in which these provisions were enforced and successfully too. If my reading of the law is correct, then the question arises, why not utilize the common law of the land and thereby give a quietus to this perpetual agitation against repressive measures? The present Bill has the virtue of shutting the mouth of a few—a very few—of the seditionists, but has, at the same time, the fault of muzzling the vast majority of the loyal subjects of the Crown. Why punish the innocent many for the sins of the guilty few? Is that noble principle of British justice that it is better that ten guilty men should escape than that one innocent man should suffer to be reversed in this instance? A few youthful lunatics have taken it into their head to subvert the peace of the country by committing murders and outrages, and the whole country has to pay the penalty. Take the case of my own Province of Behar. I am alluding to my own Province by way of illustration. Otherwise the argument holds good for most parts of India. Behar is, as it has always been, free—singularly free—from the taint of these revolting crimes. Ask the Hon'ble Mr. Earle, who was so long in Behar that we Beharees consider him as one of ourselves, whether the soil of Behar is congenial for the propagation of the seeds of treason and sedition. Ask the Hon'ble Mr. Carlyle, another European Beharee in this Council, whether I am wrong in my description of Behar. If we Beharees have not offended and are not likely to offend against the law, then why should we be made to suffer along with the criminals of some other parts of the country? It is no use telling us that so long as we do not play with sedition we need not fear anything. The law is there and we are living under a sense of insecurity. Any day a foolish act on the part of a misguided youth may bring the whole Province into the clutches of the law. My Lord, it is neither sound statesmanship nor good policy to alienate the feelings of a warm-hearted and generous but sensitive people by enacting repressive and irritating measures. In the long run it can do no good either to the people or the Government. It has been truly said, where repression fails, conciliation can do wonders. And after all what has been the sum-total of the achievements under the Act which has been now in force for the last three years? Three or four districts only have been proclaimed and perhaps the same number of meetings suppressed. What a ridiculously paltry and insignificant result when compared to the abnormal and unhealthy excitement and irritation which is kept up throughout the country by the continuance of this obnoxious law. The ostensible object of enacting this law is to suppress agitation, but it defeats its own object by keeping that agitation alive, and very much alive.

“My Lord, I also strongly oppose this Bill on the ground that it effectually prevents the co-operation of the people with the Government. I am one of those who believe that the salvation of India lies in sincere and honest co-operation between the Government and the people and also between the different communities and races of India. The recent alarming and mischievous growth of numerous sectional and sectarian movements cannot but retard the progress of the country and must make the task of governing it a very difficult one. If the Hindus and Musalmans quarrel among themselves, then there is no hope for India. If the officials and non-officials look askance at each other, then the cause of our country is lost. Let us have done with this policy of suspicion and distrust. Let us have toleration and sympathy for each other's views. Then and then alone we can hope, in the fulness of time, to place India in its proper place among the civilised nations of the world.

"My Lord, this law has killed the public life of my country by taking away the right of public speaking—one of the most cherished privileges granted to us by the British Government. In place of meetings for the discussion of problems affecting the vital interests of India, we have now meetings for collecting subscriptions and voting addresses of welcome to the officials. This is a consummation which even the framers of the law could hardly contemplate with any degree of satisfaction.

"My Lord, India has just stepped into the field of modern civilisation. She is a young but a growing nation, with aspirations and ideals of her own. For her children it is an up-hill work to reach the summit. Mistakes are liable to be committed at the commencement of their career. It is the noble task of British statesmanship to correct these mistakes and to guide the activities of the people into proper channels. The difficulties are many and numerous, but surely tact and sympathy can surmount them. Of course, it is much easier to destroy than to build. The aspirations of a young nation can be nipped in the bud and the public life of a country like India be given a blow such as this Act contemplates which would kill it without any hope of resurrection. All this is extremely easy. But such a catastrophe could hardly redound to the credit and glory of England, in whose hands an all-wise and merciful Providence has put the destinies of India. I for my own part have an undying faith in the statesmanship of the British people and refuse to take any pessimistic view of the situation.

"Your Lordship has inaugurated a new era in this country—an era of conciliation and goodwill. The signs of a mighty change are already visible in the distant horizon, and if my countrymen would only keep to the path opened out for them by Your Excellency, their future is assured. My only regret is that the last act of Your Excellency's Government has been of a repressive nature. It could have been of a different description, but the fates had decreed otherwise."

The Hon'ble KHAN ZULFIKAR ALI KHAN said :—"My Lord, I think the proper time to pronounce a definite opinion about the Prevention of Seditious Meetings Act will be in March next, when its fate will be finally determined. At present it is proposed to let it live for five months more than its allotted period; but a brief review of the paramount necessity which compelled the Legislature to resort to extraordinary measures in order to cope with a novel and alarming situation would not, I believe, be inappropriate. My Lord, we all remember so well the time when sedition in India made its first unwelcome appearance. It was then supposed to be a negligible quantity and no serious attention was paid to its mischievous activity while it rapidly assumed alarming proportions. Platform speakers lost no time in promoting insurrectionary spirit of disorder and hostility to the English Government. Riots and disturbances of very serious nature imperilled peace all over India and the forbearance of the authorities was construed into weakness.

"It soon became manifest that an organised system of assassination and widespread network of intimidation received their sustenance from the subtle intellects of speakers who did not shrink from any falsehood which was industriously propagated concerning the intentions of Government. Young men committed outrages of a most atrocious character which caused desolation and misery in many a happy home, and there can be no doubt that these crimes were the simple translation into fact of the strange theories which had been so complacently propounded in public meetings.

"My Lord, it was openly preached and dinned into the willing ears of callow students that the Government established by law in India was a relic of a hateful history and a symbol of an unjust domination.

"These and many other theories had the most disastrous effect on the morale of the people. But at last the exigencies of public justice and the claims of humanity awakened the Government to the sense of its responsibility; and the Prevention of Seditious Meetings Act was at once produced from the armoury of the Legislative Department.

"The effect was very salutary—the atmosphere which was surcharged with anarchical ideas was partially cleared of its impurities, and no better proof of its efficacy and indisputable necessity could be imagined than the comparative security of life and property which has resulted from its operations; still every now and then we are reminded of the contrast between the reality and semblance of things, and we cannot by any means conclude that the political barometer in India yet points to set fair. India is traversing a period of untimely and painful transition and a single false step at a juncture like this may produce grave political crises; and I would say that, in the interests of this country, it would be very unwise to let loose those tongues which almost succeeded in subverting the reign of law and order which happily prevails in India.

"My Lord, experience has shown that those of my countrymen who use all legitimate and peaceful means of demanding rights have nothing to fear from the application of the Prevention of Seditious Meetings Act and it hits only those who have evil intentions. My Lord, to my mind the Press Act and the Prevention of Seditious Meetings Act are virtually interdependent and the one without the other will be a perfectly futile measure. I would therefore suggest that they should run concurrently.

"In concluding these remarks I feel confident that all law-abiding people will be always only too happy to support the Government in the proper discharge of its primary duties to maintain law and order, vouchsafe justice and fair play, and uphold the sanctity of life and property in India."

The Hon'ble MR. N. SUBBA RAO said:—"My Lord, I hoped that, if Your Excellency's Government wished to take power to continue the Act for some time longer, it might arrange to go down to Calcutta, say, a fortnight earlier than usual and submit the Bill for the consideration of the full Council in accordance with the established practice and the intentions of the Secretary of State in the transaction of important legislative business. Further, by October next it would have become clear to the Government, if it has not already become so, that there would be no necessity for continuing this 'repressive measure of considerable potency,' to quote the words of the Hon'ble Sir Harvey Adamson. Or, if Your Excellency's Government did not wish to put itself to this inconvenience, it might have allowed the Act to expire in the ordinary course of things, and leave it to Your Lordship's successor's Government to determine whether the then situation would demand the re-enactment of this exceptional legislation. This course would have the advantage of testing whether 'during the interregnum,' when the Act ceases to be in force, the so called 'moral effect' of this measure would in any way be lessened.

"But vain are these hopes, my Lord, when we consider the peculiar conditions in which the Government is placed. It has become evident that the Government feels that it cannot get on without this Act on the Statute-book and it does not feel comfortable if this measure is held in abeyance even for a month or two.

"I have felt compelled, therefore, my Lord, to attend this meeting, though at short notice and with much personal inconvenience, to enter my humble protest against the view that the Government has unfortunately taken of the political situation of the country and submit that the circumstances of the country do not call for this legislation at this juncture. The more so, my Lord, as I did not wish to leave any room for the responsible members of the Government to draw the presumption, as the Hon'ble Sir Harvey Adamson erroneously did when this Act was passed in 1907, that 'the Hon'ble Members who are not present either approve of the Bill or at least do not so strongly disapprove of it as to consider their presence necessary'.

"I am sorry, my Lord, that the course which the Government has chosen to adopt is likely to mislead the public in England and lend color to the wrong impression that this country is so dangerously insecure that this exceptional legislation should be continued. My Lord, I must confess I that am obtuse enough not to see the necessity for this Bill. Since the Act was passed in November 1907, it was extended immediately on the 1st November to the Province of Eastern Bengal, where it was enforced on the 7th idem in the district of Bakarganj and latterly on the 14th March last in the districts of Bakarganj, Faridpur and Mymensing. I understand that the only use made of the Act in those districts was to prohibit the holding of District Conferences which might equally have been done under the Criminal Procedure Code. On the 13th of January last the Government was pleased to extend the Act under one and the same notification to all the other Provinces—Madras, Bombay, Bengal, the Punjab, the United Provinces and the Central Provinces. What is the reason for this wholesale extension of the Act? None is assigned in the notification. I should like to be enlightened by the Hon'ble Member in charge of the Bill as to the special circumstances in these several Provinces that necessitated the extension of the Act. If, as suggested, the object of the Legislature were to produce an 'invaluable moral effect' as a preventive measure in these Provinces, though there might be no occasion to enforce its provisions therein, it would not have invested the Governor General in Council with discretionary power to extend the Act from time to time to different Provinces. In justifying the extraordinary powers conferred by the Bill, the Hon'ble Sir Harvey Adamson assured the Council that 'that the Bill is designed to operate only in exceptional circumstances, exceptional places and exceptional times of insecurity.' 'As to the range of the operation of the Bill, the Government of India have retained it entirely in their own hands, and I can assure the Hon'ble Members that the whole circumstances will be well weighed before the Bill is extended to any Province.' Your Lordship in bringing the proceedings to a close observed 'it seems to have been generally assumed that, because it is applicable to the whole of India, it is to be universally enforced. That has never been the intention of the Government of India.' Thus it is clear that the intention of the Act is that each Province has to be judged on its own merits and the discretionary power has to be exercised with reference to the circumstances of each Province. I regret, therefore, that the discretion given to the Executive by the Legislature was not properly exercised for the benefit of the subject. Take the case of the Province of Madras. There were two cases of disturbance before the Act was passed. One was the defiance of authority on the part of the students of the Rajahmundry Government Arts College in April 1907, in connection with the wearing of the 'Vande Mataram' medal. It was a freak of the moment repented amply at leisure. This was the only disturbance at Rajahmundry, and it was due to the advent of Babu Bepin Chandra Pal from Bengal, the exponent of the cult of swaraj, who is now in England. The other was the smashing of the European Club at Coconada by some among the lower orders of the people in May 1907, the immediate cause of which was the severe thrashing given to a boy by Dr. Kemp, the District Surgeon, for shouting 'Vande Mataram'. The leading townsmen of Coconada immediately held a public meeting deploring the occurrence and strongly condemning the conduct of these people. These two cases were before the Act. After the Act was passed, there was a riot at Tinnevely in March 1908, when the municipal office was attacked by the mob. The District Magistrate had to give orders to fire and punitive police was quartered on the town. Yet it was not found necessary to put the Act into force in that district. What then was the necessity to extend the Act to Madras in January last? The Province was absolutely quiet and no sense of insecurity was felt anywhere. I believe that what is true of Madras might with equal reason be said of the other Provinces. I shall leave that matter to be dealt with by my Hon'ble Colleagues who have more intimate acquaintance with those Provinces.

"My Lord, I shall now refer to the general political situation of the country. If there is one thing more than another which is striking with regard to the present situation of the country, it is the returning faith of the people in the beneficent intentions of the Government and their recognition of its earnest desire to meet their just aspirations and enlist their co-operation by giving them a larger share in the administration of the country consistent with their self-respect and capacity. There is no doubt that during the last few years an anti-British propaganda aiming at absolute swaraj was preached by a few visionaries, driven to despair, among other causes, by the seeming failure of the methods of constitutional agitation. The impressionable and unbalanced minds of some young men were unhinged by this new doctrine of swaraj, and their misguided vision was dazed by the prospect of a short cut to independence. But soon they have come to learn from bitter experience that in adopting western anarchical methods they have been playing with fire and wrecking their own lives, with no good to any one. We can safely say that this wave of artificial discontent has well nigh passed away and spent its force, I hope, no more to return and retard the peaceful evolution of this ancient land. But one lesson is writ large on the face of the country, and that is, that there is no other royal road to progress, in whatever direction it may be, whether social, religious or political, than the path of constitutional advance, though slow and arduous. The gospel of revolt for attaining freedom, though new on the political arena, is not new to India. It has been continually preached these several years from religious and social reform platforms with the sympathy and encouragement of Europeans also, and the Hindu society, disorganised as it is, has in its own way been pointing to the path of constitutional reform for its future evolution and defending itself against attacks inspired by a spirit of 'random rebellion' by having nothing to do with those who revolt against its ideals, traditions and usages. So far, my Lord, the air has been cleared of misapprehensions in ideals and methods of work.

"I submit, therefore, my Lord, that, as testified to by the Under Secretary of State for India at the recent discussion of the Indian Budget, there has certainly been a revulsion of feeling in favour of the British Raj. The improvement in the situation is entirely due to the courageous steps taken by Your Lordship in the direction of reforming the administration of the country and to the abhorrence of the people to the anarchical methods adopted in some places. I submit that true statesmanship requires at this juncture that this tide of feeling in favour of the Government should be fully taken advantage of and nothing done to rouse the suspicions and resentment of the people and retard the good work that is in progress.

"Your Lordship has well observed that the success of the future development of the country must be based 'upon the united efforts and co-operation of British and Indian administrators' and that 'the fellow service of British and Indian administrators under a supreme British Government is the key to the future political happiness of this country'. We appeal to the Government to steadily persevere towards this noble goal for which, I may take the liberty to say, Your Lordship has worked so hard. I have no doubt that when the Indian is accorded a status of equality with his British administrator and feels that he is a real unit in the administration of the country, he will realise that the Government is as much his as that of his British fellow-subject. We can then hope to see the fruition of the united efforts and co-operation of British and Indian administrators in the future development of the country.

"But, my Lord, I feel bound to mention in this connection that there is a serious obstacle in the way, and that is the persistence with which anti-Indian propaganda is preached by a certain section of the Anglo-Indian Press which finds favour with a certain class of Europeans in this country and abroad. I submit that so long as this attitude of hostility and contempt towards the legitimate aspirations of Indians continues, so long will the beneficent effects of reform undertaken by the Government from time to time be delayed and the efforts of the Government to draw the people to its side and inspire them with confidence in its good intentions and acts be frustrated. This attitude of hostility is an important factor which has contributed to the present situation and which has to be seriously reckoned with in the future development of the country. Action and reaction are equal, and unless this attitude of hostility is replaced by one of goodwill and sympathy, the rapprochement between the people and the Government will be seriously interfered with. My Lord, measures directed to bring about the happy results contemplated by Your Lordship are at present needed, but not this 'repressive measure of considerable potency'.

"I am told, my Lord, that there is still a revolutionary party in some parts of the country and there are also conspiracies of young men hatched in secret and finding vent in murders and dacoities. It is hardly necessary to say that this Act does not pretend to touch them and cannot hope to suppress them as it deals only with public meetings convened openly in broad daylight. But the Government has taken full powers to deal with secret societies and is strong enough to wipe them out.

"It is said, my Lord, that Local Governments want these powers to be held in reserve. Power is sweet, no doubt, and every Government, where the people have no voice, would like to have not only these powers but powers much more drastic. The question is whether each Province is so insecure that the Provincial Government should be armed with such powers. I submit that, as suggested by the Hon'ble Mr. Gokhale, each Provincial Government should be asked to take power through its Legislative Council, where local conditions could be well considered and local knowledge brought to bear on the subject, and it should not take shelter under the discretionary power of the Government of India.

"In this connection I am tempted to draw the attention of the Council to the present condition of Ireland and the recent debate in the House of Lords on the subject. My Lord, I may submit that the present condition of this country is nothing so dangerous as the condition in certain parts of Ireland, where boycotting, cattle-driving and shooting are carried to a degree which is described as 'scandalous and intolerable' by Lord Lansdowne. It was pointed out that the number of shooting outrages had increased from 60 in 1908 to 520 in 1909. Unionist peers urged on the Liberal Government the paramount necessity for putting the Crimes Act in operation. The answer to this is noteworthy. 'Coercion is no cure. Remove the cause of discontent and you remove the trouble in Ireland.' The Earl of Crowe pointed out that it had not been proved that the application of the Act had ever put down crime. Thus the Liberal Government steadily refused to listen to the counsels of repression so freely offered, and I hope Your Excellency's Government would equally refuse to be moved by alarmists who cannot gauge correctly the present situation and who would welcome any drastic measure because they themselves would not be affected by it.

"I should have been happy, my Lord, if I could have seen my way to support this legislation. But, my Lord, we feel that this Act has a deadening effect on the legitimate activities of the people. We feel the demoralising tendency of this exceptional legislation which would do more harm than good to the country. We feel that it is an undeserved slur on the loyalty of the people. We feel that the ordinary law is sufficient to meet the exigencies of the situation. We feel that the present improved political situation of the country does not call for this repressive measure. For reasons such as these, my Lord, I feel bound to oppose the Bill."

The Hon'ble PANDIT MADAN MOHAN MALAVIYA said :—"My Lord, the measure before the Council is of exceptional importance, and perhaps it is due both to the Government and to the public, a portion of whom at least I claim to represent, to state the reasons why I think it my duty to oppose the motion, that the Act for the Prevention of Seditious Meetings should be continued for another five months. My Lord, after the many able and elaborate speeches that have been made against the motion, it will not be necessary for me to take up much of the time of the Council. But I must complain at the outset of the action of the Hon'ble Member who has moved for leave to introduce the Bill in having thrown the burden of making out a case for not continuing this Act upon the non-official Members. My Lord, I understand that it has been the rule in respect of all legislative business which comes before the Government of India, that the Hon'ble Member who introduces a Bill should state clearly the reasons upon which his motion is based, and should set out before the Council the facts and circumstances which would enable Members, non-official as well as official, to decide whether to vote in favour of the Bill or against it. The Hon'ble Member has told us very briefly that all that the Bill aimed at was the continuance of the Seditious Meetings Act for only five months. He has also told us that the Local Governments have unanimously demanded it. So far as he was concerned, he was no doubt free, as he was willing, to surrender his judgment to the judgments of the Local Governments, particularly of one which is presided over by a gentleman of the experience and large views of Sir Edward Baker. But he seemed to forget that there were other Members in the Council who were not in the confidence of these Local Governments as he evidently happens to be; who did not know what the circumstances were which had led Sir Edward Baker and other Local Governors to ask for a continuance of this Act. My Lord, there is a certain responsibility resting upon the non-official Members of this Council as well as upon the official Members. It is also given to us to think, and we have to satisfy the still small voice that even we feel within us that there is some justification for supporting a motion to saddle the Statute-book of the country with a measure which was described by Sir Harvey Adamson, as many speakers have reminded the Council, as a repressive measure of considerable potency. This exceptional measure, intended for exceptional times and exceptional places, has now been on the Statute-book for nearly three years. The Government of India when they passed it almost offered apologies for introducing it, and for asking that it should be continued for three years—such was the state of the country at the time. Sir Harvey Adamson repeatedly said that the measure was intended for exceptional times and exceptional circumstances only, and he took the greatest care to point out that in order that the measure might lack the element of permanency, the life of every notification which was to be issued by a Local Government to declare an area to be a proclaimed area was confined to a period of six months.

"My Lord, the assurances given by Sir Harvey Adamson and the remarks which fell from Your Excellency in concluding the debate, had led the people to believe that unless some very special circumstances which would justify the continuance of that measure were shown to exist, it would be dead on the 31st of October 1910. It was with much surprise and regret therefore that we learnt that, while the Government was at Simla, a Bill would be introduced to give a new life to this repressive measure even before it is dead. I submit, my Lord, that in the circumstances of the case it lay heavily upon the Hon'ble the Home Member to place before the Council facts and circumstances which would enable the non-official Members to decide whether they should give their support to the measure or oppose it. I may be permitted to say, and I am sure Your Excellency will accept the statement, that it is not a pleasure to non-official Members to oppose Government measures. We feel the very reverse of pleasure in opposing them. But we feel, my Lord, that we are here to express opinions which we can justify first to ourselves and then to the public. We feel that we are to be judged not by this Council only but also by the much larger and far more important body of our countrymen who are keenly watching the conduct of non-official Members as well as that of Members of the Government in dealing with any legislation which affects them.

"Now, my Lord, we might all of us agree in the view that when the circumstances which gave rise to this legislation ceased to exist, this measure should have been allowed to die a natural death. Let us see therefore what those circumstances were and whether they exist in the country today. When the Regulation of Meetings Ordinance of 1907, which was a prototype of the Act which is now under consideration, was issued, it was stated in the Statement of Objects and Reasons which accompanied it that the 'acute disorder' which prevailed in the Punjab and in parts of Eastern Bengal had led to the passing of the Ordinance. My Lord, that acute disorder had almost died before that Ordinance was issued; it certainly did not exist when in November 1907 the Government decided to pass the present Act. But even assuming that there were circumstances in 1907 which justified the passing of the Act, or at any rate satisfied the Members of the Government that it was necessary in the interests of good government, in the interests of the preservation of the public peace, that a strong measure like that should be continued or be placed on the Statute-book, the Hon'ble Member who has put forward the motion under consideration before the Council was bound to satisfy this Council that these circumstances or conditions similar to them exist today when he seeks to give a new life to the measure. When piloting the measure through the Council, the Hon'ble Sir Harvey Adamson said that he had no desire to disguise the fact that the measure was one of considerable potency. He justified it however on the ground that in his opinion in the then condition of India such a measure was necessary. My Lord, what are the conditions which exist now? Do they make even the faintest approach to the conditions which existed in 1907? Sir Harvey Adamson complained at that time that the scheme of constitutional reforms which the Government had formulated had not brought about such a change in the public mind as had been expected, and that the Government felt that they had to deal with a section of irreconcilables. But we know that the scheme of reforms originally put forward has, after undergoing many important changes, been carried out since; and notwithstanding the fact that there have been some serious complaints about the regulations framed under the new Councils Act, no one can deny that the reforms as a whole have been received with a feeling of gratitude and have greatly improved the political situation. I believe that there has been a consensus of official and non-official opinion that the reforms carried out have brought about a marked change for the better in the attitude of the general public towards the Government. Is that change to count for nothing in determining whether a repressive measure should be allowed to die its natural death or should be kept alive by fresh legislation?

"We have been told that the Local Governments have asked for the Act. With due respect to the Local Governments we cannot blindly substitute the judgments of Local Governments for our own. My Lord, it is difficult for us to understand why, while all that is open and visible to the public eye indicates an absence of those conditions in the country which should justify the re-enacting of a repressive measure like the one before us, while it is undeniable that there is a world of difference between the conditions which obtain in some Provinces and those which prevail in others, all the Local Governments are unanimous in recommending that such a measure should be brought on the Statute-book for the whole of this vast Indian Empire.

"My Lord, the political situation in India was carefully summed up not long ago in the letter which the Government of India addressed on the 14th March last to the Government of Bengal and to the other Local Governments. In that letter Your Lordship in Council was pleased to recognise that nowhere in India was any considerable proportion of the population imbued with the spirit of disaffection towards the British rule; that there was a party, small in numbers, though of considerable influence, in the opinion of the Government, which was opposed to the continuance of British rule; that among this small party also there was a class which was opposed to a resort to violence; that the other class which advocated and practised the methods of terrorism consisted 'for the most part of youths who are still at school or college, and of young men who have not long passed that period of their life'. The letter went on to say that these active revolutionaries were most prominent in parts of Bengal and Eastern Bengal and Bombay; that their movement had spread to the Central Provinces and Berar, and to the Punjab; but that it had made little headway in Madras and in the United Provinces; and that the Government of India had received no information of its existence in Burma and in the North-West Frontier Province. That being so, I appeal to Your Lordship, I appeal to every Member of the Council, to judge what change has been brought about since March last which should justify the saddling of my Province, the United Provinces, or of Madras, or of Burma or the North-West Frontier Province with this repressive measure. My Lord, one event has no doubt happened, and that a very sad one too, namely, the death of our beloved King-Emperor. But the demonstrations of grief which that event called forth should have satisfied even the most sceptical mind that the heart of the people is sound; that they mourned the loss of the King-Emperor with as much sincerity as their fellow-subjects in any other part of the Empire; that they would not have done so if they did not appreciate the British connection and did not want the British rule to continue. What else, my Lord, could be the meaning of the great demonstration that took place in Calcutta, where a hundred thousand Hindus walked a long distance in a burning sun, bare-headed and bare-footed, in order to give united and public expression to their grief? My Lord, there have been manifestations of similar grief all over the country, and there are movements going on at present in all Provinces to raise suitable memorials to the revered memory of Edward the Peacemaker. With these evidences of a strengthening of the feeling of loyal allegiance to the Crown that has long existed in the minds of the people, is this the time for the Government of India and for the Local Governments to ask for a continuance of a repressive measure the life of which is to expire by efflux of time in October next? One should have thought, my Lord, that the Government would at such a time have welcomed the removal by natural death of a measure which it has seldom, if ever, found it necessary to use, but which must always be a source of irritation and complaint to the great body of the loyal and law-abiding population of the country, particularly as there is nothing special in the existing circumstances which would justify an opposite course.

"It may be said, my Lord, that the Government cannot ignore the existence of the band of terrorists and anarchists. Your Lordship was pleased, in that same letter to which I have referred, to deal also with the case of these misguided enemies of their country and of its Government. I need not repeat, what several other Members have said before me, that every sensible man who has the interests of this country at heart must deeply deplore all anarchical outrages and all unconstitutional action. But it cannot be said with any reason that the prevention of public meetings of twenty persons and more will exercise any restraining influence upon evil conspiracies, on the action of those who hatch their plots in secret, and who must, by the very nature of things, always endeavour to carry out their diabolical designs without all avoidable publicity. It is important to remember in this connection that the existence of the Act in question has not evidently hampered terrorists in their action during the last three years. This Act cannot therefore be claimed to be a remedy for that disease.

"Your Lordship's Government was pleased in the letter of March last not only to analyse the political situation but also to suggest some suitable remedies, if I may say so, with the eye of a statesman. The Government expressed its belief that the seditious movement is in the main due to ignorance and misapprehension of the natural consequences of British rule in India; that though there existed in the ranks of those who were hostile to that rule a residue of implacable hatred of all alien intrusion, 'all the information which has been placed before the Governor General in Council supports the view that the majority of the advocates of nationalism have been misled by shallow arguments and prejudiced statements'. The obvious remedy for this state of things was that the other side of the case should be put before these young men. Your Excellency therefore wisely called upon all officers of Government, and indeed all supporters of law and order, 'to do his best, each in his own sphere, to combat misrepresentation and to remove misapprehension regarding the character and results of British rule'. The officers of the Education Department were rightly asked to check the spread of seditious views among their wards by sympathetic discussion and kindly guidance; the attention of all District-officers was directed to the necessity of taking leading men in each district into their confidence, and of cultivating a courteous and considerate demeanour towards all with whom they are brought in contact. The concluding portion of the letter stated :—

'The Governor General in Council believes that there is every reason to expect success for a policy on the lines described in the foregoing paragraphs. There is much ignorance and misunderstanding on the subject of British rule in India, and thence has arisen a spirit of disaffection. That spirit has not spread far, and the wrong impressions on which it rests are capable of removal by conciliatory discussion and earnest remonstrance. Many supporters of this so-called nationalist programme have taken alarm at the development of what they regarded as a permissible political movement into the fanatical outrages of the terrorist section. The moment is favourable for detaching them from the party of disaffection and for convincing all but the most extreme of the danger to the general welfare of persistent attacks upon the foundations of the established Government. The great body of the people are entirely loyal and prepared to join with the officers of Government in this mission against disaffection.'

"I submit, my Lord, that that was a clear and statesman like pronouncement on the policy which the Government should pursue at the present time. It supplied the true remedy for the disease from which the country has in parts suffered and is unfortunately still suffering. But these methods of conciliation require that a free and public discussion of grievances and views should be encouraged rather than discouraged, cases of any serious abuse of the liberty of speech or meeting being left to be punished by the ordinary laws of the land. At any rate the policy of sympathetic guidance and conciliation which the Government of India deliberately decided upon but a few months ago will be to a large extent stultified if this fetter on the freedom of speech and action is continued, if this repressive measure is given a fresh lease of life. This being my view of the situation, I submit with great respect that the Government should not go on with the proposed legislation. I fully realise how vain it would be to hope that the Hon'ble Member in charge of the Bill will drop the motion. But, my Lord, I consider it my duty to say that it is very unfortunate that he should not be able to do so. There is nothing more important at this juncture for the good government of this country than that there should be a feeling abroad among the people that the Government are willing more than ever to listen with sympathy to the representations of Indians, to give due consideration to the wishes and opinions of representative Indians, who are quite as much anxious to uphold law and order, as being the sine qua non of peaceful progress, as any official member can be. Your Lordship has seen that there is a large body of unofficial opinion almost begging that the Government should not proceed with this measure. In these circumstances, unless the Hon'ble Member can lay before the Council the opinions of the Local Governments that he has received and relied on, unless he can disclose facts and circumstances which show that there is a danger that, if meetings are allowed to be held freely as they used to be held before this Act was passed, this circumstance will tend to disturb the public tranquillity or lead to some other crime which cannot be dealt with by the existing enactments, I submit, it cannot but be deplored that the Bill should be proceeded with and passed.

"I do not wish to dwell at length upon the existence of other provisions in the law which place ample power in the hands of the Government to suppress meetings which are likely to promote sedition or to lead to a disturbance of the public tranquillity. Some speakers who have spoken before me, including the Hon'ble Mr. Madge, have said that the existing law is not sufficient. My Lord, it is not necessary for me to enter into a discussion with these gentlemen as to whether that is so or otherwise. My lawyer friends have presented the correct view of the situation. Besides, an ounce of fact is better than a ton of argument. The Council has had a few such facts placed before it, facts which go to show that meetings of 50,000 persons and more in Calcutta, and other large meetings in Nagpur and Eastern Bengal, have been dispersed quietly under section 144 of the Criminal Procedure Code. It may be said that if it is a fact that both in that section and in the section relating to unlawful assemblies there is ample power given to the Executive to disperse any assembly which it considers to be objectionable, then why should we object to a measure of this character, which merely gives the same power to Government which it already possesses under other Acts? The reason for this is this. We submit that while the powers which the Government possesses under the other Acts are amply sufficient to deal with every individual case or cases of the abuse of the right of meeting that may arise, the conferring of this general power of proclaiming an area, by which the voice of the whole population there may be silenced, is most dangerous and unjust. My Lord, what is it that may happen under such an Act? As some of my friends have pointed out, some mischievous miscreant or some misguided young man talks a little nonsense in a place, the police send up long reports of danger to the State or to the public peace, and the whole district is proclaimed. I do not say that the Lieutenant-Governors and Governors of provinces do not fully weigh the situation; but they are after all human, and therefore liable to err. They have to act upon the reports of the man on the spot, who in his turn must act upon the reports of the police or of the Criminal Investigation Department. And we have had sufficient instances of the abuse of the powers given under the Act.

"We have seen how for the faults, more imaginary than real, of a few men or a small coterie of men, the population of a whole district, the great bulk of whom, must, as the letter quoted before has told us, be regarded as undoubtedly loyal to the Government, have been deprived of the right, which they enjoy under the British Government, of free public meeting and of giving free expression to their opinions and their sentiments, to their grievances and desires in relation to public questions which affect or interest them. It cannot but be regarded as a serious public grievance that, for the misconduct of a few individuals, the whole community in a locality should be prevented from freely exercising a privilege which they have never abused.

"My Lord, not only has no necessity been shown for the measure before us, but there is also the fear, as my friend the Hon'ble Mr Gokhale has pointed out, that a repressive measure may itself, by being abused in its working, lead to promoting the evil which it was intended to cure. The Seditious Meetings Act and the Press Act have both already given illustrations of the truth of the old adage that the sight of means to do ill deeds often makes ill deeds done. Look for instance at the action of the authorities in Eastern Bengal in suppressing three district conferences and the meeting which sought to help the depressed classes. I venture to doubt if the said conferences or the said meeting would have been stopped if the Seditious Meetings Act had not been in existence. Look again at the action taken in several places under the Press Act in contravention of the pledge given by the Government when it was going through the Council, and think of the irritation which the abuse of its provisions must cause in the public mind. So long as the Government will keep these two measures on the Statute-book, I regret to say, but I feel it my duty to say it, so long will all efforts to conciliate public opinion generally be beset with unnecessary difficulties, will continue to be unnecessarily difficult of accomplishment.

"I do not wish to detain the Council any longer. But I cannot help referring in this connection to the action taken under the Press Act with regard to Mr. Mackarness' pamphlet. I know that several Local Governments have thought it wise to suppress that pamphlet. I have no doubt that they believe that they have acted rightly in the matter. But with due deference to these Governments, I venture to think that if the new Press Act had not given them the indefinitely wide powers which it has given them, not one of them would have ever thought of suppressing the pamphlet. None of them perhaps would even now think of prosecuting Mr. Mackarness for it. The pamphlet might not have done full justice to the efforts of the Government to improve the police. But what did it aim at except a suppression of the evil practice which it exposed? It has been said, my Lord, that the Government of India have been denouncing the practice of torturing accused persons with a view to extort confessions from them, at least ever since they enacted the Indian Penal Code, which has laid down that any person who would so put people to torture would be liable to be punished with imprisonment which may extend to seven years. But the existence of such a provision has not evidently proved to be a sufficient deterrent, and in view of the facts brought to light in some recent cases, it was clearly necessary in the public interests to draw public attention to the evil with a view to have special measures taken to effectually discourage it."

His Excellency THE PRESIDENT: "I am afraid that I must interrupt the Hon'ble Member. Mr. Mackarness' pamphlet has got nothing whatever to do with the present discussion."

The Hon'ble PANDIT MADAN MOHAN MALAVIYA: "I bow to your Lordship's ruling. I wished to point out how easily a repressive measure may be abused, and may give rise to great irritation, when the object of the Government is that cause for irritation should not be given."

"I will now conclude. I think I have said enough to show that no justification has been made for proposing an extension of the life of the Seditious Meetings Act; that the powers which the Government possess under the existing provision of the law are amply sufficient to effectively prevent as well as to punish any attempt to promote sedition or to disturb the public tranquillity which might be made by persons who are hostile to Government and whose number is small; that the great bulk of the people are loyal to the core, and are more than ever inclined to co-operate with Government in maintaining law and order; that the policy of conciliation is in these circumstances the only safe and wise policy; that it should be steadily and earnestly pursued; that unless some overpowering causes intervene, nothing should be done which is likely to interfere with the success of that policy. I believe that no such causes demand a continuation of an Act of an abnormal character, which must operate against the return of normal relations between the Government and the people. For these reasons I beg humbly to oppose the motion which is now before the Council."

His Honour THE LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR OF THE PUNJAB: "My Lord, it was not my intention to have spoken upon this measure, since in the capacity of Head of one of the Local Governments I had urged the continuance of the Act, at any rate until next spring. And I am very sorry indeed to trench at so late an hour upon the time of the Council. But I feel that some non-official Members have put rather a strong case for some explanation of the reasons for the continuance of the Act, and also as I shall not probably have the opportunity of explaining my own position in the matter next spring, it appeared to me that, with your permission, I might say a few words on the present occasion. We have heard that Local Governments are very stiff-necked, and there is no doubt that we are very stiff-necked when any measure or any action is put forward which we believe to be inimical to the prosperity and the tranquillity of the Provinces in which we are so much interested. I am, however, glad to recognise that two non-official Hon'ble Members have also called us human, and I hope we are most thoroughly human and most thoroughly in touch with the aspirations and the wishes of the communities which are temporarily placed under our charge."

"Now nothing would give a Local Government greater pleasure than to be able to dispense with any of these measures; but circumstances, however, frequently render the introduction and the enforcement of such measures necessary. It is perfectly true, as Hon'ble Members have said, that the condition of the Punjab at present is happily very different to what it was in the spring of 1907; and nobody recognises that fact more fully than myself. I believe that the present condition of the Punjab is largely due to the introduction by Your Excellency's Government of the reformed Councils, and generally to the policy of conciliation which has been followed for a considerable time. At any rate, it has been my own practice, and I have enjoined that practice upon all my subordinates, that they should take every opportunity of putting themselves in the closest touch with all persons who can put forward any reasonable claim to represent any important section or sub-section." of the communities with which they have to deal, and that they should ascertain the wishes and views of these people informally in every way, and should put the case of Government before them so that they may move them by logic and not by repression. That policy, I am happy to say, has in most cases been very successful; but we cannot rely upon that policy entirely. One Hon'ble Member has referred to the old legend of the Danish King in whose proceedings I may be supposed to take a certain amount of personal interest, and he has pointed out that it was impossible to suppress the billows of the sea. I do not quite think that that was exactly what King Canute attempted. I believe that all he was asked to do was to order the tide not to rise beyond a certain point, and he wished to show to his somewhat sycophantic advisers how very impossible it was to do such a thing merely by the expression of a polite wish or even by the utterance of an order to which there was no ultimate sanction. But we can do a good deal, not to suppress the billows of the sea but to regulate their action and even to control the tides. A good many ships have been saved by pouring oil upon the troubled waters. That Your Excellency's Government has done with the greatest success, by pouring the oil of conciliation upon the troubled waters of India. But other measures are sometimes necessary.

"I belong to a Province which is blessed with the possession of a great many somewhat turbulent rivers which, if allowed to pursue their own irregular courses, would do infinite damage for want of proper training. Therefore, we construct training works founded upon experience as to the best way of carrying out such works, and the result is that these training works prevent these rivers from doing damage, widespread and serious, and divert them into more profitable courses to the great benefit of the country and all that it contains. I venture to think that the Press Act and this Bill for the Prevention of Seditious Meetings are works akin to these physical training works by which we guide the forces of our great rivers on proper lines. They operate to divert public actions and public movements from channels which can only result in widespread disaster and misfortune.

"The trouble in 1907 in the Punjab was very largely due to the perverse and pestilent teachings of a very small clique of persons some of whom did not belong to the Punjab. In fact, some came from that Province which we are called upon to admire as a perfect Eden in India—the United Provinces. These persons used their natural intelligence to operate upon the minds of the Punjab peasants and tried to make out to them that they were being badly used by a base and tyrannical Government, and by misrepresenting in the most serious way the actions and the intentions of that Government. Now, the Punjab peasant is a person with whom it is rather difficult to deal. As a rule he is prosperous, loyal and faithful, and nobody has a greater admiration for the peasant of the Punjab than I have myself. But he is liable, when worked upon in a clever way, especially when his religious feelings are approached, to sudden ebullitions of violent temper which, in the case of the Punjab, are particularly dangerous. I have pointed out on several occasions that the Punjab furnishes the whole frame of the Indian army—this means that an enormous number of soldiers upon the active list, upon the retired list, and in the reserves are scattered throughout the Punjab villages; and these men are very liable to have their feelings worked upon; and if their feelings are worked upon they form a nucleus and leaders whom the rest of the people following may often get into serious trouble. Now, happily, all that particular gang of persons who were so energetic in the beginning of 1907 in misleading the people have left the Punjab for the Punjab's good, or else have been temporarily detained in prison. That, I believe, has also very largely conduced to the present quiet of the Punjab. Unfortunately, during the winter and spring of this year it was reported to me by local officers that a similar campaign of misrepresentation, directed not only against the British Government as by law established in this country, but also against other important sections of the community, was being carried on by a similar set of men to those who had given us so much trouble in 1907. It was done very cleverly. Meetings were got up for purely social purposes or for purely religious purposes, but those meetings were diverted to totally different objects, and a great deal of racial and religious odium was thereby being excited. At the same time it so happened that some of the Punjab soldiery whose minds had been perverted and contaminated outside the province had had to be dismissed from the Army and had returned to their homes. The presence of these men was utilised by the leaders of this agitation to get up a movement condemning, on religious and racial grounds, all service under the British Government in the Indian Army. Such a movement could only have had the most serious and disastrous results if it had spread in the Punjab, and it would have been the ruin of the peasantry, who have honourable careers open to them at present in the Army from which they derive respectable incomes.

"It is alleged that it is quite easy for the Local Government, under the provisions of the ordinary law, to stop such meetings. Of course it is perfectly easy for the District Magistrate to suppress a meeting when he knows that the conditions under which that meeting is held and the circumstances in which it is held are so electrical as to render it almost certain that the holding of the meeting will produce a breach of the peace. But that is not always the case. To have a breach of the peace you must have two sides, and at a great many of these meetings the people were practically all of the same class and were brought together for what they supposed to be a common object of their own class; and consequently it was open to the agitators to pervert and contaminate their minds without there being any immediate prospect of a breach of the peace. It is quite possible that the action which the men were taking might have led to more than a breach of the peace—to general disturbance of order; but such disturbances would not have been an immediate consequence of those meetings, and it would hardly have been possible, so my local officers have represented, for the District Magistrate to take action for the immediate suppression of those meetings. Besides, we have heard a good deal of that much-abused force, the police. It is not my business on the present occasion to take up any brief on behalf of the police; but, assuming for the sake of argument that the police-force is as black as it is painted, surely it is not a satisfactory thing that we should have the police perpetually interfering for the suppression of meetings. It appeared to me, therefore, that it was very much better to act in an open and straightforward way and to apply this Act to the Rohtak District where these meetings were most frequent, and where some very large meetings were contemplated which I was assured would probably lead to very serious disturbances between the Hindus and Muhammadans of that district as well as to active discontent and sedition towards the British Government. I ought to say at first that we had done all that we could to get hold of the persons interested in these meetings and to try to persuade them that the action they were taking was most undesirable not only in the interests of Government and the public peace but in the interests of the national cause which they professed to have at stake. We did all we could by private means and private persuasion to get them to drop the campaign which they were conducting, and it was only when all these measures failed that this final measure was taken and that we applied a firm and well-considered training work to train the minds of the people in the direction in which it was most suitable for them to go.

"Well, the result of the extension of the Act was that the meetings were all dropped. We did not in the least prohibit the meetings. We were perfectly content that they should take place provided we knew who were the persons who would attend the meetings, because a great many of these agitators were people from outside the district altogether. They came and disappeared in the course of a night, and it would have been impossible to have bound them over as has been suggested as a suitable way of dealing with such cases. Now I can only say that the result of the extension of the Act to the Rohtak District has been, according to the opinion of the local officers, satisfactory. I may say that one of these local officers is an officer who has been in the district for some six years and is intimately acquainted with every portion of that district and is quite an expert in the particular dialect which is spoken in that district and therefore he is a man whose word may be taken in a matter of this kind as specially reliable. He was an officer who was most unwilling that these panphayats should be interfered with in any way, and it was only after seeing the injury which was being caused that he was forced to ask for what he termed special ultra-legal powers in order to enable him to stop what he believed to be most dangerous. Well, he and the Commissioner both tell me that nothing but good has resulted from the application of this Act. The people have quietly settled down, and all this seditious talk which was going on, abuse of their Muhammadan brethren, abuse of Government and its officers, and the kine-killing agitation has ceased, and the Rohtak District is now as happy and peaceful as it was before the agitation commenced.

"There was a special reason for operating in this district, and that was that Rohtak is a curious district. In fact, on one or two previous occasions, as I suppose is not known to many Hon'ble Members present, very serious Hindu-Muhammadan riots have occurred which have led to a great deal of bloodshed and a great deal of damage to the property and prosperity of the district. The people there are bucolic and quiet as a rule, but intensely excitable, and it is excessively dangerous to allow matters to come to such a head that there should be any danger of an outbreak of religious strife or of sedition against Government.

"My Lord, I have ventured to take up the time of the Council to this extent in order to show that Local Governments, human though they be, and stiff-necked though they are called, do not ordinarily take action in a matter of this kind, which is entirely opposed to their feelings and desires, unless they have the very strongest possible grounds for doing it. I also venture to think that it is highly desirable that Local Governments, when such circumstances arise as to render it necessary that something should be done to divert people's attention from a perverse and pestilent agitation, should have at their hand a weapon which would enable them to give immediate and instant legal effect to those measures which they think are absolutely necessary for the preservation of public order and peace."

The Hon'ble MR. EARLE: "My Lord, before I comment upon* this Bill I would like to refer to a point that has been raised by the Hon'ble Mr. Gokhale, who complained that the opinions of Local Governments had not been furnished to him. It was yesterday that he made this demand. We were only too anxious to comply with his request because we thought that it was desirable that all Members should be furnished with the opinions of Local Governments on a measure on which they were going to speak the very next day. Therefore, both the Hon'ble Home Member and myself endeavoured to arrange to give him copies of those papers. Unfortunately, the letters that have been received from Local Governments were all of a strictly confidential character. In the ordinary course of business, when a legislative measure comes up for consideration, we call for opinions from Local Governments, and in many cases the letters which we issue and receive are of a confidential nature, and in this case that was what happened. As a rule, after these confidential letters have been received, we frame a Bill, then it is introduced in Council, then the Bill is published and opinions of Local Governments are called for. These opinions of Local Governments are invariably placed in the hands of Hon'ble Members. It is only in those exceptional cases such as the present, where we have to introduce a Bill and pass it on the same day, that a difficulty arises. We quite recognise that Hon'ble Members are at a disadvantage, and we shall try and arrange that in future some means shall be adopted so that they shall have this information before them. It is quite as much to our advantage as to theirs that Hon'ble Members should be supplied with full information. In the present case we think that the opinions of the Local Governments would have decidedly strengthened our case.

" I now, with Your Excellency's permission, will make a few remarks as regards the Bill itself. The chief note struck, as far as I can see, by Hon'ble Members who have opposed the Bill is that as the political situation has improved—and this is admitted—therefore the extension of this measure is unnecessary, and an act of supererogation. I must say that I think that if Hon'ble Members who have opposed the Bill lay under the obligation, which rests upon the Home Department, of reading numerous reports and digesting a large mass of literature dealing with seditious subjects, they would speedily change their point of view and agree that it is better to nip sedition in the bud than to allow it to come to a head and then have to initiate prosecutions against offenders. My Lord, sedition is not dead; it is not even merely dormant; it is wakefully alive and it is merely waiting for its opportunity when it finds the authorities are off their guard. There is not a doubt that if they had the chance, the revolutionary party would make speedy use of the weapon of inflammatory oratory. If a speech such as my Hon'ble friend Babu Bhupendra Nath Basu has made today is possible in the Imperial Legislative Council, Hon'ble Members may easily gather what the extremists and revolutionaries will do in out-of-the-way districts where there is no authority to watch them.

" It has been argued that a sparing use has been made of the Act, and that therefore its extension and its retention upon the Statute-book is unnecessary. It seems to be forgotten that the whole object of this Act is to meet exceptional circumstances of danger. As the Hon'ble Sir Harvey Adamson, the late Home Member, said in 1907 when this Bill was before the Council, this measure is designed to operate in exceptional circumstances, in exceptional places and in exceptional times of insecurity. The fact that very sparing use has been made of it seems to me to be proof that the intentions of the Act have been very faithfully carried out.

" Then it is argued that the authorities have sufficient powers under the existing laws. Now, it is undoubtedly true that under the Calcutta and Suburban Police Acts, and the Bombay City Police Act, the authorities are armed with considerable powers which enable them to deal with seditious meetings. These Acts, however, of course, are purely local in their application and they have no reference to the mufassal, and yet it is in the mufassal rather than in the town areas that the greatest harm can be done. Now, the Mufassal Police Acts are notoriously deficient, with the exception of the Bombay District Police Act, in giving the requisite powers for dealing with these meetings. No doubt use can be made of section 144 of the Criminal Procedure Code. That section enables the authorities to prohibit any individual or the public generally from taking action which is likely to cause a breach of the peace. There are, however, legal difficulties in connection with this section, into the details of which it is not necessary for me to enter, which render this section not entirely suitable, and it is not desirable that the authorities should be tied down to the use of that section only as a means of general prevention.

" As in 1907, I think there has been considerable exaggeration and misapprehension as to the scope of the Act. Even in the very few areas which are proclaimed from time to time, public meetings can be held, provided that they are not held for the furtherance and discussion of subjects likely to create a breach of the peace or any political subject or for the exhibition or discussion or distribution of written or printed matter relating to such subjects. Moreover, the notifications which are issued from time to time by the Local Governments hold good only for six months, and even during that short period of six months they can withdraw a notification if they find that the circumstances of any particular area have improved so as to render the retention of the notification unnecessary. Similarly, in regard to Provinces, should any Local Government come up to the Government of India and say that the extension of the Act which was made in January 1910 is unnecessary, I cannot imagine for one moment that the Government of India would insist upon these provisions remaining in force. It rests with the Local Governments to make representations, and in this way the view held by several Hon'ble Members that Local Governments should have some say in this matter would be met.

"Then it is said that the Seditious Meetings Act has a tendency to drive sedition underground. In regard to this matter, I thoroughly agree with what His Honour Sir Edward Baker said in 1907. His Honour said on that occasion that publicity and self-advertisement were the very breath of the nostrils of seditionists and revolutionaries, and that, if these were taken away, half the attraction of the game would go with them. There the question is put in a nutshell. Again it is said that public meetings act as a safety valve. I think that this statement certainly requires qualification. We know only too well that meetings are frequently held in this country not so much for the purpose of giving vent to discontent which actually exists as to create discontent where none previously existed. I had personal experience of this only two years ago in the Patna District. There we had a contented and peaceful peasantry, but agitators came amongst them and tried to create trouble. I am glad to say that the agitators were not successful, but that was chiefly because the peasantry would have nothing to say to them. The criminality of the agitators was not the less on that account, however, but was rather the greater. In this connection gladly do I testify, as suggested by my Hon'ble friends Mr. Sachchidananda Sinha and Mr. Mazharul Haque, to the general good character and splendid loyalty of the people of Behar. I have served in that Division as an Assistant Magistrate, as a Magistrate and Collector, and lastly as a Commissioner of a Division, and my experience of the people of Behar merely coincides with that of every other officer who has served in what is well and properly known as the 'Garden of India'.

"I notice that in 1907 the Hon'ble Mr. Gokhale observed that if the Bill which was then before the Council became law, social parties would be raided upon and broken up, and that even the host and guests would be hauled up for having held political or public meetings without having given previous notice. My friend Dr. Rash Behari Ghose also said that if the Bill were passed, the police would become absolute masters of the people and that their domiciliary visits, which would not be few and far between, would be certain to create disturbances. I have had very careful inquiries made, and am glad to say that I can find no trace of any such acts of oppression. I notice that my friend Mr. Gokhale referred to trouble created by the authorities under the Press Act. It is particularly noticeable that he referred to nothing of the kind under the Seditious Meetings Act.

"Lastly, as regards the temporary extension which is now before the Council, I think that it is amply justified by the circumstances which compelled the Government of Eastern Bengal and Assam to proclaim three districts in March last, and more recently by the circumstances which, as pointed out by His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor, compelled the Punjab Government to proclaim the Rohtak District. Sober-minded and sober-speaking politicians in the few areas which are proclaimed must, I fear, suffer temporary inconvenience, but they must ascribe that temporary loss of privilege to those firebrands and those who are avowedly disloyal to the British Government."

The Hon'ble MR. JENKINS moved that the Bill be passed. He said: "Your Excellency, I am a newcomer on this Council and I must admit that my head is not sufficiently inured to the stream of oratory which has been poured upon it today, but it has at least given me a very lively idea of what Sydney Smith means by the punishment of being preached to death by wild curates. I hope, however, that in course of time I may become a hardened toper at the fountain of this eloquence. Now I hope the Hon'ble Members who have spoken in opposition to the Bill will take this as an excuse for my not following them into the innermost recesses of their arguments or upon their high flights of oratory. I will endeavour as soon as possible to return to solid ground, which at this time of the afternoon is perhaps what the Council will desire.

"The question, therefore, as it appears to me, is this: is this Bill necessary? Even some of those Hon'ble Members who have spoken in opposition to the Bill would, I think, support it if they were convinced that it was necessary. Now the argument that it is not necessary is generally based upon the opinion that the state of the country is very much improved. I am aware, and very gladly admit, that the state of the country has improved; but that is not all. We still have with us the party whom I prefer to call the Revolutionary Party, because their aim is revolutionary and nothing else, and they attempt to attain their object by plans of campaign which are very carefully laid and by every device which can be suggested by their not small ingenuity. If Hon'ble Members would wish to have a complete list of all the atrocities that have been committed, of the conspiracies that have been formed, of the secret societies that have been set on foot, of all the means which this revolutionary party has used, and is still using, to overthrow the British Government and to introduce lawlessness and disorder—if they would wish that, then I say they are very bad friends of the country. Such a list could be produced. I do not wish to produce it unless I am compelled to do so. Well, my Lord, I wish to put a very simple question to the Council. When these people use every device within their power to attain their aims, is it in the least degree probable that they will refrain from using the weapon of inflammatory oratory if it should be placed within their reach? It seems to me that upon that question the decision should depend. My Lord, I submit that it is not in the least degree probable that they would refrain from making use of that weapon, and therefore I submit that it is necessary that we should have this Bill; and those who are convinced that the Bill is necessary and that we ought to have it, should, I think, come over to our side. My Lord, I think I might be content to base my case upon that ground, but there are a few things which have been mentioned to which perhaps I should give some attention. It is said to us that it would be a most conciliatory measure to abandon this Bill. Even my friend Sir Vithaldas, I believe, said that we should conciliate the people. Let us think for a moment who the people are whom we are to conciliate. I consider that the idea that we should conciliate honest and loyal people by allowing mischief-makers a free hand is very little removed from an insane delusion. Then, as to the band of revolutionaries; why, one might as well attempt to conciliate a band of dacoits by throwing one's doors open to them. It is said also that any legislation of this kind—it is even hinted that this Bill, if it becomes law—may cause a great deal of discontent, that it may in fact produce sedition.

"At one time I was in charge of a town where there had been an outbreak of cholera, and as we do in such cases we disinfected the wells and other sources of water-supply by putting permanganate of potash into them. Some persons, who ought to have known better, went about amongst the ignorant people and told them that the permanganate of potash was the cause of the cholera. The result was that our people who were engaged in the work had a very bad time of it, as some of our officers in the districts have at present a very bad time. The parallel is exact. The permanganate of potash was the cause of the cholera, and our protective measures are the cause of sedition. Then it is said that we already have in the existing laws sufficient means for dealing with matters of this kind. The state of the case has been explained by His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor and the Hon'ble Mr. Earle. Now, Sir, I have had the misfortune to deal with matters of this kind for some years past, and I have had to consider how far the ordinary law could be enforced. The Hon'ble Members who say that the ordinary law is sufficient look upon it from the outside; but I have had personal experience of it, and I can assure the Hon'ble Members that, with the utmost exercise of ingenuity, we could not make the existing law suffice. And is it probable that, if the ordinary law had been sufficient, we should go through all this trouble in order to provide ourselves with this perfectly useless weapon?

"My Lord, if anything has been said which leads to the conclusion that this Act ought to be placed permanently on the Statute-book, the fault is not mine; it is of those who have forced this discussion upon us. Some Hon'ble Members are firmly convinced that the permanency of the Act during the next cold weather is a foregone conclusion. Well, they know more than I do; but if they will have it so, let it be so, only let it be clearly understood that the prediction is theirs and not ours. My Lord, I submit that nothing has been urged which should deter us from proceeding with the Bill. I move that the Bill be passed."

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble MR. G. K. GOKHALE: "My Lord, the question has been put to the meeting, but this should have been a separate motion. The speeches up to now have been on the motion that the Bill should be taken into consideration, and there is an official motion that the Bill should be passed. I wanted to say a few words as to that."

The Hon'ble MR. JENKINS: "My motion was that I introduced the Bill, and I moved that it be passed."

The Hon'ble MR. GOKHALE: "I do not wish to take more than a minute, but I do think I must complain of the tone of the opening remarks of the Hon'ble Mr. Jenkins. I do not think that any officer of Government has any reason to be bored to death or anything else if he wants to discharge his duties properly here, because we have also to discharge our duties here, and I do not think anything is gained by introducing such a tone into the debates in this Council. My Lord, you have done so much to introduce a new tone into this Council; you have watched over this Council with the care with which a parent watches over the interests of her child. I do not think that the Hon'ble Mr. Jenkins is justified in introducing such a tone here."

The Hon'ble BABU BHUPENDRA NATH BASU: "My Lord, with Your Lordship's leave I wish to make one observation. A point was made by the Hon'ble Mr. Earle that if a speech like mine could be made in this Council, it was no wonder that speeches of a very grave character might be made in the meetings which are now to be suppressed. I am very sorry, my Lord, that that observation was made, because in my speech that I made here today I studiously avoided any subject which might cause needless offence, and I hope I was strictly within the constitution in offering the few remarks that I ventured to offer to this Council."

The Hon'ble MR. JENKINS: "My Lord, may I explain that I had not the slightest intention of hurting the feelings of the Hon'ble Member, but I perceive that it is not perhaps desirable to indulge in what I considered to be a witticism."

The Hon'ble MR. EARLE: "My Lord, as regards what the Hon'ble Babu Bhupendra Nath Basu has said, I merely meant to convey that his speech was certainly strongly worded in some respects and highly coloured perhaps, and it is perfectly legitimate to speak like that in a Legislative Council. What I meant to infer was that if that was done in a Council like this, subject to all restraint, what must we expect in out-of-the-way places; but I did not intend to convey any imputation whatever as regards the speech of the Hon'ble Member."

His Excellency THE PRESIDENT said:—"I will only add a very few remarks to what the Hon'ble Mr. Jenkins has said to this meeting of Council and on the matter which he has so very ably put before you. I am sorry to say we cannot, none of us can, disregard the existence of a revolutionary party. No one has welcomed with greater pleasure than I have the remarks which have universally fallen from unofficial Members of this Council today, to the effect that the state of the country is infinitely better than it was and that things are improving politically. These views, expressed as they have been by the opponents of the Act, I know to be thoroughly sound and true, and they have been very welcome words to listen to. But, gentlemen, I cannot help telling you that, to myself, there is a personal factor in our proceedings today which I cannot disregard. I cannot but feel that I am at the end of my administration and I do not think it would be right, either by the repeal of the Seditious Meetings Act or by its re-enactment in perpetuity, to commit my successor to a policy of which he had not had sufficient opportunity of judging and of which he might not approve. I feel very strongly that this Act is one of such enormous importance that it cannot be fittingly considered during a Simla session. The unofficial Members who opposed the Act have done so perfectly legitimately and have expressed their views perfectly straightforwardly and very much to the point. I do not say that I agree with all of them, but they have spoken their views fearlessly, and, I think, generally, with sound commonsense; but I believe they will agree with me that in a very important piece of legislation such as this is, it would not be satisfactory for the country, it would not be satisfactory for India, that we should embark upon a very decided line of policy at Simla and that our action can only be put in effect legitimately in full Council in Calcutta, where every detail of necessary legislation will be fully considered, and where, we may rest assured, that it will be considered carefully and with full and ample knowledge of the state of the country. I do not attempt to foreshadow what that legislation may be, but I am perfectly convinced, and I am sure we may all feel satisfied, that the Act will receive at Calcutta the consideration which it deserves and that my successor will be guided by the opinions he forms of the state of India."

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Season and Crop Prospects for the week ending Saturday,
13th August 1910.

Burma—Heavy rain fell in Arakan and Tenasserim. It was mostly light in the dry zone but no rain fell in Pakokku and Lower Chindwin. Elsewhere the rainfall was moderate. Ploughing and sowing for the main rice crop have been completed in a few places and transplanting is progressing. Sowing of millet continues generally and reaping of early sesamum has commenced in Lower Chindwin. Crop prospects have been improved by recent rains but more rain is still required in Thayetmyo, Yamethin, Pakokku, Minbu and the Ruby Mines where crops in the higher lands are suffering. Some damage has been done to rice crops caused by floods of the Irrawaddy in the Maubin and Katha districts and sowing of autumn rice in Mandalay has been impeded from the same cause. The price of unhusked rice has risen considerably in Bassein and Mergui and has fallen considerably in Toungoo. Elsewhere prices are practically stationary.

Eastern Bengal and Assam.—More rain fell during the week. The fall was heavy in the Chittagong division and in parts of Mymensingh, Bakarganj, Bogra, Pabna, Sylhet and Lakhimpur and moderate elsewhere. The heaviest fall amounted to 17 inches at Patuakhali. Plucking of tea, harvesting of jute and autumn rice and transplantation of winter rice are in progress. Prospects are generally fair. Cotton and sugarcane are doing well. The average price of common rice has risen by about one per cent. Cattle disease prevails in Dacca, Mymensingh, Chittagong, Malda, the Nagi Hills, Goalpara, Darrang and Sibsagar.

Bengal.—The rainfall was general all over the Province. It was heavy in South Bihar and in Birbhum, Jessore, Saran, Darjeeling, Sambalpur, Hazaribagh, Palamau and Cooch Behar; light in Champaran, Monghyr, Cuttack and Balasore and generally moderate elsewhere. Transplantation of paddy is going on but more rain is wanted for that purpose in parts of Birbhum, Bankura, Midnapore, the 24 Parganas, Hooghly, Murshidabad, Khulna, Purnea, the Sonthal Parganas and Puri. Damage by insects to the jute crop is reported from Nadia. Considerable damage has been caused by the recent floods in parts of Darbhanga. Heavy floods are reported from Puri but the extent of damage is not yet known. Injury to autumn crops by floods has been caused also in Gaya, Muzaffarpur, Monghyr, Bhagalpur, Cuttack and Murshidabad. The price of common rice has risen in Nadia, Murshidabad, Gaya, Shahabad, Champaran, Bhagalpur and Puri and has fallen in Saran, Darbhanga, Monghyr, Cuttack, Sambalpur and Palamau. Cattle disease is reported from fifteen districts. The fodder and water-supply is sufficient throughout the Province.

United Provinces—The rainfall was generally copious and satisfactory but a few districts in the Doab need rain and in a few places elsewhere more rain is wanted for transplantation of rice. Prospects are generally good except for millets which are being sown in several districts. Autumn sowings are now complete. Weeding, transplantation of rice and ploughing for spring crops are in progress. Sporadic cattle disease is reported from thirty districts but the general condition of live stock is satisfactory. Fodder and supplies are ample. Prices are nearly stationary with a downward tendency.

Punjab.—Good rain has fallen in Ambala, Jullundur, Amritsar and Sialkot; moderate in Hissar, Rohtak, Delhi, Lahore, Shahpur and Rawalpindi and light elsewhere. More rain is wanted in Hissar, Rohtak and Delhi. The condition of standing crops is good to average in Shahpur and Mianwali; average in Lyallpur and Multan; poor in Delhi and parts of Shahpur and good elsewhere. Sowings of autumn crops continue. Ploughings for the next spring crops are in progress in Jullundur, Lahore and Lyallpur. The unirrigated crops are suffering for want of rain in Rohtak. Damage to crops by rats is reported from parts of Ferozepore and by floods in low-lying lands in parts of Amritsar. Prices are generally rising. The condition of cattle is generally good. Fodder is sufficient except in parts of Shahpur. Complaints of a short water-supply on account of rotational closures of canals are still being received from the Samundri and Toba Tek Singh tahsils of the Lyallpur district.

North-West Frontier Province.—Good rain fell during the week in Peshawar and Bannu but none in Dera Ismail Khan. Autumn sowings are in progress. The condition of standing crops is average. The fodder and water-supply is sufficient. Irrigation from the Paharpur canal has commenced. The condition of cattle is good except in one village of the Mardan tahsil. The public health is good. Prices of food grains are fluctuating. Prices are :—wheat 13½ to 16½, maize 19½ to 22½, gram 16½ to 23 and bajra 17 to 18 seers per rupee.

Jammu.—The rainfall during the week was good. Prices are stationary. Wheat sells from 12 to 22 and maize from 19 to 32 seers per rupee. The condition of standing crops is fair. Cattle disease of mild type prevails in some parts of the Province. Fodder is sufficient.

Kashmir.—It rained twice during the week. The rain was beneficial to autumn crops. There is no disease among cattle. Fodder is sufficient. Autumn crops are in good condition. Prices are stationary.

Rajputana.—The rainfall was general. The maximum fall was 12 inches 47 cents in Banswara and the minimum 31 cents in Jaisalmer. Autumn sowing and weeding are in progress. Deficiency of rain in Kishtangarh has affected agricultural prospects very considerably. Standing crops are good. Damage from grass-hoppers is reported from one district of Mewar. Cattle disease is still prevalent in Mewar and the Hilly Tracts but is subsiding in Banswara. Fodder is sufficient. Prices show a tendency to fall.

Central India.—The rainfall was general and sufficient. Crops have been damaged slightly in parts of Indore, Malwa and Bhopawar. Agricultural stock is good except for some disease in parts of Indore, Bundelkhand, Malwa and Bhopawar. Prices are fluctuating in Indore and are steady elsewhere.

Central Provinces.—During the week light to moderate rain fell in all districts except Amraoti. In the Vindhyan districts and the Chhattisgarh division the rainfall was between 3 and 4 inches. Jubbulpore, Narsinghpur, Hoshangabad, Mandla, Nagpur, Bhandara, Balaghat, Wardha and Yeotmal had from 1 to 2½ inches. Elsewhere the quantity registered did not exceed 70 cents. The rainfall was fairly well distributed in Chhattisgarh and has greatly benefited standing crops all over the Provinces. More rain is needed in Saugor and Nimar and a break will be welcome in Narsinghpur, Drug and Akola. Sowing of juar in Chanda, of rice and til in Jubbulpore and of kodon, kutki and til in Saugor, Mandla, Narsinghpur and Hoshangabad continues and weeding is well forward everywhere. Thinning and transplantation are rapidly proceeding in the rice districts. The condition of crops is generally good. Ploughing of land for sowing of spring crops is in progress in Saugor, Seoni, Nimar, Betul, Chhindwara, Wardha, Chanda and Buldana. Sugarcane is doing well in Bhandara and Betul. The supply of fodder and water is sufficient. Cattle are healthy. Prices.—The price of wheat remained stationary in thirteen districts, gram and rice in eighteen and juar in nineteen. Wheat in Chhindwara and Drug became cheaper by 2 and 4 seers per rupee respectively. Variations are unimportant elsewhere and generally indicate a downward tendency.

Federatory States.—Moderate to heavy rain fell during the week in ten States ranging from 1½ inches in Kanker to 14 inches in Raigarh. A break would be beneficial to crops in Kawardhā and Raigarh. Sowing of autumn crops is approaching completion and thinning and transplantation of rice continue. Prospects are favourable. Pasturage and water are adequate. Prices :—The price of rice rose in Jashpur and fell in Korea by 2 and 3 seers per rupee respectively. Elsewhere they were steady.

Bombay.—Heavy rain fell during the week in Surat, the Konkan, Nasik, Poona, Satara, Belgaum, Kathiawar, Mahi Kantha, Rewa Kantha, Savantvadi and Kolhapur; good in Thar and Parkar, the Panch Mahals, West Khandesh, Baroda, Palanpur and Cutch; moderate in Karachi, Hyderabad, Ahmedabad, Kaira, Broach, East Khandesh and Ahmednagar and slight in Sukkur, Larkana, the Upper Sind Frontier, Sholapur, Bijapur and Dharwar. The rainfall was general and beneficial but more is needed in parts of Kaira, Sholapur, Satara, Belgaum, Dharwar and Kolhapur. A break is needed in parts of Ahmedabad, the Panch Mahals, Broach, Surat and West Khandesh. Autumn sowings continue in parts of Sind, Ahmedabad, the Panch Mahals, Kaira, the Deccan, Baroda, Palanpur, Cutch, Mahi Kantha and Savantvadi but have been retarded in West Khandesh owing to excessive rain. Transplantation is progressing in parts of Sukkur, Larkana, the Upper Sind Frontier, Ahmedabad, Kaira, the Konkan, the Deccan, Belgaum and Baroda. Cotton sowing continues in parts of Ahmedabad, Bijapur, Baroda, Cutch and Kolhapur, but has been retarded in Broach owing to continuous rain. Standing crops have been damaged slightly by insects in Karachi, the Upper Sind Frontier, Belgaum and Dharwar, by rats in Karachi, by floods in Hyderabad and by excessive moisture in Ahmednagar. Crops are generally in good condition elsewhere. The fodder-supply is generally adequate. Agricultural stock is sufficient except in parts of Ahmednagar, Poona, Sholapur and Satara and is generally in good condition. Water for drinking and irrigation is generally sufficient. Grain stocks are sufficient. Prices have risen in Bijapur, have fallen in Karachi, Hyderabad, the Upper Sind Frontier, West Khandesh and Ahmednagar and are stationary elsewhere. The quantity purchasable per rupee is in Sind 20 to 41 per cent; in the Konkan 13 to 33 per cent; in the Deccan 11 to 30 per cent and in the Karnatak 26 to 37 per cent less than the normal. In Gujarat the quantity purchasable per rupee ranged from normal to 21 per cent less than the normal.

Hyderabad.—The average rainfall was 80 cents during the week. The rainfall was fair to light in Telingana and scanty in Mahratwara except the Parbhani and Nander districts. The heaviest fall was over 4 inches in Adilabad. Autumn sowings are proceeding in many places. Autumn crops are being weeded and are generally fair except in parts of Raichur where they are withering for want of rain. Damage by insect pests is reported in some parts of Telingana. It is, however, decreasing. Early rice sowings continue throughout Telingana. Weeding has also begun in places. Lands are being prepared for spring crops and sowings have begun in many places, especially in the Mahbubnagar district. Water scarcity is reported in two talukas of the Raichur district and cattle disease in ten. Fodder scarcity prevails in three talukas. Prices:—wheat and coarse rice 6½ and juar 13½ seers per rupee. White juar is selling in Hyderabad City at 12 and yellow juar at 13 seers. The highest price in districts is 8 seers in Karimnagar and the lowest 25 seers in Bidar.

Mysore.—The rainfall was good in Hassan, Kadur and Shimoga and slight elsewhere. Prices of food grains have fallen slightly in Hassan and are steady elsewhere. Markets are well supplied. Standing crops are in good condition. Prospects of the season are good. Cattle are generally healthy. Water and fodder are available.

Coorg.—Rainfall 6 inches 87 cents. Transplanting of rice continues. Prices of food grains are high. The public health is fair. Water and fodder for cattle are sufficient.

Madras.—The rainfall was very heavy in Malabar and South Canara; heavy in the Vizagapatam Agency; good in Ganjam, the Vizagapatam littoral, Godavari and the Nilgiris; nil in Tinnevely and light to fair elsewhere. Irrigation supplies are sufficient in Ganjam, Vizagapatam, Godavari, Kistna, Anantapur, Cuddapah, Tanjore, Tinnevely, Malabar, South Canara and the Nilgiris and insufficient in parts of other districts. Ploughing, sowing, weeding and transplanting are in progress in parts. Standing crops are generally fair but some in parts of Vizagapatam have been affected by excessive rain, some in parts of Bellary have been damaged by insects and some in parts of Guntur require rain urgently. Harvests continue in parts with outturn poor to normal. Pasture is sufficient in parts of Bellary, South Arcot, Coimbatore and Ramnad. Fodder is scanty in parts of Godavari, Nellore and North Arcot. The condition of cattle is generally good. The price of rice is stationary in eighteen districts; has fallen in two and has risen in four. RESULT OF THE MEASURES ADOPTED IN THE DIFFERENT PROVINCES FOR
THE DESTRUCTION OF WILD ANIMALS AND VENOMOUS SNAKES
DURING THE YEAR 1909.

Nos. 4736—4749.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

HOME DEPARTMENT.

PUBLIC.

Simla, the 19th August 1910.

R E S O L U T I O N .

The total number of persons killed by wild animals in 1908, which had exceeded the total of the preceding four years, rose still further in 1909 to 2,607. The increase is specially noticeable in the number of deaths attributed to tigers in Madras, where the figures rose from 170 in 1903 to 291. In the districts of Coimbatore and Vizagapatam the ravages of tigers were particularly noticeable, and the Collectors of those districts have been asked to report whether any special steps can be taken to deal with the matter. In the same Presidency the number of deaths due to leopards rose from 45 in 1908 to 91, while unclassified wild animals accounted for 80 deaths as compared with 4 in 1908. In Bengal the number of deaths caused by tigers fell from 455 in 1908 to 383. The Chota Nagpur and Orissa divisions show a very high rate of mortality under this head, though it is satisfactory to note that in the former division the number has decreased. There was also a decrease in Hazaribagh, mainly due to the payment in 1908 of special rewards of Rs. 500 for every tiger killed within certain specified areas. In the same province the number of deaths caused by leopards rose from 94 in 1908 to 135. In Gaya there was an increase under this head from 24 in 1908 to 45. The number of deaths caused by wolves in Bengal fell from 184 in 1908 to 167. But the deaths in Hazaribagh from this cause rose from 75 in 1908 to 95, notwithstanding that a special reward of Rs. 20 was sanctioned for every wolf killed within the jurisdiction of certain thanas in that district. The reward has now been raised to Rs. 50.

In the United Provinces the total number of deaths caused by wild animals rose from 194 in 1908 to 237. The increase is almost entirely due to one man-eating leopard in the Almora district and another in the Bahraich district. The former has now been living on human beings for several years. Many attempts have been made to kill it, but it has so far escaped. A reward of Rs. 500 has been offered for its destruction. It is to be hoped that the efforts of the local authorities will result in the removal of this animal. The Bahraich leopard established a reign of terror amongst the villages bordering on the Sohelwa forest for more than three months. It carried off watchers from machans and sheds, entered villages and attacked the inhabitants. The people eventually refused to trust themselves abroad after nightfall. The leopard was fortunately shot last October.

In Eastern Bengal and Assam there was a regrettable increase in the number of deaths, which rose from 331 in 1908 to 546. In the Rajshahi division tigers and leopards claimed 88 victims as against 37 in 1908; while in the districts of Rajshahi and Bakarganj no less than 54 and 33 persons, respectively, are said to have been killed by wild pig. Crocodiles were responsible for nearly one-third of the casualties in the province, and were especially deadly in the creeks and rivers of Faridpur and Bakarganj. The variations in other provinces are not great. Though jackals are not shown separately in the return, the Government of Eastern Bengal and Assam reports that these animals devoured no less than 54 infants in two districts alone.

2. The total mortality amongst human beings caused by snake-bite rose from 19,738 in 1908 to 21,363. All provinces, except Bengal and the United Provinces, contributed to the increase. A number of alleged cures of snake-bite by the use of the Brunton lance are reported. In view, however, of the impracticability of sifting the evidence as to the species of snake whose bite was said to have been cured and as to the way in which the lancet was used, it is impossible to regard each case reported as an actual cure. In the Bombay Presidency the lancet was tried in the Northern Division in 16 cases, in 13 of which it proved successful, the snakes being identified as poisonous in 7 cases only in the Ahmedabad district. With a view to bringing the remedy within easy reach of the villagers and popularising the use of the lancet, the Collector of Thana has issued 20 lancets to selected patils in the Umbergaon Peta, where mortality from snake-bite is the highest in the district. In the Central Division the lancet was successfully used in 14 cases, but in 7 of these only were the snakes identified as venomous. In Sind the lancet proved successful in 20 cases out of the 23 in which it was tried, but the evidence is rendered valueless owing to the fact that the number of cases in which the snakes were identified as venomous is not accurately reported. In Burma the distribution of the lancet has been continued throughout the province, and in this province and the Central Provinces a large number of cases are reported in which it is said to have been used with success, but here also the statistics are of little scientific value for the same reason.

3. The number of cattle killed by wild animals was 94,196 against 87,607 in 1908. In Madras the total number destroyed fell from 12,427 in 1908 to 11,369. In Bombay, Bengal, the United Provinces, the Punjab, Burma and Coorg there was some increase. The greatest destruction was caused by leopards, the number of victims falling to them being 43,485 against a total of 94,196 animals destroyed by all other kinds of wild beasts. Tigers accounted for 30,616; wolves for 12,638; hyenas for 3,535; and other animals for 3,606. The damage done by tigers was greatest in Bengal and Eastern Bengal and Assam where they accounted for 7,050 and 9,646 animals, respectively. Leopards were most destructive in Madras, Bengal, and the United Provinces, in each of which provinces they killed over 8,000 animals. Wolves accounted for 6,301 and 4,311 animals in Bombay and Bengal, respectively; and hyenas for 3,006 animals in Bengal. The distribution of the figures under the various heads however cannot be accepted as absolutely reliable for, as the Government of the United Provinces reports, there is no systematized method of reporting or of checking reports while in a considerable proportion of cases the identity of the animal causing death must necessarily be conjectural; nor indeed would any more elaborate system of reporting or checking reports be feasible without an amount of trouble to officials and inconvenience (if not annoyance) to the people, which would be altogether incommensurate with the value of the information to be obtained. The number of cattle killed by snake-bite is reported to be 10,641 against 10,700 in 1908.

4. The number of wild animals destroyed was 17,449 or about 500 less than the number reported in 1908. Nearly 5,000 leopards, and 1,473 tigers, 2,850 wolves, and over 2,000 bears were killed in the course of the year and nearly a lakh and a half of rupees was paid as rewards for the destruction of animals. The sum paid in 1908 was Rs. 1,55,188. The total number of snakes killed rose from 70,732 in 1908 to 88,503; and the rewards paid for their destruction rose from Rs. 2,271 to Rs. 2,499.

5. The number of licenses issued under the Indian Arms Act, 1878, in forms VIII and XI, is shown as 61,804 against 27,609 in 1908. The great discrepancy in the figures is due to the fact that one local Government erroneously included under the heading of licenses issued during the year, the number of previously existing licenses which had been renewed. The total number of licenses in force during the year 1909 was 190,934 against 197,641 in 1908.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Rainfall summary for the seven days ending at 8 hrs. on Thursday, the 25th August 1910, based on the Indian Daily Weather Reports of the period.

1. During the first two days of the week the rainfall given by both monsoon currents was restricted chiefly to Burma, Eastern Bengal and Assam, the sub-Himalayas and the south of the peninsula. On the 21st a shallow depression which had formed in the Bay moved into the south Deccan and carried rainfall into the north of the peninsula. Pressure changed with extreme rapidity during the next 48 hours, and the Arabian Sea monsoon at the same time became more active, with the result that rainfall increased considerably and at the close of the week was occurring in all parts of the country.

2. An important feature in the week's rainfall was the unusually heavy rain received in the west of the United Provinces, the Punjab and the Deccan; an excess was also shown in Upper Burma, the North-West Frontier Province, Rajputana West, Mysore and Madras Southeast. Less rain than usual occurred in Lower Burma, Bengal the east of the United Provinces and of the Central Provinces, Central India, Sind, Gujarat and on the west coast of the peninsula.

3. Burma.—Very little rain was reported from Lower Burma on the 20th, 21st and 22nd; and in Upper Burma the 23rd was the only day when rainfall was nearly general. Skies were moderately clouded.

Northeast India, including Orissa.—Rainfall was on the whole light and local; it was most widespread in Eastern Bengal and Assam on the 19th, 20th and 21st, and in Bengal on the 24th and 25th. Cloud varied considerably from day to day and was heaviest on the 24th; the maximum temperature recorded on the 23rd was generally higher than usual.

The United Provinces, Central India and the Central Provinces.—Rainfall occurred at nearly every station during the week; it was on most days very sparse, but became more general on the 23rd, 24th and 25th. Cloud was only light to moderate during the first part of the week; and day temperature was higher than usual in the Central Provinces and Central India.

Northwest India.—Fairly general rain was reported from the east and north Punjab on the 22nd, 24th and 25th, the southwest Punjab on the 25th and the North-West Frontier Province on the 20th, 23rd and 25th; a few falls occurred in Rajputana and Gujarat almost daily. Cloud was light to moderate except on the 24th and 25th when skies were heavily overcast in the extreme north, the east Punjab, south Rajputana and Gujarat; while temperature was higher than usual during the first few days in Kashmir and lower for the rest of the week in the extreme north.

The Peninsula.—Rainfall was generally light and local; it was most widespread on the 21st, 22nd, 24th and 25th. Cloud was at first light to moderate, but on the 24th it became heavier; maximum temperatures considerably below the normal were reported from southeast Madras and Mysore on the 20th and 21st.

August 19th. Dinajpur 2'00".

5. The rainfall of the whole period from the 29th April to the 25th August is only in defect by as much as 20 per cent in the divisions of Central India East, Rajputana East and Baluchistan. It is within 20 per cent of the normal amount in all the remaining divisions, except in the following where it is more than 20 per cent in excess; Eastern Bengal, the North-West Frontier Province, Sind, Mysore, Madras Southeast, the Madras Deccan and the Madras Coast North.

Season and Crop Prospects for the week ending Saturday, 20th August 1910.

Burma.—The rainfall was heavy or moderate in the districts round the sea coast. Scanty showers fell in the inland districts. Sowing of winter crops has been retarded and young plants have been affected in some districts of the central region for want of rain. Pakokku for the third week in succession reports no rain. Inundation of the Irrawaddy is higher than the normal and some damage by floods is reported from Tharrawaddy and Maubin. Sowing and planting of winter crops are proceeding normally except where they have been retarded by drought or flood. The price of unhusked rice has risen slightly in Pakokku but is only slightly above the normal. In other districts prices are practically stationary.

Eastern Bengal and Assam.—The weather was seasonable. The rainfall has been general, being heavy in parts of the Assam, Chittagong and Rajshahi divisions and moderate elsewhere. Plucking of tea, transplanting of winter rice and harvesting of jute and summer rice are in progress. Prospects of standing crops are generally fair. The average price of common rice has risen by one per cent. Cattle disease is reported in Mymensingh, Chittagong, Malda, the Naga Hills, Goalpara, Kamrup, Nowgong and Sibsagar.

Bengal.—During the week the rainfall was general over the Province, the fall being heavy in Birbhum, Patna, Saran, Champaran, Darjeeling, Cooch Behar and in parts of Shahabad, Muzaffarpur, Purnea and the Sonthal Parganas; moderate in Monghyr, Bhagalpur, Balasore, Hazaribagh, Manbhum, the 24-Parganas, Nadia, Murshidabad and Jessore and generally light elsewhere. Transplantation of paddy continues. More rain is wanted in parts of Midnapore, Hooghly, the 24-Parganas, Khulna, Purnea and Singhbhum. Floods have caused considerable damage in parts of Puri and some injury to standing crops in Nadia, Murshidabad, Patna, Gaya, Shahabad, Saran, Champaran, Muzaffarpur and Cuttack. Sugarcane is generally doing well. The price of common rice has risen in Midnapore, Hooghly, Jessore, Khulna, Patna, Champaran, Muzaffarpur, Monghyr and Darjeeling and has fallen in Nadia, Gaya, Darbhanga, Bhagalpur, Hazaribagh, Ranchi, Manbhum and Singhbhum. Cattle disease is reported from twelve districts and scarcity of fodder from parts of Darbhanga only. The supply of water is sufficient throughout the Province.

United Provinces.—The rainfall was ample except in the Upper Doab, parts of the Central Doab and the Jhansi district.
